SAMUEL INSULL DIES SUDDENLY ON SATURDAY

By United Press
PARIS, France, July 16.—The long career of Samuel Insull, 78, ended suddenly in a Paris subway station today when he was fatally struck by a train.

The utilities promoter, whose spectacular pyramiding of Midwestern public service corporations brought ruin to thousands of investors, stumbled on the steps and fell on his face.
He was taken to a hospital where all efforts to revive him failed.
Insull's death ended a fabulous career, during which he built a utilities empire rated as worth $3,000,000,000 at one time, only to see it collapse and to find himself disgraced and a fugitive from his country.
He fled to France and then to Greece, bitterly resisting efforts to extradite him on fraud charges. Greek ships pursued him when he sailed to Turkey and he was brought back and acquitted at his Chicago trial.

He has since been in obscurity, traveling occasionally for his health. He arrived in Paris last week to join his wife, after an exciting voyage during which he was stranded in the St. Lawrence river.

A one-time associate of Thomas Edison, he came to Paris in 1902. Mrs. Insull formerly an actress, was stricken with grief when word came of her husband's death.

Davison Cites Record in Speech Before Oldsters

DALLAS, July 16.—"My opponents are making many promises, but they could not produce even if elected," said George A. Davison, Jr., candidate for Lieutenant Governor, as he declared that the other candidates were attempting to appropriate his platform and his program in their race against him.

Saturday afternoon Davison addressed a statewide meeting of age pensioners in Dallas. He said he would rest over Sunday in Dallas before starting out again for five days of campaigning throughout East Texas.

"A man's record is the only index to his future actions. Consequently, I question the ability of my opponents to carry out their programs even if elected," the candidate declared.

Although 20 pounds lighter in weight than when he entered the race, Davison was pushing on steadily but rapidly bringing his program before the voters of East Texas. He planned to bring his speedy campaign to a smashing close during the next five days. "Politics is like prize fighting. You would believe in a fighter who had fought and won. I have fought the battles of the public and won unemployment compensation, old age assistance, old protraction, and other legislation just as sound," Davison declared.

Sunday Shutdown Will Be Studied

By United Press
AUSTIN, July 16.—Whether Sunday operation of Texas oil fields can be resumed without sending production above market demand, appeared today to be the chief topic for Monday's oil and gas hearing by the Texas Railroad Commission.
Reports of continued strong demand for gasoline were encouraging to those who seek to remove the restriction against Sunday operations.

OIL ACTIVITY OF AREA ACCELERATED AS SITES PICKED FOR LOCATIONS

Oil activity in this portion of West Central Texas took a spurt this week as new locations and completions were reported.

In the Ellenburger lime area eight and one-half miles northwest of Cisco, Eastland county, Hickok Producing and Development company completed No. 3 Grover Cleveland, section 476, SPHR survey, for 6,000,000 cubic feet of gas at pressure of 1,455 pounds. With total depth of 8,604 feet, the well had its gas sand pay from 3,574-83 feet.

Following over a year's period in which the Downtain pool two and one-half miles southeast of Eastland has not received exploitation, John L. Reeves, youthful Fort Worth oil man, announced location for No. 1 L. C. Downtain "B".

Projected for 1,500 feet, the test is in section 2, ETRR survey, block 6, 1,054 feet from the east line and 1,828 feet from the south line of the Downtain lease.

Hayner, Reeves and Hose No. 1 P. C. Larkin, three and one-half miles northwest of Rising Star, in Eastland county, section 40, block 2, ETRR survey, was testing what was reported to be 75 feet of line in which a showing had been registered at approximately 2,550 feet.

Also in the Rising Star area, five miles north of the town, J. F. Baker No. 2 N. T. Mulloy, section 1, Williams Ahrensbeck survey, in Eastland county, was drilling at 2,700 feet.

Salt water at 1,488 feet, total depth, resulted in plans to plug Dorothy Oil company No. 1 Mrs. J. L. Johnson, section 29, block 4, H&TC survey, one and one-fourth miles west from Eastland. Previously the test logged 2,000,000 feet of gas.

Comanche County
Being watched more intently is the Gallagher-Lavson et al. No. 1 Mrs. Bobbie L. Terry, N. H. Kykendall survey, near Desdemona, in Comanche county, as it approaches the expected pay area. Total depth this week-end was below 5,140 feet.

E. D. Compton was shutdown at 1,400 feet on his No. 1 Griffin, block 2, Comanche county school land, nine miles south of Comanche.

Stephens County
Lone Star Gas company No. 1 E. H. Brooks, section 54, block 7, T&P survey, a gas test, was drilling below 2,500 feet.

Palo Pinto County
Palo Pinto Oil and Gas corporation No. 21 Strawn Coal company, two and one-half miles north of Strawn, was drilling below 2,100 feet.

Coleman County
Picking a location one mile west from Novice were Cooper brothers who planned to drill No. 1 W. R. Stockard, section 23, T&NORR survey, to depth of 3,650 feet.

Another new location for the county was Coleman Gas and Oil company No. 1 Sara Blanton, in block 4, Martinez survey, four and one-half miles southeast of Santa Anna, 1,000 feet from the west line and 800 feet from the north line, which will be drilled, according to present plans, to 2,550 feet.

Brown County
Ed Selvidge completed his No. 2 J. N. Perry, section 38, J. G. Ebes survey, for 65 barrels of oil from a sand 1,231-49 feet. Total depth was 1,250 feet.

Mayor Urges Citizens To Aid In Making Local Project A Success

Mayor Hall Walker Saturday issued a statement urging the cooperation of Ranger citizens in making the homemaking project for underprivileged girls, which opens Monday, a success. Mayor Walker's plea for cooperation and assistance follows:
To the citizens of Ranger:
The Federal Government has seen fit to appropriate money to sponsor certain programs if the municipalities will bear part of the expense. The city commission believes that the city of Ranger should sponsor every program in its reach where it is financially able to do so. In this way it will improve our town in many ways.

The Government is willing to spend the money. If we don't get it spent here, it will be spent in other places, therefore the city is familiarizing itself on many programs offered to see if it is possible for the city to qualify.

The city commission has seen fit to sponsor a school in Ranger, to be opened next Monday, July 18, for white girls, ages of 18 to 24 inclusive, assisted by our commissioners' court. There are only three such schools in the state, this making the fourth, and the city commission members think they are really accomplishing something in securing this school for our town.

These girls will come from homes in Eastland county, mostly from families who are either working for the WPA or the sewing room, or who have borrowed money from the Government to farm with, or whose parents' income is rather small.

This school is primarily for underprivileged girls and should teach them the better things in life as we will have a matron over the girls who will teach them better housekeeping, etc., and in addition to this, we will have a C. I. A. graduate who will teach them home economics.

This school will be maintained mostly by the Government. The Government proposes to pay the girls $18 for 15 days' work. Each girl registered for this school will work 15 days and then return to her home for 15 days, and then return back to the school for another 15 days. Girls will alternate every 15 days, whereby we will have 40 girls per month. Out of the $18 the Government pays the girls, each girl will pay back $10 for her board and room and keep $8 for herself. These girls will work four hours per day at the City-County hospital, school nursery, or for any other organization in town that is operated for non-profit, and they will go to school three hours per day.

The city commission has rented one of the Mid-Kansas houses located on Melvin street now owned by Mrs. Homer Hodges. We have selected this large house due to the fact that it has excellent living quarters and should be very homelike for the girls.

The city needs some 20 chairs, some 12 beds with springs and mattresses, and some half-dozen dressers, if you have some used furniture you can spare, we will repair same, give you a receipt for it and return same in good condition one year from now when the school is over, or six months from now when the first school is over, if you desire. Anything along this line you can loan will be appreciated.

We will have pretty lawns with shade trees. We hope to get someone to donate lawn chairs and swings so these girls might enjoy themselves when off duty. We also hope some organization will help us secure a radio, a piano, a croquet set, a tennis court and other things along this line that will go with our dormitory, which will be entertainment for the girls. In addition to this, we are in hopes that the good men and women of our town will think up something that they can do for the girls while they are in our town to make them enjoy themselves and will help guide them toward better things in life. Anything you can think of along these lines will certainly be appreciated, and I am sure you will enjoy doing something for these underprivileged girls, therefore, we certainly will appreciate anything you might suggest that can be done to help these girls along the lines outlined above.

In addition to the many good things it will do for the girls, the school will bring $1,000 per month cash into our city, which will be spent by the teachers and the students, and from a financial way many will be benefited directly or indirectly.

HALL WALKER, Mayor

A Move to Lock the Door Before the Nag Is Gone

The Illinois House of Representatives the other day passed a new statute designed to fill in some of the gaps in our legal defense against the so-called sex offender.

The statute, if it finally becomes law, will make it possible for the authorities to lock up a person of criminal sex propensities before any criminal charge has been filed against him. And while this looks like the most obvious kind of common sense, it nevertheless is a power which the authorities do not have now and which they need very much.

For, as things stand, the man who suffers from one of those dark and tragic urges which lead to the most frightful of sex crimes cannot be put away until he has actually committed a crime.

Time and again this sort of story has been told. A man will be arrested for a sex crime of the foulest sort, and the officers will examine his past. They will find that the authorities had their hands on him before the crime, that his tendency toward that kind of offense was perfectly clear, that psychiatrists and plain policemen knew perfectly well that some day he would succumb to his urge and take the life of some helpless woman or child; yet because he had not then actually done anything there was no law by which he could be put permanently under lock and key.

The law, in other words, was bound to a policy of locking the stable door after the horse was stolen; to carry the metaphor a bit farther, it was not allowed to lock the door beforehand even when it knew that a theft was about to take place. It could act only after the offense.

In ordinary criminal law, of course, it would be monstrously unjust to imprison a man because he might some time in the future commit a crime. But the sex criminal is a creature of a different stripe. He is driven by a tragic tangle in his brain or in his emotional set-up. How infinitely much better for everyone—including himself—to get him out of harm's way before he gives way to this urge and makes a monster of himself!

The Illinois law looks like an intelligent step toward the solution of an extremely pressing and complicated problem.

People are spending too much money, according to an eastern sociologist, on the study of phthisis. They wouldn't have to study it so much if it had a few more sensible letters.

A clock in Canada has been running constantly since 1892. It thinks it's a politician.

Employees of the St. Louis waterworks called off a proposed strike the other day. They finally settled the issue, but it looked for a while as if they might have a faucet.

SPORT GLANCES - - - - By Grayson

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD NEA Service Sports Writer. CURLY-HAIRED Frank Strafaci, the New York youngster who is rapidly forging to the front as one of the country's outstanding amateur golfers, warns you, in a good-natured sort of way, that he'll be a mighty tough person to beat if he ever learns how to drive. "My irons always save me," he explains. "There's no telling where I'd be if I had to depend on my tee shots to make up lost ground. "Good ol' irons," he sighs. "Irons, and my drag shot." And then he doesn't tell you much about his drag shot, but once you've seen it, you realize, instantly, that you've seen one of the greatest shots in the game today. He uses it on a recovery, at anywhere from 25 to 40 yards, usually with the green banked high in the rear, with tee pin setting on a knob. Old-timers who recall the backspin Harold Hilton, Alex Smith and Willie Anderson used to put on the ball, thought the art had died out until they saw the Long Island champion demonstrate his shot. He picked it up in practice—worked it out by himself—and now it's paying real dividends. "I USED to scoop my trap shots," he explains. "Lift them up too much with my hands. Then I studied the change, and I guess, maybe, I have it." He has it, all right. Strafaci takes his piling dynamite, with a narrower sole than a regular sand wedge, and opens the face of the club on the address. He keeps it open coming down. CALLS OF BIRDS ARE ABLY IMITATED BY FIVE YEAR OLD GIRL. CONNEAUT, Ohio.—Five-year-old Robin Grove Somers, musical by name and temperament, possesses the unusual ability of being and hits the ball and end at practically the same instant. The blade digs into the sand beyond the ball and his hands finish low. The completed product finds the ball skimming the bunker crest, hitting the plateau target just right and stopping dead when the backspin takes hold. Few professionals try it. They prefer not to take the gamble. But Frank Strafaci no longer considers it a gamble because he has it down to perfection. KEN KELTNER'S immediate success at third base with the Cleveland Indians recalls the old contention that big league managers can't help concentrating on the positions they once played themselves, or the things they did best. Oscar Vitt was a third baseman in his major league days—and a good one—so there was no trouble at all in smoothing the rough spots on the rookie up from Milwaukee. Max Carey was the greatest base stealer in his day, and when he piloted the Brooklyn Dodgers he had sluggers like Hack Wilson and Lefty O'Doul practice starts off first and second. Rogers Hornsby was one of the greatest hitters the game ever knew, and the one thing he stressed during his big league managerial career was batting. John McGraw was a third sacker so he couldn't help riding Freddie Lindstrom about how to play the hot corner. It was only human nature. But sometimes only human nature. But not with Oscar Vitt, whose work has produced the prize rookie in the Amv can League. able to whistle without using her lips, by contracting the muscles of her throat. Robin mystifies persons who hear her whistle but do not see her. She imitates the calls of various birds, such as the robin the whip-poor-will and the mocking bird. Her grandmother, Mrs. Louis B.

Cigaret Girl Is Cinderella

While pert, pretty Pauline Spina above, is honeymooning on the Riviera, the Main Stem in her native New York is agog over her Cinderella romance with the scion of one of Britain's wealthiest families. A former cigarette girl in a Gotham night club, as "Judy Puck" she became a dancer in a London floor show. Twenty-year-old Vivian (Kiki) Ostrer saw her, and besieged her at the stage door for 126 days. When she went to Paris to see her fiancé, she followed her, and she won his suit.

Special Friend of World Flyer

Elinore Hoagland, secretary to Edward Lund, engineer on the Howard Hughes flight, admitted she and Lund "had dinner together several times a week," but was unwilling to confirm reports of their engagement. She was anxious for his return, she said, because it was lonesome at the office of the airplane brokerage company, where Lund is general manager, at New York's Floyd Bennett Field.

Pat O'Brien, Priscilla Lane, and Dick Powell form the new musical western, "Cowboy from Brooklyn," now playing at the Arcadia Theatre.

C. V. Terrell Is Heard Saturday In Eastland Talk

A large crowd Saturday night on the courthouse square at Eastland heard C. V. Terrell of Wise county, candidate for reelection to the Railroad Commission, cite his 14-year record. "I'm proud of my record on the commission, proud of the way my work has benefitted the oil, railroad, gas utilities and motor industries while it also has protected the consumers and general public of Texas," he declared. Prior to the speech he was given a banquet reception at the Connelley hotel by 100 independent oil operators of the county. It was declared that 99 per cent of the independent operators in the county are in favor of Terrell's reelection. "I'm proudest of the way Texas voters are rallying to me in this campaign," he also asserted. Their support proves my policies on the commission have been generally helpful. Judge Terrell spent a busy day in Dallas Friday, speaking over the radio in the morning, making a swift inspection trip of Dallas industrial belt and greeting his friends in the afternoon and winding up with a "Re-Elect Terrell Rally" at Lake Cliff at night. Terrell said that long ago he adopted a private motto: "Service to all, favor to none."

SERIAL STORY INTERNE TROUBLE BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

CAST OF CHARACTERS
TRAN DEARDON—A 27-year-old student nurse. She ran into love trouble when she met DR. BOB BENCHLEY—A handsome young intern. He had trouble, too, keeping up with his work.
DR. STEPHEN SARGENT—Head surgeon. Dr. Sargent's problem was something else again.
Yesterday Dr. Benchley is in a bad mood because he has had a bad day at work.

to be of high order. His operating technique is said to be so exacting that young nurses have been known to faint when informed that they were to assist him, and to run temperatures after helping at one of his operations.
Emotional Reactions: His emotional reactions are so varied and unusual as to afford an instructive study. . . . Our text asserts that a patient should be an interesting study to an alert nurse. The nurse who failed to find X interesting would be phlegmatic, indeed.
Personal Description: X is a tall, spare, blond man of the sanguine type which always looks as if it had just scrubbed his face, neck, and ears with a brush and green soap, and rinsed with ice water. His eyebrows are arrogant; his nose is one of the lofty kind which seem especially designed for snoring. His eyes, which are very blue, habitually wear what can only be described as a "be-damned-to-you" expression.

Gideon; Following God's Plan

Text: Judges 7:4-7, 15-23
BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance
THE story of Gideon's army would seem to be almost without parallel in the history of military strife, though it has some striking parallels in the records of moral endeavor and triumph.
Napoleon is credited with the cynical remark that "God is on the side of the great battalions." That, in general, is the world's estimate—that might not only makes right, but that might makes for success and power. Napoleon might well have read to better advantage this story of Gideon's army; and our modern world, which trusts too implicitly in great battalions, might likewise take the story to heart.
Dominant in the story is the emphasis upon Gideon's trust in Jehovah. He was, first of all, a man of strong character and purpose, whose life was completely devoted to righteousness and the service of his people. He had the sense of a clear call to deliver Israel, and with this came the conviction that the deliverance could be achieved only by men whose spirit was similar to his own.
He did not want a great army of laggards and cowards. He realized that the strength of his army was in the spirit of those who went with him to a great task, so he took his army down to the water where thirsty men might drink. Some of them bent down upon their knees, taking plenty of time to drink. Others lapped up the water quickly.

WASHINGTON WITH ROONEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Public allegation that Jimmy Roosevelt continued to operate in the insurance business while serving as secretary and chief aide to the President has aroused intense curiosity in Washington as to whether this story can possibly be true.
No one at the White House is willing to try to satisfy this curiosity.
That's a matter between Alva and Jimmy, inquirers there are told. Reference is to Alva Johnston, whose magazine article on Jimmy's spectacular success in the insurance business during recent years has attracted national attention.
Jimmy is in a hospital and has alleged certain unspecified misrepresentations in the article, but whether he means to include among such alleged misrepresentations the assertion that since his resignation from the insurance firm he "has continued to pursue his insurance operations vigorously" cannot be learned.
Here in Washington it generally has been assumed, with no evidence to the contrary, that Jimmy had resigned from the insurance firm. It is assumed also that he still had a large income from huge policies previously sold.
Back in the Hoover administration it was charged that the late James Francis Burke, a lawyer-lobbyist who was general counsel for the Republican National Committee, had used White House office space and White House stationery for private business purposes. Mr. Hoover moved Burke out of the White House.

Cop Who Solved a Kidnaping Is Wed

By United Press
CLEVELAND.—Three decades ago, Norman A. Shattuck, Cleveland policeman, made headlines by solving the Billy Whittia kidnaping case. Now, at 81, he is on his second honeymoon. His bride is Mrs. Olive Crosby, 68.
In March, 1909, 4-year-old Billy Whittia was abducted as he left school in Sharon, Pa., brought to Cleveland, hidden in a hotel here. Shattuck received a tip that the kidnapers were in a saloon, surprised and captured them as they planned collection of $10,000 ransom. The case made Shattuck famous.
Shattuck retired from the force in 1917. His first wife died about two years ago.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is without beginning and without end. Eternity, not time, expresses the thought of Life, and time is no part of eternity" (page 488).

As the hour drew to a close, Tran sat shivering between relief and disappointment that her own report had not been one of those chosen. It was then that, with a glance at the clock, he took up a final paper.
"Now here," he said, "is an unusual document."
Tran gripped the seat of her chair. Was there something distinctly familiar looking about that paper?
"The case," Dr. Sargent was going on, "is not one that has come under my care."
Then it couldn't be her report. She had written about one of his own cases. . . . And yet—a hideous black before Tran's eyes as he began to read.

World Premiere of "The Texan" Draws Huge Texas Crowd
 SAN ANTONIO, July 16.—Before a distinguished audience, including Hollywood film stars and state and city officials, Paramount's "The Texan" had its world premiere at the 4,000-seat Majestic theatre in San Antonio tonight.
 With traffic stopped and a "no parking" order in effect at six o'clock, an estimated crowd of more than 8,000 people jammed Houston street in front of the Majestic from 6:30 until after 9 o'clock. All available police were pressed into service to handle mobs which broke through lines twice during the evening as visiting celebrities arrived and were introduced to the audience from the foyer of the theatre.
 Loud speakers strung for a block each way from the theatre carried the speakers voices to the street crowd. The Brackner high school band of 150 pieces played Texas airs from a spot directly across the street, while a local 10-piece orchestra played popular tunes from on top of the enormous marquee.
 Especially invited guests for the evening who were present included Randolph Scott, Raymond Hutton, Lucian Hubbard, Glenda Farrell, Governor James V. Allred, accompanied by Edward Clark, Walter Woodall. From Kansas came Lieut. Gov. William Lindsay and B. L. Callahan, cowboy mayor of Abilene, James E. Berry, lieutenant governor of Oklahoma, also attended.
 Representing the motion picture industry's sales and theatre department were Arthur Cole and Sen. Lawler, Kansas City; L. C. Griffith, Oklahoma City; Robert J. O'Donnell, Raymond Wille, James O. Cherry, Hugh Bralley, of Dallas; Al Lever, Houston, and K. M. Moore, Fort Worth.
 The United Daughters of the Confederacy sent Mrs. J. W. Greenwood, state historian, Dallas, and their state president, Mrs. William Wilcox of Houston, while from the organization of Old Trail Drivers came W. T. Jackman, president, and Capt. Billy Klempkau, one of their oldest members, who was born in a house that set on the present site of the Majestic theatre more than 80 years ago.

 A telegram to B. E. Garner, manager of the Arcadia theatre in Ranger, from Frank Stars and Ray Beall of the Texas Consolidated Theatres, stated that "The Texan," which created such a furore when shown in San Antonio, would be run at the Ranger Arcadia theatre soon.
