EX-CONVICT BANK ROBBER IS CAPTURED

By United Press
BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, April 8.—Leonard C. Stockton, former Oklahoma Penitentiary convict, was captured today following a running gun battle several hours after he held up and robbed the First National Bank at Graford, Texas, of approximately $250.

Stockton readily admitted the robbery of the bank at Graford, 50 miles east of here, in Palo Pinto county, officials said. He denied, however, any connection with the kidnap murder last night of Joe Ball, Oklahoma City mail carrier.

The money which Stockton took was found on his person, officers said.

Papers in Stockton's possession showed that he was a parolee from the Oklahoma State Prison at McAlester, Okla. He gave his home as Wewoka, Okla.

Stockton was captured on the highway near here when a rifle bullet from the gun of Sheriff F. L. Egeland brought him down after a battle. He was brought here to the Stephens county jail for questioning.

Stockton said he had not been with Jodie T. Lloyd, an escaped Wynne Prison Farm convict, who had been reported in the automobile with the Oklahoma gunman.

Col. Lindbergh Is Enroute to U.S. On The Aquitania

By United Press
CHERBOURG, France, April 8. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh sailed for New York today aboard the liner Aquitania.

Lindbergh's sailing was not announced. He boarded the ship a few minutes before departure time. He was not accompanied by his wife or two children.

The only persons notified of his departure were special police officers attached to the Maritime Station, who guided the famous flier.

Lindbergh evaded the crowds of passengers with his hat drawn down over his forehead to help avoid recognition.

There was no hint as to why Lindbergh is returning to his native country after an absence of several years. It has been reported that he intends never again to live in the United States because of the fear of kidnaping attempts against his two young sons, Jon and Land.

The fact that he did not take his family along seemed to indicate that he has no present intention of resuming permanent residence in the United States.

Coastguard Head Killed In Crash Of His Airplane

By United Press
EL PASO, April 8.—The coastguard unit announced today that Lt. Robert Grantham, commander of the unit here, was killed Thursday when his plane apparently was forced down by ice on the wings "somewhere south of Alpine."

Grantham was killed when he attempted to bail out but his parachute caught on the plane. He crashed to earth with it.

His three companions, Clifford J. Hudder, James Dinan and Robert Paddon, all members of the unit, parachuted to safety.

Famous Author Is Feared Lost At Sea

By United Press
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 8.—Richard Halliburton, author, and his crew of 14 aboard the Chinese junk, "The Sea Dragon," have been missing for 15 days in mid-Pacific and navigators virtually abandoned hope for them today.

There still was a possibility that the vessel might reach Midway Island under sail, battered by storms, which swept the area where the ship last reported by radio.

Proclamation

CLEAN UP - PAINT UP - FIX UP
PLANT UP - GIVE JOBS

WHEREAS: The National Clean-up Paint-up and Fix-up campaign has been productive of immeasurable good in the matter of health, employment and thrift, fire prevention, better housing, civic pride and Home-Beautiful work.

THEREFORE: In view of the perfection of plans for this year's campaign in Ranger, beginning April 11th, I earnestly urge all citizens to cooperate to the end that results even exceeding those of former years may be attained.

It is only through persistent and constructive effort in cleaning, painting and beautification that a town or city acquires a reputation for tidiness and attracts the attention of the visitor. One year's work is of little value unless it stimulates home-owners and others to constant endeavor to keep their holdings neat.

At this time, with so many persons out of work, the annual clean-up campaign has added significance, and it is my hope that hundreds of the Ranger unemployed may find assistance.

THEREFORE: I urge upon the citizens of Ranger the duty of doing his or her part to make the city clean, healthy, thrifty, safe and beautiful.

HALL WALKER, Mayor.

Clean, Healthy, Thrifty
Safe and Beautiful

DR. GAIN IS GIVEN OKEH AT EASTLAND

The Eastland American Legion post in its regular monthly business meeting Friday in Knights of Pythias Castle hall, endorsed the candidacy of Dr. O. O. Gain of Dublin for commander of the 17th Legion district.

The election will be held in May at a convention in Mineral Wells. Thirty-seven attended the meeting with Moran, De Leon, Dublin and Cisco posts represented in addition to the Eastland members present.

Four new members, W. A. Aston, W. C. Baines, A. C. Baker and Walter Guest, were received and initiated.

K. K. White reported on a visit with members of the Albany Legion post which opened its new headquarters the past week.

Announced also was that the Legion post will sponsor a local moving picture June 26 and 27 at the Conlee Theatre. Fifty per cent of the receipts will go to the Legion post. Arrangements for the Legion post will be in charge of Earl Francis.

Henry Pullman, commander, presided. Invocation was pronounced by White.

Visitors included: Frank Allen, Dennis Norton, H. H. Pullig, from De Leon; W. L. Pippen, Cisco; Bud Booth, Moran; C. E. Phelps, Bert Stockton, Roy McCune, Marvin Harris, from Dublin.

Pullig, although a member of the De Leon post, is a resident of Gorman.

Housekeeping WPA Employees Help In Cleanup

Employees of the WPA housekeeping aide project cooperated with the cleanup campaign in the City of Eastland.

In response to a talk given by W. H. Hennessee, chief of the fire department, the employees, in addition to routine duties, checked in 25 houses for the following: suitable containers in which to burn trash, safe electric iron cords, ventilated metal containers for storing old mops and oiled cloths, and the storage of gasoline.

As a result four containers were provided for burning trash, one electric iron cord was repaired, five containers were obtained for storing old cloths and mops, and one gal of gasoline was destroyed.

Appreciation was expressed by the employees of the project for information given in a talk by E. E. Witt of the city sanitation department regarding the disposal of refuse. The housekeeping aide pledged to extend the principles involved in a clean-up campaign throughout the duration of the project in all homes where service is given.

The American denunciation read to newspapermen personally by Hull after a long distance telephone communication with Mr. Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga., emphasized the threat to the peace of the world.

Hull plainly foreshadowed the addition of Albania to the increasing list of prizes of aggression whose conquest has not received diplomatic recognition by the United States. His formal statement capped a series of developments which reflected increasing preoccupation of the nation's capital upon the swift moving events abroad.

Play Day Is Held At Cooper School

The play day, sponsored by the WPA Recreation Project and held at Cooper school Saturday was attended by approximately 150 boys and girls. Matched games were played in softball, tenkott and badminton.

The preceding Saturday, the play day was held at Hodges Oak Park, with Cooper school children winning a small majority of the matches.

Each Saturday in the future only one of the school playgrounds will be opened, but the participants in the various games will come from all sections of the city. These weekly meetings will be known as play days. It is the hope of the recreation department that more boys and girls of Ranger will attend each Saturday morning from 9:00 until 12:00.

Townsend Club Will Meet Monday Night

The Ranger Townsend Club will meet at the Calvary Baptist church Monday evening at 8 o'clock. It was announced here Saturday by officers of the club.

All members have been urged to attend and visitors will be welcome.

BRITAIN MAY MAKE PUBLIC GREEK POLICY

LONDON, April 8.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain hurried back to London tonight to consider a cabinet proposal that Great Britain publicly announce that she will fight to defend the independence of Greece and Turkey against totalitarian aggression in the Balkans.

Fearing that further advances of the German-Italian axis partnership southward as a result of the Italian conquest of Albania would endanger Great Britain's empire communications, four service members of the cabinet are said to have urged the announcement and to have enlisted the support of the other seven in an emergency session.

The prime minister is returning tonight from his vacation in Scotland because of the European situation.

Final decision on the cabinet's suggestion, which amounts to a recommendation, will await the arrival of Chamberlain and a meeting of all ministers.

The Greek government, through its minister, earlier had inquired as to the intentions of Britain.

New Officers Are Chosen At Vet's Meeting In Cisco

New officers of the Cisco Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 3359, elected last week at Cisco, were announced Saturday.

The officers are: L. E. Vaughn, Cisco, post commander; Henry Pullman, Eastland, senior vice commander; W. L. Pippen, junior vice commander; Walter Jones of Desdemona, chaplain, and J. H. Mitchell of Eastland, quartermaster adjutant.

The post has a membership from over the county.

Annual Meeting Of Red Cross Is Scheduled Monday

Election of officers will be a topic at the annual meeting of the Eastland County chapter of the American Red Cross Monday night at 7:30 in the First Christian Church Sunday School room at Eastland.

R. C. Kinnaird, county chairman, has also announced reports, accompanied by comments, will be given by workers in the program.

Kinnaird visited last year, in which annual drives and safety work was conducted, as one of the most successful.

A short entertaining program has been arranged to precede the business session. Everyone interested, it was stated, is invited to attend.

U. S. DENOUNCES ITALY'S MOVE INTO ALBANIA

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The United States tonight formally denounced Italy's invasion of Albania in a statement reflecting the mounting concern of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull that European developments may lead the world into war.

The American denunciation read to newspapermen personally by Hull after a long distance telephone communication with Mr. Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga., emphasized the threat to the peace of the world.

Hull plainly foreshadowed the addition of Albania to the increasing list of prizes of aggression whose conquest has not received diplomatic recognition by the United States. His formal statement capped a series of developments which reflected increasing preoccupation of the nation's capital upon the swift moving events abroad.

Callahan County Gets New Location

A new location for Callahan County was reported by oilmen here Saturday.

E. L. Thomas and others are to drill No. 1 H. H. Ramsey 588 feet from the east, 150 feet from the south line of section 104, BBB&C survey, one-half mile south of Baird.

Machine is being rigged up.

ENTIRE TOWN IS INCLUDED IN CAMPAIGN

Everyone Is Urged to Take An Active Part in Making Ranger a Cleaner Town

Ranger's greater cleanup campaign, sponsored by the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, and with Lee Dockery as general chairman, will get underway Tuesday, April 11, and will continue for the remainder of the week.

Mayor Hall Walker has issued a proclamation, which appears elsewhere on this page, urging everyone in Ranger to cooperate in making Ranger a cleaner, healthier and more beautiful town.

Letters have been sent out by P. E. Moore, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, to approximately 125 women in Ranger, who have been appointed on five major committees which will have charge of the cleanup work. Each of these women has been urged to contact her committee chairman to see what part of the cleanup work is expected of them.

Tentative plans, which have not been completed, call for a parade Tuesday to inaugurate the campaign. The parade, if staged as outlined, will be led by the Ranger High School Band, with school children, dressed in work clothes and carrying hoes, rakes, shovels or other cleanup tools.

The entire town has been urged to take an active part in the cleanup, which is especially significant at this time as there are several major beautification programs to start soon to help make Ranger a much more attractive town. These beautification projects, together with the cleanup, will do much to improve the look of the town and to make it a more attractive place to visitors as well as to those who make it their home.

Indications that the cleanup will be the most successful ever attempted in Ranger were seen at the first meeting when plans for the cleanup were enthusiastically received by a large group that met in the Chamber of Commerce offices to plan the campaign.

The City of Ranger will furnish trucks for hauling any trash that is accumulated during the drive, and this trash is to be hauled free of charge. It has been urged that once the town is cleaned the residents take advantage of the trash hauling facilities of the city, which can be procured at any time for a nominal charge, to help keep Ranger clean.

Everyone has been urged to remember the date for the cleanup—starting Tuesday, April 11, and continuing all that week—and to aid in making Ranger a cleaner, healthier, more beautiful town.

Cooperation Asked In Keeping Streets Of Ranger Cleaner

Calvin Brown, street commissioner, has asked the cooperation of the people of Ranger in helping to keep Main street clean.

Brown has requested that all cars be removed from Main street by 11 o'clock each evening in order that the street may be swept.

It was pointed out that after 11 o'clock there was plenty of parking space in the alleys and in parking lots near Main street, where the cars could remain later.

Easter Egg Hunt To Be Held Here For All Children

A big Easter Egg Hunt, for all children in Ranger under 16 years of age, will be staged at the Ranger Country Club this afternoon at 4 o'clock, to which all children are invited.

Thousands of Easter Eggs have been boiled and dyed by the girls in the NYA residence training project, for the occasion, and the NYA girls will be on hand to aid in handling the children to see that none gets hurt.

Moving pictures, which will be shown locally later in the month, will be taken of the Easter Egg hunt as well as other scenes in and around Ranger.

School Head To Speak At Meet

The Morton Valley Parent-Teacher Association will meet on Tuesday, April 11, at 3:45 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Miss Gladys Hicks' sixth grade pupils will present the room program and Supt. Lewis Smith will talk on "Church."

Ranger Masons Will Confer Degree Tues.

A master's degree will be conferred by the Ranger Masonic Lodge Tuesday evening, April 11, it has been announced here. Visiting Masons will be welcome.

We Are Changing the Face of America

So vast is this great country, so endless its spaces of forest and plain and swarming cities that it is hard to comprehend it.

During the past few years changes have taken place in the mere physical aspect of the country that would have staggered anyone to whom they had been suggested, say, in 1921.

For instance: it is usually said and believed that the common domain, or publicly owned lands, is exhausted and approaching a finish. Yet since 1933, the federal government has bought from private owners 26,000,000 acres of land costing around $218,000,000, an average of about $8 an acre.

That is an area larger than Massachusetts, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Delaware and Rhode Island combined. It is an area almost as large as all England, and about the size of the Czechoslovakian republic swallowed by Germany.

The public domain, in other words, which we thought about exhausted, has greatly increased, not decreased, in recent years.

Tremendous areas of the country have been turned back to forest. Last year the National Forest Service supervised planting of 140,000,000 trees, on 154,000 acres of land in 31 states.

This, mark you, is land previously cut over and deforested. And the total acreage does not include a great deal of forest planting done by states and private individuals. And it represents the work of only one year, while such work has spurred ahead tremendously year after year throughout the last decade.

The mid-western shelter-belt is becoming a reality today. It was a mere day-dream a few years ago, yet already there is reason to hope that it will be of definite service in holding back the creeping advance of the dust bowl.

All this, with areas like those around TVA, Bonneville, and a thousand smaller river projects, are actually changing the face of our country before our eyes, and changing it for the better.

We may have utmost faith that those millions of trees will represent national wealth in the future in the form of timber and lumber products, to say nothing of their effects on upholding the water table and preventing erosion. The land bought by the government may always be sold back to citizens should the time come when it is needed. The new lakes and dams have enriched the life of their neighborhoods.

We have spent a lot of money. But we also have something to show for it.

Temporarily without new permits, Chester, Pa., motor cops were forced to walk their beats. Imagine the satisfaction in asking a cop to show his license!

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Perhaps the best way to explain just what America's "good neighbor" policy in Latin America means is to describe a few of the things which it does not mean.

First of all, it does not mean that the United States is trying to set itself up as the boss of the Latin republics.

The Pan-American conference idea is not new. John Quincy Adams was the first American president to send delegates to such a conference, and the first regular, periodic conference was held in Washington in 1889, when James G. Blaine was secretary of state.

For a full half century, the essentials of a democratic ordering of foreign relations in the new world have been in evolution.

At Buenos Aires, in 1936, the 21 nations adopted a statement asserting that the American nations proclaimed their absolute juridical equality and their unqualified respect for their respective sovereignties—which, in plain English, means that they agreed that all of them were equal at law and that each nation was fully independent and boss in its own house.

With this statement came a declaration that any act which disturbs the peace of the new world concerns all new world nations.

At Lima, a few months ago, the delegates re-stated and amplified these principles. They endorsed the removal of trade barriers and adopted a "declaration of continental solidarity," declaring that a threat to the integrity of any new world nation was a matter of common concern to all and agreeing to consult in case the "peace, security or territorial integrity" of any American republic is threatened.

The good neighbor policy is not one-sided. It must be reciprocal. The State Department admits that much remains to be done, but it also feels that all the new world nations are coming to see the advantage of united by common ideals.

Now if the good neighbor policy does not mean that the United States wants to be boss, it also does not mean that the United States wants to monopolize all trade with South America and stop imports and exports between South American nations and other countries.

For generations, South America has sent foodstuffs and other raw materials to Europe. That's only natural.

The United States can't buy those things in any great quantity, because it produces them at home. It certainly cannot regard it as an insult if a Latin nation sells its produce to a totalitarian power and buys manufactured goods from that power in return. In fact, the State Department would regard it as a calamity if that sort of thing were not taking place.

What this government does ask is that such deals be not exclusive; that the process of normal exchange of goods remain a process of exchange and be not a process of political pressure or a threat to other countries.

It objects to seeing any overseas country mobilize its nationals in South America for the purposes of such pressure—and, in this objection, it is sustained by a resolution adopted at the Lima conference.

If the good neighbor policy is not an attempt to control South America or to monopolize its trade, then, what is it?

Primarily, the good neighbor policy is an attempt to promote better understanding and to improve trade. The two go hand in hand, to an extent, and they take with them the concept of a common plan for new world defense, out of which come such things as the current proposal to help the Latin nations arm.

The defense angle is important. Back of it lies the belief that democracies can prosper only in a relatively stable and prosperous world. The constant sequence of war, war-threats, and the preparation for war is an eternal threat to the democratic ideal.

Italy Looks to Albania

Albania, tiny Balkan country shown in black in above map, is reported scheduled by Mussolini for military occupation by his Fascist troops. The country already is under strong Italian domination. Italian troops are reported concentrated at Bari and Brindisi, only 75 miles across Adriatic Sea from Albania.

The navy wants to add some improvements to the formal battleship christening ceremony. How about a cup to catch that champagne?

SERIAL STORY BORDER ADVENTURE

BY OREN ARNOLD

Yesterday: The officers learn the old woman in jail was Betty Mary. Later, she tips them off that something is planned that night. As they rush to the scene, Sheridan reveals he has already asked Betty for a date.

CHAPTER III MISS ELIZABETH MARY JORDAN, of Washington, D. C., out of her bath and in pajamas now, stepped onto the hotel bathroom scales to see if three days of train food and loafing and one day of west Texas had added anything to her weight.

They hadn't. The needle wiggled around gaily and finally settled on 108 pounds, causing her to mutter, "Oh darn." If ever she reached 118, Betty Mary often promised herself, she would throw a rip-roaring celebration; she had kind of hoped it could be done here in El Paso.

"But it doesn't matter," she assured herself, "because I don't know anybody here except Hope Edgare and Sheridan Starr." She came out and stooped to bury her face again in the flowers Mr. Starr had sent that night. They had been waiting when she came back to her room. "May I take you to dinner on Saturday?" she said with them had said.

She hadn't answered, but she knew she would say yes. Too much of glamor and interest was already attached to him, to both the young Border Patrol inspectors on whom she had paid an official call. She had come from Washington expecting to find them steady unimaginative men, perhaps the plodding type of officers.

Inspectors Starr and Kildare, surprisingly, looked and talked like big overgrown boys, handsome and highly capable but likely to make a few blunders in the field. Betty Mary had felt instantly drawn to them.

"I think it would be unfair to comment that they are discharged," she was confiding presently, in a letter to her girl friend in east. "I think this Luis Barro must be lucky. He has just been slipping by two good men. I don't want to tell you when I get to Washington wanted an inside report by somebody who could speak Spanish and knew about border conditions. I've been handling all the Border Patrol correspondence, and did a few other investigations, and really I was born in Texas, too."

"And guess what, Sue! The wilkiest thing! Remember how we make up and change characters and all in the Little Theater? Well, I was able to do that here today and got the officers a shabby inside tip. Really! I have in most to tell you when I get to El Paso. Even as I write this they are out in the San Felipe hills somewhere. This is much rougher country than around San Antonio, here I was reared. But the Mexicans look the same. I am going to catch some faces.

"Sheridan has asked me for a date already! Aren't you jealous? They are big and they move graciously and have quick dark eyes and hope—that's the other one—is a small scar from football, and they both act so serious you'd think they were."

She had a great deal more to tell but she stopped writing soon and went to bed.

"I want to buy a good pistol," she told the young clerk firmly. "And some ammunition and a cartridge belt."

SHE didn't sleep well, though. Things were on her mind. At 3 a. m. she telephoned the hotel clerk to know if any calls had come for her. None had. Still nobody had called at dawn; and at 7 a. m. she was reading a morning paper but she found no mention of any Border Patrol excitement. Breakfast was uninteresting; the morning dragged. Three times she telephoned Border Patrol headquarters, only to be told each time that Messrs. Starr and Kildare were not in. At 3 p. m. she visited the chief of police again and heard once more what she already knew—that Border Patrol work was always dangerous, likely to include shooting any time.

At 4:15 p. m. she went to a stationery store and purchased a large "Map of the Border Country" with accurate scaling and topographic features, took it to her room and studied it minutely for nearly an hour. Next she sat for a few minutes staring out of her hotel window across the Rio Grande at the mountains of old Mexico, tapping her pretty teeth with a pencil, and thinking. Then, suddenly, she made up her mind. Recalling a sporting goods store she had seen earlier two blocks from the hotel, she set out quickly for it.

"I want to buy a good pistol," she told the clerk, firmly. "And some ammunition and a cartridge belt."

MAZATLAN is a highly picturesque little city in the Mexican state of Sinaloa, which is lapped by the Pacific Ocean. Many boats stop there, and strange are the people who may be seen on them. Sometimes a few of the people disembark.

Two weeks before Betty Mary started west, 20 men and nine women, all of very definite Asiatic ancestry and all speaking some dialect of the Asiatic languages, arrived in Mazatlan, disembarking from a passing vessel at night. They had not been sure of their welcome, but they met with no difficulty. In fact their spokesman, who was an excellent linguist, was elated at the ease with which Mazatlan "absorbed" these travelers.

"But it is not here that we need expect trouble," he informed them, soon after their arrival. "We will have to be more careful, however, when we cross into the next land. That will be America!" a Chinese asked him.

"The United States, no less," he nodded. "But patience. It will not be easy, as here. Unless we are fortunate in the assistance we hire. If the right people are approached, in the right way."

The spokesman shrugged, suggesting that he knew the routine. He also made it clear too that the next move would be costly. He was a professional alien runner. Skilled at forging passports, and at quick thinking and acting in emergencies, he had contacted those 29 people as far away as Honolulu and traveled with them back to this continent.

"It will be best," he explained, "to hire for you the most influential intermediary we can." "We have already paid you money," the Asiatic answered. "In America we have friends." There was a deal of further conversation. "Three hundred American dollars more, after what we have already paid? It is a lot of money."

MY EASTER LESSON By Mrs. L. C. Hall I prayed for wisdom; Gained a retreat. When worldly things upon me press, And fill my soul with dire distress, I turn to God and talk and pray, That he will show me the heavenly way. A retreat—from world to God. I prayed for wisdom; A Sanctuary was given. A Sanctuary where, as a little child, Eager for the Dear Lord's smile; My thoughts rise higher, higher, And my voice joins the heavenly choir. One mighty anthem there all sing "More Love to Thee, O Mighty King." Then Silence—in this Holy Hour I gather strength, peace, added power. My Sanctuary—A vision of God.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS

Paul Establishes Churches

OUR lesson presents a rather typical scene in Paul's missionary journeys. Wherever he went, as a Jew, he made his contacts with the synagogue. There in the midst of those of his own race, he spoke of these new aspects of faith that had come to him with his discovery of Jesus Christ.

JESUS had said to His disciples, "When they persecute you in one city, flee to another," and this was exactly what happened in the case of Paul. The missionary journeys were shaped very largely by the persecutions that drove him from one place to another. But one thing that he would not do was give up the preaching of the Gospel. Wherever there were people to hear and be saved, Paul had a mission.

Boy With A Pin In Lungs May Win A Music Scholarship

By United Press
EL PASO, Tex.—Two years ago John Terrack, high school student, swallowed a pin and was told never to sing again. Now, with the pin still lodged in his lung, he hopes to win a music scholarship in a coming contest at San Antonio.

He recently was judged the best male singer in high schools of the El Paso area at the Choral Festival sponsored by the Texas College of Mines.

While fastening school papers two years ago, John put a pin in his mouth. It slipped down his throat and lodged in his lung. Doctors told him he would have to stop singing so that the lung could rest and form a safety capsule around the pin.

"But my singing is my life," protested John, who still hopes to make it a career. His family and friends tried in vain to discourage him.

Singing the "Kashmiri Song," John, a tenor, won highest honors at the Choral Festival.

Senate To Vote On Relief Appropriation

By United Press

Art Of Eating Is Declared Dead

By United Press
CLEVELAND, O.—Speedy eating was brought on "first by prohibition, then the depression, and now the jitterbug era," believes David E. Hartz, who for 32 years has been waiter and head-waiter. "Eating is a lost art," he said. "I knew hundreds of great men of an earlier day—and almost all of them knew and appreciated good food. But now—" He waved his hand.

The famous tragedian, Henry Irving, probably was the most particular eater in the world, Hartz believes. "He carried his own table linen and silver," he said. "Enrico Caruso, the singer, also was temperamental about his dishes. One night, I remember, he ordered spaghetti at midnight, and when it was brought to his room, said he didn't like it. He insisted that an Italian chef be hired to prepare more."

This was done, and the great tenor finished his "snack" at 3:30 A. M.

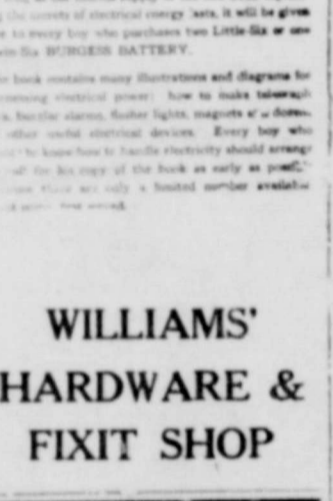

David Warfield, the actor, often was served by Hartz. "He was quiet and unassuming," the headwaiter said. "He preferred to eat alone, and always selected a place in a remote corner of the room. He was pleasant and kind, but wouldn't allow any music or conversation to interfere with his eating. He often took as long as two hours for a meal, although he was not a heavy eater."

Fraternity Formed Purely As An Aid To Other People

By United Press
DALLAS, Tex.—Alpha Phi Omega is a college fraternity. But it doesn't give any parties. It doesn't go in for college politics. Scholastic rating is purely secondary.

Alpha Phi Omega is formed for the sole purpose of helping other people. And among other things its members have given more than $1,200 worth of their blood to save the lives of persons needing transfusions.

Among the fraternities at Southern Methodist University, Alpha Phi Omega has had one of the most unusual histories. Jarrott Harkey, a Dallas student, had the idea for such an organization, and with the help of A. C. Zumbrennen, dean of students, formed a group of 15 members dedicated to the idea of helping folks in need of help.

A few months later some of the members of the fraternity were congregated in a room in the dormitory when they heard a call over the police radio, telling of a man who had been run over by a train and needed a blood transfusion at once. On an impulse, the boys rushed to the hospital to offer their blood. But before samples could be taken, the man died.

Back in the dormitory, the boys decided that something should be done to get blood more quickly in emergency cases like the one they had just seen end in death. They placed a standing offer with all hospitals in Dallas to donate blood in cases where the patients could not afford to pay professional blood donors.

Since then more than 100 members of the fraternity have had their blood typed, and their addresses and telephone numbers put on file at the hospitals. On thirty occasions they have been called for transfusions, which have been credited with saving the lives of 16 persons.

Since blood-giving is necessary only rarely, and since the fraternity functions all year round, the boys have developed numerous other activities to carry out their program of service.

The fraternity has established a circulating library in one of the poorer sections of Dallas, where recreation facilities are scarce and where such notorious outlaws as Clyde and Buck Barrow, Bonnie Parker and Raymond Hamilton were raised. Dozens of needy families have been given Thanksgiving baskets and Christmas donations by the fraternity.

Movie Scenes Are Filmed In Ranger: To Be Shown Later
William Kimber, motion picture photographer who will be shooting moving picture scenes in and around Ranger for the next six days, took several scenes in Ranger Saturday afternoon and will take more today.
Saturday he filmed scenes on Trades Day, showing all the activities, including the crowds in town Saturday. He also made pictures of Rev. and Mrs. G. Alfred Brown arriving in Ranger after a three-month stay in Europe, where Rev. Brown has been studying.
Today pictures will be taken of the Sunrise Easter Service, people going to and leaving the churches and the Easter Egg hunt at the Ranger Country Club in the afternoon.
When finished the picture will be shown under the sponsorship of the Ranger Lions Club.

Trend To Normal Noted In China

HONG KONG.—There is a steady exodus of Chinese from Hong Kong, former refugees who are returning to Canton and Kwantung province generally.

The Japanese consulate in Hong Kong is besieged daily by crowds who left their homes and places of business in Canton in October, 1938, clamoring for the permits necessary for their return.

A Japanese official said it is estimated that the Chinese are being repatriated at the rate of 1,000 a week, traveling facilities being provided by the Japanese either by the weekly Japanese steamers to Canton from Hong Kong or a twice weekly service via Macao.

A survey among those applying for return revealed that the great majority are doing so solely the object of re-establishing business in Canton, preparable by the Japanese "new order." Others are trying to simply to visit the scene of their former homes.

Japanese authorities are offering every facility for the return to their home towns. The large number of applications are efficiently handled by Japanese consular officials; a free passport is given, but there is no guarantee that the Chinese will leave Canton again should they desire to do so.

It's Hitler, not Chamberlain who needs that umbrella. It's so many to "protect."

Service Loan For Stallion Approved

DALLAS, Tex.—A community service loan for the purchase of a jack and stallion by John L. Akers of Cisco has been approved by the Farm Security Administration. C. E. Evans, regional director, said today. The services of these sires will be available to a group of neighboring farmers who signed an agreement to participate.

Twenty other loans of a similar nature were made in Texas during March, Evans said. Twelve purebred sires, three tractors, a row binder, an ensilage cutter, a corn binder, a hay baler, a mow-er, a grain binder, a grain com- bine, a cotton duster, a power- driven saw, and a hammer mill were purchased by farmers in communities where such ser- vices were not already available.

While such loans are made only to those farmers who are eligible under the FSA program, the use of the facilities so provided is open to all farmers in the community who agree to participate, the regional director explained. Requests for such loans are being received by George L. Lane, rural supervisor for FSA, at his office in Eastland.

WTC of C Seeks Appropriation To Aid All of State

ABIENE, Texas — An appropriation of from $40,000 to $50,000 to save Texas an estimated $500,000,000 annually in transportation charges will be sought in the Texas Legislature within a short time.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of a freight rate equality campaign which grew into a national movement, is urging the appropriation.

The fund would be used by the Texas Railroad Commission and the Attorney General's department for the purpose of interceding before the Interstate Commerce Commission for establishment of a level of freight rates in Texas comparable with the level of rates fixed in the East and North. It is estimated that a reduction of 10 to 30 per cent in transportation costs would save the people of Texas from $18,000,000 to $500,000,000 annually.

Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe and Representative Bryan Bradbury of Abilene will offer an amendment to the departmental appropriations bill, calling for the freight rate case appropriation. Both have been leaders in the Legislature in behalf of freight rate equality, having introduced resolutions passed by the House and Senate urging the national congress to take action for removal of freight rate discrimina- tions.

"The solidarity of the South, Southwest and West shown in the freight rate question at hearings before the Interstate Commerce committee in Washington makes this move for Texas most timely," says H. S. Hilburn, Plainview, WTC president.

"The expediency and justifica- tion of such an appropriation now is overwhelmingly apparent. When considering the possible benefit that may come to the State of Texas from such an appropriation and state activity, it is my opinion that the State could make no like appropriation with so much chance of enhancing the public welfare," Hilburn declared.

Michigan Putting Asked Letters On Automobile Plates

LANSING, Mich.—Michigan's whimsical variety in its automobile license plates.

If an autoist applies in time, can get plates bearing almost any letter, number or word—his telephone number, initials, club initials or even wisecracks.

Common are such ones as BO 2 U; ELK; IOU, or IU. Many have been the complaint that the practice is too costly, money thus spent should be used for highway maintenance instead.

Recently the secretary of the Michigan's 83 counties a drafting set of letters and figures. The number of "trick" license plates, however, has shown no appreciable drop from 50,000.

All tags are made at the Michigan plant of southern Michigan two sets of colors; one for five-year plates and the other for one-year plates. State owned cars have marked licenses to prevent the use for anything but business.
