HUGHES GIVEN BIG OVATION IN NEW YORK

By United Press
NEW YORK, July 15.—Hailed by New York's millions as no man has been since Lindbergh came home 11 years ago, Howard Hughes today modestly waved aside all credit for his record-smashing flight around the world and said it was a triumph for American engineering.

He and his four companions rolled up lower Broadway, but even while the cheers of 500,000 were beating against his ears, Hughes gave the laurels to the men who designed his super plane.

It was at the city hall where he received the official greeting of Mayor LaGuardia that the lanky Texas millionaire refused to take any credit for one of aviation's greatest triumphs, a flawless flight around the world in half the time it had ever been done before.

"If credit is due to anyone," Hughes said, "it is due to the men who designed and perfected to its present remarkable stage of efficiency the modern American flying machine and equipment."

LaGuardia told Hughes the flight was more than a personal triumph and a triumph of aviation. He said it was a contribution to world peace, knitting nations together in common interest in such peaceful pursuits as civilian aviation.

FINLAND WILL GET OLYMPIC GAMES IN 1940

By United Press
HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 15.—Definite assurance that the 1940 Olympic games will be held in Finland was received by Finnish Olympic officials today from Count Henri le Baillet-Latour, president of the International Olympic Congress.

In a telegram to the Finnish Olympic committee, the count said "If Japan withdraws from the Olympic games the International Olympic committee offers holding the games in Finland."

Thus, as soon as the games are officially abandoned by Japan they will be transferred to Finland.

The Japanese Olympic committee reluctantly drafted a formal notice of cancellation to be delivered to the International Olympic congress. It had been impressed on them that prosecution of the war against China was of vital necessity and that it might continue two years longer, when western athletes would be invading the Far East if the games were held.

HOUSTON, Texas, July 15.—Frank Quinn, president of a baking company, asserted that four officers stopped two of his bread trucks near Beaumont today and refused permission for them to enter the city.

Quinn said the officers threatened to jail his drivers.

She May 'Come Out' for $100,000

Newport, R. I., socialites will see about the grandest debut in their memory, if the rumored $100,000 coming-out party for 17-year-old Evalyn McLean, above, materializes. Her mother, Evalyn Walsh McLean, wealthy Washington owner of the $2,000,000 Hope diamond, denied the report, but admitted she doesn't "add up the check stubs."

Mrs. McLean also said CIO leader John L. Lewis would be a guest.

Group Will Urge Wives to Resign Business Positions

CLEVELAND.—Mrs. Elsie M. Fadden Fern, a jolly housewife, is busily promoting the "Employment Reform Association"—a national organization she has formed in favor of removing married women, whose husbands can support them, from business and the professions.

The association now is incorporated in Ohio.

Mrs. Fern is one of the three trustees. The others are Mrs. Lloyd Bannage and James Grant.

"Mr. Bannage, my neighbor, first had the idea of incorporating," Mrs. Fern said.

"As long ago as 1933 we used to talk about what a shame it was that so many young people in our neighborhood were out of jobs. We decided that this situation was partly the fault of married women working whose husbands were able to support them."

A slightrown marred the good nature of Mrs. Fern's round face. She indicated a pile of letters on a table before her.

"I have a pathetic letter here from a widow," she said. "Her daughter, 18, became desperate when she couldn't get work. She finally said to her mother, 'Let's turn on the gas, mother—it's no use going on like this.'"

"I've received a lot of letters from young people, out of high school or college, who have tramped all over the city looking for a job. They couldn't find any."

She said that her daughter, Dorothy, recently had been graduated from high school, but was at yet unemployed.

"One night Mr. Bannage came over, 'Well, Mrs. Fern,' he said, 'the papers for incorporating our idea are awaiting your signature.'"

"And that was how the Employment Reform Association came into being."

Mrs. Fern emphasized the fact that it is a non-profit organization. She has undertaken its management because both Bannage and Grant, a friend of Mr. Bannage, are busy working all day.

"We hope soon to have public meetings scheduled. These will be in different parts of the city. They will include speeches and discussions," she said. Later, she hopes to extend these to other cities.

She said they would consider their efforts partially successful if married women would "stay home at least until business comes back."

"Most working wives have no children. They can live nicely on their husband's salary—even if it's $30 a week," she said.

"You'll have to excuse me now," she apologized. "I have to get supper ready. Our dad comes home early these days."

She started toward the kitchen.

MANY ATTEND FIRST ANNUAL MELON EVENT

Rising Star's first annual watermelon festival was held Thursday night at the Rising Star football field and hundreds of iced melons were served 2,500 persons.

The melons were furnished by growers of the Rising Star area, and the chamber of commerce cooperated by sponsoring a program. In a softball game at the festival the Rising Star team defeated the Ranger Elks 14 to 5.

Persons from cities over the area attended the festival, which was given to call attention to the increasing importance of watermelons to the farmers in the Rising Star territory.

Last year approximately 400 acres in the Rising Star area was in watermelons, and this year the acreage has doubled. Each day watermelons are shipped to Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico and other points.

Austin Smith has been employed by growers as sales manager for their watermelons.

Young Roosevelt Is Chided By Paper For Lanham Stand

FORT WORTH, July 15.—Elliott Roosevelt was chided by the Fort Worth press today for endorsing Fritz Lanham, candidate for reelection to congress from the 12th district.

An editorial entitled "The Roosevelt Kiss" poked fun at the president's son and opined that "Elliott evidently is to do the Roosevelt branding in the Southwest."

Young Roosevelt yesterday made a public endorsement of Lanham to refute rumors the congressman was "snubbed" when the president visited Texas.

According to the State Observer, published at Austin, Joe Burkett, former prominent Eastland county citizen and public official and later member of the Texas Highway Commission is a candidate for the legislature from District 78, place 2, in San Antonio, where he has been making his home for some time.

Illinois GOP to Rally August 31

PEORIA, Ill.—Illinois Republicans will rally behind new leadership at their state convention here August 21 to draft a program aiming at G.O.P. election victories next November.

Heading the party's slate for the 1938 campaign is Richard J. Lyons, youthful state Representative in the general assembly, who is seeking election to the U. S. senate.

The state convention will draft a platform, map plans for the campaign and nominate candidates for the University of Illinois board of trustees. All candidates for other offices were named in a primary last April.

Lyons and other candidates for offices to be filled in statewide elections next November will be in the convention spotlight, since a plan to bring in outstanding Republicans from other states to speak has been abandoned.

Leadership of the party in Illinois now is dominated by a recently formed organization of G.O.P. county chairmen in the state, who backed the winning primary slate and new officers of the state central committee.

The new leaders have directed their efforts to gain a Republican victory this year and wrested control from older leaders who were seeking to lay the groundwork to return the party to power in 1940.

Principal offices to be filled in November include one seat in the U. S. senate, state treasurer, the office of state superintendent of public instruction, 25 congressional seats, 151 in the lower house of the general assembly and 27 in the state senate.

Lyon's opponent will be Rep. Scott Lucas who won the primary nomination with state administration support against the candidate backed by the Chicago Democratic organization.

PROTEST UPON ARMAMENTS IS BEING IGNORED

By United Press
President Roosevelt's protest against the "disaster" of international armament competition, fell unheeded today on a world at war or preparing for war.

But the president's speech emphasized that the struggle to solve the world's problems by peaceful means will not be abandoned, regardless of the trend toward military might.

American authorities did not expect that Mr. Roosevelt's offer to join a world disarmament move would have any immediate effect on the greatest arms race in history.

The president spoke to remind other nations of the United States' ability to arm.

Mr. Roosevelt's proposal to reduce armaments was termed a "Democratic echo on an electoral occasion," by an official Italian newspaper in Rome. It added however, that none should turn down the suggestion "least of all Italy where a policy of moderation regarding armament is well known."

Meanwhile, on the world's trouble fronts:

China—Defending their capital at Hankow, the Chinese military leaders reported they had stalled the Japanese offensive. Twenty Japanese bombers went out this morning to bomb Hankow, but never reached their objective, indicating possible defeat by the Chinese.

Spain—Rebels claimed more rapid progress in their offensive against Valencia, but the loyalists insisted the claims were exaggerated.

Italy—Jews fear fascist leaders are preparing a program to discriminate against them, although confident Italy would avoid such policies as pursued by Germany.

Jerusalem—Eight Arabs were killed and 12 injured today. Three of the dead were women.

Three Leading Candidates Busy

By United Press
Ernest O. Thompson, candidate for governor, expressed appreciation today for the support of Clarence Miller, who withdrew from the race yesterday and announced he would work for Thompson.

At the same time Thompson reiterated he was a friend of organized labor, but was opposed to sit down strikes.

Telegrams from Kingman, Kas., congratulating W. Lee O'Daniel on his race for governor drew fire from Attorney General William McCraw.

Going for Walk Calms Families

By United Press
ITHACA, N. Y.—Keeping harmony in a three-generation family is as complicated as running a three-ring circus, according to the verdict of a conference on family life sponsored by the New York State College of Home Economics. But, according to Dr. Ethel B. Waring of Cornell, tranquility can be attained, provided four "oils" are applied to keep the individuals cooperating smoothly. The "oils," she said, are "affection, recognition, mastery of some one thing and new experiences."

A popular method of maintaining happiness, according to a number of women attending the conference, was to share household duties. Thus, they said, the tasks of dusting furniture, washing dishes and caring for children gave a mother or mother-in-law the necessary feeling of being wanted.

A family council was a solution for family problems offered by one woman, the mother of four children, who worked outside the home. Her mother and her husband's father lived in the family.

Druggist Goes On Vacation But Sends Trade to a Rival

By United Press
CHAMPAIGN—When T. H. Miller, druggist, decided to go on his first vacation in 16 years he posted a sign on his door for his customers to read that was calculated to explain his absence, direct his business to his rival and then bring them flocking back when he returned.

On his hand-painted sign, Miller explained that he had gone fishing for a month because "my doctor says, 'either lie down in a tent and pull up fish, or lie down in a box and push up daisies.'"

In order to keep the business in his neighborhood Miller printed: "The next best drug store in this neighborhood (and it's a good one) is our competition just 'cata-corner' across the street. Patronize him. We'll appreciate it. Don't take your trade downtown." Miller added the following to insure that his customers would not forget him during his vacation: "Thanks for your past trade and good will—be sure and come back when we get back—Lord knows we'll need you."

Mrs. Nannie Walker Gets Letter From a Relative In Alaska

The following letter has been received by Mrs. Nannie Walker by her granddaughter, Helen Keele, who is vacationing in Alaska. The letter is being run at the request of same who thought it would be of interest to Times readers:

June 28, 1938
McCarthy, Alaska

Dear Mother Walker:
Well, I guess you thought you'd never hear from me. We're just been going all the time though.

The station will carry Gulf products, tires, tubes, batteries, and will do wash and grease jobs. It will remain open 24 hours every day.

Odom invites the public to come by and see his new station.

After we got off the boat at Valdez we took the plane to McCarthy. Spent the night there at the hotel and then came on out to the lower camp, which is 10 miles out. The mosquitoes were so bad there that we decided to come on up to the upper camp. It's colder up here and not so many mosquitoes. So we climbed on up to the upper camp. We had to climb straight up the mountain 5 miles. It took us 5 hours.

I'm just having the best time up here. Am crazy about it. They are all so much fun. The mountains are all covered with snow and you can see such a long way from here.

Uncle Marshall and I had a snow fight the other day and he washed my face in the snow. Had more fun.

Well, I guess I've ridden on almost everything now. On a bus, boat, car, plane, truck, raft, and a horse. It happens that someone is going into town today so I thought I'd better write you and let them mail it. You see, we're not going to town until we really have to, because it's too far and costs too much. So I don't know when I'll get a letter mailed again.

Two-Ton Arrives for Fight in Form

A stein of beer in his right hand and a big, black cigar in his left, Two-Ton Tony Galento makes a typical entrance to Philadelphia, where he fights John Henry Lewis, July 26. The roly-poly Jersey barkeep's arrival was the sign for a wild outburst of acclaim by Italian admirers, who gathered at the station for a parade.

Aunt Gladys and I just giggled all the time. She's so much fun.

Well, I've got to go eat breakfast now and get this letter off.

Will write more the next time I get a chance. Tell everybody hello for me, especially "our preacher". Will write to you again as soon as I can.

Lots of love,

P. S. Mr. Reynolds taught me how to shoot a gun yesterday but I still can't hit anything. We have wood stoves up here and they really do eat the wood. Just peeled some potatoes for supper and got them on and now I must go.

The Esperanto enthusiasts are back again proposing an international language as a means of doing away with war. The best way to restore peace these days would be to make it impossible for the nations to understand what they're saying about one another.

National Boom Is Seen In Roads

HOMESTEAD, Pa.—The government can solve the unemployment problem, provide useful highways, develop a defense line in case of invasion and cultivate hitherto uncultivated lands, declares Fred L. Weghorst, of Muncie, Pa.

Weghorst, former borough tax collector, theorizes that two broad ribbons of concrete from Atlantic to Pacific, and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, would do all those things.

He is proposing the construction of two huge highways—he calls his plan American Prosperity Crossroads—first as a means of taking up the slack in employment.

Such a project—and it's really immense—would employ 10,000,000 men, Weghorst believes.

In addition, it would provide a defense line to be set up in case of invasion. He would establish airports along the roads in each state. These would serve as army supply bases if an enemy comes to these shores.

Weghorst's east-west highway intersect. With the good road, would start near Norfolk, Va., on the Atlantic seaboard, and would extend through North Carolina, along the borders of Tennessee and Kentucky, Arkansas, and Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico, Utah and Arizona, into Nevada and end at Oakland, Cal.

The north-south road would extend from Winnipeg, in Canada, down to Port Arthur, Texas. It would touch the borders of North Dakota and Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa, Kansas and Missouri, Oklahoma and Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana.

"The Federal government in conjunction with state leaders," Weghorst said, "would be asked to allocate approximately $2,000,000,000 for the extensive project, deemed to end unemployment for all time."

The road would be directed through certain uncultivated sections of the United States. This, Weghorst believes, would bring an influx of farmers with a need of new homes and business dwellings.

He suggests that a national park be located on the proposed highways near Joplin, Mo., and Pittsburg, Kas., where they would intersect.

Berlin Planes Now Reach Far North

By United Press
BERLIN.—The airplane is making further encroachments on the territory where a short time ago the husky and reindeer were the only means of transportation.

Aerial conquest of the Arctic wastes through regular commercial flights was carried through successfully first in North America. Settlements in Victoria Land, lying north of the 71st Parallel of Latitude were connected by plane with the Temperate Zone.

The summer timetables in Europe now show a similar schedule between Berlin and the little Lap town of Petsamo lying on the fringe of the Polar Sea at 70 degrees North Latitude. The flights via Helsinki require 15 hours.

Weghorst believes national parks would be a mecca for tourists.

Thus by using this "Arctic Air Express" the traveler who leaves Berlin in the afternoon can spend the night in Helsinki and arrive at the tip of North Finland before evening.

Good Neighbors Seek Compromises

The fourteen weeks since the expropriation of the foreign oil companies' properties in Mexico have given both parties a chance to see just where they stand.

Neither party is happy as things stand now. The American companies have lost their property, including both the physical improvements they installed with American cash, and their rights to subsoil wealth in oil.

If that is not a situation that calls for settlement, it is hard to imagine one. Waiting decision before the highest Mexican courts is the foreign companies' plea that their property be restored.

The American State Department policy has been sympathetic and tolerant beyond expectation. But it can scarcely go farther than it has gone.

What seems the sensible thing to do? First, to get an impartial estimate, through an international commission, of the value of what has been taken.

Like all compromises, that requires yielding on both sides. But it also implies advantages to both sides which neither side is now getting.

Naturally, this is an oversimplified view of a very complicated problem. But for the oil companies to wait grimly and uncompromisingly for the Mexican government to collapse under the oil strain would benefit no one in the long run.

A workable compromise would, on the other hand, smooth the path to "good neighbor" policies which have become a vital part of the place of the United States in the world.

Miss Marguerite Adamson Becomes Bride of James Campbell Thursday In Twilight Ceremony at Eastland

The wedding ceremony of Miss Marguerite Adamson and James Campbell was read by Rev. G. Alfred Brown, minister of the Methodist church of Ranger, Thursday evening at seven-thirty before an improvised altar of greenery. Flanked on each side by baskets of flowers, Miss Adamson wore a gown of blue and white with a natural setting of woodland and beds of gorgeous zinnias. Baskets of garden flowers, chiefly bluebells, were used over the lawn. A bridal aisle was formed by Miss Alla Ray Kuykendall and Mrs. Roy Pentecost, Mrs. B. C.

Pfleider and Mrs. J. W. Burrage, wearing pastel shades with blue flowers in their hair. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a cornflower blue chiffon dress with illusion veil from a halo of chiffon and tulle of the same shade. Her bouquet was made up of agapanthus lilies, tube roses and baby's breath. For something old she chose a bracelet her mother had worn at her wedding, this being the only jewelry used. Her going away costume consisted of a brown sheer dress, with jacket, trimmed with touches of white, small felt hat, brown patent sandals, white bag and gloves. Mrs. C. I. Wolford was matron of honor and wore a dress of slightly darker shade of blue chiffon, with turban of the same shade. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue asters and stock. The mother of the bride wore a rose lace dress with blue accents and corsage of blue asters, and the groom's mother was dressed in navy blue chiffon with a corsage of white dahlias. The groom was attended by Mr. Lee Thompson of Breckenridge as best man.

War In Spain On Threshold Of Third Year

By H. A. PETERS United Press Staff Correspondent

BARCELONA—The second year of the Spanish civil war, closing today, has brought home to Catalonia the full horror of armed conflict. For nearly 18 months Barcelona retained a semblance of normalcy in contrast to the grim situation prevailing in Madrid and Valencia. When the first upheaval of the revolution passed, Catalonia's many factories resumed operations. Everybody was making and spending plenty of money, and the war seemed far away. The struggle between the trade-labor groups and the government for domination of factories, which flared up in a sanguinary week in May, had been won by the Valencia government with a few thousand troops, and the industry of the province once more operated. But all that is changed now.

The need for tapping the resources of this wealthy province, however, and for bringing its production more into line with the needs of the republican army and the central government became more apparent as the war entered its second year. By October, 1937, the Valencia government had resolved to move to Barcelona, despite the many interpretations abroad which were placed upon this act. The government came, established itself, and immediately began the task of harmonizing and coordinating the industrial government with itself in order to concentrate fully the industrial resources remaining to loyalist Spain on the fight in the Aragon and Central fronts. Asturias and the northern provinces had been lost in the fall of 1937, despite stubborn resistance. The nationalist army reached the seat and cut off the north. Refugees soon began arriving in Barcelona, which then became the seat of three governments, the Republican, the Catalan and the Basque.

A city normally of 1,000,000 people absorbed within a few weeks nearly a quarter more than its population. The problem of housing and feeding these additional residents became a heavy one before the winter ended. Long queues could be seen before markets and food shops from dawn throughout the heat of the day. Often housewives who had taken their places at 3 A. M. would reach their turn at a counter hours later only to find supplies exhausted. The system of food cards and rationing was revised several times but duplications still continued and many families were able to obtain enough only by enlisting aid and by trading commodities among themselves. The supply of bread remained very steady although it was strictly rationed. Rice, a crop which remained almost entirely in loyalist Spain, became scarcer and scarcer largely due to the absence of harvest hands. Potatoes disappeared from even the best supplied tables early this year and, although Catalonia formerly exported large quantities, they were scarce even in the spring and summer. They had been absent from the average diet for more than a year. Frozen meat was imported and rationed, but civilians, except those who patronized a few expensive restaurants and hotels, saw little of it. The average meal consisted of chick peas, fish occasionally, carrots and green cabbage. Butter was not obtainable, and milk in limited quantities was only for children under 2. The average weight fell from one-tenth to one-fifth.

But the full horrors of war, however, were not brought home to Catalonia until air bombardments began soon after the New Year along the whole Catalan coast. One of the worst was made on Barcelona on a January Sunday, when more than 600 were killed. Barcelona suffered its worst bombardment on March 17, 18 and 19, when squadrons of nationalist planes criss-crossed above the city at regular intervals every three hours dropping projectiles on office buildings, dwellings and churches alike. More than 1,000, chiefly civilians, were killed. The path of these raids could be traced diagonally across the city, one to each square block as if the intent were to create as widespread terror as possible. These bombardments caused international discussions.

Monkeys Age Slowly Upon Vegetables And Fruit Diets

BUFFALO, N. Y.—If you want to live to be 90 years old, go on a "monkey diet."

This suggestion is made by dietitians at Buffalo's zoo, who claim that meals prepared by them have quintupled the simians' life span. And, they declare, it ought to produce the same results for humans.

"Many monkeys have never known a sick day in their lives since they have lived on our special diet," one keeper declared. "They live on vegetables and fruit. The diet never changes. And it is the same diet human beings should follow if they want to live beyond the average span."

"Some of the monkeys have reached the age of 35. The usual age of monkeys in captivity is seven years. This prolonged life is equal to 90 to 100 years in the life of a human."

U. S. Finds Veteran, Gives Him Medals

By United Press

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—An Asheville druggist has been presented three additional medals by the Federal government for service during the World War.

James P. Adams, who served as a Marine captain during the war, already had received the Distinguished Service Cross, Navy Cross, Croix de Guerre, the Victory medal with five clasps and other decorations.

Adams recently applied for membership in the marine reserve corps and when authorities reviewed his record he was awarded the Silver Star with oak leaves, the Purple Heart and the Marine Expeditionary Force medal.

A new method of controlling the millions of pounds of pressure used in industrial tests has been discovered. Do you suppose it would work on lobbies?
