Drug Wakens His Memory

State hospital officials at Jackson, Miss., hoped the combination of a hypnotic drug and a brother and sister would restore amnesia-clouded memory of William H. Lawrence, above, who has been "Mr. X" for the last eight years. After his identity was established by a brother and sister, Lawrence, under influence of drug, recounted his life from childhood to 1930, but doctors were not certain he would remember his identity when effects of drug wore off.

Lee Dockery, post commander of the Carl Barnes Post of the American Legion, announced today that Julien C. Hyer of Fort Worth had accepted an invitation to be the principal speaker at the annual George Washington Banquet, to be held Feb. 22.

Hyer, in his letter of acceptance, stated that he would speak on the position in the near future, should war come.

HIGH COURT RULES UPON FILM BOOKING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The United States Supreme court today approved an anti-trust decree enjoining motion picture distributors from prohibiting by contract exhibition of certain films in Texas as a part of double feature programs.

The anti-trust decree, which was involved, was issued by a special three-judge Northern Texas federal district court. It also outlawed contractual prohibitions enforced by eight major film distributors against exhibition of the same films at performances for which the evening charge is less than 25 cents.

The litigation was started by the government under the Sherman Anti-trust law. It charged illegal conspiracy in restraint of trade, by the distributors, which were the Interstate Circuit, Inc., Texas Consolidated Theatres, Inc., and Karl Hoblitzelle and R. J. O'Donnell, operators of the theatre chains.

Girl, 24, Head Of 30 Labor Unions

AKRON, O.—A pretty, blonde, 24-year-old girl leads more than 30 local unions of the United Rubber Workers of America, Congress of Industrial Organizations affiliate, in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Western Maryland and Western New York.

She is Margaret Cowger, of nearby Ravenna. Her interest in the labor movement began in 1932, when she was in high school at West Farmington, O., and was called upon to debate on organized labor.

"That's how it all began," she said. "And now I'm just a bit shaky about it all."

Miss Cowger, employed at the Oak Rubber Co., plant in Ravenna, hoped to go to college and her ultimate goal was teaching English.

"But what did I do?" she asked, after already telling the answer. "As soon as I finished at Ravenna high, I went to work here and joined the local union."

Her first official duty came in 1935 when she was a delegate to the rubber workers' convention. She found only one other woman there, so she just "kept my mouth shut among all those men, except to answer roll call."

"Being 'just fresh from high school,' she thought it strange that only two women attended the convention when the rubber industry employs thousands.

Having served as secretary of the local union for three years and as a delegate to 17 conventions, Miss Cowger is striving for a "firm foundation."

One of the chief problems facing unions now, she believes, is that of seniority, which protects older workers while younger ones are subject to lay-offs. She thinks women should be better informed about labor.

Device Speeding Up Clothes Manufacture

SCHEENADY, N. Y.—The manufacture of cotton cloth at speed faster than the eye can follow is forecast with a new adaptation of the "electric eye."

A photoelectric cell mechanism developed by General Electric engineers to detect flaws in cloth manufacture is said to permit finishing speeds as high as 140 yards per second—100 yards faster than with manual inspection.

Miss Caldwell stated Mrs. Chapman will represent the sponsors at meetings of the County Home Demonstration Council and keep the latter organization informed of girls' 4-H work.

At a recent meeting of the sponsors it was announced they would be in charge of poultry disease discussion meetings of the clubs next week.

Attending the meeting when Mrs. Chapman was chosen chairman were Mrs. Josie K. Nix of Morton Valley, Mrs. Thelma Neal of Rising Star, Mrs. Owen Hinman of Ranger, Mrs. E. Barron of Koko, Mrs. F. C. Eaves of Kokomo, Mrs. S. L. Rogers of Alameda.

Naval Maneuvers Held In Atlantic

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The United States Navy today began its annual maneuvers with the greatest peace time concentration of fighting strength in the Caribbean sea.

It was the first time since 1924 that maneuvers have been held in the Atlantic Ocean. Observers believe that the maneuvers will be a great help in determining the potential effectiveness of the navy's ability to patrol the western world in accordance with President Roosevelt's newly-projected continental defense program.

A. U. S.-European Air Route Sought

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Pan-American Airways today formally applied for an air route certificate to establish passenger service between the United States and Europe.

The application asks certification of a route between New York or alternate Atlantic Bases at Baltimore, Boston and Charleston and points in Britain and France.

Peace Officers Now Own Tear Gas Gun

BRECKENRIDGE, Feb. 13.—The sheriff's department is the proud possessor of a tear gas gun and three shells, it was reported today. The shells cost about $3.30 each, and it was said one will do to disperse any ordinary crowd.

PARI MUTUEL SHOWDOWN IN A CLOSE VOTE

AUSTIN, Feb. 13.—A move to force a direct vote upon the bill to re-legalize parimutuel betting under local option was defeated by a narrow margin today in the Texas House of Representatives.

Rep. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene, opponent of the measure, sought to bring the bill up tomorrow night because, he said, he wanted to prevent it becoming a "stumbling block" to other legislation.

Bradbury surprised the house by asking that the membership sit as a committee of the whole tomorrow night to dispose of the bill. The motion lacked the necessary two-thirds majority, but received 73 votes for and 67 against.

Meanwhile Gov. O'Daniel submitted to the legislature for emergency action the subject of merging six state government divisions into a single "department of agriculture and livestock."

The governor suggested that the new department be given the duties of the state board of water engineers, the reclamation engineer, the livestock sanitary commission, the game, fish and oyster commission and the feed inspection service of Texas A. & M. College.

O'Daniel suggested a 31-member board, elected from the 31 state senatorial districts, or appointing the governor, to set the policies of the new department, and to choose the commissioner of agriculture. Such a board, he said, should be made up of "actual fruit growers, farmers and livestock raisers."

Services Are Held For Ranger Child Monday Afternoon

Funeral services for Robert Eugene Dunn, two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Dunn of Ranger, were conducted from the Nazarene Church in Ranger this afternoon at 3:30, with Rev. A. G. The child was born in Ranger Oct. 7, 1936, and had lived in the city all his life. Death came Sunday.

Survivors, in addition to his parents, include one brother, William Eugene Dunn of Ranger.

Secret Testimony To Remain Secret By Committee Vote

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The senate military affairs committee today rejected by a vote of 10 to 6 a proposal to make public record concerning the aid given by the United States Government to a French air mission which proposes to buy about 600 new American-made fighting planes.

Chairman Morris Sheppard of Texas said that the committee's action was based upon the belief that "faith should be kept" with witnesses who testified in secret.

Sen. Bennett C. Clark of Missouri, who had led a bi-partisan group, seeking to disclose details of the assistance given France, offered the motion.

FUNERAL FOR LAKE VICTIMS ARE PLANNED

HAMILTON, Feb. 13.—Triple funeral services were to be held today for three young men who died in a boat tragedy on Eidsen Lake near here Saturday.

Investigators believed that one of the men, Cecil Whittenton, died of exposure after clinging for hours to weeds in the icy water.

There was no water in his lungs. The other two, A. G. Whittenton, Jr., Cecil's brother, and Alton Sloan, a brother-in-law, were drowned.

What caused the three men to fall from their motorboat was a mystery, as the boat was found floating on the lake with its supply of gasoline exhausted.

Alaskan Plane Is Feared Lost In Stephens Passage

JUNEAU, Alaska, Feb. 13.—Ships and airplanes today searched Stephens Passage for a Marine Airways pontoon plane, which was forced down by a storm with five persons aboard.

The plane, which was piloted by Lone Cope, noted for his rescue flights, was last heard from about noon yesterday when 15 miles south of here.

It was making a scheduled flight of 274 miles from Ketchikan, Alaska.

Cope radioed the Marine Airways base here that ice was forming on his plane and that it was forcing him to land on the waters of the passage. After that there was silence.

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 13.—Italians and foreigners from all over the world crowded into St. Peter's Square today for the third day to pay homage to the body of Pope Pius XI, as it lay in the Chapel of the Blessed Sacrament of St. Peter's awaiting burial tomorrow in the cathedral's crypt.

Heavy re-enforcements of troops were called out to control the crowd, which yesterday broke through three troop cordons and wooden barricades to reach the doors.

Ghosts at Geneva

There is a feeling of unreality about the news that Abyssinians living in Europe have presented to the secretary general of the League of Nations a collection of documents purporting to show continued resistance in Ethiopia to the Italian conquest.

It seems unreal because in the minds of many the League of Nations has ceased to exist; Ethiopia has ceased to exist as an independent country.

Was it a meeting of ghosts when these documents passed in the hands of a phantom government into those of a neglected world organization?

Abyssinia is still a member of the League of Nations, with a seat in the assembly. And the organization housed in the marble palaces in Geneva is still going through the motions of a world federation, though deserted by many powerful one-time members, and neglected by many others.

It would be easy to sniff at these proceedings, and no doubt, if they were noted at all, many a sniff has already been given them in Italy and other countries outside the league.

But that is the easy view. No one ought to lose sight of these dusky refugees, still working desperately for their country that was, nor of those secretaries and diplomats still keeping alive the emaciated body of the Parliament of Man that might have been.

This is aside from the merits of the Ethiopian case, or the case for or against the League of Nations as set up in 1919 and as operated since. Each stands for something that must not be lost.

Ethiopia stands for civilized man's protest against the doctrine that the strong may take what they wish regardless of right. And the league stands for the idea that some time, somehow, the peoples of the world must devise a world order based on reason and peace rather than on ambition and force.

Therefore, one need not argue for the validity of the claims either of Ethiopia or the league as they stand today, to appreciate that each still has value in keeping eyes and minds focused on principles that must not die if the world is to be held back from a new descent into barbarism.

Philip Musica became a swindler and died because his financial arithmetic was unorthodox. Dr. Hjalmar Schacht is compelled to resign because he still thinks two and two are four.

Convincing proof that Vermont is back in the Union is found in the $635,000 surplus that turned out to be a $500,000 deficit.

Italy's new synthetic rubber is said to work equally well in automobile tires and frontier boundaries.

SERIAL STORY WOMEN WANT BEAUTY! BY LOUISE HOLMES

Yesterday, Susie answers the Harker ad, is chosen among the best five applicants. Then Harker decides to investigate individually. CHAPTER VIII It was ten days after Susie read Harker's ad that Jeff Bowman started out to investigate the five most applicants for Harker's job. Jeff was what is commonly called a swell guy. To Edna, his mother, he was the dearest boy in the world. His big frame was loosely hung together, his red hair was combed too smoothly brushed. He tried to brush it, but it was that kind of hair. He had nice, healthy skin, sprinkled with a few freckles, and sparkling blue eyes. His eyes laughed, there were little wrinkle fans at the outer corners from laughing. His chin was stubborn, his mouth could be very tender. Jeff did not go over in a big way with the girls, perhaps because they utterly failed to interest him. His mother said the girls didn't know what they were missing and gave thanks that they did not. To hasten things Jeff went on his mission by plane. He found a girl in Denver. She was well past 40, precise, dull. He marked her off the list. Two dime store workers, one in Detroit, the other Cleveland, met the same fate. The fourth applicant was a faded housewife with a none too attentive husband. Jeff did not mark her off the list. She had very little personality, Jeff thought her a weak sister, but he couldn't help thinking how much fun it would be to fix her up and flash the result on her no-account husband.

At last he arrived in Rivertown, the small University city where Miss Susie Lambert dwelt at 1019 Elm street. Jeff hoped Susie was a student. He had a great respect for education and, if the Chief was set on Susie, it would be fine if she weren't too dumb. Going to the old frame house on Elm street he waited for the door to open with pad and pencil in his hand. When the landlady answered his ring he announced that he was taking names for the city directory. When, among others, she mentioned Susie, he asked, "Is Miss Lambert employed?" "Yes, she works at the Waffle Shoppe just west of the campus." Inwardly Jeff groaned. Beteaking himself to the Shoppe he strolled a stool and ordered a waffle, meanwhile glancing about. "Syrup or honey?" he was asked by a waitress. "Syrup, please." He heard her say, "Waffle and

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS- LOCAL BOYS WRITE SONG

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—As little Bruce Catton remarked, it was a victory. The queer thing is that there is still a lot of argument over who won it. Two years ago President Roosevelt called on Congress to enlarge and reorganize the Supreme Court. Congress argued, studied and finally refused flatly to do any such thing. Today the famous court plan is dead. But—who won the war? Those who fought the plan say they did. The court is still the same size as it was before. It has been shown that a president who tries to alter or enlarge the court to get the kind of rulings he wants will get his fingers burned. The independence of the judiciary has been sustained. But the other side remarks that somehow the court has been pretty kind to New Deal legislation since the fight began. Senator Sherman of Indiana suggests that F. D. R. lost the battle and won the war. Congressman Wright of Pennsylvania says briefly, "He unfossilized 'em." Early in February two years ago the President made his proposal. In two nationally-broadcast speeches a month later he defended it. On March 10 the Senate judiciary committee opened hearings on the proposal. Then the Supreme Court upheld the Washington state minimum wage law. A couple of weeks later it upheld the Wagner Act. A month after that Justice Van Devanter announced his resignation—on the same day, incidentally, that the Senate completed that the Senate completed.

WASHINGTON—A number of officers in the U. S. Navy are rather anxiously awaiting the return from Colombia of Capt. Lawrence Reidsider, U. S. N. Captain Reidsider has been named head of the U. S. naval mission to Colombia, and he's down there now looking over the ground—or possibly the water. When he comes back and makes his report, certain officers will be detailed to go back down there with him and serve on the mission. In many ways a job on a naval mission is a coveted assignment. The officer's pay from the U. S. Navy goes on as usual; meanwhile, the country to which he is assigned also pays him a salary—usually 110 per cent of what his American pay is. So while the assignment lasts he draws double pay, and in addition is considerable of a big shot. The navy is glad to send out missions. They don't give the navy any special tie-ups with the foreign countries involved, but they do serve to cement good relations. Also, they usually result in orders for American goods. The officers don't serve as salesmen, but naturally they tell their hosts, in reply to questions, that the U. S. Navy uses so-and-so's guns, such-and-such electrical equipment, and so on. The orders usually follow. Not all officers are crazy about the foreign assignments. The pay is good, but the living expenses are high. A good deal of rather high-class entertaining is involved; in the end, many of them wind up worse off financially than when they started. HELEN B. SMITH must be the world's champion check signer. An employe of the Treasury Department, where she has worked 35 years, Miss Smith puts in eight hours a day, five and one-half days a week, doing nothing but signing checks. Last year she signed upwards of a million. They go mostly to people who have loaned money to Uncle Sam. One doesn't, however. The monthly pay check drawn by President Roosevelt is signed by Miss Smith. She likes her job, says she never gets writer's cramp; has a trick of holding the pen loosely and wearing a rubber guard on the most used finger. (Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.)

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

"K-Katy" Writer Has Praise For Songsters YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Geoffrey O'Hara, who wrote "K-Katy," famous song of World War days, believes that people who sing are happy. "Song writing is a good business, too," he said. "If I were a young man again and wanted to write songs, I'd go to New York and get a job in Tin Pan Alley." He told how an music-writing team in New York obtained commissions of $100.00 a week in song writing. "Music," he said, "is big business."

Advertising A SERVICE TO YOU BEYOND THE DREAMS OF KINGS Perfumes from France, woollens from England, shoes from Massachusetts, oranges from Florida and California, coffee from Brazil, laces from Switzerland, motor cars from Michigan, pineapple juice from Hawaii... Isn't it marvelous how the intricate machine of commerce constantly gathers the necessities, conveniences and luxuries of life from the four corners of the earth and puts them down right here in our home town? Have you ever stopped to think what an important part ADVERTISING plays in making all this possible? Without advertising, no merchant could afford to risk a large investment in merchandise—and wait and wait till some chance customer happened in... Without advertising, you would be unaware of the many lovely, useful, needful things assembled in the stores for your convenience... Without advertising, finding what you wanted at a price you could afford would be a matter of luck or of patient plodding from store to store. Mass production and sales volume—through advertising—have brought to the American people an ease and comfort of living that would have been beyond the wildest dream of kings of old.
