GERMAN BOMB WITH TERRIFIC POWER HINTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 .- Maor General H. H. Arnold, chief or the army air corps, was dis-closed today to have told the Senate Military Affairs Committe trying to find out" about a new German bomb reported to be powerful that when it was tried in Barcelona "it killed every human benig within the range of a quar ter of a mile."

Arnold's testimony, given be fore the committee on Jan. 25, was made public as the senate prepared to start debate on $358,000,000 defense bill, authorizing an increase in the army air corps to 6,000 planes, 3,500 more than it has now.

The air corps chief told the committee that the German bomb eportedly was capable of knocking people unconscious for a dis atnce of half a mile.

"We get so many reports from abroad that it is rather difficult to determine which one you will accept 100 per cent and which one you can accept with a grain of salt," he said. But he added it had been established that the Germans did have 'some kind of a bomb loaded with compressed air carbon and some form of oil which combination was supposed to have provided a terrific effect when the bomb hit the ground.'

Bring Airplane Sales Into Open

In the furore about sale of military airplanes to France, one thing stands out quite clearly.

The American people are entitled to know what is go-

If there is one thing that stands contrary to every American principle, it is to have any arrangements or understandings with any country which the people do not know

It is all very well to protect military secrets by closed hearings and unrecorded testimony. But it is quite another to have discussions of foreign policy itself in secret.

Can it be true, as reported, that the President pledged the Military Affairs Committee to secrecy in a recent hearing "lest details of the policy involved frighten the public"? This is scarcely credible.

What kind of a policy is it that would "frighten the public"? Isn't it the same public which in ease of war would be asked to wage it unfrightened? Isn't the public made up largely of the same people who would in war be drafted into the army and asked to face an enemy, unfrightened? Isn't the public the same one which might be asked to hide underground at the alarm of air attack, unfright-

The American public is not so easily frightened. It is entitled to know the facts of life.

It has not forgotten, for instance, how the diplomacy of Sir Edward Grey had the British in a box when the World War broke out. Grey left them no choice whatever but to enter the war. There was no formal military alliance with France. But close cooperation between the general staffs, military and naval, and many "conversations" between civilian leaders, had made the two countries interdependent and closely linked. When war came, the British | ninetieth birthday with a dinner people had no genuine free choice.

This is not to argue that we should refuse to sell airplanes to France. We are already selling war supplies to Japan to help it bomb the independence out of the Chinese. We are selling them to South American countries whose current governments are less than completely demoeratic. In fact, we are selling them to all comers except to the legal Spanish government.

Probably it is all right to sell planes to France. But we have a right to know to precisely what policies we are being committed. Nothing less than that will sustain popular confidence in those policies.
