Drummer, Brush Away Those Tears

There is one law of business that hasn't been repealed, one principle that remains true, under Republican or Democratic administrations, under fair skies or foul, in any orderly world or in the midst of today's whirlpool.

And that is that, everything else being equal, the rewards of business go to the aggressive, the imaginative, the capable, the daring. They go to the man who is willing to try, and able to do.

To sit back and lick the wounds of the depression gets no one anywhere. And there are signs that many business men are beginning to feel that they have cried long enough, and that now it is time to go out and get business.

The railroads, despite the precarious financial condition of many of them, have used the depression period to revolutionize completely the speed of passenger travel in the United States. They have dared to go ahead and buy new and better equipment, and the most daring have found good profits in streamlined trains running on lines which a few years ago were a dead loss.

The trans-ocean airplane people have not hesitated to gamble a million dollars and three years' hard experimentation on their newest "Big Ship" destined for trans-Atlantic service.

Where daring and aggressiveness have marked the business course, there you find spots of progress and "go-ahead," rather than sloughs of despond and wailing walls. The cutting of steel prices is apparently an effort to do something to get things off dead center, rather than supinely waiting for something to turn up.

Experimentation is developing new and better products all the time, and to those who are abreast of the innovations, the rewards will go. Here is a new device for cooling meats, not by refrigeration but by a needle injection at the hip-joint, starting the cooling process from within. Here is a new process for making woollen yarn by applying the principles of suspension-bridge cable design. Here is a bus company that goes after summer tour business as a profitable side-line to spread overhead costs, and reduce the cost of regular scheduled operation.

Here is a radio retailing magazine which publishes a detailed map of REA lines constructed and planned, a vital guide to where sales can be made. Live sales organizations everywhere are beginning to realize that sales can be made if advertising is well-used and greater aggressiveness and imagination used in seeking them.

The way to resume, as President Cleveland once said of specie payment, is to resume. And the way to better business is the way of improved product, improved sales methods, and a determination to fight.

The only clocks that keep daylight-saving time in one eastern community are those belonging to the city. There's one thing a government can save, anyway.

City In France Is 2,200 Years Old

By United Press
AVIGNON, France.—A prosperous Greek city of 300 B. C. has been uncovered by archeologists digging in the Provence district of France, a district which numerous Roman ruins already have made an archeologists' paradise of the area.

A dozen villas, 52 Greek altars, a pagan temple and a quantity of Greek pottery, busts and jewels indicate that life must have been prosperous and pleasant 2,200 years ago in the Greek town which once stood upon what is now called "The Plateau of Antiquities" at St. Remy.

Most of the altars are dedicated to Sylvanus, god of the forest. Others are consecrated to the Goddess Cybele, who in ancient mythology was the wife of Saturn and the mother of Jupiter. Archeological experts working under the direction of M. Jules Fromige, of the French ministry of fine arts, also dug up more than 40 small votive lamps and a magnificent ring made from a single piece of rock crystal and ornamented with the head of a woman.

One of the houses, which did not show the slightest trace of any Roman influence, consisted of 12 rooms opening on an atrium where the bases of four columns are still visible despite the 2,000 years that have elapsed.

Excavations were made in an area 300 feet long and 70 feet wide, close to an old Roman road. Before the Greek city was uncovered, a supporting wall for the Roman road was brought to light. The valuable discoveries have been placed in the museum of St.

Remy. The latter, a modern town, probably was once a stopping place for "salesmen" and merchants from Marseilles at the time when the Mediterranean port was a Greek city. Substantiating the supposition is the fact that many Greek coins minted in Marseilles were among the finds in the recent diggings.

Chesterfield Plans New Radio Program

Announcement was made today that Paul Whiteman and his orchestra would begin a new series of radio programs on Wednesday night, July 13, over a Columbia Broadcasting system network, advertising Chesterfield cigarettes. Stations in Austin, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Waco will carry the weekly program, beginning at 9:30 each Wednesday.

ROUND-UP TIME at the famous Pitchfork Outfit, 200,000-acre Wyoming ranch of Charles J. Belden. The picture above shows "Chuck" Curtis, one of Pitchfork's best at "heeling" calves. Exciting work, but it's plenty tough too. So "Chuck's" cigarette choice is Camel!

Illustration of two cowboys talking. One says: 'CHUCK, HOW COULD ANYBODY SAY THAT ALL CIGARETTES ARE ALIKE? CAMELS ARE SURE WAY AHEAD IN MY ESTIMATION!' The other replies: 'NO SIR—I DON'T GO FOR THE IDEA OF ALL CIGARETTES BEING ALIKE. CAMELS ARE A SIGHT DIFFERENT FROM OTHER CIGARETTES. I'VE BEEN OPEN-MINDED AND TRIED 'EM ALL, BUT I ALWAYS COME BACK TO CAMELS. I FIND CAMELS AGREE WITH ME!'

CHAPTER IV
The three months that followed Tran continued to be generally known as "Utility," which means that, by misfortune of being the junior probationer in the training school—if only by three days—she continued to be at the beck and call of every one.

Not that life for Tran was all made up of running errands. There were classes in anatomy, chemistry, biology, psychology. Tran took these courses in her stride, although scholarship here was a much more exacting business than during her earlier school days—at Miss Brand's, or during those later years when Aunt Clara had left her casually a year at school in Germany or in France.

On such occasions Tran walked on air—and almost bursting with questions in the presence of patients was not tolerated. And there were some of the senior nurses who did not encourage it at any time. Tran wondered sometimes if that was because even they did not know quite all the answers. Miss Miller did, of course; but "the icicle" was one who believed that probationers should be seen and not heard.

And how, Tran wondered, was a girl to get along in this strange world unless she could ask questions? Needless to say she did—to such an extent that before long the nickname of "Utility" began to give way to "The Elephant's Foot" for notice things that were funny, to notice things that were funny.

A little of ice in a glass of coffee makes a zestful and sound. Better listen to these simple rules. Your coffee to be of real strength, using 2 heaping level tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water. Use fresh coffee. Never reheat coffee. Use ice fresh and strong. Always "scald the pot" before the coffee to be iced. Boiling each time the coffee should be rinsed with boiling water. Just fill your refrigerator with fresh hot coffee when frozen use the cubes.

Freak Deck Has 4 Suits; 4 Jokers

By United Press
VANCOUVER, B. C.—Now is the time for all good men to watch their cards. The recent five-suit deck of 65 cards is getting around the country, and now W. Felder of Vancouver has invented another deck of 64 cards, containing four suits of 15 cards each and four jokers. Felder believes the pack is practically cheat proof, and that it will eliminate much of the element of luck in distribution and add to the mathematical qualities of the game.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Any wage cut in the steel industry following recent price reductions will be a rude shock in Washington. Mr. Roosevelt and the New Dealers are convinced that the country is off on a business upturn which will last at least until after elections. They believe a steel wage cut under the circumstances would bring a louder howl from government labor and the public than anyone in the steel industry wants to listen to. Furthermore, on its part, the administration will move to speed up the big orders for steel involved in the new FWA program. The steel price reduction, in which the U. S. Steel Corporation led off, was no huge slash and the average labor cost in finished steel products is only 22 1/2 percent. Although New Dealers of the Henderson-Lois-Jackson school credit for the breakdown of the heretofore rigid steel price structure which they considered a bar to recovery, other factors appear to have included pressure from steel-buying manufacturers and a willingness of Chairman Stettinius of U. S. Steel to test the theory that price cuts would revive buying. That the approaching federal monopoly investigation was also a pressure factor is indicated by the fact that U. S. Steel's announcement practically eliminated price differentials between the Pittsburgh, Chicago and Birmingham basing points. President Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, now proposed by the Democratic Party as Democratic candidate to succeed the late Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York and sponsor of the...

SPORT GLANCES

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service
NEW YORK—With their worst days in three years behind them... they hope... the New York Yankees are more confident than ever of winning their third consecutive American League pennant. The reasons for their optimism are numerous. They remained within striking distance despite streaky pitching and with only three regulars batting more than 300... Joe DiMaggio, Bill Dickey, and Red Ruffing. Lou Gehrig has found the range. George Selkirk is back in the thick of things. Joe Gordon definitely has come through at second base. Vernon Gomez, started for runs when he regained his stuff, has more than ever now that he is being given some help. Bump Hadley has hit a low-hit stride. And there are Red Ruffing, Spurgeon Chandler, Monte Pearson, Johnny Murphy, Joe Beggs, and Steve Sundra. It has been demonstrated that the Yankees' eastern opposition... due to the Boston and Washington clubs' lack of pitching... as powerful as it appeared at the outset. JOE MCCARTHY'S men expect to catch and pass the flying Cleveland club on or before July 21, when they close a three-game series with the Indians at Yankee Stadium, where the Tribe has met with little success. The Yanks are intact and in shape to make hay against western arrays during the home stand which closes July 24. "Cleveland is hot now, but I don't expect them to stay in front," says Charley Ruffing. "We'll catch the Indians and win the pennant by four or five games. We're the class of the league and class will tell in the long run." Ruffing is one Yankee who didn't lag while the outfit was floundering, or what has come to be described as that when a Ruppert club isn't out in front and winging. Ruffing needs only a fair share of the breaks to make this his third straight 20-victory campaign. RUFFING is giving another demonstration that pitchers who are getting along in years, athletically speaking, can win as long as their arms and legs hold out. Red was 34 on May 3. He is the veteran of the Yankee staff, having been obtained from the Red Sox in 1930, and next spring will be within comparatively easy reach of his 200th victory in the American League. His total now is 182. Clubs scuffling for a flag must use topnotch fingers out of turn, and Ruffing is built for wear and tear and is a glutton for work. He dislikes prolonged periods of idleness. Pitching after a long rest, he has trouble with his control. Ruffing can slug that apple, too, but as handy as he has been to date, he should be even more useful when the double-header series is reached, particularly if the Indians and Yanks fight it out all the way down to the wire.

They attended a Zeta Tau Alpha rush party in Dallas Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. McCracken of Fort Worth were in Ranger Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Harry A. Logsdon of Colorado, Texas, was here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Belknap of Moran were visitors here Saturday night. Mrs. Belknap is the former Inez Pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McNeely left this morning for their home in Bakersfield, Calif., after several weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pounds.

There is plenty of food awaiting the future Utopians in the form of goats, pigs and cattle which roam the jungles. Fruit hangs from the trees and vines waiting only to be picked. There is also the bread fruit that was taken to the island from Java by the ancestors of the Polynesians.

Members who have signed up to join the colony range in age from infancy to 70 years. They are all of British descent from various parts of Australia, and, although differing in tastes, ideas and background, are united in the belief that such a Utopia will fulfill their desires to escape from what they feel is the ugliness of present civilization.

It is not the intention of Briggs that the colony shall in any way "go native," but rather that the colonists shall bring with them and preserve all of the amenities of civilization. He believes, however, that the community eventually may grow to be like the natives who once lived here but who were killed. Only 2,500 of the 100,000 natives who originally inhabited the Marquesas group of 13 islands now remain.

However, among the original population of Nukahiva there was not a man less than 6 feet tall and not a man or woman, although the latter were diminutive in stature, who would not have made a fit subject for a sculptor. Briggs is convinced that this physical ideal can again be attained by the colonists.

Colonists Must Work
While Briggs holds that the island would be able to support the population without work, he does not intend that the colonists shall remain idle. They will be expected to build houses, grow produce, engage in stock raising, fishing and the search for minerals which are believed to exist in the island.

The colony will have its own schooner for keeping contact with Australia and other South Sea Islands.

As regards marriage, Briggs said: "As we cannot take either a state or a church with us, those who may want to marry after they reach the island will have the love they bear each other, and their own consciences and reason to bear witness."

The colonists who have agreed to join the South Sea paradise will sail within the next nine months by steamer to Tahiti, where they will be transferred to a trading schooner for the rest of the voyage to Nukahiva. Once there, it will only be at intervals of three or four months that trading schooners will drop anchor.

Flag 75 Years Old Carried in Two Wars

CINCINNATI, Ohio. — A 75-year-old American flag that was carried through the Civil and World Wars by soldiers is owned by Robert Stricker, a pressman on a Cincinnati newspaper.

The tiny little pocket flag was carried through the Civil War by Major Joseph M. Stricker of the Indiana Volunteers. Robert, his grandson, carried it through the World War when he served in the navy.

Nation Is Becoming Water-Safety Minded

By United Press

WASHINGTON.—The American Red Cross national aquatic schools have more than capacity enrollments for the first time since the schools were started in 1922, the Red Cross announced.

"It is obviously an indication that America is becoming water-safety conscious," explained H. F. Enlow, director of the Red Cross life-saving program.

"It will be necessary to shift applicants to avoid turning enrollees away."

The Red Cross this year will conduct 15 schools in 14 states.

The students may study First Aid and Accident Prevention; Life Saving and Water Safety; Swimming and Diving; Small Craft Operation and Safety.

FOUL BALL CAUSES BURNS

WORCESTER, Mass.—A foul ball from a nearby lot sent seven-year-old Thomas Murphy to the hospital with face and chest burns.

The boy was standing beside the kitchen stove in his home when the baseball smashed the window and landed in a pot of boiling water, splashing the fluid over his face and chest.

Lease Sought On South Sea Utopia By An Australian

MELBOURNE, Australia. — Fred Briggs, until recently attached to the photographic section of the Royal Australian Air Force, has launched a project for the foundation of a South Sea Island Utopia of the kind that has been the dream of thousands for at least a century.

The island which Briggs has chosen as the site of his South Sea paradise is that of Nukahiva of the Marquesas group. He is there making surveys and conducting negotiations with the French government for a lease on the island.

Should these negotiations fail, he has a number of other islands in view in the South Seas which will answer his purpose equally as well.

The South Sea Utopia is to be known as the International Goodwill Settlement and membership is open to anyone who is in a position to pay fare there, contribute $400 to a community fund and who is willing to abide by the regulations of the community.

Ile 47 Miles Square

The island of Nukahiva, which Briggs hopes to be able to lease, is uninhabited now. It is 47 miles square, has well watered fertile valleys and verdure-clad mountains rising to an altitude of 4,500 feet.

Scene of Bloody Holy Land Riots

Danger spots in Palestine as a result of Jew-Arab rioting are shown in the map above. The dotted line along the Palestine-Syria border shows the location of "Tegart" Wall, a $500,000 electrified fence designed to keep extremists out of the country. The arrow just north of the Dead Sea shows where 600 Arabs broke across the Trans Jordan border and clashed with British troops. Jerusalem, Tel Aviv and Haifa were the scenes of repeated riots.

Rope Enthusiast Ties Self and Dies

By United Press

CAPETOWN — Kurt Stoldt, chief wireless operator of the German liner Pretoria, met a strange death while his ship was in Table Bay.

Stoldt was missed when the ship was ready to sail and a search was made for him. Then it was found that his cabin doors were locked and the portholes screwed up and curtained on the inside.

When the locks were cut away Stoldt was found, sitting on the couch dead, with his hands and arms bound and a waterproof sheet drawn tightly over his head and tied around his waist.

Members of the crew said Stoldt was taciturn and solitary and was keenly interested in rope tricks. He enjoyed showing how he could tie himself and others up in knots which would only be tightened by struggling.

The body was examined by doctors and police, but there was no suspicion of foul play.

Dog Sleeps Through Sky Writing Flight

By United Press

FINDLAY, Ohio. — Spotty, a dog of doubtful lineage, who wandered into the Findlay airport one day, became a seasoned aviator on his first trip aloft.

Ed Leach, of the airport staff, found Spotty asleep in the plane used for skywriting. Although Leach had to fly the plane upside down while writing an "O" Spotty slept through the whole performance.
