FILM COLONY PLANS BAN ON GERMAN GOODS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 9.—The names of Hollywood movie stars known around the world today were injected into a proposed boycott of Nazi Germany, in hope the power of these names will make the drive successful.
 All the Hollywood touches will be applied, with the movement climaxed by filming of stars as they sign a "1938 declaration of independence," calling on the government and the people of the United States to break off economic relations with Germany until that country "returns to the family of nations."

The apparently spontaneous movement reached a climax last night at the home of Edward G. Robinson, when about 60 leaders of the film industry gathered to sponsor the boycott.
 Melvin Douglas, actor, who called the meeting, said that the time had come for "the film industry to join in a mighty protest against German aggression."

POLICE QUIET TUNIS, ROME STUDENT RIOTS

TUNIS, Africa, Dec. 9.— Mobile guards, armed with rifles and revolvers, aided police today in breaking up attempts of the French and native population to demonstrate against Italy.
 Apparently under orders to "crack down," scores of persons were arrested. A few minor clashes occurred.
 French war veterans of Tunisia joined in attempting to prevent disorders.
 A French newspaper demanded that officials suppress an Italian fascist newspaper as a danger to the city.

ROME, Italy, Dec. 9.— Hundreds of policemen and guards swept down on students holding an anti-French demonstration today, scattered them after scuffles in which noses were blooded and arrested several.
 Observers expressed belief that authorities might have decided to prevent further anti-French manifestations.

PARIS, France, Dec. 9.— The French general staff has taken all necessary precautions to prevent the defense forces of Tunis being caught by surprise in an undeclared war, it was understood today.
 It was reported, without confirmation, that Mussolini had drafted instructions to Italian consuls in France instructing them to invite Italian residents to return to Italy and dispose of their French property.

Pan-American Delegations Will Seek An Accord

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 9.— The eighth Pan-American conference opened today in an atmosphere of conciliation which promises to further President Roosevelt's hopes for solidarity and united defense against outside aggression.
 The formal opening was set for 6 p. m., with 136 delegates of the 21 American republics attending.
 It was indicated that under the guidance of Secretary of State Hull and Foreign Minister Castillo of Argentina, the conference would get away to a friendly start on one of its most important projects, coordination of existing American peace treaties into a single document.
 It seemed likely some sort of declaration would be approved, informing the world the American republics would resist as one any outside aggression.

Attention was focused today on a federal grand jury investigation into complaints of conspiracy against the government, scheduled for next Monday.

 Approximately 33,000 bales of cotton stored in a warehouse at Jaytown, Kent county, were involved in the cases.
 Loans made to several hundred farmers on cotton were called in by the government last summer. The farmers held a number of protest meetings.

The Right Foundation for Our Defense Program

Before Congress really gets down to work on the rearmament program, it is to be hoped that its members will appreciate the fact that, in a military sense, America today is in the position of England during the 19th century.

Which is to say that America today is an insular nation. Its true defense lies on the sea. Just as England was protected by its "moat" until the modern bombing plane rendered the moat useless, so today America is protected by its own moat—the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. And no military program the nation can devise is worth paying for unless it is founded on that simple fact.

Modern armaments take three forms—land, sea and air. And an insular nation must approach its defense problems from a different angle than a nation which does not enjoy the protection of the sea. Germany, for instance, must have a very strong army in order to be secure; it must have peace-time conscription and all the rest of the machinery that enables it to put an overwhelming force on the frontiers at a moments notice.

But that is not at all the answer to the problem on this side of the Atlantic. A nation which can keep its enemies from getting near its frontiers does not need a strong frontier guard. A small, mobile force that can be rushed quickly to any danger spot is all it needs in the way of frontier defense.

But on the water the situation is reversed. Germany can have security with a relatively small navy; the United States, on the other hand, cannot have it without an exceedingly strong navy. For the simple, geographical fact that any possible enemy must cross the ocean before it can get at him gives Uncle Sam the chance to hold all enemies at arm's length—provided that he maintains the right kind of fleet, backed with an adequate air force.

This is an extremely important fact in relation to the prospects for American democracy. For a nation which must prepare in the European manner, with conscription of man-power and regimentation of industry, must inevitably surrender some of its liberties—as the French are learning today, to their sorrow. But a sea power can have security without paying that price.

It was not by accident that England enjoyed unbroken freedom and democracy for so many years. It was able to do so because, being defended on and by the seas, it could attain security without supporting an immense military establishment. And America today is in a similar situation.

We do not need a huge army, we do not need conscription, we do not need any of the grandiose plans for regimenting men, industry and money which have been discussed of late. Since we do not need those things, we can give ourselves full security without infringing on our political and economic liberties.

Above everything else, it is important that Congress remember that when it goes ahead with the rearmament program.

Sugar Beets May Be a Commercial Crop In Panhandle

LUBBOCK, Texas—Experimentation in commercial production of sugar beets is being carried on at Texas Technological College under the direction of Dr. A. W. Young, head professor of agronomy. Two acres planted on the college farm yielded 17 tons per acre. Testing of the South Plains as a beet sugar growing section is being done at Texas Tech and other localities with the co-operation of the Santa Fe Railway company.

The total yield on the South Plains this year is estimated at from 35 to 40 carloads, with about 20 carloads already shipped to a plant at Rocky Ford, Colo. A special freight rate of $2 per ton has been made to that area. Figures as to yield and price are available from the Colorado Sugar Beet Experiment Station. The average yield is 17 tons per acre. The Tech plant and 20 other plants in the Panhandle are already being made. Shipments are being made to Denver, Colorado, and other points.

Experiments on a scale which have been conducted over a number of years, especially in the Panhandle, Plainview, Tullahoma, Center areas, with the sugar beet disease known as "curly top" in earlier experiments, have shown that the seed used, several plantings, and a past season.

Postmaster Frank A. Jones stated Thursday that an initial meeting of the postmasters of the district was held this spring at Abilene, with temporary officers elected, but the organization was not perfected.

An effort was being made to secure a representative of the post office department inspector's office at Fort Worth to attend and speak at the meeting.

There are 111 postmasters, all classes, in the 17th Congressional district.

SERIAL STORY LOVERS AWEIGH

BY BETTY WALLACE

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDY ALCOTT—admirer
Dwight, she faced a choice between two navy suitors.
Dwight Campbell—ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.
JACK HANLEY—driving sailor.
He faced a test of a patient love.
MARVEL HASTINGS—navy wife. She faced the test of being a good sailor.

other girl for being angry. But she wanted passionately for her to understand, and she knew she never would.
Then Marvel said, "I don't intend to stand out here and make a scene. Get in my car, Dwight.
Drive to the house. Judy, follow us. I want to speak to you, too."

with her. She knew that I knew it, because I told her. I tried to fight it. Maybe I lost. That's what I want to know. Are you going to marry her when I divorce
you?"
Judy squirmed at the cold, matter-of-fact question. She cried quickly, "Please, Mrs. Campbell!
You don't understand! I'm engaged to Jack Hanley. I—I don't love Dwight. Oh, you're wrong!
You're wrong!" She pleaded for understanding, her eyes on Mar-vel's still face. "I'll admit when you first came I was hurt. I—I was foolish. I thought—I thought I cared for Dwight. But now I know better. Oh, I can't begin to tell you, it's all so plain now!
There was never anything real between us. It was hard to let go of the dream I'd had, don't you see?
But that's all it was. A dream."

"OUT OUR WAY"

THE FOOL-PROOFER

Dear Santa Claus: I saw you in town Saturday but was so excited
I failed to tell you what I wanted for Christmas. I'm a little boy five years old and have tried my best to be good, so please bring me a wagon, rock crusher, football, boxing gloves and knife with chain. Thank you so much Santa and will be looking for you. Your little friend, Tommy Wilson, Ranger.

JOHN T. FLYNN

NEW YORK—Mr. Stuart Chase
last year wrote a book about the tyranny of words. Our daily conversation, our newspapers, our public utterances bristle with words, words, bulging with ominous meanings. And we use these words to blast our foes or favor our special objectives. They are words like "Communist" or "Americanism." If we dislike a man's views, we call them communist, and that settles their hash. If we want to paint an idea acceptably, we call it
"American," and that makes it perfect.

By HARRY GRAYSON

DURHAM—W. Wallace Wade is making his unbeaten, untied, and unscathed on Duke team to the Ferdinand Rose Bowl for a postseason engagement with Southern California, Jan. 2, against his better judgment.
Wade would be making the trip under protest were it not for the fact that the Blue Devil players are eager for the trip to California.
Wade, who skyrocketed to national romance with southern football and winning Alabama
teams in the Tournament of Roses,
was brought to Duke from Tuscaloosa in 1931 for the express purpose of landing the Blue and White in the big New Year's Day show on the golden slope.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House
An interesting contribution to Texas lore could be made by someone who would write a little volume on the historic hotels in Texas. These would include the Menger in San Antonio, the Driskill in Austin and the Metropolitan (recently renamed the Milner) in Fort Worth. Although new structures have replaced the original buildings, the Nemets in Fredericksburg and the Crosbie in Beaumont are others that come to mind. Gone, and with no successor to carry on the name, is the McCleskey in Ranger, where deals involving many millions of dollars were made during the big boom.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods Open New Grocery

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Woods are this week-end celebrating the opening of their new grocery, in a building on the corner of Young street and the old Strawn highway, which they have just completed.

The new grocery is located just across the street from their old building, on a lot they have owned since the early days of the boom.

Many merchants of Ranger and other cities have congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Woods upon their confidence in Ranger by completing the new building.

In 1917, when the oil boom began, Woods was working for O. D. Dillingham and living in a house on the lot where the Paramount hotel is now located.

When building began in a big way in the business section they purchased a lot in Young addition, where they lived for some time. It is on this location that the grocery store was built, just 20 years after they built the first house in Young addition.

Members of the Midwest association of 19 counties of Extension service District 7 are to meet Friday, Dec. 16, at one of the district court rooms in Eastland, County Agent Elmo V. Cook has announced.

Expected to attend in addition to members of the association will be C. E. Bowles, extension service cooperative marketing specialist, and W. R. Nisbet, extension sheep and goat specialist, both of College Station.

At the Eastland meeting committees will be selected who will have authority in the affairs of the association.

The association plans to establish a centralized point at Fort Worth to serve its Texas members. It operates in several states for sheep growers.

Approximately 30 persons from Eastland are expected to attend the annual meeting of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association Saturday at Abilene. H. J. Tanner, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, stated Wednesday.

Tanner had contacted many Eastland oil men and others interested in the oil business.

The meeting will last all day but will be climaxed with the annual banquet Saturday night.

Letters inviting Eastland groups to attend had been received from J. C. Watson, executive secretary of the oil and gas association, and the Abilene Chamber of Commerce.

Regular meeting Elks lodge of Ranger each Friday night at 8 o'clock. All members urged to attend. Visitors welcome.

EL PASO, Tex.—Possibilities of establishing a plant near here for the extraction of commercial starch from sweet potatoes are being investigated by the Chamber of Commerce.

Following issuance of a bulletin by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which said that 200,000,000 pounds of starch is imported annually, officials began an inquiry into the feasibility of obtaining a plant to consume products of the Upper Rio Grande Valley.

The local irrigation district last year produced 81,923 bushels of sweet potatoes valued at $75,974.
