ORDER PATROL OUTLINES DAYS OF 6-GUN MEN

JAMES ANDERSON, Press Staff Correspondent, Tucson, Ariz.—The hard-riding, straight-shooting cowboy who has been a U. S. Border patrolman since 1920s has gradually been replaced by the scientific criminologist of today.

In 1923, when the border patrol was first organized, the present form was established, officials published advertisements in the "Help Wanted" columns of border town newspapers.

—experienced cowboys to join the U. S. Border patrol duty along the Mexican border.

—group of cowhands who were attempting to cross the border in great numbers, and who were being arrested by the patrolmen in the old days.

—knew, but how well they could handle a horse, or a campfire and pick up the footprints of men and horses along the border.

—applicant, if he desired to join, had to be fast on his feet, and able to fire a rifle in a split second, Mathews said.

—applicants take a civil service examination at El Paso, and if they pass, they receive a certificate and are assigned to a school in El Paso for six weeks.

—the applicants are given courses in finger-printing, map reading, and repair of a short rifle, Morse code, and how to read a fingerprint classification.

—1930, attempts to enter the United States illegally had decreased, and, as a result, the State's large natural gas production, numerous allied industries have been created which furnish employment to thousands of Texas people.

—Since 1927, the production of natural gas in Texas has increased from 17 per cent to 36 per cent of the entire output of natural gas in the United States.

—The Retail Merchants Association of Texas has awarded a certificate of efficiency for the years 1933-1944 to H. J. Tanner of the Eastland K. M. A. for having successfully completed a prescribed course of study and having established all other requirements established by the Texas Credit Bureau, Inc.

—EL PASO, July 12.—Douglas (Wrong Way) Corrigan fixed an ailing airplane at the airport today, then resumed a straight course for San Antonio and matrimony.

—Confessing that he "kiada" dreamed the big church wedding, which will make Miss Elizabeth Marvin of San Antonio his wife next Tuesday, Corrigan said he otherwise was ready.

—SPOKANE, Wash.—Lush vegetables now are grown along Haugman's creek, which got its name in the 1850's during the Indian wars in Washington when U. S. army officers hanged several tribesmen at its banks.

Says Goebbels DID Get Beating

Supporting last December's rumors from Germany, Gita Alpar, Hungarian film star shown with her ex-husband, actor Gustav Froelich, did attack, best Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels. But, she says, assault occurred at least year earlier than that, and December attack must have been waged by Froelich's friends.

—DALLAS, Tex.—Texas furnished last year over 36 per cent of all the natural gas produced and marketed in the United States, according to a report recently completed by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

—The development of natural gas resources in Texas has closely followed that of oil development. The Panhandle gas field is the largest natural gas reservoir in the world, from which natural gas is piped to a large number of consuming states.

—Texas is not only the largest producer of natural gas but also the heaviest consumer, even though large volumes of gas are transported out of the state by pipe lines.

—Interstate movement of natural gas involves large receipts from surrounding states to offset heavy shipments of the State. Nearly 70 per cent of all the marketed natural gas production in Texas is consumed within the State for industrial and domestic purposes.

—As a result of the State's large natural gas production, numerous allied industries have been created which furnish employment to thousands of Texas people.

—Since 1927, the production of natural gas in Texas has increased from 17 per cent to 36 per cent of the entire output of natural gas in the United States.

—The Retail Merchants Association of Texas has awarded a certificate of efficiency for the years 1933-1944 to H. J. Tanner of the Eastland K. M. A. for having successfully completed a prescribed course of study and having established all other requirements established by the Texas Credit Bureau, Inc.

HEAVY RAINS BRING THREATS OF NEW FLOODS

HOUSTON, July 12.—Heavy rainfall, varying from showers to downpours totaling as much as 14.90 inches soaked South and Southeast Texas today. Continued rain was predicted.

—The Houston weather bureau reported the heaviest rainfall in Fort Bend County, with 14.90 inches at Both and 11.55 inches at Richmond.

—The State Highway Department said that underpasses remained open and no roads had been closed by the three-days of steady precipitation.

—Jack Rafferty, Harris County drainage engineer, made a survey in the watershed draining toward Houston and reported that "very serious trouble" would result here from continued heavy rainfall.

FOX FAMILY REUNION TO BE AUGUST 4

Descendants and relatives of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Hile Fox will meet Friday, August 4, at the W. U. Fox home between Ranger and Eastland for their annual reunion.

—The re-union is one of the oldest in this section. The practice of having re-unions of the Fox family began before the World War. Since it began, only two re-unions, during the war, were missed.

—It is estimated that from 200 to 300 will attend this year's meeting from various sections of Texas and Oklahoma. The meeting will be on reunion grounds of the Fox home.

—According to members of the family, a full day's program, to include games, readings, songs and barbecue dinner, will be held. The late Mr. and Mrs. J. Hile Fox came to this section before Eastland County was organized.

—All descendants and their relatives have been urged to attend. The meeting is held each year on the first Friday of August.

BATON ROUGE, La., July 12.—Dr. James Monroe Smith, former president of Louisiana State University, went before the State Baton Rouge Parish grand jury to tell of market speculations that brought his resignation as president of the university.

—For 20 minutes Smith appeared before the jury which indicted him on charges of embezzling $100,000.

—Smith returned from Canada July 4 with the terse announcement he would "not be the goat" of the LSU scandals.

—Green disclaimed A. F. of L. responsibility for the strikes of 77-827 Works Progress Administration employees and the "sympathy" strike of some A. F. of L. members.

—Officials of the Masonic Lodge at Eastland have announced a regular meeting will be held on Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the Masonic temple.

Screen Test—For Drunken Driving

NEW YORK, July 12.—A man and a woman were suspended 100 feet above the earth in a mechanical parachute at the World Fair for more than five hours before they were safely lowered to the ground today.

—They suffered slightly from shock, and although they did not enjoy the experience, they attracted and amused a crowd of 10,000 persons.

—J. Cornelius Rathborne, well-known polo player and his wife, visited the fair with friends. After dinner they drifted to the amusement area and to the 200-foot parachute tower. They decided to make the "jump."

—One of the four cables attached to the parachute slipped off its pulley and the Rathbornes were stuck, 100 feet in the air. For five hours steeple jacks climbed up and down the tower, firemen raised and lowered ladders and spread ladders until the cables were released and they were gently lowered.

—Mrs. Rathborne's frequent caustic comments drifted down and amused the crowd.

Two Escape From Stuck Parachute After Five Hours

NEW YORK, July 12.—A man and a woman were suspended 100 feet above the earth in a mechanical parachute at the World Fair for more than five hours before they were safely lowered to the ground today.

A. F. of L. Is Pledged To Back WPA Strike

WASHINGTON, July 12.—President William Green today pledged support of the American Federation of Labor's 4,000,000 members for restoration of prevailing wage rates for skilled WPA workers.

—Green disclaimed A. F. of L. responsibility for the strikes of 77-827 Works Progress Administration employees and the "sympathy" strike of some A. F. of L. members.

—Officials of the Masonic Lodge at Eastland have announced a regular meeting will be held on Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the Masonic temple.

—The dentist made her a plate which he now remodels at intervals to fit changes in her mouth.

OIL MAN MAY LOSE YACHT BY VIOLATING LAW

GALVESTON, July 12.—Erle P. Halliburton, millionaire oil and cement man, was fined $13,000 today for sailing his $1,600,000 yacht Vida into Mexican waters without proper clearance papers.

—Federal authorities said that forfeiture of the palatial vessel was mandatory under the charge, but that the secretary of commerce could mitigate the penalties.

—Collector of customs C. D. Pabst assessed the penalties after a hearing here and in Houston yesterday. He detained the 234-foot yacht under a formal order of seizure. The offenses grew out of use of the yacht to entertain 43 oil executives during the recent oil world exposition in Houston.

—Customs agents charged that it sailed in foreign waters and failed to report at three ports to obtain proper clearance papers.

Merchants Warned To Get Orders On Purchases by City

The Ranger City Commission, in regular session Tuesday night, discussed at length the issuance of orders for all local purchases, charged to the City of Ranger, and again warned all merchants to charge nothing to the city unless orders were obtained, signed by a member of the commission or the city secretary.

—This warning was issued because of trouble in assigning the bills to the proper departments and funds of the city.

—It was decided at the meeting that any bill presented to the city for merchandise purchased, and for which there were no purchase orders for all items, would be returned to the merchant unpaid.

Chamberlain Will Not Outline Where Aggression Starts

LONDON, July 12.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain refused, in the house of commons today, to draw a line at which Britain would consider aggression had been committed in Danzig.

—Geoffrey Mander, liberal, asked whether the government would make clear that the importation of artillery into Danzig by the Germans would be considered by Britain, France and Poland, to be an act of aggression.

—Chamberlain said he had nothing to add to his full statement on Danzig, made on Monday.

British Warships Launched Weekly

LONDON.—Warships for the British navy are being launched at shipyards at an average of more than one a week.

—This month the big new aircraft-carrier Victorious, and the cruisers Hermione, Fiji, Kenya, Nigeria and some other small craft will be put into the water.

—During the year, 60 ships of all sizes, with a total tonnage of 246,200 will be launched. Gun factories are delivering 60 anti-aircraft guns a month for the equipment of the new ships.

Hollywood Hunts For Them

Mysterious Disappearance of 10-year old Penny Standish, top, and 12-year old brother, Schayler, lower, from Hollywood home started intensive search by police.

Both are movie child actors.

Poet Laureate On Tour to Appear at Several Programs

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 12.—Lexie Dean Robertson, poet laureate of Texas, accompanied by her secretary, Mrs. H. C. Gracey, Rising Star, left by automobile Monday on a personal appearance trip that will take her over the greater part of the western and northwestern parts of the United States and into British Columbia.

—The trip will serve as a vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Robertson and Mr. and Mrs. Gracey.

—Most of the programs are to be given for colleges.

—The first program is to be at the University of New Mexico, Wednesday night.

—Other dates include: July 18, Harwood Auditorium, Taos, N.M.; July 20, New Mexico State Normal University, Las Vegas; July 24, Western State College, Gunnison, Colo.; Aug. 8, Poetry Society, Pullman, Wash.

—Other engagements, with dates yet to be arranged, are: Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah; Spokane, Berkeley and San Francisco, Calif.; Flagstaff, Ariz.; and the University of British Columbia at Vancouver.

Revival Is Still Drawing Crowds

The revival, now being conducted at the First Baptist Church of Ranger, continues to draw large crowds nightly, with much interest being shown in each service.

—Tonight the pastor, Rev. Chas. T. Tally, Jr., will preach on the subject, "I'm for America Going Red."

Roosevelt and McNutt In Accord

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The political mystery which agitated the capital for 48 hours, cleared today to reveal President Roosevelt and Paul V. McNutt of Indiana in substantial accord on political developments relating to the 1940 democratic presidential nomination.

—The public is cordially invited to attend.

MINER KILLED IN LABOR WAR IN KENTUCKY

HARLAN, Ky., July 12.—One miner was killed, five persons were wounded by gunfire, and a number of others clubbed by National Guardsmen in two riots between union and non-union miners and guardsmen in "Bloody Harlan County" today.

—The first fight began in Stanfill at the Mannan Ellison Company mine. Guardsmen and pickets exchanged shots and Doc Caldwell, 31, was fatally wounded.

—Capt. J. L. Hansberry of the Kentucky National Guard, was shot through the chest. One other guardsman was slugged. Four pickets were wounded by rifle fire.

—After guardsmen got the situation under control at Stanfill they arrested approximately 100 pickets and marched them to Harlan.

Village Again To Open Homes For Inspection Tour

WISCASSET, Me.—The annual wave of civic enterprise which envelops this picturesque little village every summer has struck again and next month, for the 12th consecutive year, Wiscasset will give another practical demonstration of the benefits of community cooperation.

—On Aug. 16 "Open House" day will be staged. While visitors wander through stately old colonial homes and join in other festivities, the village fathers will delight in the more material fruits of the occasion. For the day's returns will insure the continuance for another year of such hard-to-budget community expenses as mowing the lawn on the village green's famous arbutus tree, and maintenance of the public library.

—Cooperation which reaches into virtually every one of the village's few hundred families is the key to the day's success. While there are no formal committees and no one will take the specific responsibility of acting as chairman of this group or that, each citizen gravitates knowingly and willingly to his task and the whole job is accomplished with commendable efficiency and absence of the usual overlapping details.

—The big job, apart from the house-holders' individual tasks of getting their homes ready for "company," is the preparation of the community luncheon which is a highlight of the day. The village doctor's wife who supervises all food and seating arrangements and other details incident to the luncheon is hard at work but, as usual, she resolutely refuses to take a committee post. "We'll just get it done," she says.

—A retired clergyman arranges for state police to supervise the one-day traffic jam, an unusual sight even in this community which has grown accustomed through the years of "trippers" from everywhere. A resident artist makes a wood engraving for the poster, and all hands are busy on other details, including the printing and selling of tickets, carpentry, "kitchen police" and flower arrangements.

—The village truckman will put in a few busy days of work but—and he's a hard Yankee business-man—his bill never appears. The truckman, in fact, typifies the attitude of all, even the hardworking housewives who cheerfully contribute to the pool the fruits of their labors in the kitchens—tempting New England cookery.

—Wiscasset, pitched on a verdant slope that drops down to the Sheepscott River, some 50 miles northeast of Portland, is dotted with late 18th and early 19th century colonial homes, many of them Maine landmarks. Opening them to the public each year has brought to the village a certain amount of fame.

—But in the eyes of many, the communal spirit which makes Wiscasset's "big day" a success is the greatest feature.

COCKTAIL "HAIR-RAISING"

BOSTON.—A new kind of cocktail, both anti-septic and hair-raising, was revealed with the assignment of two men before a U. S. commissioner on charges of possessing tax-unpaid liquor. Reportedly sold at 15 cents a bottle, the cocktail was composed of hair tonic, bay rum and water, investigators said.

Warner Baxter Brings Cisco Kid Back To The Screen

Amigos! Senoritas!
The gayest, most gallant gun-fighter of them all is back!
Warner Baxter again dons the sombrero and silver-mounted guns of his most famous character in the 20th Century-Fox production, "The Return of the Cisco Kid," which opens today at the Arcadia Theatre.

O. Henry's lovable outlaw, who inspired the greatest legends of the colorful West, meets his most thrilling senoritas—and he rides back over the border in his most exciting and most romantic film.

But while a hundred possees hunt the bullet-proof bandit whom no jail can hold, and thousand senoritas sigh for him, Cisco yearns for the one girl he can't have.

Production Chief Darryl F. Zanuck gave lovely Lynn Bari her most important role to date as the beauty for whose love the romantic bandit robbed banks, burned down jails—and generally risked his neck.

Dashing Cesar Romero presents a picture that is a far cry from his usual suave characterizations, as Lopez, the Cisco Kid's faithful but bloodthirsty henchman, while Henry Hull, who lately scored as the trashable newspaper editor in "Jezebel," is seen as Miss Bari's sly but lovable old granddad. Kane Richmond is also featured as Cisco's successful rival for Miss Bari's heart, while others prominently cast are C. Henry Gordon and Robert Barrat.

McNutt Begins Bid for Return Visit

At White House door, where he'd like to finish his drive, Indiana's Paul V. McNutt flashes "go ahead" signal on personal campaign for 1940 Democratic presidential nomination. After "delightful" visit with President Roosevelt, McNutt said he would soon resign as high commissioner to Philippines, declined to say whether Roosevelt had encouraged his bid for presidency.

"Did you meet any congressmen?" the prosecutor asked a witness at the Buckner "beauty lobby" trial. "I don't think so," the brunet replied. If you'd met them, you'd have known it, Miss

Legion Convention At Waco Aug. 26 to Draw Delegates

WACO, Tex.—It has been conservatively estimated that 1,000 members of that branch organization will come to Waco when Legion members hold their state convention here Aug. 26-29. They will arrive on Saturday, opening day of the convention, and remain through Tuesday, the closing date.

During their stay here the sons of the Legion will be camped, army fashion, on the Cotton Palace grounds. Tents for housing the various squadrons will be furnished by the national guard here.

Col. W. C. Torrence, Waco's city manager, will be in charge of the encampment. The registration fee, to cover housing, care, meals and entertainment for the Sons of Legion corps will be $2 for each member. Any further information needed may be obtained by writing Col. Torrence at Waco's municipal building.

An expert dietitian to see after the feeding of the youths and a nurse to care for those who need medical or first aid attention will be on the grounds throughout the convention, it was assured by the convention city corporation here.

Prizes will be awarded to winners of athletic contests and other contests to be held for the Sons of Legion during their stay here. Various other forms of entertainment, including band concerts and participation in the Legion convention parade, are being planned, it was understood.

Power Consumption Increases In May
By United Press
AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas electric power consumption during May jumped 6.2 per cent above April and 9.1 per cent more than in May last year, The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported here today.

Commercial consumption climbed 7.3 per cent over April and 11.3 per cent over May, 1933; industrial consumption 7.5 per cent and 10.6 per cent respectively, while residential consumption declined 0.1 per cent from April but gained 8.6 per cent over May, 1933.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile does not flow freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. One block up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes three good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harshness, gas, flatulence, bloating in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Absolutely reliable and safe.

NYA Wood Shop In Ranger Is Building New Furniture Now

The National Youth Administration wood shop at Ranger, of which W. J. Barr is supervisor, is now turning out a large order of mahogany furniture, part of which will be placed in municipal and school offices in Ranger and Eastland, and the remainder to be used at an NYA resident project.

The furniture, all of which is being built of Philippine mahogany, is now being assembled, and will be ready for delivery from time to time within the next 30 days.

Included in the furniture being made are five typewriter desks for the City of Eastland, four office desks and two typewriter desks for the City of Ranger, a filing cabinet for the tax department of the Ranger School system, several typewriter desks for the Ranger schools, three dining room sets for the NYA resident project for girls in Ranger, including tables, 30 chairs, buffets, and serving tables.

The furniture is all being made from the Philippine mahogany, which was secured in long lengths in the rough. It has been run through the planer, processed and much of it is now being formed into desks, chairs, tables and other items ordered by the agencies to which they will go when completed.

In addition to the articles listed above the shop has recently turned out a solid mahogany kitchen cabinet for Trav Lewis, field supervisor for the National Youth Administration in this district, yard furniture for the NYA girls resident project and a book case for the Ranger Chamber of Commerce.

State Fair Plans Huge Farm Show Of Chemurgy Plan

DALLAS, Texas.—Another gigantic portrayal of Texas Agriculture will be presented during the 51st annual State Fair of Texas, October 7th to 22nd. Featured in this agricultural picture of Texas will be chemurgy—this new road to cash crops on Texas farms.

Counties showing credible exhibits will again be awarded $125 and there will be no competition between such exhibits. This innovation in the Agriculture Show at the State Fair started in 1938, enabled counties to show these things which brought funds into the farmers hands, or enabled the county to show their main resources to better advantage.

Competition will take its place in individual exhibits, in 4-H Club and Future Farmer exhibits.

The main feature of this program will be the Chemurgic exhibits. Officials of the State Fair of Texas, the South Texas State Fair at Beaumont and of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce are cooperating in the building of this exhibit. The chemurgic possibilities of all Texas will be shown.

Last year a total of 64 counties exhibited at the State Fair of Texas. Under the new program it will only be possible to take care of a like number for the 1939 Fair. Arrangements have also been made in the plans to care for an equal number of 4-H clubs, Future Farmers and individual farm exhibits.

The Chemurgic Show will be the first ever held for the public in Texas, and those in charge hope to make it a revelation of the possibilities offered in this state for development of farm crops by this means.

Red Cross Prints 1400 Braille Books

PHILADELPHIA.—A one-room publishing house, operated by the American Red Cross, last year turned out 1,400 volumes for the blind.

Into this one room last year went 1-1/2 tons of paper and out of it came 160,000 pages of embossed reading matter.

The Braille books enriched libraries of schools for the blind and special transcription were sent to readers in Scotland, Cuba, Poland, South Africa and other distant points.

In addition to textbooks there also were editions on candy making, music and even cookbooks. The workmen also printed 24 sets of playing cards for a Cuban bridge tournament.

Rooster Adopts A Brood Of Chickens

GLASTONBURY, Conn.—It's not often a rooster takes his domestic responsibilities seriously, but Mrs. Lucy Bugiel has one with a real mothering instinct.

When one of her hens died, leaving a dozen orphaned chicks, the rooster insisted upon taking care of the brood, hovering over them while they fed and slept and indignantly chasing away intruders.

County's Irrigation Project Will Furnish Water For 10,000 Thirsty Acres

WOOD.—When Brownwood's new million dollar irrigation project, financed by the Federal Administration, is completed in the fall, 10,000 acres in what is potentially the most productive agricultural area in Texas will be relieved of flood water. The Brownwood area has been hazardous, not so much because of rain-fall—the rainfall is 27 inches—but because the rain has been unseasoned. When no crops are on the ground there was no runoff, but when rain was very little fell, Brownwood problem has been to save the soil when it was plentiful for these days.

County's 27,000 citizens are looking on their problem as a relief. When the waters of the project were tapped for irrigation the dry season, the factory for awhile, this year became obsolete.

Boys Pay Fine For Damaging Long Man

LONDON.—Five youths were fined $7.50 each for damaging the "Long Man of Wilmington," 240 feet giant outlined in stone on Windover Hill, Sussex.

It was said that the boys took stones from the Long Man and threw them down the hill.

The largest representation of the human figure in the world, the origin of the Long Man is a mystery. Legends credit ancient artists with the work. Theories differ as to whether the figure is meant to represent Balder, Beowulf, or St. Peter.

Dinosaur Bones Found In North

GRANDE PRAIRIE, Ala.—Plowing on his farm near Grande Prairie in the Peace River country of Northern Alberta, Robert Cochran unearthed a quantity of what appeared to be flat or chipped pieces of stone.

Closer examination revealed them to be pieces of bone. Cochran forwarded the chips to geologists at the University of Alberta. Several weeks later he was advised that they were pieces of the vertebrae of a species of dinosaur not unlike those discovered in the Red Deer Valley of Alberta, about 500 miles to the southeast.

The discovery marked the first time that dinosaur bones had been discovered "north of parallel 55," and proved that these giant animals had roamed much farther north than formerly was supposed.

Forty miles west of Kleskun Hill in the northern mining country is another peculiar elevation of land known as Saskatoon Mountain. It is now believed that both these elevations rising so unexpectedly above the surrounding plain floor, are the crest of what once was the sea floor.

Bones of the mammoth have been found south of Saskatoon Hill. Last fall, after the driest summer on record, river beds were exposed for the first time since the country was settled. In the bed of the Beaverlodge River, Ted Chambers found a thigh bone and a few weeks later, part of the pelvis of a mammoth. Both bones were in an excellent state of preservation. The thigh bone weighed 20 pounds.

Elephant bones have been discovered as far north as Alaska. One species reached a height of 13 feet, bones found in Alaska indicated.

Zululand Boasts 'Champagne' Tree Variety of Palm

DURBAN, Natal, South Africa.—Water is scarce in the north of Zululand, but the Zulus don't care so long as champagne continues to grow on trees.

The "champagne" tree is the Masala palm, which flourishes in an arid tract of country that extends for 60 miles along the Zululand coast and 50 or 60 miles inland.

To tap palm one of the short branches is knocked off. A piece of palm leaf is placed just below the cut to form a kind of spout, and below that a calabash, into which flows the juice, which the Zulus call masala.

Masala tastes just like champagne, according to those who have tried it. It is non-alcoholic, but 24 hours later masala turns into busulu, which is a potent form of alcohol. Wait for 48 hours, and it becomes a liquor which is said to produce complete intoxication within 15 minutes.

Girl Carries Rattler Twin Falls, Ida.

TWIN FALLS, Ida.—June Tripp, 15, of Prairie City, Ore., comely hitch-hiker who stopped here in a trip across the country, said she never had any trouble with rattlers. The reason—she carries a live 5-foot, Black Diamond rattlesnake with her as a traveling companion.

Letters In Wrong Box Five Years Late

LITTLETON, N. H.—Better late than never. Miss Jeanne Antidale of Pasadena, Cal., and Mrs. H. E. Busted of Somerville, Mass., must have been surprised recently to receive letters written to them in 1933 and 1934.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruel Eastman discovered the letters in an old rural mail box, apparently having been deposited there by innocent summer boarders. They forwarded the letters.

Singing Barber Gets Amateur Haircut

NEW BRITAIN, Conn.—It is doubtful whether Rosario Tata, "The Singing Barber," ever will let another customer cut his hair.

Two of Tata's regular patrons offered him $5 each if he would allow them to try their hand at hair-cutting.

When they finished, Tata called in a fellow barber who tried to repair the damage. Tata wore home a borrowed hat to hide his humiliation.

Young Prisoners Play

CLAYTON, Mo.—Juvenile prisoners confined in the St. Louis county courthouse may take a daily swim in a Y.M.C.A. pool in downtown St. Louis, ten miles away. For further diversion the county court has ordered a game room and a handcraft shop installed in the basement of the courthouse here.

to haul lumber to the highway. When Dick offered to help him, Franklin demurred.

"Listen, mug," his friend told Dick, "You originally figured to come to Goldcrest on a mining idea you had. Well, you keep at it. I was going to read books. Now books can wait, but every chance you get you go on and investigate the ore dump, see?"

Dick obeyed. For one thing he wanted to stick as close to the town as possible, especially near the old bank. Sooner or later whoever claimed ownership of the $12,000 would be back to get it. Dick was determined to be a re- tention committee for him, or them. He let Franklin do most of the errands.

THE problem of sign painting was not too easy. None of the four had ever painted any signs, but Christine had done some sketching in school art classes. She designed a signboard 30 feet long and 12 feet high—it became a real construction job for her and Franklin—and then set in to paint it with Franklin's help. The painting alone took three long days.

"It's going to look fine, Christy!" Franklin told her when it was almost done. "You ought to be proud of it."

"You did all the work."

"The heck I did! Look at the paint on you! Even on your face, and your overalls—gee!" He pointed at her with his red paint brush. It dripped garishly onto the scaffolding where they stood.

"You know, Christine, I think you're a good sport. Not many girls I ever met would get down to actual hard work like this."

"Thank you, Franklin. You're no loafer yourself. And we had to back up Roselee. Didn't we, now?"

"You bet. But she didn't ask you to do this. You're getting unburned, too. Losing your pale, glamorous complexion. I can even count freckles."

"I'd grow warts if they'd help attract tourists to Goldcrest," she smiled. "Dick and Roselee have done most of the work, it seems to me."

She turned to watch three cars that had slowed down. Franklin had to answer their inquiry, directing them to go right on in to Goldcrest where guides would meet them. Roselee and Dick served as guides there.

"We ought to start guide service from here," Christine suggested. "When we get caught up with the first work, maybe we can."

"If we do, may I work with you, Christy?" He asked that in a low, semi-confidential tone. Christy line was a bit surprised by it. Sitting now on the paint scaffold, she looked up at him.

FRANKLIN LARRAWAY had been the surprising one of the four young people. That first morning he had appeared full of bubbling fun and wisecracks, but as time had passed, she had changed into a much more serious-minded person. Christine knew the type. Really very shy at heart, he made initial gestures of affability to cover the shyness he felt. She had somehow liked him for it. Except for his two-day trip to Los Angeles, she had been with Franklin Larraway almost constantly, she reflected. She hadn't quite realized that herself, and sitting here on the scaffolding she decided that much of it hadn't been accidental. Franklin had maneuvered to be with her constantly and now she thought startled her a little bit. Especially since he was asking to work with her still more, petitioning humbly as a child might do.

"Why Franklin—surely! It's a pleasure to work with you." She bit her upper lip, just to be sure he didn't see her smile.

"That's swell!" he murmured, enthusiastically. "And listen, Christy—we've had to be awful careful about—well, about sticking strictly to work and all. We never see you or Roselee after supper. You either ride over to the ranch, or stay in your hotel room, or—"

"We've been pretty tired at night."

"But—when we—we're catching up now. Maybe Saturday—Sunday—"

She laughed happily then. "Sure, we can relax by Saturday. Roselee's having all of us at her ranch home that night for dinner. Dick's already asked to escort me!"

Franklin kept looking down at her. He swallowed, slowly, gazing into Christine's deep dark eyes. "You—you like old Dick, don't you, Christy?" he asked.

She nodded and said, "Of course." But her eyes had a quick telltale mistiness in them, and there was a new confusion in her mind.

She reached for her paint brush and without another word both of them resumed their work. Now did they talk again for a long half hour. Neither was in the mood. Each knew that something besides business was creeping into the personnel of the ghost town managers. Franklin felt, with almost devastating gloom, that something had suddenly snatched away every chance he had for happiness in this mortal life.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON.—The State Department is studying a plan whereby the United States government could clamp a tight embargo on imports from Japan without any new legislation by Congress. The plan was called to the department's attention by congressman Earl Lewis, Ohio Republican.

Under existing law, the Tariff Commission may, after investigation, raise duties on any imports sufficient to make the price of an imported article equal to the price that article sells for when produced in the United States. It must do that if it is formally requested to do so by either house of Congress.

Congressman Lewis suggests that labor costs in Japan are notoriously far below American labor costs. Hence the commission could easily find that a sky-high duty on goods from Japan was in order. He conferred with State Department officials about it, and the whole scheme is now being given careful scrutiny.

When a tire went flat just as Maska drove up to the hotel where he stays, he thought that the flat was certain protection against theft. A bellboy said later that he saw someone fixing the tire, but supposed that Maska had ordered the work done.

Conditions Cannot Be Alienated Psychiatrist, Backed By Law

By United Press
SAN FRANCISCO.—Alienation of affection is not only impossible but a fantastic absurdity, according to S. L. Katzoff, consultant psychiatrist of the San Francisco Institute of Human Relations.

A judgment was made in settlement by California courts in the "gold digger" measure, which of legal phrase, reductions of legit and illegitimate affections are out-of affection and a gigantic swindle that should be abolished," Dr. Katzoff said.

He pointed out that the legislature and other bodies are taking cognate, job-like practice, of promise in the legal alienation of affec-love letters from extracted by cunning, fraud. Especially in the early days of the business factor as to abilities or their own letters are too often accepted as reliable evidence.

"The woman who sues for heart-balm is a parasite. An honorable girl appreciates the fact that she has to and out—before marriage—that she and the man she kept company with are not mated for each other. As a result of such knowledge they should part in a friendly way. They both should be thankful that they understand and agree that marriage is not for them, so far as the two of them are concerned.

"How about girls who throw a ma nover?" asked Dr. Katzoff. "Haven't men a headache? If men have no hearts, why do women want such heartless beings. Why make it a business of sue those who have money instead of those who haven't?"

John Henry Titus Says Barrooms Are Town Barometers

By United Press
PITTSBURGH.—A barroom is the only true barometer of a community's personality, declares the man who wrote "The Face on the Barroom Floor."

"Schools are no indication of a community," said 93-year-old John Henry Titus. "Public buildings and other aspects mean absolutely nothing when one tries to judge a place. It's the barroom which really shows what a community is."

Titus has a pleasant way of making a living. He travels about the nation examining bars and lecturing. In the past 67 years he has averaged 20,000 miles a year and crossed the ocean 18 times. He spends his winters in Florida.

Titus wrote the poem which made him famous in 1872. It concerns a vagabond who staggers into a barroom and draws the face of his beloved on the saw-

Peace When There Is No Peace

The startling part of Viscount Halifax's speech to the Royal Institute of International Affairs was, of course, the one that made the headlines. It was the defiant passage about how the British were ready to fight, on the sea, in the air, and on land.

And that, of course, is the part which belonged in the headlines. The unfortunate part of it is that probably most people read no farther. If Halifax, the British foreign secretary, had done nothing more than to shout a loud defiance at Germany, his speech would have been no more than another of those "You dastent!" and "I dast too!"s which have passed for diplomacy in Europe's recent years.

But he did go farther. Down in the part of the speech which most people probably did not read, Halifax indicated the way out for Europe and the world. Peoples who feel that they need "lebensraum," or living room, should seek it by breaking down barriers of isolation and ill-feeling, rather than by physical conquest. Then, and only then, can the whole world profit by the immense benefits which science has brought within reach.

"But no such society of nations can be built upon force," he reminded his hearers, "in a world which lives in fear of violence and has to spend its substance in preparing to resist it."

"And there is no more urgent need, if we are ever to find a workable system of international organization, than to invent a peaceful means whereby such changes can be handled. . . . Today, when the European nations, forgetful of their common civilization, are arming to the teeth, it is more important than ever that we should remind ourselves of the essential unity of European civilization."

Halifax then based British foreign policy on two stones: first, the determination to resist force, and second "recognition of the world's desire to get on with the constructive work of building peace."

The trouble is, that when the first line is taken the second is forgotten. In the very resistance to violence with violence, the resister becomes no less violent than the aggressor, with the result that the world's dream and desire for peace flies out the window and another Versailles after the bloodletting becomes inevitable. For it is very hard to imagine a peace closing another European war which would be better than the one made at Versailles, or one which would really solve any of the world's problems.

It is not the destructiveness and horror of another war that dissolves the imagination. It is its utter futility.

The Slovak government has urged that girls marry instead of going to work. This will call for stern measures from Mr. Hitler.

The President asks Congress for $250,000 to help the immigration service keep up with its work. Wouldn't it be simpler to give it less work?

Preparing Attack on WPA Strike

ONE YEAR TO GO PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES

BY BRUCE CATTON

Secretary Wallace—an idealist who compromises with expediency.

HENRY AGARD WALLACE'S chances to become president of the United States depend on various things which are more or less out of his control. One of them is the state of agricultural prosperity, or otherwise; another is the state of mind of President Roosevelt.

For the first, Secretary Wallace will be held largely responsible. As director of the most spectacular and costly campaign ever undertaken to improve the farmer's lot, he must stand or fall on the cold-fact results of the drive.

Right now he is sort of betwixt and between: farm prices are better now than they were when he took office, but are not as good as either Mr. Wallace or the farmers want them to be.

As to the second factor—a die-hard New Dealer, Mr. Wallace could hardly dream of seeking his party's nomination if Mr. Roosevelt wanted it for himself. Until the third-term issue is definitely settled, the secretary's budding campaign will have a hard time coming to flower.

A sincere idealist, Mr. Wallace has had to make compromises with expediency. An apostle of plenty, he has had to reduce crop output. He has had to embrace export-subsidies, which he dislikes.

If he comes forward as a candidate, the 50-year-old secretary will come as a "favorite son" of Iowa. A complicating factor is that Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins is also setting up shop as an Iowa.

HIS ASSETS: Considerable influence in the farm belt; an informal, but effective "machine," set up under AAA; a pleasing personality; effective speech-making ability; a record of sound New Dealism.

HIS LIABILITIES: The opposition of certain farm groups; indifferent success of the current save-the-farmer campaign; city folk's feeling that he is pretty much a farm-problem man; accumulated resentments piled up by the various triple-A programs.

HIS CHANCES: Just fair, with the future unpredictable.

Creep Feeding of Calves Is Gaining Says Elmo V. Cook

Creep feeding of beef calves from birth to weaning time is gaining popularity in Eastland county according to Elmo V. Cook, county agent, who lists as some of the advantages of this practice early finishing of calves, low cost for the additional gains made, production of a uniform herd of calves, and the insuring of a good calf crop the next year by giving the breeding cows a semi-rest.

H. P. Hogan, headman for G. P. Miteham on his ranch northwest of Cisco states that he can put 100 lbs. more weight on his calves by weaning time with 100 lbs. of feed by creep feeding them from the time he can first get them to eat. He is now creep feeding 40 calves on a mixture of threshed oats, cracked corn, and pea-size cottonseed cake.

Ben Mathews is creep feeding a small bunch of calves on his place west of Eastland and is reporting good results. Walter L. Connell of Olden has his beef calves in a pasture east of Eastland and is getting good gains by feeding threshed oats.

Oscar Schaefer of Nimrod and Low Wallace of Ranger are others who have been creep feeding their beef calves. Idus Echols of Staff Community plans to start creep feeding his calves within the next few days.

The creep feeding plan for beef calves consists of putting out grain or a mixture of grain and cottonseed meal in a small self-feeder or trough placed in a pen so arranged that nothing but the calves can get to the feed. Economical gains have been recorded for almost every kind of grain that is raised in Eastland county but the best results are reported by those who start with only oats in the feeder during the first thirty days, a mixture of oats, corn or milo, and cottonseed cake the second thirty days, and a gradual increase in the percentage of corn or milo from the second month to weaning time.

SALT LICKS PLANTED BOISE, Ida.—Big game ani-

Travel Tip

The smart American visitor to Paris during the Grande Semaine chose white silk suit with gray and white striped silk blouse and toque of orange blossoms. Note the white strapped shoes.

imals of Idaho were supplied this year with 88 tons of sulphurized and iodized salt blocks, deposited in man-made salt-licks in the primitive forested areas by the state fish and game department.

Playing Wild West Proves Expensive

EL PASO, Texas. — Everardo Muniz had a lot of fun playing like the lod, wild west was back again. He "shot up" a South El Paso bar. He fired two shots into a mirror behind the bar, then he fired another bullet through a plate glass window. But he didn't have any fun at all when he was taken into court. He was charged with discharging firearms inside the city limits. The judge decided that $200 was about the right price for Muniz to pay for the fun he had.

Britain's 600,000 homing pigeons are to be conscripted at the outbreak of war. Along with the dove of peace.
