The Law Won't 'Stick' of Its Own Accord

We hatch out a great many learned studies of crime, in this country—which is fair enough, because we have so much crime to be studied.

Some of these studies are profound and humorless enough to win their authors degrees as doctors of philosophy, and some of them are a bit lighter and sketchier; but practically all of them, if they are really worth anything, should begin and end with our failure to get strict, impartial enforcement of the laws we have.

Now and then a case bobs up which illustrates the matter perfectly.

The other day a notorious Ohio gangster was finally given a life sentence for murder. He was one of those typical crooks who have "a record as long as your arm"; yet the odd thing about his record was the fact that he had spent very little time behind the bars—although for 14 years he had clearly been a dangerous sort of character.

In 1924 he was arrested for violating the auto law, fined $50 and sentenced to three months in jail. The jail sentence and $25 of the fine were immediately suspended.

The next year he was twice arrested for carrying concealed weapons. Each time the grand jury refused to vote an indictment.

In the following year he was again arrested for carrying concealed weapons, and once more the grand jury refused to indict him.

A little more than a year later he was arrested on a charge of robbery. The case "fell through" in police court and he was freed. Later that year he was fined $50 and given three months as a suspicious person; the case was appealed, and the records fail to show that any further disposition was ever made of it.

The following year he was brought in on the same two charges. Once again the robbery charge collapsed in police court, and the police prosecutor threw out the suspicious person charge. Six months later he was again arraigned as a suspicious person, and again the police prosecutor no-papered the case.

After another year, his city put another prosecuting attorney into office. This official dug up those old concealed weapons charges, brought the man to trial, and sent him to prison. But he got paroled by executive order of the governor, slightly more than two years later, and went free again—to commit a murder, finally, and start on the path that now has him headed for prison for life.

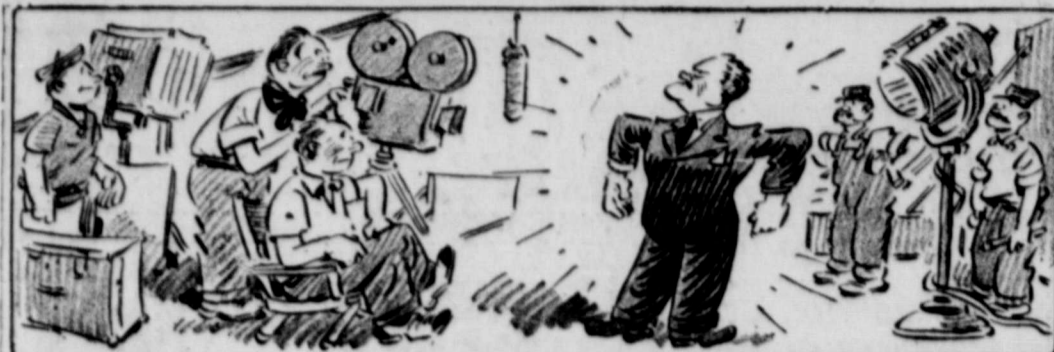

That record draws its own moral. Here was a man who for 14 years was obviously a dangerous criminal. In one way or another, the law was too lax to do more than make a formal notation of the fact. Is it any wonder that a country which commonly treats its professional thugs that way—has a lot of them?

TOLEDO WANTS NEW DEPOT

TOLEDO, Ohio.—How to replace a 50-year-old railway station, used by six railroads, is the problem faced by Toledo's chamber of commerce. Business leaders feel that a new union station might be financed under the new federal program.

When swimmers at California's Arrowhead Springs mountain resort heard gravel-throated sounds of merriment, they knew Andy Devine was around. Sure enough the radio and film comedian and his 4-year-old son Tad were having themselves a splashing good time, as shown in the picture above.

WPA Is Called Upon To Aid In Dust Bowl Work

DALHART, Texas.—The Works Progress Administration now is being called upon to aid in a new plan for subduing the southwestern Dust Bowl.

Efforts to get the WPA to aid in planting cover crops in an emergency area covering about 30 counties on the high plains of Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas have progressed to the point where WPA officials have issued rules for applying for such assistance.

John Wray, farm operator of near Dalhart, received word from F. C. Harrington, assistant administrator and chief engineer of the WPA, that the administration now will consider project applications to do cover crop planting, provided they are submitted through the various state WPA offices and subject to the following conditions:

1—That projects shall be sponsored by and prosecuted under the technical supervision of the Soil Conservation Service, and that project applications be made through local representatives of the SCS to the WPA.

2—That the applications provide for the WPA supplying the labor that is available. That labor may consist of persons certified as eligible for employment, and a limited number of needy farmers.

3—That the applications may also provide that a limited amount of funds for items other than labor—not to exceed a maximum of $7.00 per man-month—would be expended by WPA.

It would be necessary, Harrington pointed out, for the sponsors, or farmers, to provide all other than labor costs. Those costs would include seed, equipment and other non-labor items in excess of the $7.00 per man-month.

Wray is urging county commissioners courts in the drought and dust areas to form a concerted plan of action that would assure

Japs Bite Dust Before Shellburst Fury

Japanese warriors hit the dirt all together, as shown in the dramatic photo above, when a Chinese shell burst in line of their advance in the Wu Chiu district, the smoke of the blast pluming to resemble a great tree. Although the village was destroyed as Japan's Nanbu Engineers approached, Chinese, supported by heavy artillery, continued to hold their defense lines.

Brothers Farming On Co-op Plan

BURNSIDE, La.—The six Waguespack brothers follow socialist methods on their 1,300 acres. Twenty years ago, they moved to a plantation here with little more than their personal possessions. Today there are 34 Waguespacks. They have a community of their own, a church, six tractors, a machine shop and 12 tenant families.

Each of the brothers is an expert on some operation about the plantation. Edgar, for instance, is the bookkeeper and financier. Octave is the rice expert. Wallace supervises the sugar cane crop.

George and Frumence are mechanics and Clarence, the youngest, is general utility man. They see nothing strange about their co-operative venture.

We were raised to be farmers and farmers we are," George explained. First we rented a little rice land over here, then we all moved in to fight the depression, with the particular aim of getting three meals a day. We get the three meals, but we're still fighting."

Most of their work is done with machinery. When a new plow or cultivator is needed, the six put their heads together and sometimes invent one. The latest invention is a three-row tractor carry cultivator. It takes four of the brothers to operate it.

One drives the tractor. The others each manipulate a plow. They buy their gasoline in load lots. Two cars already been consumed this year. With the machinery, the brothers and all their children, is not much of a problem. "Don't try do the Waguespacks ever let take the tenants away from own crops."

BATTERY BLASTS BULL

LAWTON, Okla.—Battalion 1st Field Artillery, at Fort Sill, fired 13 times at a moving target 1,000 yards distant. The best such firing record ever struck the target and comes to his attention, Major Arnold said today. The hit scored with a 37-millimeter

It's the little humble things that make a house a HOME

THOSE careless marks of his baby fingers . . . could any one buy them from you now? The knee-high smudges on the door! The pencil scratches on the wall that showed his growth from two to a little man of six! The nicked nursery bed where you two watched for hours one night until a sprawled, feverish form slipped in to healing slumber!

Yes, a home is seasoned with smiles and tears, mellowed by memories and flavored with hopes. Each room has well-loved articles that have grown dearer with the years. And there are new things that you are working and planning for. It may be an occasional table for the living-room. New drapes for the breakfast nook. A summer rug. Porch and lawn furniture.

The advertisements in this newspaper bring you news of furnishings to freshen your home. Study them and save shopping steps and budget dollars. They will help you add to the gracious charm of your home . . . that little world which is your very own!

SERIAL STORY MYSTERY AT THE LAZY R BY CLARKE NEWLON

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS NIKKI JEROME, her only son, blond, popular, is engaged to six-foot, black-haired...

Yesterday, returning to the clearing, Steve and Nikki are held up by Sarto. He puts his pistol to Nikki's head and says, 'I don't mess with this,' he warns.

CHAPTER XII AS Nikki and Steve moved over into the center of the clearing under the waving directions of the black automatic in Sarto's hand, they heard a rifle shot in the distance.

Three shots, thought Steve, meant Uncle Jim, Rance and Woody were searching separately. Steve probably was with one of them. He wouldn't be alone. One shot meant, of course, they hadn't found anything. They couldn't find anything when the persons they hunted were safely back in camp.

That will bring the others back, thought Steve, startled. If one shot meant a luck, certainly two shots would mean he and Nikki had been found. Before he had time to go further along his mental tangent, Sarto spoke.

"You two sit over by that tree. Face toward the fire and don't move for a moment, thought Steve. He waved a casual arm in the direction from whence the shots had come, 'don't try to give 'em any. I'll do the talking.'

Questions and Jobs Will Be Problem for New Governor

BY Gordon K. Shearer United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, Texas.—When W. O'Daniel returns from his two-week campaign vacation, two questions will bob up. They are: "Do you favor a sales tax?" "Who paid for the radio time your campaign?"

ALLEY OOP

"Nobody's hurt yet," he said. "Drop the rifle." Rance let it slide slowly from his hands. Sarto walked over and ran his left hand across Rance, removing the hunting knife at his belt.

"Now walk over and sit by them. And don't you start anything either. I'll run this little show." He picked up the rifle and dropped it behind the bench with the knife. Rance sat on the other side of Nikki, his face a bewildered puzzle.

"Hungry?" asked Steve, with a quick glance at the gunman. "I guess so," said Nikki. "I hadn't thought about it."

"Sarto," called Steve. "We haven't eaten much lately. Couldn't we have a little food while we're waiting?"

"Shut up," said Sarto. "You'll get something to eat later—maybe."

"What's he going to do," whispered Nikki.

likely to retain his post. He was an early "pass the biscuits" man. State Auditor Tom King's right rule against letting politics enter into state accounting fits into the new governor's business training.

"Just sit," said Sarto. "Don't talk." They sat there in a tight-fisted little semicircle, waiting for the next returning searcher. Nikki breathed a little prayer as another call was heard. Please let Uncle Jim be careful.

"Answer it," commanded Sarto and she called out another "hello."

"I knew you two'd turn up so'e and sound," he shouted, his ruddy face lighting up. Then he stopped short as he saw them all three seated silently by the tree.

"Where's Bancroft?" asked Uncle Jim, disregarding the last command.

"Dead," said Steve laconically. Sarto's upper lip curled until his front teeth were showing whitely through. "You know too much," Steve thought for a moment he was going to shoot. Then the lip came down.

"What's he going to do," whispered Nikki.

Starring: Sinclair Lewis

Appearing in the Cohasset, Mass., town hall in a summer theater's drama version of his anti-Fascist novel, "I Can't Happen Here," Sinclair Lewis, famous American novelist, made his professional stage debut in the role of Doremus Jessup, salty Vermont editor around whom the novel and play revolve. The photo shows Lewis in character as Jessup. His performance drew seven curtain calls from an enthusiastic audience and a curtain speech from Novelist Lewis, who said: "Let's not have it happen here."

Hanlon Regains Top Ranking By Defeat of TeePee

Hanlon retained his top position in the Ranger Softball League Tuesday night by defeating TeePee in a 10-inning game by a score of 2 to 1, after TeePee had led 1 to 0 for eight innings.

TeePee scored in the first half of the first inning when Pittman got a life on Williamson's error at short, advanced on Martin's infield hit and scored on a single by Wright after Martin had been retired at second.

Hanlon went scoreless until the eighth, when Jack Johnson, ace TeePee moundsman, appeared to tire and walked two in a row. Cochrane went in as a pinch hitter for Turner and rapped one down the first base line that Daszkovich let get through his legs and roll to right field for a double.

In the tenth consecutive doubles by Wade and Adams accounted for the winning run.

Hanlon nicked Johnson for six hits, while TeePee got four off Puryear.

Tonight TeePee plays the Methodists of Eastland in a nine-inning game. It was announced that a prize would be given away at the seventh inning.

Negro, 110, Says He May Live 20 Years

HOUSTON, Tex.—Uncle Eli Watts, Negro ex-slave, is 110 years old and says he's "liable to live another 20 years." He has survived five wives.

Uncle Eli loafs most of the time, walks a mile a day for exercise, and does some fishing near his home at Fulshear, Tex., where he lives with a 59-year old daughter.

"Ah used to work all night by the moonlight," the old Negro said. "Den, ah'd work a thousand head of cattle all day."

Eli was born in Nashville, Tenn., on the Bill Raynor plantation. After slavery was abolished, he worked for the Allen family until the last member died here 10 years ago.

Sam Watts, Eli's father, was a carpenter who helped build the first homes here for Gen. Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin, pioneer Texas heroes.

Eli came here to visit his 60-year-old son, Elijah. His hearing is bad and his health is delicate. "Ah don't wanna git married no more," Eli said. "Ah can't even work no more. But ah's liable to live another 20 years."

Steel Upswing Reduces Ohio's Army of Jobless

CLEVELAND.—Visible business straws-in-the-wind in industrial Ohio are pointing the way, observers hope, to a national recovery.

Many business leaders in this only state which has eight cities of more than 100,000 population feel that the prospect of the stock market is borne out in business upturns and that a measure of prosperity lie ahead.

In Ohio, signs of encouragement are seen in: The rapid rise of steel operations. Improvement in retail trade. Five weeks of consecutive improvement in department-store business in this federal reserve district.

A decline in unemployment. In Toledo, a city of 300,000 and Ohio's third in population, the Libby-Owens-Ford Glass company has called back more than 1,000 men in its plant at suburban Rossford.

Machine-tool makers in Toledo are increasingly active with orders for 1939 automobiles, due for a showing and sale in early November.

At downstate Massillon, almost a part of generally bustling Canton Republic Steel corporation has called 500 men back to work. Here in Cleveland, the White Motor company plans to go on a five-day week.

The White Sewing Machine company, also with headquarters in this city of a million, reports a definite business pickup since mid-June.

At Painesville, 30 miles east of Cleveland, the Industrial Rayon Corporation, one of Cleveland's busiest employers through the depression and recession, is preparing to open a large branch this fall.

The number of applications for WPA employment in Cleveland has remained quiescent recently for the first time in many months. Observers regard it as a sign of industrial upturn.

Optimism of business experts is bolstered by the pickup in steel in the northern Ohio sector.

An upturn in steel means more jobs in Cleveland, nearby Lorain, Youngstown—capital of Ohio's "Little Ruhr," in the Mahoning Valley—Warren, Niles, Massillon and smaller places.

Construction awards in Greater Cleveland have advanced in the past month sufficiently to warrant the interest of business in lifting more than its eyebrows.

Retail automobile sales also are running ahead of both the expected summer and recession trends, a more than casual barometer, prognosticators feel.

Where Japan and Russia Bristle

Russian ships—concentrating in Possiet Bay as Soviet and Japanese troops concentrate on the Manchurian-Siberian border directly inland at a point indicated by star—bode no good for immediate Russo-Japanese relations. Japan has protested seizure and fortification by Russian troops of a hill at a point which it claims is inside the Manchukuan border, and both sides are believed to be rushing up reinforcements in case of a border clash resulting from a Japanese attempt to expel the Russians.

"Other of their peculiarities are that women will seat themselves in the front of a street car, and by the time they have reached their getting-off point, will have tried at least five other seats and ended up in the rear of the car."

"First thing they do is powder their noses, scrutinize other passengers, and then proceed to raise or lower the window—and finally move to another seat expecting the view to be better."

Men never bother much about getting a special seat, Hayslett declared.

"They usually take the first one they see, settle down with their papers—or perhaps they wave or talk across the aisle to a friend."

Hayslett thinks most people are amiable automobile drivers. "Men don't drive any better than women, either," he said.

Historic Peddler's Grave Is Marked

MAHANOY CITY, Pa.—A monument has been erected by Mahanoy City residents at the "Peddler's Grave," burial ground of the community's first murder victim.

Just Folhaber, an itinerant peddler, was murdered near this community on Aug. 11, 1791, by Benjamin Ballye of Morristown. His slayer was eventually apprehended and hanged at Reading.

Folhaber's murder was the subject of several historical papers. One was "The Immortal Peddler" and another is in the publications of the Schuylkill County Historical Society.

Vandals destroyed the former marker on the grave several months ago. Volunteers bought a new headstone and also landscaped the grave.
