German Mystery Raider Hits in Atlantic

British ships at sea and intelligence agents ashore seek answer to one of war's biggest mysteries—what kind of raider sank English steamship Clement, lower, 27 miles off Brazilian coast on Sunday, Oct. 17. Admiralty is unable to clear up conflicting reports which have named raider as a Nazi "pocket" battleship, a submarine, an armed merchantman. If it was a "pocket" battleship, experts agree it probably was the Admiral Scheer. This would mean that a full-fledged Nazi warship had managed to slip through the British blockade. Top photo shows what kind of threat the Admiral Scheer would present to Allied ships in American waters.

DALADIER TO ANSWER HITLER PEACE PLANS

By United Press
 PARIS, Oct. 9.—Premier Daladier will answer Adolf Hitler's Reichstag peace proposal of last Friday in an address Thursday night at 9 p. m. (2 p. m. CST) it was announced today.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—British and French governments are in complete accord on the purpose on which they entered the war, Prime Minister Chamberlain said in the house of commons today.

Some press reports from Washington, purporting to show that President Roosevelt was contemplating some move toward negotiation of peace, were received without enthusiasm. It was said there had been no indication of any development that would halt hostilities.

The first requirement would be restoration of Polish and Czech nations. Adolf Hitler's speech, it was emphasized, was not considered a formal peace offer.

'Danger Zone' for U. S. Tourists

Defining war "danger zone," indicated by heavier shading on above map, Secretary of State Hull asks American citizens to refrain from travel in territory on ships of belligerents. Under U. S. neutrality law, tourists have right to use foreign vessels until Dec. 4. Following British announcement of arming of merchant ships, however, Hull requests travelers to forego that privilege.

RUSSIA CALLS ON ALLIES TO STOP THE WAR

By United Press
 Soviet Russia called upon the allies today to put a "businesslike" end to the European war by accepting the Nazi and Red army conquest.

As the big winner in a conflict in which Soviet troops struck hardly a blow, the Moscow government made its viewpoint known through the official newspaper, Izvestia, without giving any definite indication that Russia would seek to act as a mediator.

Continuation of the war on the western front would be a "senseless" slaughter and the allied determination to crush Hitlerism is criminal folly, Izvestia said. There is no reason to believe that the Soviet declaration would have any effect on Britain and France.

In Berlin Nazis continued confident that Hitler's speech would be used as the basis for negotiation. Meantime German ships arrived in the Baltic States to begin returning 100,000 racial Germans to the Reich as part of Hitler's design for resettlement of Eastern European minorities.

Lithuanian negotiations with Russia for return of part of the Vilna area to Lithuania and establishment of big Russian army bases near the East Prussia border on Lithuanian soil, were reported almost complete.

SCOUT FUND DRIVE IS STARTED WITH EARLY BREAKFAST MONDAY

A group of nearly 50 people, including several Boy Scouts, met at the new stone scout cabin Monday morning at 7 o'clock for an early morning breakfast, which started off a drive to procure funds with which to pay for the cabin.

Before the meal of bacon, eggs, toast and coffee, a short meeting was held, at which the purpose of the gathering was outlined.

A. N. Larson, president of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, introduced John Kindle, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Boy Scout committee, and general chairman of the drive, who spoke briefly on the purpose of the meeting. He then called upon Mayor Hall Walker.

Mayor Walker read a detailed report upon the cost of materials for the building, and stated that voluntary contributions to the scout cabin fund had been used, leaving a deficit of slightly more than $750, which was needed to pay for the building.

Mayor Walker also outlined plans for completing the park next spring, which will make it one of the beauty spots of this part of the county.

W. T. Walton spoke briefly on the benefits to be derived from scouting, stating that it was a movement that deserved the full support of every adult citizen of the town.

Rev. Charles T. Tally, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist church of Ranger and Rev. G. Alfred Brown, pastor of the First Methodist church, also pointed out some of the things to be derived from the scout movement.

After the breakfast committees were appointed to solicit contributions from various sections of the town, and to report back to the Chamber of Commerce as soon as their work was done. The drive will not be completed until later in the week as a few of the committees were unable to start their work immediately, but planned to make their solicitations either later today or tomorrow.

Tax Discount Is Payment Booster

C. H. O'Brien, assessor-collector, has reported that many Eastland County property owners are availing themselves of a plan whereby they may pay their state and county taxes during October and receive a 3 per cent discount on state taxes.

The discount is 2 per cent in November and 1 per cent in December. The discount is only on state taxes but county taxes must be paid at the same time.

The discount plan will be explained in detail by O'Brien or his deputies.

Tax rolls for the year were finished earliest this year since 1923 by O'Brien and employees. Ordinarily it is Nov. 1 or approximately before the tax rolls are finished.

Valuations this year total $20,067,070. This is only a small drop from the previous year. Officials stated that in past recent years annual large decreases in valuations were evident but in the past immediate years the values seem to be more stabilized.

Tax rates for 1939 are $1.30 for county and 77 cents for the state on each $100 valuation.

German Patrols Work On Border At Western Front

By United Press
 PARIS, Oct. 9.—German patrols, armed with sub-machine guns, automatic rifles, bombs and automatic pistols, are conducting an intensive raiding campaign along the western front, seeking prisoners and testing the strength of the French lines as if for attack, it was disclosed today.

Most of the patrols consist of 40 to 50 men, it was said, but French artillery and machine gunners threw back three raids by complete companies of German shock troops.

A military expert forecast the possibility of an early German offensive, aided by an airplane fleet.

Woman Confesses To Killing Man At Odessa Mar. 30

By United Press
 ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—A woman arrested here on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and later identified as Isabelle Messner, of Indiana, told a detective today that she shot and killed a man in Odessa, Texas last March.

Police reported she said she had registered at an Odessa tourist camp as Dolores Martin, last March 30, and that she shot and killed a semi-pro baseball pitcher, but declined to give additional details.

Peeping Thru the KNOTHOLE

Maybe this isn't the straight of it, but it is a good story, and this is the way the two 15-yard penalties were explained to us.

Waynald Adkins, who has more nicknames than anyone we know, is captain of the Bulldogs, and is also partially deaf. The referee, after a time out, said "Are you ready, Ranger?" and Adkins didn't hear him. The question was repeated, and still no answer from Adkins, who still didn't hear.

The 15-yard penalty was stepped off, much to Adkins' surprise. So, as captain of the team, Adkins walked up to the referee and asked why the penalty. Evidently thinking Adkins was trying to be smart, the second 15-yard penalty was stepped off.

Warden, who plays at center, went up to the referee and explained that Adkins was hard of hearing and didn't hear the question. Adkins, fearing another penalty, and still not knowing what it was all about, just stood there and kept his mouth shut. Townzen, seeing Adkins still hadn't grasped the situation, yelled at him from his defensive end position to explain. Coach Bill Tipton, seeing Townzen yelling, thought he was baiting the referee, and took him out of the game.

All of which was very confusing to everyone concerned, if that is the way it actually happened, but it did stir the Bulldogs up considerably and made them play all the harder.

Incidentally those nicknames for Adkins, as we remember they go something like this. His first year he was known as Weinnie, the second year he played with the Bulldogs it was Wimpy, this year it is Egrog, which is George spelled backwards, George being his first name, or something.

Those nicknames are hard to figure out. A boy gets a nickname, which stays with him for a while. Then he gets a nickname for that nickname, and so it goes, until finally one sticks.

And speaking of nicknames we can remember several boys who were in school when we were who were so well known by their nicknames that few people knew their given names. Some were even registered in school under the nicknames. Some were rather picturesque, or something. There was Kuter, and Weesie, and Swig, to mention just a few. And, strange as it may seem, we have seldom been called Red, probably because Bill is so easy to say and remember.

Dies Claims Many Government Heads Aid Communists

By United Press
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Rep. Martin Dies, democrat, Texas, charged today that "prominent government officials" are lending "aid and support to the communist party" by continuing to appear before gatherings sponsored by "communist front" organizations.

Dies remarks were made during testimony of Kenneth Goff, Wisconsin salesman, who resigned from the communist party while appearing before the committee investigating un-American activities.

Dies said the committee had been unable to determine to what extent prowlers who broke into the committee offices yesterday had molested evidence stored in the room.

Dies said that "four or five mail sacks" full of documents seized in recent raids were in the room and it probably would be impossible to ascertain if anything was taken.

Dies said the only document definitely known to have been taken was a list of several hundred persons suspected as espionage agents, duplicates of the list, he added, are on file elsewhere.

Subs Are Seen On American Coast White House Says

By United Press
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The White House announced today that navy patrols Sunday morning sighted a foreign submarine about 20 miles west of Key West, Fla., and two non-American oil tankers in the same general vicinity.

President Roosevelt announced earlier that a foreign submarine had been sighted 15 miles off Miami, Fla.

Secretary Stephen Early said that nothing could be disclosed as to the nationality of the submarine or tankers, even if the white house had such information. He said the white house had no knowledge of reports a submarine had been sighted Sunday off the coast of Maine.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 9.—Navy and coast guard vessels kept a sharp watch today for a foreign submarine reported cruising off Portland's light ship, within easy striking distance of the normal route of the refugee-loaded American steamer Iroquois.

Move To Recess Senate Blocked By Sen. Barkley

By United Press
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Senate Leader Alben Barkley, democrat, Kentucky, today blocked, temporarily a motion by Sen. Edwin Johnson, democrat, Colorado, that the senate recess for three days pending the outcome of European peace moves.

Barkley, directing administration forces in the contest over revision of the neutrality act, assured Johnson that he would "throw no stone in the way" of a later vote on the proposal.

Johnson is author of a resolution to request President Roosevelt to seek an armistice in the European war.

Johnson asserted that "Germany will listen to an honorable peace proposal" having his contention on the report the Reich wanted Roosevelt to mediate.

"There is one sure way to keep out of this war," he told the senate. "If we stop the war there will be no danger of involvement."

Cotton Production Estimated Today At 11,928,000 Bales

By United Press
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The agriculture department estimated today that 1939 cotton production would be 11,928,000 bales, a reduction of 452,000 bales from the September forecast.

The department said the indicated yield of lint cotton on October 1 was 235.7 pounds per acre. The census bureau reported 686,712 bales had been ginned prior to Oct. 1.

The decline in estimated production was the result of hot, dry weather.

Texas' forecast was 160 pounds per acre for a total yield of 2,900,000 bales, compared with 3,086,000 bales in 1938.

Unemployment Can Be Solved, Experts Agree

We are convinced that the unemployment problem can be solved by democratic means. We have come away with a new hope and confidence in America.

These are hopeful words, beautiful words, words that sing like music. They are one of the conclusions reached by the fourth "Fortune Magazine" round table. These round table discussions have been interesting from the start, the procedure being to assemble a group of leaders (in this case 17 of them) in many fields, discuss fully a problem, and then find the points on which substantially all are agreed. The presumption is that when you find points on which all men of a varying group agree, you've got something.

These men were as diversified as to include Clarence Francis, president of General Foods; Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers; Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney; Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Farm Bureau Federation; Boris Shishkin, A. F. of L. economist; Nelson A. Rockefeller, and others equally assorted.

Yet they agreed on hope of a solution of our one great economic problem—unemployment, under a democratic regime and by democratic methods.

Further, they agreed that the social gains of the past few years must be kept. There was no talk of "back to 1929" among either business, labor, or farm leaders. "The area of agreement" among these leaders accepted what people generally have accepted—it is no longer possible to get "back to 1929," and not desirable even if we could. We must do better than that.

The group agreed, however, that neither social legislation nor government spending is the complete answer—that all economic groups and government itself must concentrate on encouraging production and private investment. Business, labor, the farmer, and government must unite on wage and price policies which will increase consumption and make work.

That, as we see it, means that business, when it seeks profits, should not raise prices, but concentrate on more sales at lower prices—that is, wider distribution. That makes work. Labor, too, and the farmer, should not seek prices for their work or produce which boost prices unnecessarily, thus restricting distribution and cutting jobs. And the government, while it must prevent abuses, ought to encourage private investment. Shishkin, for instance, believes that such planned policies could bring unemployment below the 3,000,000 mark, about the best that can be expected.

This is America's great task. Such relief as war business gives to the unemployment problem is at best temporary. It is welcome, almost too welcome, because that tends to create a reliance on it.

But it is not permanent, hot solid, nor right. It will collapse when the war collapses.

Steady, relentless, unceasing effort must be devoted to putting the American economic plant on a sound basis. Nothing must permit us to lose sight of this, our American job.

Oil Bearing Plants To Be On Display

LUBBOCK, Tex.—A castor bean and safflower display arranged by Texas Technological College for the State Fair of Texas, portrays the story of these two oil-bearing plants. Cellophane-covered specimens of locally grown castor and safflower plants, and castor bean heads form a back wall for the chemurgic exhibit, which shows uses and processes of these two plants from seed to oil. Products of the castor plant come from four sources, an accompanying chart shows. From leaves and stems, insecticides may be manufactured, and from the stalks comes cellulose, used in making of paper and rayon. Cordage is made from the bast fibers, and both meal and oil from the beans. The meal is used for animal and fertilizer, the oil for oil. The castor plant is used in manufacture of linoleum, medicine, fly paper, soap, gum, printing, and such. Castor oil, a diagram prepared by Dr. R. C. Goodwin, head of the department of chemistry and dean of the graduate school, indicates that uses include synthetic fibers for hosiery and similar goods. Oil made from the castor seed may be used where seed oil is used, the exhibit and the cake is useful as a train-rich concentrate for feeding. Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry, and Heard, head professor of engineering, and Goodwin, head professor of chemistry, are shown in the exhibit showing the uses of these plants may also be

J. B. Heister Back From Hospital Stay
 J. B. Heister of Ranger, who has been in a hospital at Muskogee, Okla. for several months, as the result of a fall from a ladder in which he sustained several broken bones, has been returned to his home in Ranger.

Heister has shown steady improvement since shortly after he reached the hospital, and, though his injuries were at first considered serious, he is rapidly regaining his strength.

While Europe builds new war debts, no word comes of her offering to pay those of the past. As it looks like we've never got the money, we might start dickerin' for marbles or cralk.
