Freedom's Defense Is Truth's

Thomas Mann, exiled German author, has been saying a great many sensible things on his current tour of America; but nothing that he has said is much more worthy of our serious consideration than his recent remark in serious consideration than his recent remark in New York that freedom must learn the art of self-defense.

Freedom as it exists in America is a priceless thing. We who have always lived in it take it for granted, perhaps even fail to realize that it can conceivably be in danger. Mann, who saw freedom snuffed out in Germany, has a clearer appraisal of it; and his warning is something

That the ideal of freedom must eventually prevail in this world is, to Dr. Mann, something that goes almost without saying. But before it can prevail the race is apt to live through some dark and painful times, and those who know and love freedom must learn the art of defending eit against its mortal enemies.

Now it is very easy to say that we must "defend freedom"; the trick is to learn just how the job is to be done. For freedom cannot defend itself by taking up the weapons of suppression. Those weapons cut both ways. Any free society which tries to use them will end by finding that it has somehow ceased to be free.

It would be better, perhaps, to begin by understanding clearly just what a devotion to freedom implies.

Such a devotion-when carried into practice through such instruments as democracy-implies, primarily, a belief that the great mass of human beings have in them the good will, the good sense and the common decency to some government department. "handle any problem that can fact them. In other words, it "implies a broad, sustaining faith in the human race.

This, of course, is only a starter. For to hold such a faith, and to live by it, means that one can have no use trying to make the most out of the and an author who made regular for any form of obscurantism. It means that the quest for case of the rest of the Supreme radio talks for the Democrats in knowledge must go on endlessly, that the exact truth about any and every phase of life must be given to the senstor people at all times, that the people must-as a great democrat once said-have the right to make their own

All of this is the exact opposite of the faith that prevails in the authoritarian governments.

It is, as a matter of fact ,a broader faith than many of -us actually live up to in America. And yet it is the only faith that can make freedom and democracy work. And AMBASSADOR Joe Kennedy peace of Senator Walter F. George, -to defend freedom and democracy, one must begin by defending that faith in season and out of season.

Viewed in that light, Dr. Mann's injunction is clearer, how it is to be defended. Protect that broad faith which animates freedom, and freedom itself will remain alive.

On census report, or tax return, she may be listed only "housewife," while her husband bears the more definite title of "lawyer," or "doctor," or "storekeeper."

But housewife hardly does this wife and mother justice. She is the modern Jill-of-alltrades. Her job includes being dietician, interior decorator, costume designer, gardener, chauffeur-not to mention educator and health authority.

How does she get away with it? She is informed! Just as her husband depends upon business news in this paper, she finds in the advertising pages the latest facts and price quotations on all the materials needed for her various jobs.

Food for the family? Butcher and grocer answer on these pages ... Curtains, spring dresses for mother and daughter, slip covers? Department store and specialty shop are ready. She has preferences about fuels and milk, dental creams and even motor oil-all determined by her persistent, intelligent reading of advertisements.
