SENATE, HOUSE HEARS PRAISE OF DEMOCRACY

By United Press
WASHINGTON, March 4.—President Roosevelt and Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes joined today in praise of democratic principles and religious freedom in a world upset by rising forms of autocracy.

In addresses to a special joint session of the congress both men hailed the survival of the American Bill of Rights.

Mr. Roosevelt made special mention of the freedom of worship. He declared the United States could not, by passive silence, "lend encouragement to those who today persecute religion or deny it."

The president and chief justice addressed congress on the 150th anniversary of its first session at New York, March 4, 1789. It was the first time in history that a chief justice has addressed congress.

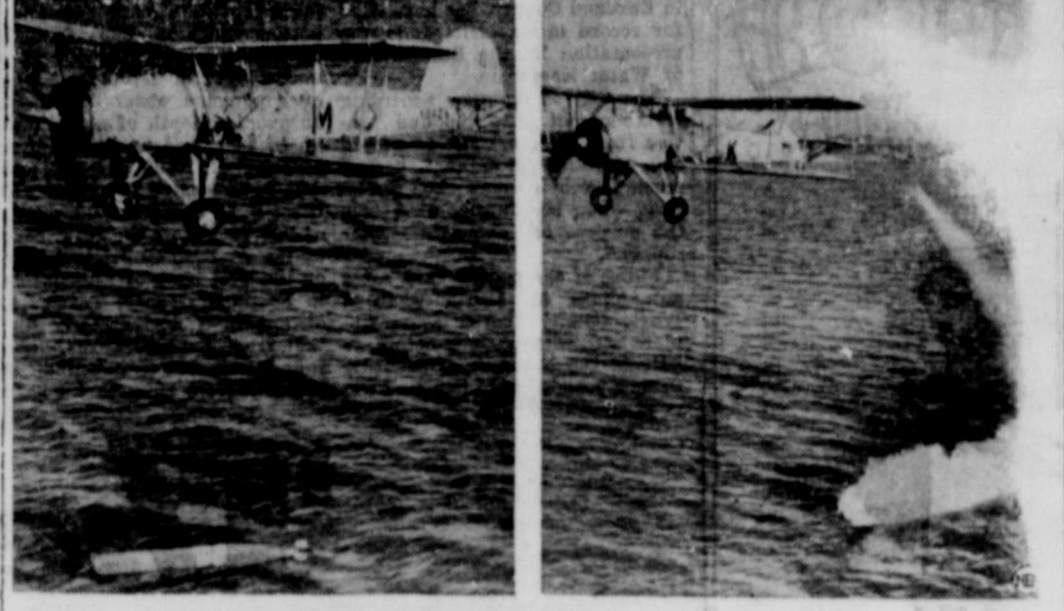

Hughes' address contained passages of general terms, but they were believed by his listeners to refer to issues debated during the dispute over President Roosevelt's proposals for enlarging the supreme court.

"If our checks and balances sometimes prevent the speedy action which is thought desirable," Hughes said, "they also assure in the long run, a more deliberate judgment. And what the people want, they generally get."

Mr. Roosevelt did not mention ratifications directly, but he left no doubt of his faith in the superiority of democracy over other forms of government, which, "revert to the systems of concentrated self-perpetuating power."

He abhorred "reincarnation of the justice of the dark ages" in some nations.

Sea-Going Torpedoes Start in the Air

Modern warfare is making it tougher and tougher for sea-going men-o-war, and here's the latest headache for admirals: Torpedoes from the air. Left, a Royal Air Force plane over Stokes Bay, England, drops a torpedo. Right, torpedo meets water, speeds toward the target. It's all practice, of course.

O'DANIEL HAS DRAFTED PLAN FOR INDUSTRY

By United Press
AUSTIN, March 4.—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel moved today to put into effect one of his major campaign promises by advocating a 12-point "plan of procedure" to promote the industrial development and expansion of Texas.

The governor outlined his plan in a 62-page illustrated booklet, citing the huge store of natural resources which he said should be the basis for inauguration of "an era of unprecedented industrial development in Texas."

His plan called for the formation of a 12-member industrial council of industrial and financial leaders to have supervision over the many phases of the program and an industrial commissioner to head an all-state fact-finding program for encouraging industrial development.

In his presentation of the program O'Daniel said that industrial development in Texas "offers the greatest opportunity for the future economic and cultural expansion of this state."

Texas now produces annually about $250 per capita in value of raw products, he said, most of which is shipped outside the state, but production per capita in net value of manufactured goods is only about $51.

STIFF FIGHTS BEING WAGED FOR AGRI SITE

A stiff fight to secure an agricultural experiment station to be located "somewhere in the cross timber area" comprising parts of McCulloch, Mason, Llano, San Saba, Mills, Eastland, Brown, Callahan, Comanche, Erath, Parker, Palo Pinto and Montague counties was reported by Eastland county representatives at a recent senate committee hearing on the subject at Austin.

Five Rising Star men, including Frank Robertson of the Rising Star chamber of commerce, attended the hearing before a subcommittee of the senate finance committee which is studying a proposed $50,000 appropriation for the station. The sandy land experiment station would be located by A. & M. college.

Robertson pointed out at the hearing that the Eastland county cotton crop last year was only 324 bales although the gin at Rising Star alone used to gin 6,000 bales annually. Half of the 1,700 farm families which once raised cotton are now on relief, he said.

He told the committee that cotton and corn have vanished and that it is imperative that some other crops be developed to take their places.

Need for a station to study plant diseases was pointed out by W. R. Osborn of Carbon.

The experiment station is being sought in this section because of the major shift that is taking place in the agricultural economy of the territory. Farmers are shifting from cotton and corn to orchards, peanuts, truck farming, dairying, livestock and poultry, and the difficulties and problems created in the process of this change are such that expert advice and controlled experiment will be of great assistance.

Special favors will be provided for Rotary Anns by Hitson-Schaefer string orchestra will play.

AIR ATTACKS UPON THE U. S. ARE POSSIBLE

By United Press
FORT WORTH, March 4.—Possibility of an attack in the United States by a European nation from South American air bases was suggested today by C. M. Hester, administrator of the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Addressing the Southwest Aviation Conference, Hester pointed out that from the northernmost point of South America a 2,000-mile flight would bring planes to Washington and Philadelphia.

Hester said that while European nations are flying transport planes in South America, they are setting up bases with supplies of fuel and spare parts, the latter frequently available for both bomber and transport planes. They have radio facilities, he said, that mark commercial airways, but which could direct bombers to points of destination.

Germany, particularly, he said, has many men who are being trained, not only in the art of selling planes, but in the languages, cultures and politics of the nations to which they are sent. Thus, he said, these men are being equipped to propagandize their own political ideas.

HOT LUNCHES PROJECT GIVEN FDR APPROVAL

County Supt. T. C. Williams, announced Saturday the receipt of telegrams from Senator Tom Connally and Representative Clyde L. Garrett which advised of presidential approval of a WPA project to provide free hot lunches to undernourished and needy children.

The project is set-up for five months' operation and total cost will be $14,726, $5,000 of which will be contributed by school boards of the county and various civic agencies.

Supt. T. C. Williams submitted the project, to begin at the discretion of state WPA authorities but probably in mid-March, as the agent of school boards which desire to participate in the plan.

The project will provide employment for unemployed women, meet urgent physical needs of hungry children and also provide an opportunity for children to learn and to build up good habits necessary for maintaining good health.

Mrs. Medora S. Pitcock, area supervisor of women's and professional projects for the WPA, made clear that only home economics trained persons will be hired for project superintendents. Workers, she said, will be from certified WPA rolls.

Schools in which the project for lunches will operate must furnish equipment and a portion of the food. Some commodities will be furnished by the Texas Relief Commission.

A list of schools in which the project will operate had not been determined.

DAIRYMEN OF COUNTY FORM ORGANIZATION

A temporary organization of Eastland county dairymen and others who take an interest in dairying was formed Friday night at a meeting attended by 22 persons in the office of County Agent Elmo V. Cook at Eastland.

T. E. Richardson, C. C. Street and Louis Pitzer, all of Eastland, were chosen members of a committee to contact other dairymen of the county and assist Agent Cook and Assistant Agent Sam Rosenberg in plans for the next meeting at which perfection of the organization is anticipated.

Later the organization of dairymen may take the form of a herd improvement association, also known as a "cow testing association."

Several speakers from Abilene related the progress of the Taylor County Herd Improvement association in its three years of existence. C. A. Wilson, who is secretary of the Taylor association, told that the purpose of such an organization is to "Breed, feed and weed."

Wilson stressed that the purpose of a herd improvement association is not necessarily finding of new markets for milk products but the culling of herds to make dairying more profitable. He and other members of the association, said Wilson, have been able to maintain smaller herds at a greater profit since organization of the herd improvement association.

Knox Parr, Taylor county agent, told the Eastland county group that Henry Spaulding, cow tester for the Taylor county organization, tests herds of dairymen in the association at least once each month. By maintaining complete records, Parr continued, members of the association know the exact production of each cow, the feed cost, how much profit the cow makes and other valuable facts. In that manner, he pointed out, a person is able to eliminate the cows which are unprofitable.

The visitors announced District 7 Dairy Day will be held April 22 at Abilene at which time dairy cattle and dairy products will be exhibited and graded. They expressed appreciation for participation last year of Eastland county and again invited representation.

Several at the meeting indicated that they would like to avail themselves of the services of the Taylor organization tester. It was brought out previously that the tester might be available for several small herds in the county each month.

The next meeting of the dairymen will probably be arranged with a meal as a feature.

Visitors from Taylor county: Secretary Wilson of the association; W. Pritchard, farmer; Agent Parr; Tester Spaulding, and W. A. Rushman, assistant county agent.

Speakers from Eastland county at the meeting included: Dave Vermillion of Olden, Assistant Agent Rosenberg, Agent Cook, J. B. Eberhart of Rising Star, W. L. Connell of Olden, Street of Eastland, M. A. Ciyatt of Eastland, Louis Pitzer of Eastland, Leu Dupuy of Gorman and Syd Pitzer of Eastland.

Legislature Has Nearing Halfway Mark of Session

By United Press
AUSTIN, Mar. 4.—The Texas Legislature swung toward its half-way mark tonight, with attention focused upon the action of committees in the houses of representatives and upon the office of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel.

The house committees are those considering old age pensions and their financing and the truck load limit. Definite action to bring bills on those subjects before the house will be taken Monday, Gov. O'Daniel drew attention because of two important appointments that he is expected to make.

The withdrawal of J. C. Hunter of Abilene from the nomination as highway commissioner left O'Daniel with the job of making a third choice for that position and a second choice for life insurance commissioner.

It appeared that Gov. O'Daniel's pension recommendations would be followed. He asked that all eligible aged be assured of an income of at least $30 a month, based on need.

The truck load increase bills were halted temporarily in both house and senate but the house highways and motor traffic committee hoped to report a bill on that subject on Monday.

OIL PLAY IS GIVEN AN IMPETUS BY REEVES WELL

Development of shallow production southeast of Eastland was stimulated Saturday with a reported show in the John L. Reeves well on the C. U. Connelley estate, Nancy Ussery survey, and staking of a location two miles to the northeast.

Reports indicated 18 feet of oil sand was drilled, topped at 1,220 feet, and 200 feet of oil was in the hole. Gas, too, was reported.

The Reeves well is southwest of several shallow wells drilled by Reeves on the L. C. Downland.

New location was staked two miles northeast of the well on the Connelley estate by W. A. Stiles et al on the Mrs. Bula B. Butler land. Located two miles southeast of Eastland, it is in the Nancy Ussery survey, 3,550 feet from the south and 5,700 feet from the west line of the survey. The new well will be drilled to 1,400 feet, it was understood.

Leader Of Women's Club Work Speaker At Amarillo Parley

Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, held the limelight in Amarillo this week when many of the Seventh District's most prominent club women met in the Federation club rooms.

A morning meeting, a luncheon, and an afternoon seated tea with Mrs. Perkins as principal speaker were held during the day. The 150 women in attendance included state, district, and county officers, and presidents and presidents-elect of individual clubs.

Mrs. W. S. Izard, president of the Potter County Federation, introduced Mrs. J. M. Rutherford of Chillicothe, Seventh District president; Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, past president of the district and now treasurer of the state organization; and Mrs. Perkins.

Mrs. Ruth Delzell, chairman of the library extension department, asked those present to sign a petition asking the appropriations committee of the state legislature to endorse the library extension program, and urging state aid for libraries.

At the tea, Mrs. Perkins discussed the federated clubs in relation to the world at large. She closed her talk with a comparison of federated club work to Gothic architecture, in which each small stone adds beauty and strength, and in which the finished structure is an inspiration, suggesting that each club woman keep in mind her individual importance to the complete organization.

Marine On Leave Taken To Abilene To Face Charges

Daniel Charles Thiel, who was arrested by the office of Sheriff Woods on a charge of forgery and cashing a WPA check, was removed to Abilene and arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Ida M. James.

Lessons From New York Fascist Rally

Several things can be learned from the recent Fascist rally in New York's Madison Square Garden. They are things which the United States needs to learn, and to learn quickly.

1. The mask is off. The German-American Bund definitely seeks to do to America what Hitler's Nazi movement has done to Germany. Of all the sneaky, sleazy little Fascist movements in the country today, the Bund, flaunting its hyphenism, is easily first. Very well, now we know.

2. New York set a precedent in handling these things. For years, much-hated Communist and other radical movements have been given, generally speaking, their right to freedom of speech in the American tradition. Now the Nazis get it, too.

Mayor La Guardia, whose contempt for the amateur Hitlers is exceeded by nobody's, nevertheless guaranteed them their right to meet and speak. That was the American way.

But LaGuardia made this perfectly clear: the police department of the city would keep order, and nobody else. Self-appointed "storm troopers" would be given no right to do any policing. And the mayor turned out enough police to make certain that the preservation of public order was solely in the hands of public authority.

That is another lesson nowhere, at no time, under no circumstances, must the American republic allow the function of keeping public order to be usurped by private organizations.

That is what happened in Germany four short years ago. Communists and Nazis were allowed to go brawling up and down the public streets, with every brawl adding to the hatred each felt for the other, and causing supporters of the republic to split off and join one or the other until it was a fight between the two factions. Republican police were overawed and submerged between the "storm troops" of the Nazis and the "workers' militia" of the Communists.

This must not happen here. One republic, one public force charged with keeping public order. To this line we must grimly hew.

3. Those who oppose Fascism do better to stay away from its meetings. What made the New York rally a worldwide story? Not the meeting itself, but the efforts of private citizens to break it up.

However odious such meetings may be, it is playing into the organizers' hands to break them up violently. It is of such brawling that Fascist movements are spawned.

America is not yet governed in the streets, but in the Capitol. It is there that Nazism must be fought, not in public Donnybrooks.

Secret Sessions Of Senate Brings Out Varied Views

By United Press

AUSTIN, Texas.—Open sessions of the Texas Senate when the members vote on confirmation or rejection of a Governor's appointee may result from the disagreements between the present Senate and Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel about filling offices. Senators generally do not favor holding an open session when nominees are being discussed. Two are on record for a public session when the vote is taken.

Under present rules, any one Senator can keep all the proceedings secret, including the vote. The regulation says the injunction of secrecy can be removed only by unanimous vote.

A Senator violating the rule is liable to expulsion; an officer, to dismissal. Proceedings of the executive session are kept in a separate book. The final result of the session is placed on the public journal and reported to the Governor by the Senate secretary.

Many arguments have been heard over the secret sessions and leaks that have come from them. For the opening hearings, the argument is made that any person who seeks to hold public office ought to be willing that the public know all about him. Against it, the argument is made that un-sustained charges might gain wide circulation or, that for fear of injuring appointees, Senators might be reluctant to question their fitness.

Giving the appointee a right to reply to any charge would seem to answer the first objection. Whether a Senator should make a charge secretly that he would not make openly is debatable. Whatever else it accomplished, an open hearing would prevent trading to put over a confirmation or to prevent it.

Two-thirds vote is required for confirmation. There is also an unwritten rule that an appointee will be confirmed if the appointment is objectionable to the Senator in whose district the appointee lives. So there is little chance of confirmation of an appointee with any serious blemish, public or private.

Rejection is not a stigma in itself. It occurs frequently because of geographic reasons, because the nominee is considered temperamentally ill-adapted to the place. It may be because of youth or age or profession. Age, residence and professional status are items considered, particularly in considering appointments to boards or commissions. It is generally an objection when all the members would be youthful, all elderly, all from one part of the State or all from the same profession.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Having been given a green light and a pat on the back by Congress, Martin Dies is all set to make his famous investigation bigger and better than ever before.

His committee is more experienced. It will have more time—and it will have $100,000 to spend. "We've got the outline," says Congressman Dies, "now we'll fill it in with hard facts." And he plans to begin with a quiet, systematic survey of the whole field before holding any public hearings.

Leaning back in his chair and chewing hard on a cigar, the stocky Texan recalls that two years ago he was roundly booed when he moved for a congressional investigation of the sit-down strikes. He mustered only 118 votes and lost.

A few days ago only 35 congressmen voted against extending the life of his committee. Mr. Dies looks on the change as indicative of one of the greatest shifts of sentiment in American political history.

"People are sick and tired of European ideologies," he says. "They don't want Communism, or Nazism, or war, or any kind of notions from abroad. They want the traditional, fundamental Americanism—and any public men who don't recognize this trend are going to be on the outside looking in after 1940."

Out of this trend, he believes, will come a balanced program that will lead the country to its greatest period of prosperity. "The present administration has done some wonderful things," he says. "But there is such a thing as an overdose. It's like medicine; you've got to let nature do nine-tenths of the healing. The field in which government can operate is limited. If government goes outside of that field it becomes an oppressor of the people."

"I believe in sane, practical progressivism. We have to stay between the reactionary on one side and the radical on the other." Congressman Dies readily admits that the actual number of Communist party members in this country is small, but he declares that at least ten million people belong to organizations which are to a greater or lesser extent dominated and directed by the Communists. "These people don't want a big party membership," he explains. "The Communist looks instead for people who have no program, who are wandering in a daze. He has a program, and he sells it to the dissatisfied bourgeois—he uses them and then tosses them overboard."

Complaints that his committee has spent too much time investigating Communism and too little investigating Nazism leave Mr. Dies cold. He sees these isms as simply two facets of the same thing.

One, he says, is national socialism; the other, international socialism. Both, he feels, stem from the notion that government ought to cure all evils, that the individual can't solve any problems for himself; and this, he adds, is a notion commonly shared by many modern liberals.

"I don't call those liberals liberals at all," he remarks. "The past year has been a tough one on Mr. Dies. He lost 25 pounds in weight, and has got so that he doesn't sleep well. His daily routine for months has been home-office, office-home; only twice in six months has he even gone to a movie, he says.

He has a wife and three sons, and in the old days he was a good bit of a family man; now, he says, his family hardly sees anything of him.

But he feels that the worst of it is over. He won the formal approval of Congress by an overwhelming vote.

His committee now will have enough money so that he can spare himself some of the spade-work. From now on, he says, it will be going places. (Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.)

PERMIT FILED FOR RANGER'S WATER SUPPLY

County Clerk R. V. Galloway announced Saturday that a permit to the City of Ranger to impound unappropriated waters of Russell Creek, a tributary of the Brazos, in Eastland County, has been filed for record in his office following presentation by the State Board of Water Engineers.

The City of Ranger, according to the permit, is to impound waters from the creek not to exceed 525 acre-feet per annum, "or so much thereof as may be necessary, when beneficially used for the purpose of domestic water supply."

Filing of the permit was after proceedings at Austin when a Travis County district court ruled it was without jurisdiction to restrain the board from granting Ranger permission to impound water from Russell Creek. Strawn had opposed granting the permission to the City of Ranger on grounds that part of the watershed area was in the watershed of a water supply for Strawn.

The permit granted Ranger by the State Board of Water Engineers explained the permission was given "Provided, that the said City of Ranger, the beneficiary, under this permit is authorized to construct a dam in and across the bed of Russell Creek, a tributary of the Brazos River, in Eastland County, Texas, said dam to be of earth fill type, 40 feet in height, 1,400 feet in length, having a top width of 20 feet and a bottom width of 235 feet, thus creating a reservoir having an average width of 1,700 feet, length of impounded water 5,100 feet, an average depth of stored water of 10 feet, and having a storage capacity of 2,000 acre-feet; said dam to be located at a point which bears S. 15 degrees, W. a distance of 900 feet from the S. E. corner of the A. Bradley original survey on the west bank of Russell Creek in Eastland County, Texas, and distant in a northeasterly direction from Ranger, Texas, about four miles; and to impound said reservoir from time to time, as

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A bit of speculation these days is: Will Justice James Clark McReynolds present-ly retire from the Supreme Court? For a couple of years rumors of his impending retirement have been current, but they have never been confirmed.

Now Justice Brandeis is in retirement. Will Justice McReynolds follow him? Or—as some of the current gossip has it—will he feel that Justice Frankfurter is no longer on the bench to counterbalance him?

The opening of a Supreme Court vacancy provides a field day for the private-pipeline, inside-boys down here. The field is just as good even if the pipeline is all clogged and the pipe is all wrong—as is very often the case.

One thing to remember is that until the nomination is actually sent to the Senate, no one but the President really knows who is being chosen. The attorney general may know the three or four men from whom the choice will be made; the President's secretary may have a line on the men the President is considering; but no pipeline can go any farther than that.

All of which leaves the way wide open for the creation of booms and boomlets. Sometimes this happens right in the open. After Brandeis quit, for instance, a bloc of western senators promptly demanded the appointment of a westerner—most any westerner—and Representative Martin Kennedy of New York made a public plea for the appointment of Senator Robert Wagner. More often it is a roundabout affair.

The Golden Star Singers from Louisiana, who made such a hit here when they appeared at the St. Paul Baptist church (colored), have been booked for a return engagement. It was announced Saturday by Wesley Johnson, lay leader of the church.

White and colored friends of the church have been invited to attend this concert, which will be one of the best vocal entertainments ever conducted in Ranger.

CAMBRIDGE, O.—An old-fashioned "barn raising," reminiscent of another day, was participated in by 30 neighbors of G. E. Hawthorne, Knox township, near here. They started at 9 A. M. and had the framework completed by early afternoon. They took time out only for a big lunch.

Co-Ed's Voice Range Spans Four Octaves

Critics say she probably has the most unusual musical voice in the state and one of the few of its kind in the country.

The university co-ed, a native of Ord, Neb., said she could sing an octave below middle C, and can reach three octaves above it. She has had only a few formal lessons.

Dr. J. B. Tidwell, one of the greatest Bible teachers in America, will lead the First Baptist Church in a revival beginning today. He is a same, conservative, spiritual, scholarly teacher, recognized for his outstanding contributions to the religious thinking of the nation.

He has been head of the Bible department of Baylor University for 29 years, president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas for three years, author of many books and commentaries, and writes the comments on the Sunday School lesson for the Baptist Standard, the world's largest religious weekly.

Dr. Tidwell will speak each evening, with services beginning at 7:45 p. m. "We are indeed fortunate in securing Dr. Tidwell for these services and the church extends a most cordial welcome for everyone in the entire community and section to hear him." Rev. Chas. T. Tally, Jr., said Saturday. "A good old-fashioned song service will precede each message. Come and bring your friends with you."

Small Problems Are Made Easier At Cooking School

Even so small a problem as how to keep green beans green after they are cooked, will be discussed by Mrs. A. D. French when she comes here to conduct the Happy Kitchen Cooking School.

In case you're curious about the method of making beans stay green, here's the suggestion of Mrs. French: "Cut the beans into 3 or 4 strips lengthwise instead of snapping them across as usual; then cook them uncovered in rapidly boiling water 10 to 12 minutes, and the beans will rival the original product in color."

Mrs. French is one of the best known lecturers on home economy in the South, and is coming to Ranger through the desire of this newspaper to bring the best service available to the women of this community.

Admission will be free to all of the lectures, and everyone has a cordial invitation to attend. Numerous attractive free features have been arranged in connection with the school. Valuable samples and souvenirs will be distributed each day.

Dealing as she does with every phase of home economy, Mrs. French lays special stress on the short cuts to efficiency and economy that make work in the kitchen more fun and less drudgery.

She begins at the very beginning of the subjects of foods, and carries her audience step by step through the best methods of arriving at the ultimate goal of a "happy kitchen."

In her talk on marketing she shows clearly how to make the selections in foods that will yield the greatest value for the least money. In the discussion and demonstration of recipes she emphasizes the importance of making simple dishes more attractive and more delicious.

The lectures will be held at the Recreation Building each day from 2 to 4 o'clock, beginning promptly so that every possible minute may be used to the best advantage of the audience.

Girl Un at 2 On Milk Route 8 Years

METHUEN, Mass.—More than 200 families in Methuen, Lawrence and North Andover have their milk delivered by a milkmaid.

Louise Knightly has covered the route for eight years, beginning Saturday and Sunday work while still in high school, and continuing as a "regular" after graduating in 1925.

Her brother owns the Elmstead Farm business, buying milk from nearby farmers and pasteurizing it himself. He and a helper bid Louise on her first morning trip, a house-to-house delivery which keeps the two men running while she drives the truck.

They start about 2 A.M., return for a reloading about 7:30, and then Miss Knightly starts out alone. The second route is much longer and more scattered, but she manages to return home for a 7:30 breakfast.

Sometimes she sleeps in two shifts: once during the day, and then again during the early evening.

Besides delivering milk, she "keeps house" for her father and brothers.

TO CONDUCT COOKING SCHOOL

Mrs. French, well-known culinary artist and happy home lecturer will be in charge of the Ranger Times and Eastland County Cooking School to be held in Ranger March 9, 10 and 11. The school is a yearly attraction of these papers and is popular with the women of the community. Make plans now to attend.

Vacancy Racketeer Seeks To Obtain Old Homesteads

AUSTIN, Tex.—Mrs. Aaron Kolle, a little old lady of Victoria County, is bewildered and distressed.

Her family has owned a 96-acre tract of land in that county for half a century—or thought it did. But now the discovery of oil in that section has brought the vacancy-hunting camp followers a-running.

"A surveying crew has claimed that part of this land was owned by the state," Mrs. Kolle writes. Representative Paris Smith of Bay City, author of a bill to curb vacancy racketeering. "I inherited this land from my mother. Before that it was owned by my grandfather, and my mother inherited it from him."

"I am told that in case the state should try to take this land away from me the case would have to be tried in Travis county. This would be ruinous to me."

"I do not understand why this should be. I do not think it is right for them to take any part of this 96 acres, as it does not belong to the state, but to me. I saw in the paper that you were fighting the vacancy hunters, so I hope you will do your best to save my land for me."

This is a sample of appeals coming to Smith, other legislators and the Texas Landowners Association from all over the state.

As a different type of plea, revealing other evils of the vacancy racket, Smith cited a letter from Louis LeTulle of Bay City, urging his assistance in clearing up the "tragic situation" of vacancies.

Mr. LeTulle says he owns a league of land in Matagorda county, on which taxes have been paid for more than 100 years. He agreed to lease part of it to an oil company, but before the lease was executed vacancy claims were filed, alleging errors in the original survey.

"As a result," he writes, "I failed to obtain the $9,600 bonus which the lessee had agreed to pay. I may never be able, because of this uncertainty, to get these lands prospected and developed for oil."

He had a similar experience with 161 acres. Seven vacancy applications blocked a lease which would have paid him a $1617 bonus, and although the land commissioner refused the applications last December, saying there was no vacancy, the title is still clouded so that he cannot find a lessee.

AN APPRECIATION

Our hearts are deeply moved by the many expressions of love and sympathy which came to us from Ranger and vicinity, and throughout the country, during our recent bereavement. We were very surprised and comforted by the very large number of telegrams, floral tributes and messages from churches, social and business organizations, personal friends and acquaintances sent us when dear little son, David, passed away. To every one we can say, you have been kind to us and we are grateful.

Herb Specialist Makes Hamburger A Kingly Repast

CLEVELAND, O.—By the addition of the proper herbs, hamburger can be raised to the gastronomic level of filet mignon, according to Miss Daisy Healey.

Miss Healey's hobby is collecting and experimenting with herbs. She raises them, too, and has created some new ones through experiments with combinations.

"I decided to have a herb laboratory after visiting a herb garden at Mt. St. Albans, Wash.," she said.

"In my herbarium are thyme and marjoram, which, with a bit of mystic magic, give a roast of beef or hamburger just the right flavoring."

Miss Healey said her other aromatic plants include tarragon, linden, lavender and bay laurel.

"Herbs should be used as a seasoning and not to overshadow the flavor of foods. They relieve the monotony of good, but plainly cooked, meals," she said.

CANDY WANTED BADLY

YUBA CITY, Cal.—When school girls want candy—they must have it. Two 11-year-old pupils here confessed to a classically staged store robbery. They threw a brick through the window of a pharmacy, then while one stood guard outside the other one entered and came back with a box of candy.

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

offers. I'm interested in this one because—well, just because— She flushed and laughed consciously.

CHAPTER XXV How long since you had your last square meal? Jeff asked at last.

She shock her head. Her hair, not pinned into place, fluffed in a cloud around her head.

UPON waking in the morning Susie's spirits went into reverse. The radiant aspect of things had changed overnight.

Going to the telephone he ordered dinner for them both, to be served in Susie's room.

HE heard her say, "I'd love to go, Dick. I can think of nothing I'd rather do."

What to do—what to do— If she told Dick in a casual, off-hand way, if she said, "Do you remember Susie in the waffle shop?"

Under Jeff's merciless eyes Susie ate her dinner, even burying a pat of butter in the flaky depths of her baked potato.

When the table had been removed and they were cozily talking again Jeff told her, with boyish shyness, how desperately lonely he was since Edna went away.

After all, Susie thought, there was nothing to be ashamed of in making the most of one's self.

Baptist Church To Occupy Its New Building Today

The First Baptist Church will occupy their new Sunday School building today.

A total of $2,000.00 has been spent to provide more space for their crowded Sunday school. Three departments will be moved into the new building, giving more space to be used by other large departments.

The Sunday school in the past 20 months has grown from 135 average attendances to an average of over 500. The new building was needed as all the available space was crowded to overflowing.

They invite the public to visit the new building this coming week.

Perfect Driver Says Danger Growing

CLEVELAND, O.—It is harder to drive safely today—even with all the mechanical improvements and hard-surfaced roads—than it was five or ten years ago, believes H. B. Hawkins, who has driven buses more than 1,000,000 miles in 16 years without an accident.

"There are too many 'smart' drivers on the roads today," he said. "They give the more experienced drivers the jitters."

Hawkins possesses buttons, medals, pins and certificates to attest to his skill as a driver.

"I'm pretty proud of my no-accident record," said Hawkins, who has "rolled" a bus through every state in the Union and in Canada and Mexico since first getting behind the wheel of a common carrier in 1921.

In the early days of bus travel, according to Hawkins, the schedules were more in the nature of a hope rather than a promise.

One of his first jobs, he said, was driving between New York and San Francisco.

"That was some assignment," he laughed. "They would hand the loaded bus over to two of us with orders to get it across the country in seven days and six nights."

James Phillips And Garvin Chastain In Texaco Station now

James Phillips and Garvin Chastain have taken over the active management of the Texaco Filling Station on the New Strawn Highway, formerly occupied by Al Tune, who has built a new station on the highway.

The station has been painted and given a general reconditioning and a new washing and greasing rack added.

Texaco products, including the famous Fire Chief gasoline and Havoline "insulated" oil is being sold, and the two plan to stock tires and tubes.

Registered restrooms, which are kept clean at all times, are also featured at the station, as at all Texaco stations, and they are prepared to give the nationally publicized Circle Service.

The new Texaco motor oils, especially refined for the 1939 model cars, using tight-fitting precision parts, are stocked at the station.

Snake Rated Good As A Forecaster

LORAIN, O.—Racey, a 5-foot blue racer snake, has emerged from his winter hibernation to challenge the ominous groundhog predictions of a long winter.

"Why," said F. L. Montgomery, who owns the snake, "Racey knows more about weather than a field full of groundhogs. And when he comes out this early, it means just one thing—spring is just a few weeks off."
