ROOSEVELT STARTS NEW BOOM FOR THIRD TERM

By United Press
WASHINGTON, June 6.—A campaign to reelect President Roosevelt in 1940 began today as cabinet members and advisers immediately in an announcement by Sen. Rush Holt, Democrat, West Virginia, that he would ask the senate at this session to formally oppose a third term for Roosevelt.

Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes opened the draft-Roosevelt campaign with the statement: "I want Roosevelt for a third term." The announcement, written for the week's issue of a magazine, is within 48 hours of the re-election of Vice President John N. Garner would seek the 1940 democratic presidential nomination, regardless of Mr. Roosevelt's wishes.

Ickes charged that anti-Roosevelt democrats were stabbing the president in the back. Without naming Garner he ridiculed his candidacy as that of "one whose strength is that of knowing nothing and saying nothing and doing nothing."

Ickes said that his resolution of the Senate would be a simple proposal that would express its sentiment in three terms. He has completed offering it for some time and told the United Press that it would go in this session.

Holt and the new deal have a long odds for a long time.

Ranger Armory Is Given High Praise By Two Inspectors

P. Caporal and Ned Haney, have been inspecting National Guard armories for the army several years, completed an inspection of the armory in Ranger today. At the conclusion of the inspection they pronounced it one of the best in the state.

Caporal stated that he found the condition of the armory very satisfactory, with indications of a degree of efficiency in the care of the equipment. He commended Capt. J. E. Fletcher and Lt. Michel Angus credit for the good condition of the armory equipment, and had high praise for the members of the company.

Ranger should feel proud of a company, and such an armory. Caporal stated Monday afternoon, after completing the inspection, which took most of the day. "I have been inspecting armories in Texas for several years and it is seldom that such a degree of efficiency is noted without an inspection."

Two inspectors from Ranger to Mineral Wells and from Mineral Wells to Stephenville for an inspection.

This is the second inspection of Ranger unit that has drawn national attention, as a company inspection by high-ranking army national guard officers, held today, drew the same kind of praise for the efficiency of the company.

The Ranger unit has ranked first in the Texas National Guard since it was established in 1928.

D. JOSEPH ASSUMES OWNERSHIP OF HOTEL GHOLSON IN RANGER

D. Joseph of Ranger today assumed ownership of the Gholson Hotel, which has been purchased from National Hotels of Galveston, the purchase having been approved and active ownership assumed by Joseph as of midnight, Monday, June 5.

Negotiations for the purchase were started about three weeks ago, but some time was consumed in preparing papers for the transfer of the property.

In purchasing the hotel Joseph manifests a keen belief in the future of Ranger as he already has large interests in the city, including the largest department store between Fort Worth and Abilene.

He stated this morning that Elton Jennings had been named manager of the hotel, to assume his duties immediately, and that the coffee shop had been leased to Tony Toti, who had been chef of the cafe for some time. Toti took over active management of the coffee shop this morning.

Joseph stated that he would start remodeling the hotel as soon as possible, though the work would be done in small installments, as he planned the improvements. He stated that both the rooms for transients and apartments for regular residents of the hotel would be remodelled as fast as he could get to them.

R. W. Rowland, who has been manager of the hotel for the past year, will report to the Galveston office of the corporation which formerly owned the hotel, he stated today, though he was not certain whether he would be assigned to duty in the office or given management of another hotel.

CUBA AGAIN REFUSES JEWS RIGHT TO LAND

HAVANA, Cuba, June 6.—The Cuban government announced today that the more than 900 Jewish refugees aboard the German liner St. Louis, will not be permitted to land anywhere in Cuban territory.

The announcement followed a conference at noon today between representatives of President Laredo Bru and relief committee.

The announcement was a surprise, since yesterday it had been indicated that the government would allow the refugees to land on the Isle of Pines temporarily, on the guarantee that they would not become public charges and would seek entry elsewhere later on.

The offer was good until noon today. Lawrence Berenson of the National Coordinating Committee, spent the morning conferring at the presidential palace, presumably to complete arrangements for accepting the offer. Then came the announcement the time limit had expired and the refugees would not be allowed to disembark.

No Nylon hose have been sold yet, although employees and wives of duPont executives have been wearing them.

PILOT, OFF TO MARS, FALLS IN THE ATLANTIC

BOSTON, Mass., June 6.—Cheston Eshelman of Carlisle, Pa., a student pilot who said his destination was "Mars" fell into the North Atlantic today and was rescued by fishermen just before his tiny land plane sank.

An exclusive radio dispatch to the United Press from the rescue ship, the Boston Trawler Villanova, identified the pilot as Eshelman.

Eshelman, who had only eight hours solo flying time to his credit, took off early last night from Central Airport in Camden, N. J., with only enough gasoline for an hour and a half of flying. Nothing more was heard from him.

However, the dispatch from the Villanova quoted Eshelman as saying that he had taken off from Pitsa Airport, near Philadelphia. This indicated that he had landed secretly last night after leaving Camden, had refueled and had taken off again.

Crew members of the Villanova quoted Eshelman as saying that he had flown blind all night. Asked his destination he said only, "My destination was Mars, but I reached the salty brine first."

BIG WELCOME DUE ROYALTY ON WEEK-END

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The capital's biggest and best welcome is being prepared today for King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, who arrive this week for a history making visit.

Their majesties will cross the border from Canada at Niagara Falls on the evening of June 7. They will spend the following two days in Washington, the third seeing New York City and the World's Fair, and wind it all up next Sunday with church and a Roosevelt hot dog picnic at Hyde Park.

The two days here are to be overlaid with the veneer of Washington's most glamorous social splurge. But the substance of the occasion is political—a bid by a great empire for closer friendship with a great republic.

The king's elder brother, briefly a king himself, was a notable "salesman of empire" from the end of the war until his father's death. He crossed the thresholds of the world as the Prince of Wales.

But this visit is different. The king, himself, and his queen have come to the western hemisphere and diplomats uniformly assign to their unprecedented journey two motives of tremendous potentialities in international politics.

The first is an unmatched bid by Great Britain for sustained and enthusiastic military and economic support of Canada. The second is to strengthen ties between Great Britain and the United States in a world where democratic principles of government are distinctly on the defensive.

American officialdom is nervous. There is the great but brief responsibility for protecting the royal couple and the delicate task of judging popular reaction to the visitors—determining whether Anglo-American ties are stronger or weaker when the guests have gone.

President Roosevelt is accused by some of those who disagree with his international policies of seeking to align the United States with Great Britain, France, and, possibly, Soviet Russia, in at least an economic challenge to the world's dictatorship. Secretary of State Cordell Hull's neutrality proposals are denounced by some senate isolationists as substantially a step toward economic support of Great Britain against Germany and Italy in event of war.

That is one of the main issues of domestic politics today. Their majesties' presence here may have much or little bearing on that question—which remains to be seen. The British government generally is believed to hope that their journey will diminish American suspicion and mistrust of Great Britain.

Great Britain and the United States hit head on at the 1927 naval conference sponsored by the British administration. The British in 1931 refused to go along with Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson in attempting to curb Japan's invasion of Manchuria. British default of her war debt rankles in the United States and one week from the day King George comes here his government will default a payment due of $85,670,765.

All these are adverse and fundamental factors in Anglo-American relations. Only since the rise of the belligerent dictator states have those relations improved so that it could be stated officially at the state department that American and British foreign policy in some major respects had become "parallel."

Their majesties' visit here and in New York may bring those parallel lines of policy even closer together.

Pension Checks To Be Mailed In June

AUSTIN, June 6.—The Texas Old Age Assistance Commission was preparing today to mail out June pension checks, averaging approximately $14 each, to 115,000 recipients, about the middle of the month.

The list was certified to the federal social security board on June 1, before the signature of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel made into a law a liberalized pension plan, estimated to add 60,000 to 80,000 persons to the rolls. Director W. A. Little said that he had been notified that federal matching funds for June would be received as usual.

That German Lard Deal Comes Up Again

The prospect of some sort of a German deal for American lard, of which there is a surplus, keeps coming up. Probably some means will be found to carry this through eventually, for despite nationalistic feeling, despite tariffs, despite exchange difficulties, it is "natural." Germany desperately needs lard and all kinds of fats. Large stocks of lard are hanging over the American market, depressing the price to the detriment of the farmer and packer. Eventually some way will be found to do something about it.

Last February it was widely rumored, so strongly as to cause price dislocations in the Chicago lard markets, that American co-operative associations were working on such a deal, perhaps preparing to take fence wire or other farm supplies in return on a barter basis. This was soon derided by the central organizations of the U. S. co-operators.

This time it is supposed to be large packers, operating under auspices of the Institute of American Meat Packers, who are taking the lead. The only question seems to be: what can Germany supply in exchange for the lard which will not be highly competitive with products of American industry?

Harmonicas and Tyrolean hats would not seem to offer much scope for a trading basis.

Acceptance of Aski marks seems out of the question, for the United States has officially vetoed any traffic in this "trick" trading medium which has brought so much grief to other American countries which have been forced to accept them.

Every large-scale deal proposed with Germany meets vocal opposition from groups who see nothing wrong in leftist Mexico selling oil to Germany, or in Communist Russia being Germany's best customer. Such people are quite willing to see left-wing countries regard German trade as a business matter, while insisting that the United States regard it as an ideological or sentimental matter. There doesn't seem to be much sense in that.

The whole essence of any such deal with Germany is a matter of smart trading. Certainly it is silly to sit here holding greedily to great surpluses of lard, wheat, and cotton which we do not have wit enough to distribute to our own people, and yet to veto on sentimental ground any plan to send it to countries which badly need it.

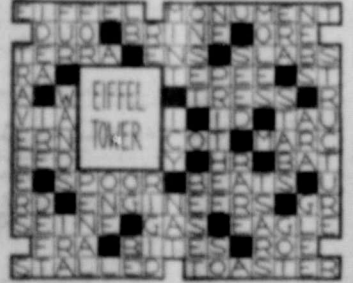

The great thing is: what do we take in exchange? Certainly there is no point in exporting surplus lard to help the farmers and packers if goods are taken in exchange which means less work for American artisans. If we can arrange to swap this lard for raw materials or goods either not produced in the United States, or not produced in sufficient quantity, then it would seem a good place to let the natural forces of trade function.

Peace and goodwill certainly lie along the highroad toward wider and more normal trade relations, not along the by-path winding between narrow nationalisms and artificial barriers.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS

Texans Are Headed For Quiet Living State Officer Says

AUSTIN, Tex.—That Texas is headed for an era of quieter, more mature living, is the prediction of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The basis of this prediction is the declining birth rate and the increasing life span of the average Texan. While the population may continue to increase until 1955, as Government census experts predict, the percentage of youth is decreasing. By 1975 today's total American population over 65 years will have tripled their number from seven and a half million to twenty-two and a half million. Two reasons for this change in the age ratio are smaller families and stricter immigration laws.

Third and most important reason is the longer average life expectancy due to increasingly wide spread use of medical and public health knowledge, which reduces mortality, particularly in childhood and allows the average person to live a longer span of life. For instance, a baby born in 1759 lived on the average until he was 35 years old. A baby born in 1900 had a life expectancy of 48 years. A baby born in 1935 could normally expect to be 61 years old. Repressions to this change in our population from youth to middle age will be gradual. Both young and old will do less productive labor, while the middle aged do more. Fewer schools will be needed. Golf and other mild games will gain favor. Travel will be more popular as more people will have leisure. The jitterbug era of dancing will fade. The population will tend to decentralize as older people move to quiet suburbs or the country.

Maybe It's a Jam Session

In the long run, America and Texas will undoubtedly benefit in the advent of experience and seasoned judgments in government and business. When our population becomes more or less static, our scale of living will automatically rise, and the science of medicine and public health will have much to do with this change toward a longer and better life for more and more people.

Treasure Chest Mystery... Buried treasure, hidden nearly a century and a half, may some day be located in a marine barracks in Washington, D. TULARE, Cal.—Eddie, the battling housefinch, is considered a world's champion of some sort in these parts as the result of his 14-day fight against his own reflection in the window of a Tulare newspaper office.

Every day for two weeks Eddie hopped up to the window and pecked away at the "other bird."

On the 14th day the "other bird" didn't show up. Perhaps Eddie took credit for frightening his adversary away, but really a generous coating of soap on the glass did away with the reflection.

To Correct Constipation Don't Get It!

Why let yourself in for all the discomfort of constipation—and then have to take an emergency medicine—if you can avoid both by getting at the cause of the trouble?

If your difficulty, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, the "better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy toasted cereal—a natural food, not a medicine—has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it every day, it will help you not only get regular but to keep regular, month after month, by the pleasant means you ever knew!

Eat All-Bran daily, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

BECAUSE LIFE DEPENDS ON TIRE SAFETY— They Choose Firestone CHAMPION TIRES

FIRESTONE WINS 20th Consecutive Victory In Indianapolis 500-Mile Race

A merciless sun beat down upon the speedway as Wilbur Shaw drove to victory on Firestone Champion Tires. The blistering brick of the main stretch and the granite-hard surface of the turns and the back stretch put tire safety to the test supreme! Record after record was shattered. Speeds reached as high as 160 miles an hour on the straightaways, as 33 of the fastest drivers in the world waged a breathtaking battle for gold and glory.

Never before in all the history of the motor car have tires been put to such a torturous test. And never before has any tire so firmly established itself as a Champion in construction and performance, as well as in name. Here is dramatic proof of the extra strength which the revolutionary new Safety-Lock cord body provides in Firestone Champion Tires—of the extra protection against blowouts assured by the new and advanced Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process—of the extra mileage resulting from the tougher, wear-resisting rubber compounds in the sensational new Gear-Grip tread.

No longer can there be any question as to which tire is safest. One tire—and only one—provides these exclusive safety construction features. One tire—and only one—has been on the winning cars at Indianapolis for 20 consecutive years. Motor car manufacturers enthusiastically adopted the Firestone Champion Tire for their 1939 models. Order your new car equipped with this amazing tire. Or drive in and let us equip your present car with a set of new Firestone Champion Tires, the one tire—and only one—that is safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

WILBUR SHAW, the 1939 winner

On May 16th, Wilbur Shaw drove to his second victory in the 500-mile Indianapolis Race on Firestone Champion Tires at an average speed of 115.03 miles an hour. Champion race drivers, whose very lives and chances of victory depend on tire safety, know tire construction. That is why they select and buy Firestone Tires for their racing cars.
