Supervisor For Girls NYA Project Arrives In Ranger

Mrs. Helen Shaw of Fort Worth and a former resident of Eastland and Callahan counties, arrived in Ranger yesterday to take over the work as supervisor of the girls dormitory of the NYA.

Mrs. Shaw received her education in Missouri and is a graduate of the Girls Boarding School at Lexington, Mo. Her major was music and home economics was her minor.

While living in Fort Worth she was an active member of the Harmony Club and did solo work in that organization.

Mrs. Shaw is very enthusiastic over the outlook for the NYA and sent a special appeal to the club women of Ranger and surrounding territory to visit the home and see for themselves the opportunities there for their cooperation in the work.

Mrs. Adele Wilson, who has been a part time supervisor with girls work of the NYA, through the adult educational program has been added to the full time staff and will have charge of the home economics work. Mrs. Wilson is a graduate of Texas State College for Women.

Trapeze Artist's Career Has Ended

J. E. McGlamery, supervisor of crippled children work in this area for the State Department of Education, almost daily runs across "human interest" stories in his activities.

In July, 1937, Jimmie Scruggs was a star trapeze performer in the world-famous Gainsville Community Circus. One night as she got up from her bed she struck an object and suffered a fractured cartilage of the knee joint.

The case was not called attention to the crippled children's division of the state department until September, 1938, McGlamery said today.

She was in a Dallas hospital in April and McGlamery has received hospitalization orders again for Miss Scruggs, now 18. It has been agreed that Miss Scruggs' trapeze career is over.

Ranger Masons In Meeting Thursday Pick New Officers

One of the largest gatherings of Ranger Masons at a stated meeting was seen last evening when the body met for the election of officers and to close out for the year which will end when the new officers are installed sometime in the latter part of this month.

Those elected for the ensuing year were R. H. West, W. M.; Odell Cole, S. W.; Marvin Brock, J. W.; R. V. Burns, Tyler; D. L. Jameson, Secretary and C. E. May, treasurer. This is the second time West has served the lodge as Master and May, Jameson and Burns, have also filled all chairs in the body.

E. T. Eubank, who has served as senior warden for the past year and who was in line for master for the body asked that his not be submitted as on account of urgent business it would be impossible for him to serve for the ensuing year should he be elected.

Installation of officers will take place sometime in the middle of June and it is hoped by officers of the lodge that grand senior warden, E. M. Wood of Anson can act as installation officers. Time will be announced later and the program worked out for this event.

Those officers who retire are C. H. Suits who has served as Master, E. T. Eubank who resigned did not seek reelection.

An Entered Apprentice degree will be conferred next Tuesday evening it was announced today. Refreshments of ice cream and cookies was served at the close of the meeting.

Move Two Cases From County Court

The 11th Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland Friday reversed and ordered transferred two cases in which J. U. Johnson of Eastland was plaintiff.

One case in the high court was styled Graham Mill and Elevator Company, appellant, vs. J. U. Johnson, appellee. As in the other case, defendant had appealed from county court of Eastland county which had ruled against transfer of the cases to other counties.

The other case was styled Bewley Mills vs. J. U. Johnson. In the Graham Mill case the court ordered the case transferred to Young County and in the other ordered it transferred to Tarrant county.

Johnson had sued defendants to recover money paid as processing taxes on flour. After the AAA act was four unconstitutional the defendants and their agents recovered the sums, he alleges. Both defendants in the trial court had sought in county court to have the cases transferred which the county court refused.

Fire Damage In A Ranger Apartment Is Declared Light

Fire, which did slight damage, was discovered between the ceiling and roof of the apartments above Mills Grocery in Ranger, Thursday evening about 7:30 o'clock, which was extinguished by the Ranger Fire Department.

The fire department received the wrong address when the alarm was turned in and went to Miller's Grocery, two blocks away from the scene of the fire, and found no evidence of fire. The trucks then rushed to Mills Grocery and put out the fire.

Firemen today said defective wiring between the ceiling and the roof caused the blaze and it was necessary to chop a hole in the ceiling in order to reach the fire with a hose from the booster tank truck.

Water damage was very light, firemen stated, as they mopped up all water that dripped through into the apartments. Most of the damage was confined to the ceiling and roof of the building, it was stated today.

O'DANIEL SIGNS LIBERALIZED PENSION BILL

AUSTIN, June 2.—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel today signed a bill liberalizing old age assistance in Texas, which will make an estimated 50,000 more persons eligible for pensions in Texas.

A statement issued with the announcement of O'Daniel's signature follows:

"It is without doubt unsound public policy to promise pension liberalization as specified in Senate bill No. 9 and then not provide the necessary money to meet the promise, but inasmuch as this bill received 130 votes in the house and 21 votes in the senate, which is sufficient to pass any kind of tax bill or constitutional amendment, the lack of my signature would indicate that I questioned the sincerity and good intention of those 151 legislators who voted for this bill.

"Therefore, in signing the bill today, I am showing my faith in those 151 legislators carrying through the raising the necessary money to meet these promises during the present session."

College Class Votes No On Jitterbugs

ST. BONAVENTURE, N. Y.—Here are a few interesting statistics gathered at a Promenade held at St. Bonaventure College.

Of the 71 members of the junior class, from which the statistics were gathered, only 11 per cent were opposed to "jitterbugging," describing the modern version of the terpsichorean art as "barbarism."

The class, nearly to a man, imported the "girl-from-back-home." Of these a vast majority were brunettes with only a few blonds and a lonely red-haired girl. For 50 per cent of the class it was their first college prom.

Maureen O'Sullivan, Olivia de Havilland and Priscilla Lane tied for the title of "favorite actress." Gary Cooper and Spencer Tracy were the male favorites.

The average age of the class was found to be 20.6 years.

Sixty per cent wore dinner jackets; the rest white ties and tails.

FOUR BRITISH SAILORS LEAVE SUNKEN SUB

LIVERPOOL, Eng., June 2.—The British Admiralty today announced temporary suspension of attempts to rescue 88 men remaining in the sunken submarine Thetis, after the stern of the 575-ton craft disappeared beneath the surface of the Irish Sea.

As the tide receded at the rescue scene, 14 miles off the coast of North Wales and the protruding stern of the Thetis failed to re-appear, fears spread that her position had shifted.

Apprehension and despair replaced earlier optimism after disclosure that signals from the men, hammered out against the side of the submarine, were growing weaker and weaker.

There were reports that some of the men were in "bad condition" due to a shortage of air.

Four of the 92 men who went out in the new submarine yesterday for a test dive, came to the surface today, using automatic Davis "lungs."

A published report from Llandudno, Wales, said the four men were suffering severely from carbon dioxide poisoning and were in bed under a doctor's care.

The admiralty's announcement indicated that the entrapped men might be in such bad condition as to be unable to help themselves to safety. The four rescued men, the admiralty said, had reported that their companions were about to use the Davis "lungs."

"It is not clear at present what prevented further escapes by this method," the announcement said.

The British Cruiser Brazen, the rescue ship Vigilante and a tug had been waiting for the stern of the Thetis to reappear to begin burning a hole in the submarine sides through which they had hoped to rescue the entrapped men.

Beryllium—Another International Mystery?

If the average American ever heard the name "beryllium" it is only as a passing vagueness in a half-forgotten high school chemistry course.

Beryllium: a hard, silver-white metal; specific gravity, 1.93; and melting at 2550 degrees F.

That's about all the help the dictionary gives, yet this metal is so important in a world girding for war that secret, E. Phillips Oppenheim-ish conferences between British, French, German and American industrialists have already parceled out its use.

The story told before the Temporary National Economic Committee is a significant one, for it shows how matters of the utmost importance to great peoples are arranged without the average citizen knowing they are going on at all.

Beryllium, a scarce metal, is used in certain alloys considered vital to munitions manufacture.

Back in 1933 one American manufacturer made a cross-licensing patent agreement with Siemens-Halske of Germany, the committee was told. The American company to have the rights in the United States, the German company in Europe.

British representatives came to the American, asserted that beryllium might be the most important metal of the next war, and demanded that this government be modified so that Britain could buy beryllium from the U. S. firm, not wishing to be dependent on Germany for it.

Just how it was done, the American never found out, but the first of this year the contract was modified to permit sales to England under certain conditions. Some sort of pressure had been put on Dr. William Rohn of Siemens, the "mystery man" of the world beryllium situation, to make him open this supply to the British.

The French didn't like dependence on the Germans for beryllium either, and in some equally mysterious way, last year, they also were able to share in the Siemens patents, receiving the rights for France, Switzerland and Belgium. So now the United States firm holds the rights for itself and Britain, France for Switzerland and Belgium, and Siemens for the rest of Europe.

It would be premature to imply that there is anything shady about these remarkable transactions.

But it is interesting to note that a powerful German company close to that government was prevailed on to grant rights of this kind to countries not in favor with that government. And to note also that for its war supply of essential beryllium, as well as other metals, Britain now depends on the United States.

Precisely what these things imply, we do not know. But it is clear that they might gravely affect all the people of the United States, and that the TNEC is well-advised to uncover the whole situation.

Lotief Believes Judge Hughes Is Governor Material

Praise for Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas and the suggestion that she would make Texas a great governor are contained in a letter written by Cecil Lotief, Eastland merchant and former floral representative, this week to a Fort Worth newspaper.

In this great state of ours, the largest in the Union, we find natural resources as well as great wealth, combined to make it the richest in the Union. I am now thinking about having a woman for governor. We have had several men for governor since this state has been organized, but we have had only one woman governor.

For this reason I wish to suggest the name of one of the most intelligent women in this nation. She is not only making a good record as a district judge, but she has had a good clean record as a member of the Texas Legislature and that good lady is huge other than Judge Sarah T. Hughes.

Mrs. Hughes is above the average in Texas politics, not only among her own sex, but among men as well. It has been my happy privilege to serve with her in the 43rd Legislature, which was the greatest Legislature in the history of Texas. She was a real leader among the members who knew what it was all about, and she always stood for the people.

I am calling our good men and women to work and organize in her behalf. If we had had such a governor as Mrs. Hughes the last few years, we wouldn't need to worry about the Legislature, because she has the nerve and courage to hold them down to the constitution, as she has done as district judge in Dallas County.

The present Legislature has sponsored more selfish legislation than any one Legislature in Texas. They even passed a law known as the Barber Law, requiring the barbers to charge 40 cents for a haircut, which is wholly unconstitutional. They have also passed a tax redemption bill for Harris County, the richest county in Texas. They gave that county taxes for a period of 10 years which a frog law, making it unlawful to catch any frog, whether male or female, less than four and three-fourths inches in length.

Ranger Conducting Church School Day To Be Observed At Methodist Church

An experiment in dust prevention is now being carried on in Ranger by C. J. Moore, city street commissioner.

A commercial dust settler, which is being used in the experiments, is being placed on Lulu street, between the end of the paving in front of the Hodges Oak Park School and Main street, where the street has been chatted.

This is one of the several dusty streets in the city in dry weather, and it is believed by the manufacturers of the chemical that it will prevent dust blowing from the street.

If the first experiment proves successful other streets in the town will be given a similar treatment, it was stated today.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The federal government's machinery for prosecuting violators of the income tax law is working smoothly and relentlessly these days. It has provided the press with some big headlines in the last few months, and will provide some bigger ones before fall.

Boss Fendergast of Kansas City goes to trial next month on an income tax charge. An indictment has been returned against Enoch "Nucky" Johnson of Atlantic City, influential political boss. On June 5 a Chicago grand jury will listen to evidence in the case of Moe Annerberg, wealthy politician-publisher. Also in Chicago, a grand jury will be given the evidence against William R. Skidmore, reputed gambling boss.

In each of these cases, the government is proceeding against a big shot. In each case, the political importance of the central figure has been unable to call off the dogs. More of these cases are coming; currently, for instance, treasury sleuths are quietly investigating tax cases relating to some of the bigwigs in Hollywood.

Against this record, as a gentle reminder that things were not always thus, there is the fact that less than a month has passed since Abe Shushan, New Orleans politician and one-time intimate of the late Huey Long, finally closed the income tax case against himself by paying the Treasury $62,465.

The Shushan case is a good highlight for the present situation—because it is so different.

Eleven prominent New Orleans politicians were indicted on income tax charges. The Long machine and the Roosevelt administration were at odds at the time. One of the eleven, a minor figure, was tried and convicted. Shushan was tried and acquitted. A third case was collected—Numerous delays and postponements intervened; before the trial was the Justice Department not proceeding with the case—and the fact that was reported to have been made between Long's political heirs at the New Deal-led administration—critics to complain that the might have been some connection between the peace settlement and the no! proes.

Now the thing to remember here all of these income tax cases that they are not finished by the agency that starts them.

The Internal Revenue Bureau the Treasury Department stands these cases. It is made up largely of career men, who have no particular political ties and ahead without regard for the political implications. Just incidentally, it might be noted that whereas the Louisiana cases were commonly supposed to be a method of reprisal against Long by the Roosevelt administration, the case against Shushan was started in 1932—before Roosevelt even took office.

All of which leads up to the mark that, since about the first of the year, the Justice Department has had a new boss—Attorney General Frank Murphy.

Mr. Murphy is rapidly winning a reputation here as a clean-cut, a law enforcement officer, who strikes without fear or favor. A common remark is that the administration is designedly building him up in this character as an offset to the Republicans' feverish and - and - favorless prosecution of Thomas E. Dewey. But however that may be, the fact remains that they are working in a different atmosphere. Rightly or wrongly, they feel that if they hand a good case it will be prosecuted to the hilt.

DATE WITH DANGER

BY HELEN WORDEN

Yesterday, Clem Shirley went out with the Duke after drinking. Duke is in smoking Janice French's cigarettes.

With the waiter scurrying on his business, Martin again put his question to Mary.

CHAPTER XIX DUKE MARTIN was again called to his telephone by a feminine voice, but the tones of this one had a sharp edge and its owner wasn't asking for a date, she was demanding an interview.

"I didn't come here to waste my time making love promises."

Mary's words spoken over her apartment telephone were equally cold. "No, Duke, we'll meet on neutral ground and it won't be at your apartment or the Dove. Make it Peter's at one for lunch."

"I've always thought it would make a damned good yarn provided it ended the right way. There was a clever young gal on a paper in a city not far from here who didn't always recognize trouble when she saw it."

CHAPTER XX THAT night Clem Shirley was standing at the bar of the Dove with Jack Burden when Duke Martin walked in.

"I've warned you. For your health's sake you'd better stay out of my business and out of the Dove."

CHAPTER XXI "A prig because I object to your going with Martin when you know he's a crook."

"I've warned you. For your health's sake you'd better stay out of my business and out of the Dove."

CHAPTER XXII "I don't want you policing me. I don't want you to own me."

"I've warned you. For your health's sake you'd better stay out of my business and out of the Dove."

CHAPTER XXIII "I don't want you policing me. I don't want you to own me."

"I've warned you. For your health's sake you'd better stay out of my business and out of the Dove."

Pride Mustache Is Not Even Missed By Man's Own Wife

AUSTIN, Texas—James E. Taylor, popular "freshman" representative from Kerens, ran into trouble with his mustache-growing. The husky, handsome Taylor came to the Legislature with a neat mustache, which he claimed was well-known to voters throughout the Corsicana district.

A group of fun-loving friends (Taylor says there were twelve of them) decided one night that the Kerens newspaperman ought to have his mustache removed. So they held him down and shaved the whiskers off. Taylor was dubious about the result of the prank. His weekly newspaper column carries a photograph of the author—with a mustache.

Taylor was afraid that his wife and young daughter would not recognize him, but he went home for a visit neither of them noticed immediately that the mustache was gone.

Mrs. Evis Landers will leave Sunday for Austin, where she will enter the University for a summer course.

Mrs. W. S. Barnett who was employed recently by Montgomery Ward and Company, has been placed in charge of the fashion department.

Mrs. Phil Shipp and daughters, Jeannette and Phyllis, of Gladewater, and Mrs. W. R. Bearden and daughter of Longview will be the guests this week-end of Mrs. Theresa Bearden.

KOOL-AID ADVERTISING DRIVE IN FULL SWING

CHICAGO, Ill.—In a smashing advertising campaign Kool-Aid again asserts its right to the dominant position it holds as the undisputed leader in sales. This year, Kool-Aid continues to adhere to the basic policy which retailers have found so helpful. Through a constant repetition of hot weather reminder ads in thousands of newspapers, Kool-Aid has firmly entrenched itself as the accepted brand.

Today, Kool-Aid sales promotion has become so widespread in application that no class of consumer can possibly fail to learn the Kool-Aid story. Market investigations have proved that each year it becomes more difficult to move unknown and uncertain brands in profitable volume. Year after year steady Kool-Aid promotion has cultivated a degree of acceptance which now amounts to insistent demand for this original product.
