Hapsburg Duke in Nazis' Hands

AID PLANNED FOR REFUGEES FROM EUROPE

By United Press

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Mar. 25.—President Roosevelt said today that the State Department invitation to 29 nations to cooperate in providing a haven for political refugees was designed to aid minorities in Russia, Spain and Italy as well as Austria and Germany.

He explained the invitation sent last night by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, suggesting the 29 nations work with the United States to set up a special committee to assist the escape of political refugees from countries in which they are unwelcome.

It was first believed that the invitation was made principally in behalf of Jews in Germany and Austria. Mr. Roosevelt added that it was also meant to apply to a great many Christians.

The President said no special legislation would be required, pointing out the refugees could be cared for under immigration quotas. Expenses, he indicated, could be borne privately.

"Does this mean the oppressed groups, for example, in Spain, Russia, and the anti-Fascists in Italy?" the President was asked.

He nodded that it did.

By United Press

ROME, Mar. 25.—Italy probably will refuse to participate in the plan of Secretary of State Cordell Hull to create an international commission to deal with the refugee problem in Europe, it was learned today.

HEPLER CASE JURY UNABLE ON AGREEMENT

A mistrial was declared Friday morning in the case of Clyde Hepler, charged with murder without malice, when a jury, unable to agree, was dismissed by Judge George L. Daveppert in 91st district court.

The jury received the case Thursday afternoon.

Hepler is a mechanical engineer for an oil company and was located temporarily at Ranger when the charge grew out of the death from automobile injuries of M. D. Cox of Odessa near Eastland November 30 last year.

A Kiss for Acquittal

Cases Appealed From Taylor Get Tribunal Action

Two cases from Taylor county, one from county court and the other from 104th district court, were acted upon Friday by the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland.

In the case appealed by D. G. Bowers against C. C. Ground, appealed from county court, the higher court, its opinion written by Associate Justice Clyde Grooms, reversed the judgment of the trial court and rendered judgment that Ground take nothing.

The case had its outgrowth from a loan of $244.44 by Bowers to Ground. The note was to be paid in 12 monthly installments and was secured by a mortgage on Ground's automobile. It was contended by Ground that after he failed to pay two installments he had a verbal agreement with Bowers that Bowers store the car 10 days; that Ground within 10 days would pay to Bowers the two past due payments and a third installment which would not then be due; that upon such payment, Bowers would surrender the car to Ground. Bowers took the car before the expiration of 10 days and sold it. Ground sued Bowers for conversion.

The jury found a verbal agreement had been made; determined the car was worth $278.25; that Bowers did not take possession of the car and sell it under terms of the chattel mortgage; that in disposing of the car Bowers acted wilfully and with malice. Exemplary damages were awarded in the sum of $113.66. Upon findings of the jury, judgment was rendered for the plaintiff for aggregate of sums, less the amount of plaintiff's debt. Bowers appealed. The higher court said that since the plaintiff had failed to show the facts amounting to a converse, the court in Taylor county should have instructed a verdict for the defendant.

The court also added that the plaintiff failed to have cause for action.

The other case, affirmed, from Taylor county was appealed by Colorado Life company from the 104th district court in opposition to a verdict from Mrs. Earl L. Teague, who was awarded $785 in a suit on an insurance policy of her husband. Chief Justice W. P. Leslie wrote the opinion in the insurance case.

Case Is Appealed To Supreme Court From Lower Ruling

An appeal of the state from a decision of the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland, holding certain Jones county property was owned by the City of Abilene as a site for a future dam is not subject to taxation was on file Friday in the Supreme Court at Austin.

The trial court held the land could be taxed but the Eastland court reversed the decision and rendered judgment for the city.

The city said the project which would give it an additional water supply had not been completed because of insufficiency of funds. The land meanwhile is being rented for agricultural purposes.

Dictatorship Fear Expressed by Former NRA Administrator

By United Press

NEW YORK, March 25.—The United States will drift into disaster and dictatorship unless "democratic cooperative controls" of all business and industry are established, Donald Rieberg, former NRA administrator, told the Academy of Political Science today.

Rieberg spoke after En Josiah Bailey of North Carolina had called for a cessation of "artificial" stimulants to business and condemned the administration agriculture, labor and tax bills.

Senate Approves a Probe of the TVA

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—The Senate today approved a resolution calling for a joint congressional investigation of the T. V. A.

The resolution now goes to the House, where concurrence appeared certain.

The resolution represented a compromise and authorized points of inquiry desired both by friends and foes of the much-disputed New Deal agency.

The Senate finance committee virtually completed work on provisions of the tax revision bill. Final vote on the reorganization bill is set for Monday, leaving the way open for consideration of the tax bill Tuesday.

EUROPE HAS HOPES FOR A YEAR OF PEACE

Europe grasped today at the hope for a year of peace and better business before the next world war.

The hope spread, except in Spain, as a result of the declaration of foreign policy by British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, designed to end immediate war threats by diplomacy and to speed up industry by building armament on a wartime scale.

It was reflected in a more cheerful outlook in Czechoslovakia and France, despite a cabinet crisis in Paris and a statement by U. S. Ambassador Joseph Kennedy at London that prospects for peace in 1938 ought to help American business.

The British National Labor Council, incorporating all phases of labor, said today continuation in office of the present British government is a menace to the peace of Europe.

Meantime Great Britain agreed to a proposal by the United States to set up a special international committee to aid political refugees from Austria and Germany.

The British government was said to have secret data on German armaments, which was the basis for the general speeding up of manufacture of arms and expected to result in 10,000 fighting planes.

Billy McCrea and J. M. Hazelwood, members of the Cisco boys' team, won second in debate while Mildred McGlamery and Barbara Rlythe of Eastland won second for girls. Winner of third had not been determined.

RANGER DAILY TIMES

COOKING SCHOOL

AND MERCHANTS' SPRING FAIR

HUSBANDS --- AND THE BOY FRIEND --- ARE WELCOME AS THE FLOWERS IN MAY... COME EVERY DAY AND ENJOY THE FINE LECTURES AND DEMONSTRATIONS BY ONE OF THE NATION'S OUTSTANDING CULINARY ARTISTS...

Mrs. Arreva D. French

Mrs. Arreva D. French, southern home economist and food authority who will conduct the RANGER DAILY TIMES cooking school in this city, is an outstanding lecturer in her profession and will bring a wealth of knowledge to housewives who will attend the school, on many phases of cookery, home budgeting, household hints, and new cooking secrets.

New suggestions, new recipes, new dishes and many new ideas on the kitchen will be brought by the lecturer, to the attention of the housewives.

Mrs. French, while a native Texan, received her principal education in Oklahoma, studying at the Southwestern State Teachers College at Durant, Okla., with all major studies being confined to foods. She has taken several specialized courses in the art of cake baking, cake decorating, bread baking and meat cookery. She is an expert in home canning and is an authority on this subject. Before conducting cooking schools, Mrs. French did civic organization and county home demonstration work.

She will make her lectures while actually doing the things she is talking about. The dishes, both of the plain and fancy variety, which she prepares, will be on display at the close of each lecture, and you are invited to remain after the lecture and discuss your personal problems in cookery and home management.

MRS. ARREVA D. FRENCH

When the housewife is confronted with the knowledge that her cooking is in a rut, that she is always serving "the same old thing," it is wonderful to see what an inspiration she can receive from the practical demonstrations given by Mrs. French.

There's a lot more to cooking than just dashing into the kitchen and starting to boil, fry and bake. Menu planning, buying judgment, food selection, and economical preparation all occupy a place of extreme importance.

Then, too, in every home there is always a supply of leftover foods that can be made as pleasing and palatable as the original dish, thus varying the menu and at the same time creating new economy in feeding the family.

All of these subjects and more too will be discussed by Mrs. French in her series of lectures. Remember, the lectures are free, and a cordial, urgent invitation is extended to every woman of the community to come and take advantage of the opportunity offered.

Remember the dates, and make a date with yourself to attend each day. We have been fortunate in securing the Recreation Building as the scene of the cooking school. Although no seats can be reserved, every effort will be made to provide comfortable seats for all who attend, as it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand each day.

Letters From Our Readers

Editor Ranger Times, Ranger, Texas. Dear Sir: Knowing that it has always been your policy to throw your columns open to the public for the discussion of matters of public interest, I respectfully request that you publish the following letter in answer to criticisms offered by the Chamber of Commerce regarding the postoffice at Ranger, which article appeared in the Ranger Times of March 23rd, and I will certainly appreciate it if you will use this letter in your columns.

Concerning the criticism of the closing of the outside doors of the postoffice building at an early hour, will say that this has been done under orders of the postoffice inspector. This order was issued by him after the second robbery in the old postoffice building.

Some time ago Mr. Walker, the mayor of Ranger, took up with me the matter of the building remaining open later at night, and I immediately communicated with the proper authorities in Washington. I received instruction that I could leave the building open at night after ample lights had been installed and adequate police protection had been furnished.

Mr. Walker assured me that the lights would be installed as soon as possible and that ample police protection would be furnished. He also advised me to continue the early night closing until these requirements had been met.

Concerning the Saturday afternoon closing, will state that this is a policy of the Department over which I have no control and am following instructions from Washington in this connection. Regarding the placing of a letter box in front of the postoffice, I am in receipt of a letter from Mr. Ambrose, signed by him as president of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, requesting that a box be placed at the curb for the convenience of the patrons. In compliance with this request I immediately took the matter up with Mr. Johnson, the Construction Engineer on the job under whose supervision this matter would come. He gladly complied with this request and directed that the box be placed where the concrete post now is.

You can readily imagine my surprise when I read the article in the Ranger Times in which I was criticized for doing that which the President of the Chamber of Commerce had requested me to do.

Regarding the window advice I desire to advise that long before this criticism appeared in the paper, definite instructions had been given by me as postmaster to the various postoffice employees concerning the importance of efficient and courteous service, and if I had ever received any criticism concerning any employee the matter would have had my immediate official attention.

I assure you that such complaint, if any, will be properly remedied without the matter having to be threshed out in a Chamber of Commerce meeting.

I was glad to note in the article carrying the criticism, that after a general discussion of this matter it was finally decided that "perhaps" I was doing as well as I can under the circumstances, and that I will welcome suggestions.

As above stated, I certainly will welcome suggestions at any and all times, but would appreciate these suggestions first being made to me in person and not through the press.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Martha Davenport,
Postmaster.

C. I. O. Should Be Last to Ask Censorship

Any recent dropping of jaws on the part of those who stand for civil liberties and oppose any sort of speech or press censorship, may have been caused by a motion passed by the Cleveland Council of the Committee for Industrial Organization. That motion demanded that "libelous" literature attacking the C. I. O. be removed from the shelves of the Cleveland Public Library and that the C. I. O.'s educational committee examine other library books and pamphlets in order to recommend the expurgation of all literature hostile to C. I. O. interests.

Now it should be clear that this action of the Cleveland Council does not necessarily represent the attitude of the C. I. O. nationally. It is merely a demand by one local body of the C. I. O. and the motion was passed only after a hot floor fight. But the idea is there just the same.

The idea is that the C. I. O., which has had to fight for its very life against attempted censorships and denial of civil liberties, now sees one of its local bodies attempting to set itself up as a sort of censorship board to determine what sort of labor news a municipal library will weep on its shelves and also, of course, what sort of labor literature people will read.

Now a progressive, ultra-liberal movement such as the C. I. O. just can't afford to have any such nonsense taking place within the organization—even when one of the offending pamphlets has the title, "Join the C. I. O. and Help Build a Soviet America."

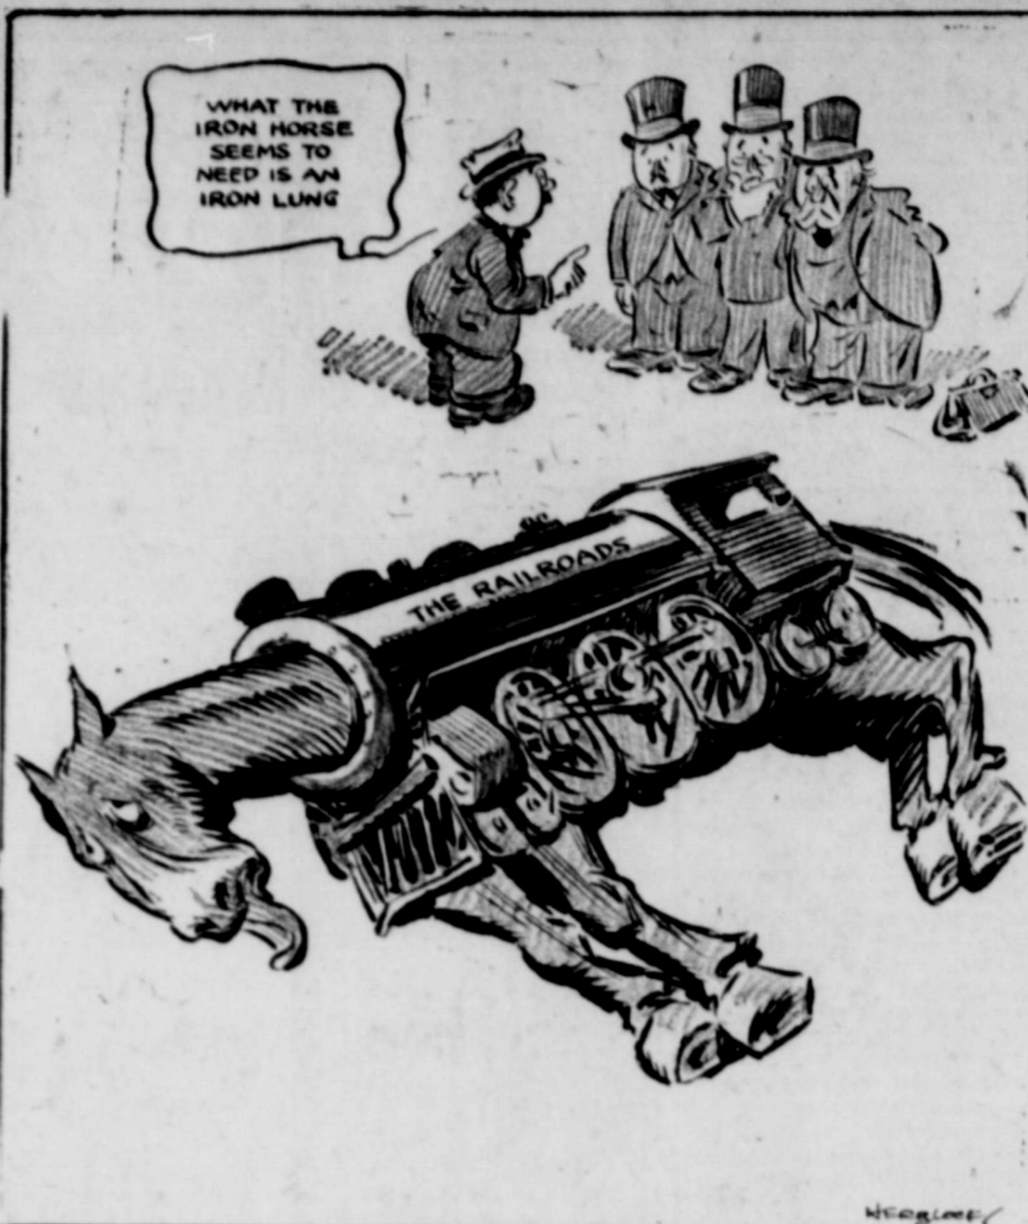

Misguided zeal of this sort will harm the C. I. O. cause infinitely more than any action its opponents could conceive. A start toward censorship and anti-labor literature will naturally and justifiably bring demands that pro-labor material be treated the same way. The C. I. O. would not take kindly to the suggestion that any material unfavorable to industrial monopoly be eliminated from libraries.

Speaking against the motion, Robert Parker, president of the WPA teachers' union, made this point: "If we start a book burning campaign, the anti-labor forces will start another and have all pro-labor and C. I. O. material removed. We should not give impetus to such a move." The point is well taken.

There is no reason why a labor union can be smart. The Cleveland motion will build more anti-C. I. O. sentiment than all the carpings of the deepest dyed of reactionary labor-baiters. Besides issuing an invitation to anti-labor groups to march on public libraries, demanding that literature sympathetic to labor be destroyed, the motion has the further effect of advertising the "malicious" pamphlets. Probably more Clevelanders will read "Join the C. I. O. and Help Build a Soviet America" within the next month than have read it during the last year.

"Book burning" has no place in the United States, whether the agitation for it be inspired by the American Liberty League or the Communist party.

(Serves 6 to 8) Twelve green beans, 8 stalks celery, 1 leek, 10 pods peas, 10 pods lima beans, 2 large carrots, cut in strips, 4 cauliflower clusters, 1 small white onion, sliced thin, 1-4 pound fresh mushrooms, peeled and sliced, 2 1-2 cups boiling water, 2 cups clear chicken stock, 1 1-2 cups beef consommé, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons water, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1-2 cup cream, whipped.

Chinese Lecturer Predicts An End of East's Cotton Trade

DALLAS, Tex.—Dr. Ch'ao-tin Chi, lecturer for the New School of Social Research of New York and editor of the magazine American, predicted here this week that the Japanese invasion of China would bring an end to the Oriental market for American cotton. "If Japan's conquest of China is successful," he said, "the United States will lose her cotton market in both China and Japan."

HIGHLIGHTS IN THE LIFE OF GENERAL PERSHING

John Joseph Pershing, as a curly-haired lad at 6.

As a student at Kirksville (Mo.) Normal.

As a cadet-corporal at West Point.

After graduation from the military academy.

Brigadier-General in Mexico in 1916.

As commander-in-chief of the A.E.F., 1918.

Tin-hatted at the front in France.

Before retirement at 14 years of age.

The General—every inch an ideal soldier.

BECAUSE his service in the World War eclipsed the rest of his life, in the popular mind, much of General John J. Pershing's dramatic career is sometimes overlooked. A survey of his life shows how his service has fitted closely into the history of the country and great events of the world since a boyhood during which he heard men speak of the surrender of Lee at Appomattox.

In 1895, the year Japan was fighting her first war with China, he was earning his lifelong nickname of "Black Jack" as first lieutenant with a regiment of negro cavalry in Montana. In 1898, the year which saw the rise to military fame of Theodore Roosevelt, he was serving with the 10th Cavalry in the Santiago campaign in Cuba. In 1899, the Spanish War finished, he was sent to the Philippines to help subdue the Moros, which he did so effectively as to become something of a national hero. His storming of the Moro fort of Bacolod and his personal achievements in treating with the native chiefs or datos established his reputation. In 1905, the year of the Russo-Japanese War, he married Helen Frances Warren, daughter of Senator Francis B. Warren, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee. In 1906, after a brief service as military attaché with Kuroki's Japanese army in Manchuria, he was promoted over the heads of 862 ranking officers from captain to brigadier-general. In 1915, after further Philippine service against the Moros, he was serving on the Mexican border at El Paso when word came that Mrs. Pershing and their three daughters had burned to death in a fire at the Presidio, California.

The late Mrs. Pershing, who died in 1915.

In 1916, while the Germans were smashing their armies against the rock of Verdun, he was sent into Mexico with 20,000 troops to catch Pancho Villa, revolutionist who had raided New Mexican towns. He didn't catch Villa, but he impressed Washington with his conduct of the expedition. In 1917, he was chosen to command the American Expeditionary Force against Germany, and in May, in advance of his troops, he sailed for France as General of the Armies of the United States. There, in the face of tremendous pressure, he stood firm for an independent American army. In 1918, May saw the battle of Chateau Thierry; June saw Belleau Wood taken; July found Pershing's Americans on the Vesdre; September wrote St. Mihiel; October the Meuse Argonne; November 11 found them before Sedan. In 1919, he was advisor to the American peace delegation at Versailles, and on his return to the United States he was voted the permanent rank of General, fifth American military leader to hold it. In 1921, as Mussolini was preparing to seize power in Italy, he was named Chief of Staff. In 1924, as the French were withdrawing from their invasion of the Ruhr, he was retired from the army, being 64 years old. In 1925, he went to South America in an attempt to help settle the Tacna-Arica boundary dispute. In 1926, as Pilsudski was making himself dictator in Warsaw, he sailed to France as chairman of the Battle Monuments Commission. In 1936, the year in which defeated Germany threw off the shackles of her defeat and began to re-arm, he completed the marking of his battlefields. In 1938, in the midst of a madder armament race than the world ever saw before, he became gravely ill. His honors included the Distinguished Service Medal, Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath, Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, the Croix de Guerre and Medaille Militaire, Grand Cordon of the Order of the Paulownia, Grand Cordon Order of Leopold, Grand Cross of the Order of St. Maurice e Lazzaro, Military Order of Savoy, Grand Cordon of Prince Danilo I and Obolitch Medal, Medal of La Solidaridad, Virtuti Militari and Polonia Restituta, Grand Cordon of the Order of the Precious Light of Chis Ho, and Grand Cordon of the Order of the Star of Kara Georges, bestowed by a whole world which had felt the weight of his services.

LET'S KNOW TEXAS--TEXAS

In this column answers will be given to questions as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mazes, Austin, Texas.

Q. Was General Reynolds ever elected to the United States Senate?

A. The legislature on Jan. 21, 1871, took the position that the called session of the previous year had exceeded its authority in electing Morgan C. Hamilton for the term that would begin March 4, 1871, after the regular session of the legislature would convene, and cast a ballot for a senator, electing Reynolds over Hamilton. On March 4, both Hamilton and Reynolds presented their credentials and Hamilton was seated.

Q. Who was Senator Morgan C. Hamilton?

A. He was a brother of Gov. A. J. Hamilton, a native of Alabama who came to Texas in 1830, served six years as a clerk in the war department and at one time acting secretary of the treasury. He was a radical opponent of secession, a bitter reconstructionist, and supported Edmund J. Davis for governor against his brother.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS - By Blosser

who though opposing secession, was a strong supporter of early and complete restoration of civil government. Q. Whom did the called session of the legislature elect to the United States Senate in February, 1870. A. Although General Reynolds let his hand-picked legislature know that he would like to be elected to the United States Senate, Morgan C. Hamilton was elected for the short term, ending in 1871, and also for the six-year term to follow. J. Webster Plannigan, lieutenant-governor, was chosen as the other senator, for the term ending in 1875.

THE MIGRATIONS OF BATS, LIKE THOSE OF BIRDS, ARE BEING STUDIED BY THE BANDING METHOD. NOT MANY YEARS AGO, PEOPLE BELIEVED THAT TOADS PRODUCED WARTS, CARRIED JEWELS IN THEIR HEADS, POISONED INFANTS WITH THEIR BREATH, HAD MEDICINAL VIRTUES, CAUSED RAIN IF STEPPED UPON, AND, IF KILLED, AFFECTED THE QUALITY OF COWS MILK.

SPORT GLANCES By Grayson

BY HARRY GRAYSON Sports Editor, NEA Service

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Joe Medwick took his customary robust clout at the new National League baseball. "Sounds like Joe hit a cabbage," remarked Pepper Martin, from back of the batting cage. Medwick belted another ball and another. "I've hit a good many of them as hard as I ever did," said Medwick, as he waited another turn, "but the ball simply isn't going anywhere. I can't see why they wanted to deaden the ball when the pitchers had all the best of it as it was."

Medwick won the batting championship of both major loops last season with a cool .374. He made 237 hits which were good for a total of 406 bases. He manufactured 56 doubles and 31 homers and batted in 154 runs. Naturally, Medwick and huge Johnny Mize still give the pill an occasional ride, but you gather that at the moment the change is something of a mental hazard to Medwick, Martin, and other Cardinals, despite the findings of Bureau of Standards experts. And it will remain so just so long as "biop" is all the reward they get for their best shots.

DIZZY DEAN disagrees with Cincinnati pitchers who complain that the higher seams may cause blisters on the pitching fingers. "They're not that high," explains Ditz, "but they're higher than last year, and the ball is a little softer." Dean corroborates the testimony of Medwick and Martin that the new pellet gives the pitcher an additional jump on the hitter. The firmer grip provided by the higher seam should enable curve ball pitchers to throw roller coaster curves. Medwick is a notorious bad ball hitter, but his answer to that is what Frank Frisch told one of his critics while the Carteret clouter was batting 419 last summer: "Seventy per cent of base hits are made off bad balls." "Keep your eye on the ball from the time it leaves the pitcher's hand," is Medwick's only batting formula.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Whether the government is competent to sit in as referee on the problems of an industry is a question very much bound up in the new effort of the National Bituminous Coal Commission to start out and do its job all over again after an initial fiasco. The commission is sometimes known as the "Goofy Board" because it operates under the Guffey coal act and for numerous other good and sufficient reasons. Its job is to set minimum coal prices so that mine owners in each of 10 soft coal areas will receive approximately the average cost of production per ton in their area. Many piecemeal stories about the commission have appeared. Here's a brief roundup: Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania and his political ally John L. Lewis of the mine workers, along with coal operators and other coal state operators, got a coal stabilization law through after an earlier, different one had been killed by the Supreme Court. The industry has an active productive capacity of 500,000,000 tons a year, which could be pushed up to 800,000,000, and a demand for about 400,000,000 tons. Conditions had been fiercely, often ruinously, competitive. The measure skinned through the House only after certain members had been assured the public would be protected from gouging. Bituminous consumers include railroads which burn 19 per cent of it, "manufacturing and miscellaneous" (including cities, states, schools and so on) 52 per cent, utilities and domestic users 16 per cent, the last figure covering hotels and apartment houses. Nobody knows how many house-holders use soft coal. The act set up a Consumers' Council empowered to learn all pertinent facts, to advise, to protest and to quad information.

A number of people who own trucks are interested in knowing when they can register their truck with the Supervisor for the City job. I am pleased to advise that I contacted Mr. Fitzgerald this morning and he assured me he would be in Ranger at 10:30 a. m.
