Ranger Man Heads Delegation to The Methodist Session

It was not until late Wednesday afternoon that the Cisco district conference of the Methodist church, in session at the First Methodist church in Ranger, completed balloting for lay delegates to the annual conference. It had required six ballots to elect the delegates and four altercations, due to the large number of people receiving votes.

A. J. Ratliff, chairman of the board of stewards of the Ranger church, heads the delegation, by virtue of the fact that he received the largest number of votes on the first ballot cast.

The delegation is as follows: A. J. Ratliff, Ranger; Mrs. Ed and Sneed, Dublin; Mrs. W. J. Ford, Stephenville; J. E. Walker, Gorman; B. E. McGlamery, Eastland; J. B. Curry, Cisco; W. Wright, Dublin; C. J. Williams, DeLeon; J. A. Caton, Cross Plains; Alternates: W. C. McKinney, DeLeon; Mrs. E. W. Kimbrell, Gorman; Mrs. John Shertzer, DeLeon; and Jessie R. Smith. Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, the new bishop of this episcopal area, is setting with the presiding elders the conference today in Fort Worth. The place of the annual conference has probably been detailed upon by that group, and an announcement will be made in the future. It is scheduled to meet on Nov. 9.

The district conference was very successful from first to last. The program of the conference was splendid, the reports over the district were excellent, and the delegates and visitors were high in their praise of Ranger hospitality.

Teacher Group Is Urged to Support U. S. School Bill

Eastland county school teachers and executives have been asked by the Texas State Teachers' Association to support the Harrison-Fletcher bill, Senate Bill No. 419, now before Congress, it was announced Thursday.

The teachers were asked to contact congressmen and senators, urging favorable action. The bill proposes to lessen inequalities of opportunity for elementary and secondary education "among and within states." It assertedly would provide federal aid for all types of current operating and maintenance expenses of public elementary and secondary schools, including school library service, nursery schools, services for handicapped children, educational and vocational guidance, vocational education, rehabilitation and placement activities, teacher preparation, construction of school buildings, and cooperative educational research.

Proponents of the bill assert it would leave states free to control their own programs.

HEAVY RAINS DELAY PLANES ON TWO LINES

By United Press
FORT WORTH, May 19.—Heavy rains over North and West Central Texas today caused postponement until Friday of two air mail "feeder line" pickups in 19 towns.

Postmaster Henry Young said that, weather permitting, the two planes will leave tomorrow morning. Several towns on the two routes to be followed are without all-weather landing facilities.

Disregarding a pelting rain, two volunteer pilots took off from Dallas today for points in East and North Texas.

Rains were general in West Central Texas last night and today. Albany reported .7 of an inch of rain. Grinn 56, Snyder 1.50, Wetherford .48 and Fort Worth one inch.

Reports to the government weather bureau indicated that the rain extended over North Central Texas and into Oklahoma.

HUGE WHISKEY HAUL MADE BY RANGER POLICE

A bent automobile license plate and a little too much speed landed Murel Thompson, 21, of Coleman in the Ranger City Jail and 1,792 half pints of whiskey and wine in the vault of the Ranger City Jail. Thompson was booked for investigation and no charges had been filed.

Early Thursday morning patrolmen Pounds and Boyd were driving on Harwell Avenue in East Ranger when a car passed them, making considerable speed. The officers noticed that the license plate on the car had been bent so the first three numbers could not be read. They decided to investigate and when they blew their siren the car speeded up, instead of stopping.

The car was overtaken on a hill within the city limits of Ranger when the heavily-loaded car jolted down and was forced to the side of the roadway.

The two officers questioned the driver, they said today, and at first he refused to give his name or his destination. Packages, neatly wrapped in brown paper, were on the seat beside him.

Thompson admitted, on being questioned further, that the packages contained whiskey. Pounds said this morning, and he was locked up in the city jail on an investigation charge. City employees helped unload the packages and store them in a vault. E. T. Eubanks and O. G. Lanier, who checked the packages, stated that their check showed there were 1,536 half pints, 56 pints and 36 quarts. Some of the quart-size packages were labeled "Wine" in pencil.

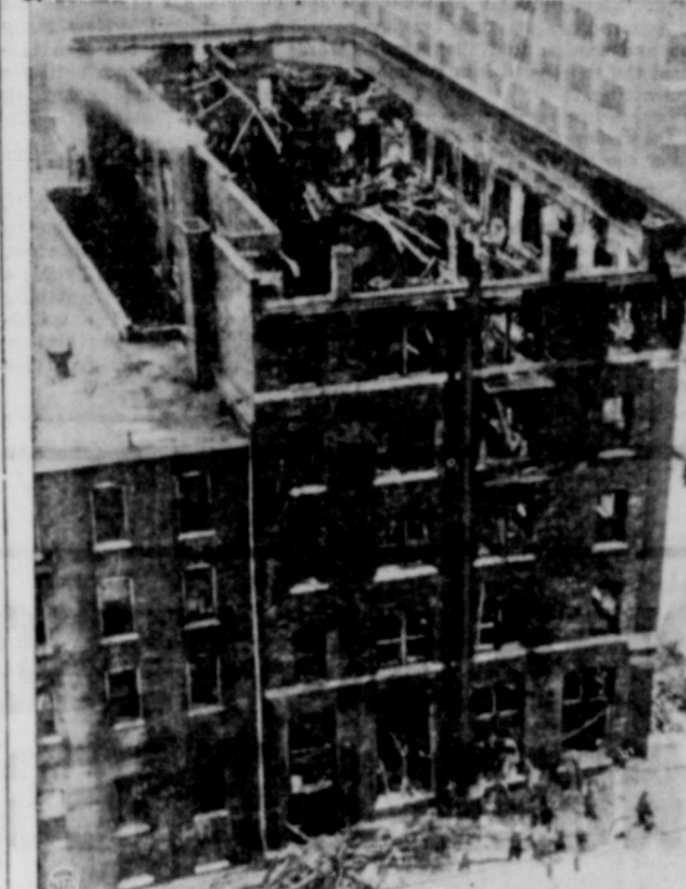

One of the smaller packages, which was opened, contained six half-pints of Mattingly and Moore whiskey, 90-proof.

A check of automobile license numbers showed that the car had been registered in Coleman county, Eubanks stated.

Funds for China Relief Asked by Red Cross Chief

R. C. Kinnaird, Eastland, chairman of the Eastland county chapter of the Red Cross, stated on Thursday that another appeal for relief in China has been received from Washington.

After Atlanta Hotel Fire

Firemen and sanitary department workers feared that a known death toll of 26 persons would be increased materially as they dug in this smoldering shell—all that remained after fire swept the five-story Fernald hotel in Atlanta, Ga. Heaps of charred timbers, bricks and mortar were expected to yield additional victims. All but one of the 26 known dead had been identified. Firemen were investigating a report that the blaze started with an explosion in the basement.

Dave Cooper Is New President Of Lions Club

Dave Cooper was elected president of the Ranger Lions Club today when the club balloted upon officers for the coming year.

Saul Perstein was elected first vice president, A. J. Ratliff second vice president, L. E. Gray third vice president, C. J. Moore tail twister and Lester Crossley Lion tamer.

Three new directors were elected at the meeting, those elected being Dr. W. L. Jackson, W. H. Clarke and Ken Umherson.

In addition to electing officers for the year, G. L. Drake, new manager of the local Montgomery Ward store was elected a member, as was Nick Crawford.

The election took up all the time of the meeting, no program being presented.

Because of the large number of nominations made at the last meeting, when four were nominated for president, four ballots were cast before a president was elected.

Convention Will Be Planned At A Legion Meeting

All Legionnaires were requested today to attend a meeting that was originally scheduled for last Thursday, but which was postponed because of the electrical storm which hampered electric service in the city for some time.

The object of the meeting, Legion officials stated today, is to form plans for the 17th district convention, which is to be held in Ranger in June.

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Carl Barnes post will meet with the Legionnaires tonight to help plan the convention. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the business meeting. All Legionnaires are urged to be present.

JAP TROOPS TAKE SUCHOW EARLY FRIDAY

By United Press
Japanese troops occupied Suchow early Friday, Japanese sources announced after street-to-street fighting through the smoke of exploding ammunition dumps.

The Chinese rear guard was driven from the city after Japanese airplanes dived tons of explosives.

One Japanese correspondent reported that "all foreign property is safe despite the fact that fires are sweeping the city."

Japanese said the fires were started by Chinese who wished to leave nothing of value.

Foreign military observers predicted the Japanese would not stop at Suchow, but would drive on to Hankow, the provisional capital. The immediate importance of the fighting was that it "saved face" at a high price for the Japanese. Strategically Suchow is the junction of railroads linking the Japanese Shanghai area with the north.

Meanwhile there were important developments in Spain where the loyalist government came to life with a counter offensive and in Mexico where President Cardenas acted against alleged plotters.

Cardenas demanded that Gen. Saturno Cedillo, San Luis Potosi military leader, surrender all his arms.

In the Spanish civil war, loyalists reported that the army of Gen. Jose Miaja had recaptured three towns on the Aragon front.

Record System at Land Commission Office Is Changed

AUSTIN, May 19.—After a hundred years, the bookkeeping system of the General Land Office has been streamlined.

The old system, after a hundred years, had become obsolete. Handling of 10 to 40 different ledgers was often necessary to post payments made by one individual landowner.

Revision of bookkeeping methods, accomplished under the supervision of Land Commissioner Wm. H. (Bill) McDonald, has reduced the number of individual land account ledgers from 150 to 66.

Form of the ledgers was changed to allow for accessibility and convenience.

As antiquated as an 1838 Easter hat, the old system slowed up the work of the office to such an extent that posting of individual ledger accounts lagged months behind the paying period.

Posting time has been reduced 40 per cent by the new system.

The advent of oil and resulting development of school lands doubled the work of the land office. Complete records of lease rental and bonus accounts are now kept up to date, however, through the use of modern accounting methods.

Filing of instruments and correspondence has been modernized, with the result that an hour's time a day for each stenographer is saved.

SENATE MOVES TOWARD JUNE ADJOURNMENT

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Senate got in step with the early June adjournment drive today by passing a bill increasing the legal limitations on federal bond issues from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000.

The House-approved bill would remove restrictions completely without revising the $45,000,000,000 limit on total federal obligations.

The conference report on the $1,422,000,000 independent office appropriation bill was approved by the House. The Senate must agree to the report before the measure goes to the White House.

Sen. Robert Wagner, Dem., N. Y., obtained unanimous consent of the Senate to recommit to the banking committee a bill authorizing the R. F. C. to make loans to railroads for equipment and work.

Meanwhile, divergent House and Senate bills to create a civil aviation authority headed toward a conference committee.

Congressional adjournment by June 4 appeared near realization as plans were completed to take the recovery bill to the Senate floor Monday.

"This rate will be very attractive to those who have a desire to install commercial refrigeration and small air conditioning equipment. Our representative will call on these customers and explain the application of these new rates."

"The new residential rate will be equally attractive to those who desire to install summer cooling equipment in their homes," concluded Lewis.

REDUCTION IN ELECTRIC RATE IS ANNOUNCED

A general reduction in electric rates to all residential and commercial customers in Ranger has been announced. J. E. Lewis, manager, Texas Electric Service Company, stated that the new rates for residential and commercial customers in Ranger, which have been filed with the City Council, means a further saving in the cost of electricity. These new rates become effective on all bills made from regular monthly meter readings, made on and after June 1.

"Our record of reducing electric rates in Ranger goes back to 1919 when the local light plant was purchased by the predecessor of the Texas Electric Service Company," Mr. Lewis said. "At that time, Ranger received electricity from a small local light plant, and residential customers paid 20 cents a kilowatt-hour for electricity with a minimum bill of $2.00 a month. This rate was reduced as soon as our company bought the plant. Now Ranger receives a far better power supply from a modern high-voltage power transmission system, with power lines entering the city from both the north and south, giving our city two-way protection against interruptions, plus the ample power supply of a large electric system."

"Since 1929 we have made four reductions in electric rates to residential and commercial customers, totaling approximately 40 per cent to the average customer, and a greater reduction to those customers who use more than the average amount of electricity. The new rates now in effect give a saving to all residential customers. The saving to commercial customers will be variable, depending on kilowatt-hour consumption, and previous kilowatt or billing demand."

"In addition to the saving to our customers, the new rates are simpler than previous rate forms. For residential customers, the first charge based on the number of rooms in a home has been discontinued, and all customers will receive 8 kilowatt-hours with the minimum payment of $1.00. For the next 50 kilowatt-hours the price is 5 cents a kw, and then drops to 4 cents for the next 50 kw, 3 cents for the next 50 kw and 2 cents per kw for all additional electricity used during the month."

"Commercial rates," continued Lewis, "also are simpler with a uniform rate for all commercial customers whose maximum demand is no more than 4 kw. This means that about 90 per cent of the commercial users of electricity will have no demand charge. The rate is similar to the residential rate, and for the $1.00 minimum, customers receive 8 kilowatt-hours. The top step of the rate is 5 cents per kw. The next step is 4 cents per kw. Above 508 kw used per month a 1-2 cent rate is reached. To those who use a large amount of electricity per month, a 1-2 cent rate is available."

"This rate will be very attractive to those who have a desire to install commercial refrigeration and small air conditioning equipment. Our representative will call on these customers and explain the application of these new rates."

"The new residential rate will be equally attractive to those who desire to install summer cooling equipment in their homes," concluded Lewis.

OKE H GIVEN FOR PAVING AT EASTLAND

Mayor C. W. Hoffmann announced Thursday at Eastland that approval has been given for a city-wide Works Progress Administration project providing for paving of streets.

Property owners may avail themselves of the paving if they will pay 70 cents for each running foot, which will cover the curbing and paving, it was explained.

Initial paving under the project is expected to start within 45 days following the completion of the widening of West Main street.

Property owners who wish to participate in the paving project were asked to contact City Secretary M. H. Kelly. No specific sum for the project was given.

Man Held On Charge Of Branding Woman With a Screwdriver

HOUSTON, May 19.—Gilliam Butler, 30, of Sugarland, was charged today with branding a 24-year-old woman 26 times with a red-hot screwdriver.

Goldie Williamson, who insisted that Butler be not prosecuted, said that each time, after branding her, he held her while he reheated the screwdriver.

Butler, an ex-convict, was charged with assault to murder.

G-Men Hold Seven On Harboring Charge

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 19.—Proving that they don't forget, the G-men today held seven prisoners whom they said had harbored Alvin Karpis, the public enemy whom they captured at New Orleans May 1, 1936.

A federal grand jury indicted all seven. They included three men who were ranking police officers of Hot Springs, when Karpis and his gang hid there.

Drive Started On Threatened Curb On Federal Agencies

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The administration opened a battle today to thwart a threatened curb on the regulatory power of federal administrative agencies.

Secretary Agriculture Henry Wallace criticized judges who "forgetful of their coordinate place in government have tried to dominate rate making and regulation."

Lockheed Officials Summoned to Probe Into Liner Crash

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 19.—Coroner Frank Nance today summoned officials of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., and airport workers to appear at tomorrow's inquest into the deaths of nine persons in an airplane crash Monday.

Nance sought to determine why Pilot Sid Willey flew low through a heavy fog instead of high in the radio beam where regular passenger planes experienced no difficulty.

Airmail Just Nine Years Late Leaving Marlin

MARLIN, Texas, May 19.—A mail plane finally stopped at Marlin today and 1,244 letters, which waited for it for nine years, were put aboard.

Letters were left at the postoffice in 1928 and 1929 by stamp collectors who heard an erroneous report that Marlin was to be an airmail spot. The senders asked that the letters be put on the first mail plane leaving Marlin.

Today a mail plane stopped. Postmaster A. B. Johnson dusted off the nine-year-old letters and put them aboard.

Since airmail rates have increased many letters required more postage. The Chamber of Commerce bought extra stamps. One letter was addressed to King George V of England, who since has died.

An Old Word Bobs Up

One of the interesting little by-products of the La-Follette party in Wisconsin is an apparent revival of the words, "progressive."

Twenty years ago, or more, that word occupied much the same position that the word "liberal" has occupied in the past decade. It had no exact definition, but in general it implied a willingness to go forward, to experiment, to take chances, coupled with a desire to make the uncertain future better than the imperfect present.

But no word ever seems to stay put very long. As the first Senator La Follette used the term, a progressive was a man who stood for a fairly well-defined program of political action; then Col. Theodore Roosevelt took the word and used it to christen a new political party in which the La Follette program was rather substantially modified.

And then, at last, the Roosevelt party went out of existence, and the war came along, and the reforms that had been fought for so hard in the early part of the century began to look either unattainable or illusory; presently we began to hear about "tired progressives," and the former leaders in the movement began to write books about their disillusionment.

So we stopped hearing about progressives, in the 1920's, and the social-political outlook which once had been called progressive became known as liberal; but that word, too, suffered many changes.

You could find hardly anyone who would admit that he was not a liberal. It got so, finally, that any man who had ceased to believe in the divine right of kings could call himself a liberal; and as the word got diluted and watered down the men who had originally used the label got tired just as the progressives had done before them, and the liberalism of the early 'twenties died out as the progressivism of the preceding generations had done.

So now we are back with the progressives once more, or will be if the La Follette movement re-popularizes the catchword. And the whole business inspires a melancholy wonder about these liberal-progressive swings that take hold every second decade or so.

Why do they seem to follow that unwritten law of diffusion and slow death? What is there about them that sends them all down the path of disillusion, in the end?

Tired progressives, tired liberals why do they get tired? We don't hear of tired reactionaries, or tired revolutionaries either. The extremist always seems to keep his faith and his vigor. It is the middle-of-the-road-man, the slightly-left-of-center person, who wears out. Why?

Maybe the trouble is that the liberal, or progressive, tries to make the best of both worlds: the future and the past. It is a hard job, perhaps an impossible one. And yet it seems to be the way America progresses.

Three artificial limbs have been stolen from a Philadelphia firm. Police are looking for three gents who are sorely in need of alibis, not having a leg to stand on.

East Texas Dairy Show Opens 24th

By United Press
SULPHUR SPRINGS, Texas.—Tom Raney, general chairman, predicted today that the third annual East Texas Dairy Show, to be held here May 24 and 25, would be the biggest dairy cattle exhibition ever staged in this section.

Plans were completed for the exposition, and workmen were finishing erection of facilities for cattle and their attendants.

The classification system of judging, which was inaugurated here last year and which is being used as a pattern this year by several other Southwestern cattle shows, will be in use again.

The climax of the show will be judging of the cattle in the arena from combined standpoints of physical points and production.

Texas A. & M. College will issue certificates to all cows awarded either red or blue ribbons, which produced 365 pounds or more but-

Communication at Deaf School Hearing Sets a New Record

By United Press
AUSTIN.—Four forms of human communication were used at the hearing of the state committee on complaints by the Texas Association of the Deaf against conduct of the State School for the Deaf.

Questions were propounded orally. Some of the witnesses replied this way; others in sign language. Stenographers took down the proceedings in their curly-cues and marks, and then transcribed the shorthand into common handwriting.

ter fat during the 12 months preceding the show.

Dairymen were invited to mail their entry lists to Raney at Sulphur Springs, or to the Sulphur Springs Chamber of Commerce.

Raney said there would be no entry fee.

Cattle will be received at the show Tuesday, May 24. The judging will take place the following day.

Persons attending the hearing in the hall of the House of Representatives followed the proceedings in three ways. Some listened; some read the lips of the speakers; others relied on the sign language.

Rev. B. F. Landon, a Fort Worth pastor, taking no side in the controversy between the association and the institution, was translator for the hearing. It is believed he set some sort of a record for continuous conversation. At times he was threatened with a "speaker's cramp". He had to massage his forearms to keep his fingers and hands going as the sessions progressed. How many words he put into the sign language will not be known until the stenographers finish compiling their notes.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
N.A. SERVICE STAFF WRITER
WHEN the weather is close, spacious living is in order. Better move your meals out of doors. The porch, the lawn or the balcony becomes the best place to eat. The wide open window of a city apartment calls the dining table to "come on over" when the evening is hot. Air on the table and simplicity in the meal is the order of the day.

The following recipes will combine into an easy-to-prepare and simple-to-serve al fresco meal.

Ham Loaf

(Serves 10)
One-half cup quick-cooking tapioca, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 pound lean ham, ground, 1 pound lean pork, ground, 2 cups milk.

Combine tapioca with remaining ingredients in order given. Bake in loaf pan in hot oven (450 deg. F.) for 15 minutes. Then decrease heat to moderate (350 deg. F.) and bake 45 minutes longer, or until done. Rub mixing bowl with garlic before mixing; if desired. Serve hot or cold.

Apricot Nut Loaf

Three cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoon combination baking powder, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1-3 brown sugar, firmly packed, cup finely broken walnut meat, 1 cup finely cut dried apricots, egg well beaten, 1 cup milk, tablespoons melted butter, other shortening.

Sift flour once, measure, baking powder and salt, and again. Add sugar and mix well. Then add walnut meat and apricots. Combine egg, milk and shortening. Add to flour mixture and blend.

Baked in greased loaf pan, 4 x 3 inches, in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 1 hour, or until done. Black walnut or pecan may be used instead of walnut meats.

Another Reduction in electric service rates to Ranger residential and commercial customers becomes effective June 1. This is the fourth reduction since 1929, and cuts the price of electricity for the average residential and commercial customer 40 per cent below the 1929 level.

The Texas Electric Service Company always has followed a policy of reducing the price of electricity as rapidly as conditions warrant, and the record of rate reductions over the last 9 years shows graphically how electric rates have been consistently reduced, even during the depression. This latest reduction, which makes CHEAP electricity still CHEAPER, comes at a time when other living costs are generally higher.

DALLAS. — The recently proclaimed need for putting Texas oil production on a five-day week—virtually the first concrete "recognition" that the national recession is being felt in Texas—demonstrates the inability of any region, no matter how richly en-the future promise of still greater economic development in Texas are all dependent upon the utilization of the state's natural resources. . . . The degree to which resources can be utilized, in the light of existing attainments of technology, is dependent upon the extent of the market.

Typically descriptive of the progress Texas has seen in natural resource development is Johnson's conclusion that, "basically, the great agencies for the maintenance of progress have been the laboratories of science; these have supplied the bases of those qualities of leadership for tackling the problems the solution of which has brought about the potential 'conquest of scarcity'—for they have been the spearheads in creating new processes, in establishing new industries, in making possible the fuller utilization of natural resources, and in raising the levels in intellectual attainment."

While Texas was practically unscathed by the 1932-35 depression and by no means figures to feel the pinch of the current relapse as keenly as most other sections less blessed with such staple sinews of commerce as oil, cotton and cattle, the backlash of "recessed" gasoline consumption throughout the nation sharply illustrates the economic interdependence of all sections.

Rambling With The Rambler

BY WAYNE WALLACE

If England was in the saddle she would be just as arrogant as are some of our other foreign powers. Yet even as conditions are, England is foremost and above all interested in England. The most recent proof of this is her present entanglement with Mexico. Since the seizure of the oil properties that involved both Great Britain and this country, by the Mexican government, England has assumed a strong attitude in demanding reparation for this act. On April 8, she sent a note to Mexico declaring the expropriation of "denial of justice" and demanding that such property be immediately returned to her. This first note being rejected she sent another expressing much the same sentiment but it was also ignored. In her third note she asked for money as compensation, instead of the property previously demanded. So far Mexico has not complied.

Now in all justice we must admit that England is within her rights in demanding that Mexico make some sort of restitution for the property seized. Without doubt her oil companies leased or bought these oil lands before developing them. That they assumed considerable financial risks in putting down wells should be apparent to anyone who has ever had any connections with the oil fields. The expenses entailed in this kind of work runs into thousands of dollars. If the oil companies were taking advantage of the people by paying them small wages, then Mexico would be justified in making laws to protect them but for her to take such property without making a reasonable refund is nothing short of stealing. America should demand as much.

It is not for this, however, that we censure England. Our grievance lies in the fact that Britain has acted much the same way with regard to this country. For the past five years she has defaulted on the lawfully contracted war debt that she owes us. Why is it then that she is so insistent in demanding from another what she refuses to do herself?

England on December 15, of last year owed the United States $994,486,367.03, her installment amounting to $122,670,765.05. If this amount was paid it would go a long way in helping rescue this country from the present depression. In contrast to this debt, England requires only a first installment of about $88,103 in our money at the present rate of the peso. From this vast difference it would seem that England would do well to pay her own debts before raising such a fuss about

It's No Surprise That You're Constipated!

If constipation has you bogged down so you feel tired, sunk, all played out—it's time you asked yourself some questions! What have you had to eat lately? Just meat, bread, eggs, potatoes? It's no surprise you're constipated! The chances are you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement. If this is what you lack, your ticket is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal vitamin B₁. Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and take a new lease on life! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

another country. While no amount of wrongs will make a right, nevertheless it would seem that Britain is getting a little of her own medicine.

With regard to the expropriation itself, it is very doubtful that it will turn out to Mexico's advantage. While it must be admitted that there are always two sides to any given question; still it remains a fact that what might appear of benefit for the time being may eventually prove disastrous. Such a seizure of property from foreigners as this one by the Cardenas regime should offer a very serious obstacle to outsiders in risking capital in developing or establishing industries in countries other than their own. If there are no laws to safeguard their investments than it is foolhardy to take such a chance.

A second consideration is the fact that such a policy is often the means of fermenting ill will between nations. Diplomatic rela-

Oil Man Slain by Ex-Partner

Isaiah Leebove, above, 41-year-old oil promoter, "mystery man" of Michigan politics and former legal defender of prominent underworld characters, was shot and killed while sitting in a hotel barroom at Clare, Mich. William Livingston, his one-time partner in the oil business, held by police in connection with the killing, is reported by them to have accused Leebove of doublecrossing him.

Leebove's severed and the aggressive nation stands to have her products boycotted by the one offended. Most of which has already happened with regard to England and Mexico.

Now such a procedure might prove advantageous if a country could isolate itself completely from its neighbors, otherwise the answer is, "no." Difficult entangling alliances could be avoided and self-sustaining industries could be developed from within, which would greatly reduce any outside interference. Adhering to a neutrality attitude and respect to all foreign nations, war would threaten only through aggression. However, since the world is not run that way other countries, if at all possible.

To sum up the situation we find that Mexico is having difficulty in finding a market for her surplus oil, that the value of her money is decreasing and that foreign nations are becoming less friendly towards her. Mexico is on a spot and upon the solution of this problem depends the present government of President Lazaro Cardenas.

Appealing to the League of Nations may be a waste of time but is still one way of keeping in the news. . . Life is a trailer is just a drag from one place to another . . . Halie Selassie is a King without a country . . . The backbone of any nation is its youth but a weak head can easily be the means of destroying the strongest backbone.

Constantinople officials have found a new way to determine whether a man will fall short as an automobile driver. They measure him for height.

"And they list her: HOUSEWIFE,,

On census report, or tax return, she may be listed only "housewife," while her husband bears the more definite title of "lawyer," or "doctor," or "storekeeper."

But housewife hardly does this wife and mother justice. She is the modern Jill-of-all-trades. Her job includes being dietician, interior decorator, costume designer, gardener, chauffeur—not to mention educator and health authority.

How does she get away with it? She is informed! Just as her husband depends upon business news in this paper, she finds in the advertising pages the latest facts and price quotations on all the materials needed for her various jobs.

Food for the family? Butcher and grocer answer on these pages . . . Curtains, spring dresses for mother and daughter, slip covers? Department store and specialty shop are ready. She has preferences about fuels and milk, dental creams and even motor oil—all determined by her persistent, intelligent reading of advertisements.

That's why, when she is termed officially "housewife," she can run six jobs instead of one, and have time left over for amusement and relaxation. (The advertisements help her here too.)

SERVEL ELECTROLUX THE Gas REFRIGERATOR

"More than Pays for Itself" —Say Owners All Over West Tex.

EVERYONE likes to save money. That's why Servel Electrolux, the Gas refrigerator, is taking West Texas by storm. For almost anywhere in this territory, it operates for as little as 2c or 3c—or even 1c per day! There is a reason. The Gas refrigerator has no moving parts. Nothing to wear; nothing to make noise, the first year or the tenth year. Just a tiny gas flame takes the place of all machinery. Freezes ice—twice as much as the average family needs daily. Keeps food safe, vegetables crisp. Provides ice cream every day, if you like, with little work and almost no expense.

Hundreds of housewives all over West Texas will tell you that in their homes, Servel Electrolux, the Gas refrigerator, has more than paid for itself. It will in your home, too. Come in and let us prove this. Today.

"We have had our Servel Electrolux three summers, and in that time it has saved on our grocery bill so that in actual money it has more than paid for itself, not including what we formerly wasted buying ice. Its preservation of foods is perfect in winter as well as summer. No sand ever gets in our food during a dust storm. We have enjoyed our meals so much more for the food and vegetables are better and kept fresh until needed. And it is silent—no motor to run and stop. We consider it the best investment we have ever made; not only from a financial standpoint, but for health and pleasure."
—MRS. HARRY CLOSE, Olney, Texas.

"I am the satisfied and happy owner of the wonderful Servel Electrolux gas refrigerator, and wish every housewife would do as I did. They are so economical to operate, and nothing to wear out. No noise whatever, just a little gas flame burning, and you have plenty of ice and frozen desserts the year around. It is a perfect food saver. I have recommended Servel Electrolux to all my friends."

Trial Flight

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JACKIE DUNN—heroine; she wanted to fly.
ROGER BRECKNER—hero; he wanted to test the stratosphere.
SERVY MELROSE—comic; she wanted Roger.
EVELYN LA FARGE—Jackie's mother; she wanted a son-in-law.

Yesterday Roger is found, critically injured, but the joy of the discovery gives Jackie such gratification as she has never known.

CHAPTER XVI
ROGER'S condition, result not only of the crack-up but of two nights and days without medical attention, remained critical for some time. Newspapers did out very little hope for his recovery, especially a complete one.

Jackie spent all her time waiting for news. Nothing else mattered. She read every line in every single paper she could get, kept phoning the field, or driving back and forth, in hopes she might learn something more.

"Dear me!" Evelyn said, holding up her lovely hands in despair. "You look like a former ghost of yourself, darling. You simply cannot go on like this. It is awful about poor Roger, of course. But it won't do for my little girl to go into a decline over him."

Jackie said she was not going to decline. It was just like her mother to make something horrible and yet romantic out of it. How could Evelyn guess what Jackie was going through? She had never loved anyone as Jackie loved Roger.

"Something must be done about it," Evelyn decided. She drew her lovely brow into a thoughtful frown. "Let me think..."

"There's nothing to do," Jackie said, harshly. "Except what I am doing. Wait. She did wish Evelyn would let her alone, cease trying to think up schemes and suggestions. No doubt she meant to help. But nothing could help, except the word that Roger was out of danger."

BUT the latest report remained much the same—Jackie had returned from the field—Roger was still unconscious, slightly delirious, his condition slightly better. She threw herself face down on her bed. She no longer had tears. She had spent them all that first dreadful fit of weeping in the lonely stretches of the night. Oh! if only there was something she could do, some way to help. She felt so useless, so helpless. That was what made this waiting so terrible...

"I suppose I might as well send these things back to the shop," Evelyn said. She referred to the huge stack of boxes, containing the wedding dresses and veils, that she had had given and had insisted Jackie try. "I'm afraid we won't use them now..."

"Please, Mother!" Jackie protested. She buried her face deeper in the pillows. Why must her mother remind her of that wedding that had only been pretense, anyway, a wedding that was not supposed to have taken place, that would, indeed, never take place now? Unless Roger got well, unless Jackie could convince him that she really loved him. Even then she did not know if Roger only had been pretending all the time or not; she did not know if Roger loved her...

"I'm sorry, darling—I didn't stop to think how badly that would make you feel," Evelyn came over to sit down on the bed by Jackie's side. She leaned over, stroking back the fair hair from the young sweet brow. She could understand her daughter now, at last. Jackie was behaving the way a girl should, a girl in love. Evelyn had known that given time enough Jackie would prove as romantically inclined as any girl. Every girl, at heart, was just the same, the wide world over—always had been and always would be.

"I know what I would do if Roger were my young man!" Roger said suddenly, for Evelyn, too, was likely to have ideas of her own. "Why, once, her beautiful eyes grew misty at the memory, 'when your poor dear dead father was ill, darling—though it turned out to be nothing serious then, but I thought he was dying and I was so terribly upset—I went all the way up to Schenectady in the most dreadful, the dirtiest old train and then had to drive miles and miles in a horse and buggy, of all things! But nothing, no nothing, darling, could have kept me from going to him when I thought he needed me.'"

JACKIE raised herself on one elbow. Why, her mother had loved someone then, just as she loved Roger now. Her mother had suffered and waited and worried, waiting so terribly...

"Did you love him, my father—so much?" Jackie asked. Evelyn nodded; the tears that sprang into her eyes were genuine. "More than anyone, more than life itself, darling. I shall never really love anyone again. There never is any love like the first, my dear."

Yes, Jackie could believe that. If anything happened to Roger, if he did not get well, she would never again love anyone.

STEADY hands rushed from the bull-pen long have played important roles with winning baseball clubs.

But never before have relief workers made themselves any more valuable in the majors than they are right now.

The National League scramble may well turn out to be a battle of relief pitchers.

The Giants, Cubs, and Pirates have made it plain that they intend to stick to the finish. They lead the parade in the old wheel, thanks to relief pitching that has been superior to that of the other outfits.

Dick Coffman already has pulled four games out of the fire for the Giants, saving a game for the great Carl Hubbell, among others.

Jack Russell has hurried from the bull-pen to crack his curve in four contests for the Cubs. He was the winner in two of them.

Mace Brown has been called in a half dozen times by the Pirates, and holds two decisions over the Cubs and one over the Cardinals.

Good relief pitching is a prime requisite to even such powerhouse juggernauts as the Yankees of the 1927 era, who had Wally Moore and his sinker. The Ripley Rifes now have Johnny Murphy.

Clint Brown got in seven of the first 11 games played by the White Sox, and picked up one of them himself with a two-base hit.

OTIS CRANDALL years ago made a big reputation for himself in finishing games for the Giants.

A relief pitcher has to have control the minute he steps into the box. He has to warm up in a hurry, and be at his best from the beginning. Sometimes relief men enter a game with the bases clogged up and a couple of balls on the batter. They must deliver at once. They can't fool around.

The best relief pitchers are those who have a real curve or some variant. Dolph Luque, for instance, with his sharp-breaking and low curve, and Hi Bell and Hal Haid. Luque was invaluable in his last playing year—with the world champion Giants of 1933.

Some fast ball pitchers make good relief artists. Connie Mack employed Bob Grove to advantage in the role late in 1929, but the curve ballers are better fitted for the job. They make batters hit into the dirt—set up double plays.

A relief pitcher must be able to throw to bases.

Personally, I thought Oscar Vitt made a mistake in sending young Bill Zuber into the box for his first big league appearance in the 11th of that 13-inning thriller between Washington and Cleveland. Zuber pitched well enough, but the pressure on him probably had something to do with his wide throw to third base, which set up the winning run for the Nationals.

Can Quality Food, Girl 4-H Members Urged at Meeting

Every family should strive to eat a food of the highest quality rather than to fill a large number of containers of poor quality food," said Miss Mable Caldwell, assistant county agent at the Flatwood and Kokomo 4-H club girls, meeting Monday, May 16, at the Flatwood Methodist church. Seven of these girls brought a container of canned food to be judged and scored. Each girl was given a jar to judge on the following points:

1. Container air tight seal; smooth and unblemished; free from rust or corrosion.
2. Pack a jar filled with food rather than liquid, but the liquid should be clear.
3. Color . . . should be characteristic of vegetable at carrot stage of maturity to be highest in food value and appearance.
4. Texture . . . Hold shape, evenly graded, tender, not mushy from over cooking or flat sour, out of a possible of three hundred.
Louise Eaves of Kokomo 1st of a score 292; Virna Mae Eaves of Kokomo, 175; Lorraine Byrd and Margaret Grieger tied as third with a score, 265; Bobbie Frank Byrd and Emma Lou Byrd tied as fourth with a score of 245.
The following visitors were Jean Justice, Delma Eaves, Mrs. F. C. Eaves and Mrs. B. O. Norris. Visitors are always welcome.
The following Kokomo members were Virna Mae Eaves, Mary Norris and Louise Eaves. Flatwood were one hundred per cent with the following members: Lorene Doshare, Margaret Grieger, Rosa Etta and Margaret Arnold, Jewel Justice, Lorraine Byrd, Doris Hartman, Bobbie Frank Byrd and Mrs. M. W. Grieger, sponsor was present.—Reporter.

A wise man once said there are two ways to save money: "Increase your income, or cut down your outgo."

Much as we'd like to, few of us can regulate the amount of money we take in each week. But all of us have control over what we spend. And many a family bank account has been made possible by careful spending.

That's why it will pay you to read the advertisements in this newspaper. Day after day they show you where to get the things you need . . . where to get the fullest dollar's worth for every dollar you spend.

A careful reading of the advertisements . . . today, tomorrow, and every day after . . . will help you to do something that we'd like to do: But what you want—and have money left over!
