The Lion Assumes a New Expression

If the Fates have a sense of humor, they must be indulging in a quiet chuckle these days over the queer things that are happennig to the well-known British lion.

Time was when this lion bared his teeth and claws on the slightest provocation, and had a growl that sent lesser folk scurrying to cover at its first trumble. But that, apparently, was before the "realistic" foreign policy of the present British government was adopted.

Under this policy the idea seems to be to go to practically any lengths to conciliate anybody who acts tough. It is, indeed, carried so far that it would be positively scriptural in its turn-the-other-cheek manner, if it were not being accompanied by the most prodigious armament expenditures ever heard of.

Anyway, it all sems to come to a head down in Mexico right now, with Mexico calmly suspending diplomatic relations with Great Britain and perkily reminding London that the British war debt to the United States remains

This is the sort of thing that would have been inconceivable a few years ago. Kipling's "lesser breeds without the law" was meant to include practically everyone outside the British empire, but most of all it referred to people like Mexicans. Kipling must be turning over in his grave at the very thought of Mexico telling England where

Now all of this adds up to something. It is simply the logical result of the kind of foreign policies the Baldwin and Chamberlain governments have been pusuring in recent years; an dwhile those policies are not any particular business of ours, the results which they lead to are well worth our study.

In the last few years the world has seen the emergence of a new kind of nation: the braggart-in-arms, as you might call it, which openly proclaims its contempt for the opinion of the rest of the world, takes what it wants whenever it feels strong enough to de so, and scoffs loudly at the mere suggestion that the world make a sincere effort to settle its differences peacefully.

The present British government seems to have decided to play ball with that kind of nation; to condone seizures of Ethiopia and Austria, violations of treaties, and menaces directed at peaceful nations.

By so doing, it has simply invited other nations to act the same way-to disregard protests and try any course of action that they think they can get away with.

Apparently the lesson was not lost on Mexico.

On census report, or tax return, she may be listed only "housewife," while her husband bears the more definite title of "lawyer," or "doctor," or "storekeeper."

But housewife hardly does this wife and mother justice. She is the modern Jill-of-alltrades. Her job includes being dietician, interior decorator, costume designer, gardener, chauffeur—not to mention educator and health authority.

How does she get away with it? She is informed! Just as her husband depends upon business news in this paper, she finds in the advertising pages the latest facts and price quotations on all the materials needed for her various jobs.

Food for the family? Butcher and grocer answer on these pages ... Curtains, spring dresses for mother and daughter, slip covers? Department store and specialty shop are ready. She has preferences about fuels and milk, dental creams and even motor oil—all determined by her persistent, intelligent reading of advertisements.

Thats why, when she is termed officially "housewife," she can run six jobs instead of one, and have time left over for amusement and relaxation. (The advertisements help her here too.)

The White House game is to pretend a hands-off policy in intra-party contests while letting it be known, unofficially but emphatically, that Mr. Roosevelt has certain preferences. Less and less effort is being made to conceal these choices.
