We mentioned here sometime ago about the yen that house or alley, cats had for taking up at our house, even sometimes setting up a production line. That we could tolerate, but our latest feline visitor is a bit too much. We have with us now a polecat, or just a common garden variety Skunk. We haven't, so far, had as much as a glimpse of the varmint but we have had ample proof of his presence on several occasions and there is not a shadow of a doubt (or odor) but what he has established his residence right under our house by one of the floor furnaces. Heat from the furnace evidently magnifies, intensifies or multiplies the output from the skunk's (not so secret) weapon. We have a problem. Viola and I gathered outside to discuss the situation, but that cold norther blew in and we were forced back into our own house. Even at that it was warmer in the house with all the doors and windows open than it was outside. This has happened more than once, we had thought that maybe he would just go away, or at least that he would go wherever skunks are supposed to go instead of going under our house. If we can't get rid of him we will just have to find some way to housebreak the guy, but then how can you live with a skunk while he is taking on a little refinement. It's like I said, we've got a problem. If this is a domesticated skunk that belongs to somebody, just come and get him there will be no charge for room, or if any, board. I have been giving the problem one of my best thinks, really concentrated with all my might to figure out a way to get that rascal out in the open just so that I could close the little doors that should have never been left open. I have tried to think like a skunk would think but I don't know how to get into the mood. I don't know whether a skunk does his foraging for food at night, in the daytime or what time. If I knew I could close the doors to the underpinning of the house, but I can't take a chance on closing that particular visitor up. We have a problem.

The eleventh annual Castro County Junior Fat Stock Show gets underway today, Thursday at the Fair Grounds. This will be the only opportunity during the year that members of the 4-H Clubs and FFA Chapters of the county will have to show their projects locally. If you care about livestock this is your opportunity to see some of the best. Your attendance at the show will also be appreciated by the boys.

A survey for possible sites for a postoffice location was made recently by an official from the Postal Department. Any number of sites are under consideration, and it is reasonable to assume that, out of the ones available, the department will make its selection on the basis of convenience and availability to the center of population as well as to the proximity of the business district. It will probably be several weeks before there is definite information on the matter, but we should expect to have a new postoffice in a convenient location by the year's end.

Census Bureau Reports County's '63 Retail Trade

Castro County's 105 retail establishments had $14.8 million in sales in 1963, an increase of 71 percent from 1958, the U. S. Bureau of the Census has just reported after tabulating data gathered from all firms in the 1963 census of business. The last previous business census conducted by the census bureau, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, was in 1958.

Retail trade in the county meant jobs (exclusive of proprietors) for 332 men and women and a yearly payroll of $1.2 million.

In volume of business the county's food stores had sales of $2.7 million an increase of 28 percent from 1958. In other retail business—the county's eating and drinking places had sales of $790 thousand, and gasoline service stations had sales of $1.5 million.

For the state as a whole, the census bureau reported 96,406 retail establishments with sales of $127,154 million, up 18 percent from 1958.

Census reports to be issued during the next few months will give state and county figures on wholesale and service trades, manufacturing and mineral industries.

Figures on number of establishments and sales volume for major types of retail establishments in each county are provided in the printed report: 1963 census of business, retail trade, Texas, available at $1.00 from Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. 20402 and at U. S. Department of Commerce Field offices.

"PERFECT IDIOT" STAGED

Senior class of Dimmitt High School presents "The Perfect Idiot", a three-act farce by Eunice and Grant Atkinson Saturday night at 7:30 in the High School auditorium.

Tickets are in sale or may be purchased at the door for $1 adults, 75 cents for students and 50 cents for children under 12. The seniors will use the proceeds to finance the senior gift to the school.

Directing the laugh-filled comedy are Georgann Britten and Orval Hughlett, class sponsors.

The fast pace and good humor of the play will provide an entertaining night of theatrics. Laughs will be frequent and sometimes uproarious. The plot is unusual, the lines are clever and there is never a dull moment.

The search for parsnips will provide many laughs. The rabbit scene adds plenty of gaiety to Act II. Even a boy-wonder like Dan (played by Johnnie Linn) isn't smart enough to figure out how perfect an imitation he gives when he decides to act like a perfect idiot.

A subtle philosophy carries a message in the play. Following are some lines taken from Act I.

DAN: (boy genius) I learned everything high school can teach me two years ago. I should be a junior in college. Why do you hold me back?

BARNARD: (principal) I think you'd be much happier person, Dan, if you conquered your problem here first. You can't run away from yourself.

Cast members for the play are: Roger Tennyson — Arnold Acker Margaret Tennyson — Ariene Reid Dan Tennyson — Johnny Linn Jackie Tennyson — Don Minchew Whirring of clippers, snip-snip of shears, the pungent odor of lacquer, finger nail polish and hair spray are all part of the vivid scene as final preparations get underway today at the county fair barns for the annual Castro County Fat Stock Show.

All livestock must be in place by 5:30 this afternoon announces Ben Holcomb, general superintendent of the show. The task of sifting animals for condition, quality, grooming and training is big factor in Friday morning's activities at the fair barns. Stock will be weighed beginning at 1 p.m., today.

The 4-Hers and FFA boys must have owned and fed barrows and lambs for a minimum of 90 days prior to the show. They were required to have owned and fed calves a minimum of 180 days before the

THE THREAT TO FAMILY FARMING

"Don't let them sell us out!" a Panhandle farmer wrote to me recently. Like many of our people, he senses a developing crisis in American agriculture. The crisis is developing because more and more non-farm Americans apparently are becoming convinced that the United States can get along very well without farmers. We are told that farmers as we have known them are not needed, that flesh-and-blood farmers, farmers with families and farm houses and mortgaged tractors, are inefficient, unproductive, a drain on the American taxpayer. We hear increasing talk that the solution to what these "experts" term the "farm mess" is to promote corporate farming. They say, in effect, that all of our farm problems could be solved if agricultural production were handled by corporate farms of vast acreage, their policies set by absentee boards of directors, their operations directed with cold and scientific efficiency by hired managers overseeing crews of specialists.

They prescribe the doom of rural America — not only of family farms and family farmers but also of the cities and towns which now serve primarily as the distribution and trade centers for the Nation's farming areas.

The exodus from the farms of America has been going on for a generation. In 1940, there were 6,350,000 farms in our country. Now there are 3,500,000 farms. In ten years, the number of agricultural workers employed and the number of farms in the U. S. have declined by almost a third, and the decline in farm numbers has been mostly in small

Accent on Health

J. E. PEAVY, M.D. Commissioner of Health

Anyone who thinks measles is a harmless childhood disease is sadly mistaken.

In the first place, "childhood disease" is a misnomer. Any person, regardless of age, who has not had measles may have them. Measles is, however, rightly associated with childhood since 90 percent of our children have it before their fifteenth birthday.

Secondly, measles is not the harmless illness that most mothers seem to think it is.

Although recovery is routine for most children, about 500 children in farms. In the past decade, well over half of all rural counties experienced a net loss of population. We all have seen this trend in our own Panhandle.

Should it continue at this pace, encouraged and accelerated by a combination of economic punishment and unwise government policy, the depopulation of rural America would be completed, as would the corporate takeover of American agriculture, the lifetimes of boys now busy in 4-H and FFA activities. Now, today, only one of every ten boys growing up on American farms can expect to earn his living as a farm operator.

The challenge is to preserve and develop economic opportunity in rural America. The challenge is to enable people who want to stay on the farm and in their home communities in rural America to make a decent living there. Farm programs enacted by Congress have been designated to this end, in recognition of the fact that before a hungry world America's agriculture is our greatest success story, and in recognition also of the fact that our free enterprise system is best exemplified by the family farm. Congress has not enacted farm programs as a handout, as welfare programs. The purpose has been to assist that segment of our economy most vulnerable to the abuses of industrialized segments to attain and maintain fair levels of income. And yet, each passing election returns to the House and Senate fewer and fewer members with any real comprehension of the meaning, worth, and problems faced by our farmers. The shift of population has shifted representation of the cities and suburbs and away from rural America. In this 89th Congress, fewer than one-third of my colleagues in the House of Representatives speak for districts in which more than half the population is classed as "rural."

The farmers, and the folks who supply their goods in nearby cities and towns, are suffering a loss of voice in Congress and in their State legislatures. Recent Supreme Court rulings on legislative apportionment hasten this trend. As I have in the past, I urge all of my friends in agriculture to be well aware of the shifts and to recognize that fights on behalf of the farmer are becoming more and more difficult to win in Congress. The days of the famous Congressional "farm bloc" of the 1930's are dead and gone — and Congress is now dominated by the "big city bloc" with little sympathy or understanding for our rural people.

Thomas Jefferson called farmers "the chosen people of God." I wish that more of our fellow Americans could see farmers in that light, could appreciate the wonderful bounty in food they provide, could help preserve strength, stability, and opportunity in rural America.

the nation die every year from illnesses stemming from it. Or, a side-effect can be inflammation of the brain, leading to mental retardation.

Last year 71,629 measles cases were reported in Texas. Statistics show several characteristics of the disease. One is that every two or three years, a reservoir of susceptible children builds up. A measles epidemic implies the reservoir. Nearly all children who are exposed and not protected come down with measles.

Another fact the figures show is that February through April is the measles season — that is, more cases occur during this time of the year.

A virus so small that it measures only from two to five millionths of an inch in diameter is responsible for the disease.

A child coming down with measles may seem to have cold symptoms — a dripping nose, watery eyes, wheezing and similar discomfort — about 10 days after exposure. The first sure sign that it is measles is the appearance of "Koplik spots" — bluish-white specks surrounded by redness in the mouth. A blotchy rash follows on the child's face and body, as the sign most of us recognize as measles. If your child develops any of these symptoms, contact your physician at once.

Today, you can keep your child from having measles and eliminate the possibility of serious side-effects with immunization against measles. Why take a chance; see your family physician.

An often requested publication, "Christmas Time at Home," was reprinted twice in 1964. Over 50,000 copies of the publication were distributed, many of these going to out-of-state persons. "Salads" is another popular Extension publication which was distributed in the amount of nearly 100,000 last year. Both publications give recipes and cooking hints and helps.

Several Texas Extension publications were purchased by commercial companies and public service agencies last year. Requests were also granted for reproduction of Texas originated publications by other states, Taylor said.

MP-151, "Publications Available for Farmers, Ranchers, Homemakers, agricultural Leaders of Texas," lists all currently available publications issued by the Extension Service and Experiment Station and is revised biannually.

Publications can be requested through county Extension offices or from the Department of Agricultural Information, Texas A&M University. A variety of publications are available, including some in Spanish translation.

Texans Observe 70 m.p.h. Limit

Texas drivers "flirted" with excessive speeds after the speed limit was raised to 70 m.p.h. late in 1963.

But the affair went piff, according to a speed survey made by the Texas Highway Department a year later, and Texans for the most part are now observing the speed limit. Take passenger cars, for instance. The Highway Department radar-checked speeds of at least 25,000 of them in 30 locations scattered over the state.

In 1963, a fraction more than 11 per cent of the motorists were clocked at more than 70 m.p.h. A year later—under the same highway conditions, and in the same places—the figure had dropped to just 5.1 per cent.

And it was the same pattern across the board, with pickups, trucks, and busses logging dramatically reduced speeds.

Why were speeds up so high after the legislature hiked speed limits by 10 m.p.h.?

"We're engineers, not psychiatrists," said one Highway Department official, "but it seems that it was just a flirtation. Motorists had a sudden new freedom to go ten miles an hour faster. In exercising that freedom, some of them said 'what the heck' and went for broke."

How come they slowed down a year later, then?

"The novelty wore off. At last that's all we can figure. It's admittedly just a guess."

The Highway Department's annual speed survey is a research study project used by highway engineers to help determine future highway design characteristics and traffic needs. The Highway Department designs, builds and maintains Texas highways. It determines safe speeds, zones and signs highways, but does not have police or enforcing authority.

Last October and November the Highway Department surveyed vehicle driving practices of more than 25,000 motorists. Concealed radar units were set up at 30 locations on key highways during an eight hour period.

Average speed of all vehicles surveyed last autumn was 56.6 miles an hour. A year before, just after the new speed limits became effective, the average was 59.3 m.p.h. And just before the new speeds were posted, the average had been 56.5 m.p.h.

In all vehicle categories, speeds seem to be leveling off from highs recorded during the period of "flirtation."

Of all vehicles surveyed only 3.6 per cent were exceeding the 70 m.p.h. speed limit last fall. A year earlier, 8 per cent of vehicles of all kinds were breaking 70.

Vegetable Growers Hear Dr. Kyle, Onken And Reed

Approximately 40 vegetable growers heard specialists Friday afternoon in the First State Bank Community Room concerning the various phases of vegetable production and crops research.

Charles Hottel, county agent acted as chairman for the vegetable program.

Dr. Jack Kyle, research center, Lubbock brought the first address on "Production Practices with Some Vegetables."

Dr. Kyle touched on production practices of potatoes, onions, carrots, cabbage and tomatoes.

The speaker pointed out the need of fertilization if the farmer is going to be a serious vegetable grower. Kyle repudiated the idea which has come out of Nebraska saying there is no need to fertilize at all. Some fertilizers recommended for use with vegetables included Enide and Dacthal.

Dr. Arthur Onken, agronomist and Dr. Kyle discussed "Sources of Nitrogen, Phosphorus and potassium for Vegetables" with the group. Dr. Onken pointed out the need of farmers to use soil tests. He said, "Oil tests are effective in determining fertilizer needs"

In a soil test, a sample of soil is analyzed by chemical means to determine soil reaction (pH), organic matter, phosphorus, potassium, calcium, and soluble salts. The results of this analysis are used to recommend fertilizer and soil amendments necessary to produce economical yields.

Dr. Onken said, "Soil tests must be related to a specific field for a particular crop in order to get best results in production"

The speaker continued, "The crop you plan to grow, normal climatic conditions, past cropping history, past fertilizer use and soil type are considered in making your fertilizer recommendations"

"Soil tests can be only as accurate as the samples on which they are made. Proper collection of soil samples is extremely important," stressed Dr. Onken.

Soil testing kits may be obtained by local farmers at the County Agent's office in the courthouse.

Onken told the group during his discussion of sources of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium that he had not found any results in experiments that proves any one source is better than another in production of crops.

Common sources of nitrogen include organic matter in soil, animal manures, legumes and commercial fertilizers.

Sources for phosphorus include native soil phosphorus, animal manures, decomposing plant residues, and commercial fertilizers such as superphosphates, ammonium phosphate, and ammoniated superphosphate.

Commercial potassium sources include potassium chloride, potassium sulfate, Sul-Po Mag, and mixed fertilizers, 12-12-12

Two bulletins recommended by Dr. Kyle for vegetable growers are "General Fertilizer Recommendations for the High Plains" and "Know Your Fertilizers" These may be obtained by writing Dr. Jack Kyle, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Lubbock, Texas

Beef Output From Texas Feedlots Increases in 1964

During the past calendar year, 1964, 969 thousand head of cattle and calves were marketed from Texas feedlots, says Edward Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist and assistant professor at Texas A&M University.

"This is a 27 percent increase over the number of cattle marketed in 1958," Uvacek says.

Uvacek explains that most of the increase has been in the feedlots of over 1,000 head capacity. And at the present time, slightly over 90 percent of all Texas cattle on feed are in these larger feedlots, he adds.

Uvacek points out that the majority of the large feedlots are in the Panhandle and Gulf Coast areas of the

"Of course, the Panhandle area still has the greater percentage of large feedlots, but the Gulf Coast region is increasing rapidly, both in the number of head on feed and in the number of large feedlots," Uvacek reveals.

He said that in 1958 the Gulf Coast area had 13 large feedlots, while at the present time there are 42 such feedlots located in that area.

"While the number of large feedlots is increasing, the staller operations are holding fairly stable in the numbers of cattle and calves fed," Uvacek states.

Kleingrass Promising For Improved Pastures
Scientists at the Coastal Bend Experiment station located near Beeville believe a new grass variety, kleingrass, shows promise of being an excellent choice for improved pastures.

Bill Conrad, a scientist at the station, said research with the grass is not complete and seed is not available for general use, but their work indicates the grass is quite drought re-

Assistant and will grow from early spring to late fall.

The kleingrass they are evaluating was introduced from Africa in the late 1950's. It grows from three to five feet tall yet is very palatable.

At the Coastal Bend station, the grass is grown and maintained in rows by annual cultivation. Kleingrass is a bunch grass and the rows help maintain proper plant population for good production in dry areas.

Conrad said this year they hope to run feeding trials with the grass at Beeville and several other stations.

Currently one problem with kleingrass is acquisition of seed. Its seeds tend to shatter soon after they mature making seed harvest difficult. Researchers believe there are ways to overcome this problem.

A Texas A&M University scientist said the grass will grow in many areas of Texas. He said several farmers in the High Plains are already using it.

A variety of perennial cotton native in Africa grows in tree form to a height of 12 to 20 feet.

brand sorghum . . .
Top performers from one of America's oldest and largest hybrid breeders

Pioneer hybrid sorghum delivers big yields and smooth, low-loss combining . . . as hundreds of High Plains farmers have already proved.

Research and testing built these dollar-making features into Pioneer sorghum . . . just as it made other Pioneer products leaders in their fields.

Pioneer hybrid corn ranks as one of the top-selling brands in the U.S.

Hy-Line layers, bred by Pioneer's Hy-Line Poultry Farms, outsell all others.

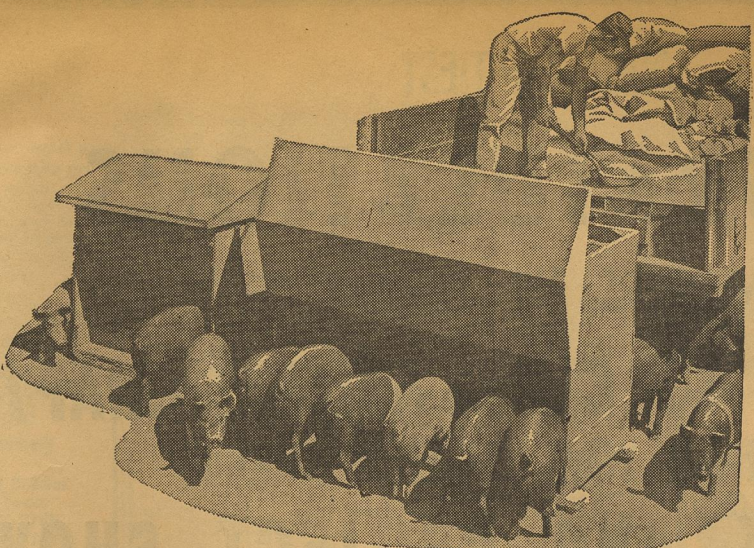

Making Pioneer brand sorghum equally outstanding: That's the goal of Pioneer sorghum breeders. Headed by J. Roy Quinby, former head of sorghum breeding at Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Pioneer's sorghum improvement program now ranks as the country's largest.

You can put Pioneer's breeding experience to work on your farm by planting Pioneer hybrid sorghum. See or call me.

MEDICAL CARE OR "MEDICARE" WHICH DO YOU WANT?

TEXAS today has one of the nation's finest, most comprehensive programs of medical care for the aged. These programs—the Texas approach, we call it—include medical benefits to Old Age Assistance recipients and extensive health cost protection through the use of special insurance plans for the aged. The Texas legislature is also expected to implement a medical care plan for those who are not on Old Age Assistance but who do need help in meeting medical expenses.

- Consider these facts:
- 229,000 needy aged, representing 80 percent of Texas' entire aged population, now have a Blue Cross-Blue Shield health insurance policy paid for by the State,
 - This State program provides hospital, medical, surgical, x-ray, and nursing home benefits,
 - 72% of the aged in Texas now have one or more health insurance policies,
 - Through the "Texas 65 Health Insurance Plan," Blue Cross' "Senior Texan Service," and other special programs offered to the aged by private companies, health insurance is available to all who want it at a reasonable cost,
 - Studies by Belden Associates indicate that only a small percentage of the aged actually still need and want help in paying health costs (these aged would be covered by the program now being considered by the Texas Legislature).

In view of these facts, the national "medicare" tax proposal (the King-Anderson bill, H.R. 1) is not needed. "Medicare" benefits are very limited, covering about one quarter (25%) of the total yearly health care costs of the average aged person. "Medicare" would not cover physicians' services or surgical charges, nor would it cover the cost of drugs outside of institutional care.

The "medicare" proposal is an extremely expensive one. While we all are starting to enjoy a reduction in federal income taxes as a result of action by Congress last year, the "medicare" program would cost an estimated $1.7 billion dollars in additional taxes the first year. "Medicare" would increase payroll taxes to cover everyone over 65—even the wealthy. The employee who now pays a maximum tax of $174 annually would find the amount for Social Security benefits and "medicare" increased to $291 by 1971. Employers would pay a similar increase for each employee, thus resulting in higher prices for goods and services.

The Texas approach of providing medical, surgical and hospital care to those who need it is a more comprehensive, more economical program than "medicare," and it provides more benefits. If you object to paying higher payroll taxes for an undesirable, unneeded program, write your Congressman today. Ask him to oppose the "medicare" tax proposal, mentioning the programs for the aged now available in Texas. Ask him to support the Herlong-Curtis Elder Care Bill (H.R. 3727), which would make possible the broadening of the existing Texas program to provide medical, hospital and nursing home care for those few remaining aged who are still in need of help.

Governor Takes Issue With Labor Department

Gov. John Connally served notice on the U. S. Labor Department he doesn't like its directives that unskilled high school students in War on Poverty program jobs must be paid more than some of their parents make.

Connally, needed by an unnamed Labor Department official, indignantly denied he is scuttling the new Neighborhood Youth Corps job project. But he made clear he won't approve applications of some 23 local school districts for participation in the program until he is sure they know what they are getting into.

NYC offers part-time jobs (10-15 hours a week) around schools and public agencies to youngsters 16-21 who are on the verge of becoming high school dropouts because of financial difficulties. Federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost and local participating units 10 per cent. But next year the cost will be shared 50-50.

Connally spoke out against the Labor Department ruling that students must be paid $1.20 per hour, the federal minimum wage.

The 23 districts, before ruling was announced, proposed to pay rates ranging from 60 cents to $1.20 an hour. Originally, Labor Department had notified the districts wages "should be a little below the prevailing entry rates for inexperienced workers in similar occupations."

The $1.25 order came out after applications were filed.

"This action," protested Connally, "would place local school districts in the awkward and unrealistic position of paying inexperienced school age students of underprivileged families a rate of pay for casual chores that in many cases would exceed that of adult employees working in the same facility, the average earnings of their own parents, and the wages he himself might reasonably expect to earn in the days immediately following school."

Furthermore, Connally noted, a directly parallel program for potential dropouts among college students Health, Education and Welfare pays 75 cents an hour upward.

House of Representatives applauded Connally's stand but specified it did not intend to criticize the President or his War on Poverty program.

COORDINATING BOARD APPROVED — Governor Connally's number one project of the session — creation of a powerful 18-member coordinating board to supervise all aspects of higher education in Texas — swept through both houses of the Legislature with the speed of a blue norther.

Legislators who opposed it — and there were only a few — had as much chance of stopping it as they would of forestalling a gathering storm.

After being guided through the House by Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, the bill was picked up by Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan in the Senate, where it went through without an amendment and was passed on the the governor for signing.

Connally has until September 1 to choose the 18 members of the board. They will replace the Texas Commission on Higher Education and will take on the task of directing all higher education institutions from junior colleges through the university systems.

Board will decide what courses are to be offered by each institution.

It was given the most far-reaching authority granted by the Legislature since the Railroad Commission was authorized to grant railroad permits. Present college boards of regents will continue to serve. But they will be responsible to the new overall coordinating board.

Another of the governor's education plans, to replace 12 separate boards of regents which govern the 22 state colleges and universities with three boards of university systems, had not yet been introduced when the coordinating board plan was adopted.

Some legislators feel that the system board plan may have served to lessen the opposition to the coordinating board particularly among representatives from the colleges whose board would be abolished.

PESTICIDE PROTESTED — A cheap poison used against roaches and rats in many homes and in grain storage bins and warehouses can cause loss of hair and mental disturbances, physicians testified in a House committee hearing. In heavy doses, it can kill a person or leave him mentally incompetent, they said.

Doctors appeared at a public health committee hearing on a bill which would outlaw the sale, use of possession of poisons based on thallium compounds.

They said the poison can take effect upon very brief exposures and that its symptoms are hard to diagnose. Some persons have been interned in mental hospitals before the real reason for their illness was discovered, they said. At present there is no known antidote to the poison except time.

MEDICAL AID PLANNED — Strategy designed to quickly pass a medical assistance bill as soon as Congress passes its expected new legislation has been announced by Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin. He is sponsor of a House bill to extend Kerr-Mills payments to elderly persons not on old-age pensions.

Wilson asked a House committee to report on his bill quickly so it could be passed on the floor and sent to the Senate. A Senate bill will not be considered until the federal legislation is enacted, he said. In this way, the Senate version can authorize participation in the new federal plans and the details can be worked out to the satisfaction of House members in a conference committee.

Old-age pensioners already are eligible for help on their medical bills through the federal-state program.

LIQUOR, RACING BILL HEARINGS SET — Horse racing and "Small bottles" liquor bills are expected to turn out some of the biggest crowds at legislative hearings this month.

Bill by Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville to legalize parimutuel betting on horse races will be heard by House State Affairs Committee on March 29.

Edinburg Sen. Jim Bates' bill to permit sale of two-ounce bottles of liquor by restaurants will get hearing before Senate jurisprudence committee on March 16.

San Antonio Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry has introduced a proposed constitutional amendment of his own to legalize horse racing on a local option basis in Bexar, Cameron, Dallas, Hidalgo, Harris, Galveston, Midland, Tarrant and Webb counties.

Only teacher pay raises attract more mail to lawmakers than parimutuel wagering and liquor-by-the-drink legislation. This year, there's strong support on, as well as opposition, to both propositions.

"SPENDING" RULE ROW FLARES Tightening of a joint House-Senate rule banning consideration of single-purpose spending measures ahead of the general appropriations bill may mean the differences in the type of pay raise teachers get this year.

Senators adopted 22-9 a "compromise" version making the provisions of a stricter House-passed Joint Rule 9-A effective only during the first 120 days of the session. The House is expected to agree.

Opponents say the rule still will prevent even a committee hearing of teacher pay bills until last 20 days of the session — or until the budget is adopted and certified by the comptroller.

Teachers fear the delay will be used to gain support for Connally's long range, graduated pay bill, which they claim gives them far less than their own $45-a-month across-the-boards raise proposal.

CITIES ASK SALES TAX — Spokesmen for cities urged a legislative committee to recommend that cities be given authority to levy local sales taxes up to one per cent if citizens vote approval in special elections. They said they have gone about as far as they can with raising property taxes and need additional sources of revenue to provide necessary services.

Union representatives argued there still is plenty of mileage left in property tax. Also a local sales tax would hit little people harder and lighten the load on those most able to pay.

In House revenue and tax committee hearing at same time, tobacco industry spokesmen said a bill to raise the cigarette tax a penny a pack would be a serious blow to them.

Both bills went to sub-committee.

REDISTRICTING — Legislators got a sampling of public views on congressional and legislative redistricting during a four-hour public hearing before the House Districts Committee.

As expected, they didn't get much help since every plan advanced met opposition from some quarter.

House committee members heard lengthy testimony on four congressional reapportionment proposals and two bills to realign the state House of Representatives.

Eight more measures remain to be heard. Chairman Gus Mutscher of Brenham said he hopes to set all of them next week and get the job into the hands of sub-committees as the Senate districts committee already has done.

In the Senate, Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall is interviewing individual senators on how congressional lines should be redrawn. House sub-committees are moving into their second week of similar contacts with the 150 representatives.

Gifts to March of Dimes Financed Promising Research Projects in '64

Nine March of Dimes-financed research studies in birth defects have shown outstanding progress in 1964. The projects were cited by Dr. Theodore E. Boyd, research director for The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

"Each year in the U.S., 250,000 babies are born seriously defective," Dr. Boyd said. "But new knowledge is being gained daily. The nine developments show that March of Dimes contributions are financing promising studies."

Dr. Boyd reported that in 1964 The National Foundation-March of Dimes appropriated almost $5,000,000 for research. In addition there are now 51 March of Dimes Birth Defect Treatment Centers across the country, he said.

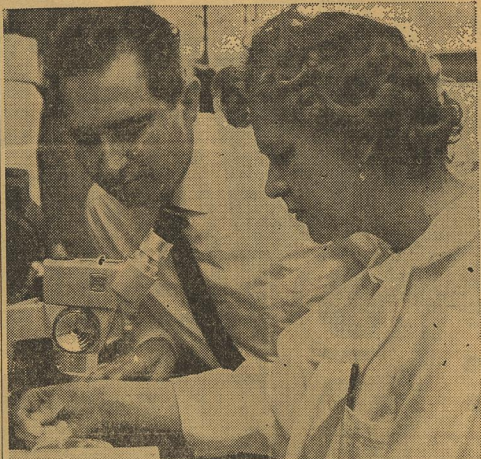

The nine projects cited are as follows:

1. German Measles Test. First clinical use of a new test to tell whether someone has already had German measles—a virus disease which can damage an unborn baby when it infects the mother during early pregnancy—has shown it to be rapid and reliable. This was reported by Dr. Gordon C. Brown, epidemiologist, University of Michigan.

2. Discovery of Cell Abnormalities in Patients with Dwarfism. Dr. Andrew E. Lorincz, University of Florida, discovered something wrong with liver cells in children with the disease called Hurler's syndrome, a form of dwarfism. Enzyme-containing sacs were found missing from these cells. The clue may pinpoint the error in body chemistry responsible for this birth defect.

3. Mental Retardation and Congenital Anomalies. In mental retardation of unknown cause, research indicated something went wrong before birth, rather than at or after birth. Investigation showed that of 50 children with mental retardation of unknown cause, 42 percent also had three or more visible structural congenital defects. This association of multiple anomalies is strong evidence that retardation of this type is itself a birth defect. This was reported by Dr. David W. Smith, University of Wisconsin.

4. Knowledge About Defect of the Nervous System. Information providing clues to diagnosis of a rare hereditary disease of the involuntary nervous system was reported by CLUES to origins of congenital heart defects were developed by Dr. Oscar Jaffe, State University of New York, Buffalo, seen with lab assistant.

Dr. Joseph Daniels, New York University. Called dysautonomia, the condition causes excessive sweating and saliva, skin blotching, hypertension and mental retardation.

5. Findings Link Birth Defect to Abnormal Immunity Mechanism. A rare inherited disease, ataxia telangiectasia, appears to belong to a group of diseases involving hereditary defects in body mechanisms which provide immunity. This was reported by Dr. Robert A. Good, University of Minnesota, who discovered that children with the disease are poor at producing antibodies, are prone to respiratory infections and lymphoid cancers and have an underdeveloped thymus gland, the master gland of immunity. Victims are unable to coordinate their movements.

6. Evidence Ties Up Autoimmunity to Chromosome Defects. First evidence connecting abnormal chromosomes with autoimmunity, a process in which the body's defense machinery gets out of kilter and antibodies are made that attack the body's own tissue, was reported by Dr. Melvin M. Grumbach, Columbia University.

7. Method for Screening Patients with Chromosome Defect. Children with Down's syndrome have a chromosome abnormality that was found to have peculiar structures in certain white blood cells. Victims have multiple physical defects and usually die early. Since similar defects occur in other diseases, finding the blood cell peculiarities offers a useful method for diagnosis. This was reported by Drs. Frederick Hecht, E. R. Huehns and M. Lutzer, University of Washington.

8. Disorders Possible with Hereditary Variations of a Single Enzyme. A variant has been found of a blood enzyme which in an abnormal form affects an estimated 100,000,000 people. Called G-6-PD, it is important clinically because most people who have it in deficient form react abnormally to antimalaria and sulfa drugs, and develop acute anemia. Discovery of the variant was reported by Dr. Harry M. Kirkman, University of Oklahoma.

9. Learning How Congenital Heart Defects Develop. Successful production in chick embryos of the two most common forms of congenital heart defects found in man provides fresh clues how the heart develops, normally and abnormally. The study was performed by Dr. Oscar Jaffe, State University of New York, Buffalo.

TB: the Problem that Won't Go Away

610,000 Americans still have active tuberculosis or are classified as "high risk" individuals.

A. 110,000 are known to have active tuberculosis.
B. 250,000 are recently recovered TB patients, many of whom are subject to relapse.
C. 250,000 are known to have had contact with new active TB cases recently reported.

610,000 persons, all told, are now in the TB picture—either as actively ill patients or in the "high risk" category. Christmas Seal funds help provide the hope and the means of achieving ultimate control and eradication of tuberculosis in the U. S.

How Can You Fight Birth Defects? March of Dime Has Good Advice

What would you do if a defective child were born in your family or to friends or neighbors? Would you know where to turn?

To answer these questions, marching mothers, more than a million strong, will distribute a new leaflet with sound advice for every family in the nation as they call on their neighbors during January for support of the March of Dimes fight against birth defects.

More than a quarter of a million babies are born each year in the U.S. with serious birth defects.

The leaflet being distributed by Mothers' March volunteers is called "THINGS TO DO IF..."

IF You Are About To Be Married,

- Select a family physician;
- Each partner should have a complete medical examination, providing the doctor with complete medical histories;
- Learn your blood groups and Rh factors (+ or -);
- Consult your physician together for advice important to your marriage, particularly if either family has a history of birth defects or if there is Rh incompatibility.

IF You Are Expecting a Baby,

- See a physician as early as possible to confirm pregnancy;
- Keep in close touch with him, reporting any unusual discomfort or bleeding;
- Follow the diet prescribed by your doctor;
- Do not take any drugs or medicines unless he tells you;
- Do not knowingly expose yourself to infectious diseases—particularly German measles;
- Tell your doctor you consult that you are pregnant so he may avoid prescribing harmful X rays or medication.

IF a Birth Defect Occurs in Your Family,

- Seek the best medical advice and treatment. Modern skills can often prevent or correct serious disability;
- Don't feel ashamed of yourself or the child born defective. No one is to blame so long as the stricken child is development of both the Salk and Sabin vaccines, to back its attack on birth defects. March of Dimes funds now support:

- more than 50 March of Dimes Birth Defects Centers across the U.S. which make the most advanced medical care and treatment for birth defects available to young victims and their families;
- a national research program which finances the work of scientists studying the causes of birth defects and seeking ways to prevent or correct them;
- a professional education program to train medical professionals in diagnosis and detection, and in practical application of scientific advances to treatment techniques;
- a public education program, of which the marching mothers' leaflet is a part, to alert the people to the magnitude of the birth defects problem and to let them know how much can be done to help defective children.

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

Dear Fellow Texan:
On the day before the Senate passed the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, I said "as we declare war on poverty, we dedicate ourselves to the blasting away of these last remaining barriers to the economic advancement of the economically lowest one-fifth of our Nation."

Since that time, this act has already begun to undermine the causes of poverty by providing the poor with education, training and job opportunities.

The impact of "hope for the future" has already been felt in Texas. For instance, last month, a loan to an elderly low income farmer in Long Branch saved his farm from foreclosure.

Under the Job Corps program, young people who are largely unemployable because they lack education and job skills are given training and basic work experience so that they are able to get a job.

The Gary Center in San Marcos, has been authorized more than 11 million dollars for the operation of such a Job Corps Center. More than $780,000 worth of excess equipment and supplies has been acquired from Federal surpluses for the preparation of this center. By March 1, over 300 youths will begin training, and in a year the number should reach 2,000.

Still in the planning stage is a proposal for a 100-man Job Corps Conservation Center at Big Bend National Park. This was proposed by the National Park Service and would include development of water facilities for wildlife; trail and road construction; surveying and marking boundaries; forestation, and other conservation projects.

Another facet of the program provides employment and investment incentives through a relaxation of credit criteria by the Small Business Administration. During last December alone, this agency approved loans for 75 Texas companies, amounting to more than $15 million, and affecting more than 600 employees.

Under other programs of the Act, Texas has been appropriated $1,411,483 for basic Adult Education. In addition, the Corpus Christi Independent School District has been given a grant of $135,000 for a neighborhood Youth Corps.

One of the most important parts of the Act is the "Community Action Program," where projects proposed by a rural or urban community that will help the needy obtain jobs or improve their education and living conditions are supported. So far, Texas has received a technical assistance grant of $70,000, and another grant of $295,000 has been given to the Community Committee of Youth Education and Job Opportunity in Corpus Christi.

In San Antonio there are twelve volunteers who will work under the supervision of Action for Community Development. Under this program, called Pista, these volunteers are used in projects in furtherance of

Notes Concerning Social Security

Women social security beneficiaries, 62 years of age and older, who receive checks as wives or widows, have checks asking Hal Geldon, social security district manager in Amarillo, about what and when they are required to report of the Social Security Administration.

Geldon pointed out that when an individual files an application for social security benefits, he agrees to report certain events to the Administration. A woman who receives wife's benefits is responsible for reporting changes in her marital status such as divorce, annulment, or the death of her husband. Individuals receiving widow's benefits must give notification when they remarry.

Geldon further stated that wives and widows under 72 must report when they have earnings from work or self-employment in excess of $1200 a year.

He also emphasized that failure to report changes in marital status may have an adverse monetary effect on monthly payments. It could result in an overpayment of benefits, which would have to be repaid or withheld from future benefits. If annual earnings in excess of $1200 are not properly reported, loss of months of benefits, in addition to regular deductions, could result.

Specialist Suggests Planting Pecan Trees

If you plan to plant trees this spring, Texas' state tree, the pecan, might be a wise choice.

One of the most widely adapted trees in Texas, the pecan serves a dual purpose good, edible nuts, says B. G. Hancock, Extension horticulturist at Texas A&M University.

"One of the most important decisions to make is the selection of a proper variety," says Hancock. "Hundreds of varieties are available but only a few are specifically adapted to given areas and interests."

Mahan and Stuart varieties are most widely used for shade purposes because of their strength and desirable habit of growth.

Mahan is the most widely distributed variety. It can be grown in practically every area of the state. Stuart is best adapted to the Gulf Coast and Eastern and Central Texas.

Choctaw, one of our new USDA varieties, shows promise of being a good all purpose shade tree in the Gulf Coast, Eastern and Central Texas.

Desirable and Success varieties are popular where production of high quality nuts is of primary importance. However, because of their structural growth habits, neither is ideal for shade purposes. They are best adapted to Central and East Texas.

Wichita, Western Schley and San Saba Improved are good varieties for nut production in West Texas.

If given correct cultural care, ample moisture and the proper nutrient elements, pecans can add much to our lives, said Hancock. Not only do they add beauty to our homes, they also greatly increase the value of property and may well serve as a heritage to future generations.

The Student Senate met Wednesday, February 24, during Activity Period with President Steve Hutvorn presiding. All those who ordered jewelry were reminded to pay Linda McCollum. Those who attended the convention at Littlefield were urged to pay Chuck McKinney 50 cents. Each member of the Student Senate is required to sell five boxes of candy before March 3. The volleyball and skit committees were urged to meet, and the meeting was adjourned.

Personality of the Week

On July 7, 1948, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Willis, Jr. were blessed with another daughter, Jan. Jan has changed greatly since that day in the middle of the summer. For instance: her favorite food is now steak instead of that old formula; her favorite movie is Giant; Actor is the rugged Paul Newman; actress is the delicate Suzanne Pleshette; her favorite song is no longer a hullyaby, but is Right or Wrong. Jan spends a great deal of her time reading or listening to the stereo but she does take time to participate in F.H.A., Band, and Lyre Club (ever since her freshman year), and is a member of Drama Club this year. Jan played Mary in the all school play, "Rest Assured", this year. Jan plans to attend Texas Tech and major in business after she graduates from DHS next year. Good Luck, Jan.

Donna Kay Waggoner Enjoys Songs By Buck Owens Or George Jones

January 7, 1947, in Amherst, Texas, Fred F. and Margaret N. Waggoner welcomed their second daughter, Donna Kay, into their happy home. Later in her life she entered high school and joined several organizations. She belonged to Choir two years, Pep Club three years, and F.H.A. four years.

She tells everyone of the advantages of the 1965 Bonneville Pontiac, and she herself prefers black with blood-red interior. She went to the drive-in movie and especially enjoyed "Your Cheating Heart" with George Hamilton. People complain of her blowing open the windows by turning up the radio when "The Race is On" or "A Toast to the Bride" comes on. For that matter, she enjoys listening to any song by Buck Owens or George Jones. At any drive-in she orders Mexican food with Fritos and Bean Dip.

After graduation she plans to spend one more summer at home or go to Arkansas; then she plans to go to beauty school either in Plainview or Hobbs, New Mexico.

Medicine Discussed As A Vocation

The vast majority of medical practitioners are general or family doctors. They are the ones who treat colds, who set broken bones, who take care of the common children's diseases such as measles and chicken pox. The rest of the doctors are either specialists or hospital, government, or industrial employees. A specialist is a doctor who has had extensive experience and training in the diagnosis and treatment of a particular disease or of specific parts of the body. The doctors who are salaried employees work for hospitals, industrial corporations, government agencies, medical training institutions, and other educational establishments. Many of the positions they hold are in research, in teaching, in public health, in accident prevention programs, or in hospital administration. Preparation for the field of medicine is long, arduous, and expensive. It should be undertaken only by individuals who possess a generous endowment of intelligence, an aptitude for scientific pursuits, the ability to master a tremendous amount of detail, and the willingness to devote a considerable amount of time to intensive study. Furthermore, an interest in people and their well-being is important. Naturally, good health is fundamental. The long hours in the laboratory and in the library while at school and the long working hours later on will overwhelm the individual with a physically weak condition. The opportunities for entering a recognized medical school are very limited, with vacancies normally existing for only one out of every four that apply. College marks, extra-curricular activities, personality, and possible letters of recommendation will be carefully scrutinized. The medical course is difficult, with disapproval awaiting the unqualified or unwilling student.

Ordinarily, you must possess a college degree with major specialization in biology and chemistry to enter a recognized medical school. You will have to complete four years of medical school to receive the degree of doctor of medicine. Following that, you may be required to serve a period of internship at a hospital in order to qualify for the licensing examination given by your state. These examinations are difficult and require additional study. There will be little time for you to indulge in recreational or social activities during your training. Working after school, could be an impossibility. Hence sufficient financial resources are an important consideration. It may take you anywhere from one to five years after you establish your independent practice to earn a livelihood, but once you have attained this establishment the job pays well.

Aunt Mahitabel

Dear Aunt Mahitabel:
 My future husband quit school early in high school. I can tell that he is sorry now for what he did, but he refuses to go back to school now. Can you tell me how to get him to finish high school in some manner and get his diploma? I would be extremely grateful for any help you can give me.

Bride-to-be

The best thing to do would be to put off your marriage until he finishes his high school education. But he may not be that sorry about not finishing high school.

If he doesn't want you to delay your wedding, you could go to work and help him finish high school. But this would be very hard.

You're young and it would be hard to do. But it will be hard for him to get a job and keep it without a high school education.

Best Wishes
 Aunt Mahitabel

Robert McLean's Future Plans Include Attending Texas Tech

Ft Worth, Texas, was the scene that marked the lives of many people on July 29, 1947. This was the grand day that Robert McLean entered the busy world of today. Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McLean. Since that day, he has become a very active member of Dimmitt High School. During his high school years, he has been in organizations such as the Band, the F.F.A., and the Drama Club. His Junior year Robert was elected treasurer of the junior class. Robert names Mexican food as his favorite. His hobby is flying which he likes very much, but he does not like people who think that they are better than everyone else.

Robert's favorite song is "Your Cheatin' Heart" and his favorite singer is Hank Williams. When he wants to see a movie, he enjoys watching "Hud" starring Paul Newman. His favorite actress is Ann Margaret. Robert's favorite car is the Riviera and his favorite color is red.

After graduating from Dimmitt High School, Robert plans to attend Texas Tech.

Bobcat Tale Philosopher

What Do You Think?

The journalism department is initiating and instigating a "fire and brimstone" campaign against the trashy filth found on the screen of almost every movie theater in America.

It seems to be an accepted fact that the movie producers are making what they think the American public wants. We, as part of this public want to seek out the opinions of others as to the level of entertainment being provided for us. If we are wrong in believing this is not what the majority of Americans enjoy, we shall be forced to subsidize. If we are right, something can and will be done to let the movie industry know what we want.

Dimmitt Bobcat Band Prepares For Regional

The Dimmitt Bobcat Band is again hard at work. The band is now devoting full time to the Regional Band contest, which is to be held during the latter part of April in Lubbock. At contest, the band will play "Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral," "Sequoia," and "Gerona," a stirring Spanish march. The band played "Elsa's" six years ago, and it was successful enough for Smith to choose it again this year.

The band has two reasons to strive for success; a first division rating at this concert contest, together with the first division earned in marching, would earn the band a sweepstakes, the highest possible rating. Also, as all DHS students know, the band is going to the Battle of the Flowers Festival in San Antonio in April, but Smith says he will not take the band unless they win sweepstakes. The Bobcat band is the only band ever to be reinvited to the Festival, and this in their third invitation. Let's hope our band goes all the way.

Final Annual Shipment Mailed

Friday, February 26, 1965, the Journalism class said a silent prayer as the last annual shipment was packed and ready for the post office. This shipment contained all of the advertising, and parts of the activities and sports. This annual should be the biggest and best Bobcat annual ever to be published. Upon its arrival in the middle of May, we the Journalism Class, hope that you will enjoy it and cherish it as much as we have enjoyed working and editing this great book.

Dimmitt Young Farmers Hear Edd McLeroy

Dimmitt Young Farmers heard Edd McLeroy, vice president and agriculture representative at the First State Bank last Thursday night in their regular meeting.

The local banker spoke on "Measuring Management Ability on Farm Loans"

He said, "Management ability today is one of the most important factors in determining whether a particular farmer can make a successful and profitable use of a loan"

McLeroy continued, "A farmer needs to have certain guidelines to follow. Management is measured as an art and a science. A farmer now, more than ever before, needs to have a complete set of records of his farming and living operation."

Having been associated with the farmers and their business management practices and records for a number of years, Mr. McLeroy set forth a few characteristics of a successful farm manager and the less successful manager.

Successful characteristics are:

- Has fairly specific and definable goals; plans ahead.
- Identifies the real problem; analyzes difference between what is and what ought to be within framework of his own goals.
- Perfects the power of observation. Sorts out big management decisions from little ones and invests time accordingly.
- Is possessed of vigor, health, energy, willing to face risk.
- Remembers that yesterday's right decisions might be wrong tomorrow, yet moves ahead.
- Is blessed with power to forget; sees a challenge in the "new", exercises initiative.
- Finds or makes time to manage; takes advantage of unique opportunities
- Allocates time, talents to serving family and community.
- Involves wife as help-mate in business and community affairs.
- Is honest and ethical, develops personal ability to deal with people.
- Is technically competent.

Those attending Young Farmers include Monty Boozer, Ben Holcomb, George Sides, Richard Hunter, Rayphard Smithson, Robert Yates, Glen Odum, Martin Young, Pat Thompson.

THE STATUE, THE BELL, THE MARBLE MONUMENT

It is not so incredible that the enemies of our American system would plot to destroy things symbolic of our system's strength - a statue, a bell, a marble monument.

Communists fear these symbols; they can understand them no better than they can understand the concept of freedom itself. But they know the statue, the bell, and the marble monument mean a great deal to us and thus are dangerous to them.

To the Communist mind, it is ludicrous that anyone could take inspiration from a statue perched on an island in the middle of a busy harbor. But, since people obviously do take inspiration from the statue, that statue (so goes the Communist line of thought) ought to be destroyed.

It is not only an inability to understand the symbols of freedom that stirs Communist hatred for the Statue of Liberty, the Liberty Bell, and the Washington Monument, it is also envy. The Communists possess no equivalent symbols. They are jealous of ours. Our symbols appeal to the heart and mind, to human aspirations for dignity and worth and liberty. Communist symbols are reminders that in the Communist way of things the individual is subservient to, and to be dominated by, the all-powerful state.

The main symbol of Communism appears to be the mausoleum in Red Square in which is entombed the body of the original Soviet despot, Nikolai Lenin. By the hundreds, Russian citizens each day file past the case containing Lenin's body, although it is not clear what inspiration they are to take from the sight of it. For a time, Lenin's resting place was shared by his successor, Joseph Stalin, but Stalin did not long enjoy Communist favor after his death and his body was moved to a grave and monuments praising him were razed.

There are other meaningful symbols of Communism.

There is the wall erected across Berlin to trap a people in slavery, a monument to the bankruptcy of communism's appeal.

There is the 2,000-mile armed barrier stretched across the breadth of the European Continent - the Iron Curtain - to keep the population of the satellite states in their Red chains.

There are the concentration camps in Siberia, the grim prisons in Cuba, the unspeakable dungeons of Red China, in which the enemies and critics of communism are entombed in a living death.

These are the bitter, bleak symbols of communism and its hopelessness. Communists deny them, but they exist - and the world knows it.

It is little wonder that the Com-

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D. Commissioner of Health

Texas public school teachers are facing more teaching problems today than ever before.

High on the list of reasons for this situation are the difficulties involved in presenting instruction on whole subjects or portions of subjects which cannot be properly taught using normal classroom methods.

Many teachers in the State - particularly counsellors and health and physical education teachers - have found a solution to this problem through the film library of the Texas State Department of Health in Austin.

The library offers the largest selection of films in the Southwest and makes the films available in an easy, effective manner. Any teacher, or any interested person, for that matter, may request and use a film on a topic related to health by contacting the Health Department.

A catalogue listing 611 titles was recently published and is available on request from the Film Library, 410 East 5th Street, Austin.

A part of the Health Department's Division of Public Health Education, the library shelves 2,015 films for 611 titles. It contains films with viewing times ranging from four to 57 minutes, covering practically all phases of personal and community health.

Most of the films were produced commercially, but many of them were written and produced for specific Texas application. All films are aimed at a single purpose: teaching good health practices.

Last year library personnel book-munists would wish to destroy our symbols - the Statue of Liberty, which welcomed to this bright new land so many millions fleeing oppression and seeking opportunity; the Liberty Bell, which rang out in celebration of our Declaration of Independence; the Washington Monument, which honors the Father of Our Country and denotes the love we all share for our United States.

We are, of course, glad that the plot to destroy the symbols of our freedom was detected in time. But we can be proud that the enemies of our country find these symbols so dangerous.

Frank Pollard To Speak At Wayland Inspirational Hour

Frank Pollard, pastor of First Baptist Church, Dimmitt, will be the featured speaker for the Wayland Inspirational Hour at Wayland Baptist College Thursday, according to an announcement by R. B. Hall, director of religious activities.

In keeping with the tradition of excellent and well planned programs for WIH, the Baptist Student Union is sponsoring Pollard's visit to the campus. Previous speakers for WIH have included Landrum Leavell, Eddie Nickeson, Dick and Bo Baker, and Dr. Roy C. McClung, president of the college.

Pollard is well known as a pastor and youth evangelist in the West Texas area. He has held revivals not only in Texas, but in Illinois, Colorado, and Utah.

He was graduated from Texas A&M College in 1955 and received his BD Degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in 1959. While at Texas A&M, he was second baseman for the freshmen baseball team and then for the varsity nine. He also served as president of Baptist Student Union.

Pollard has been vice-president of District 8 Baptist Convention for two years, district Royal Ambassador leader for three years, and served as president of Seagraves Rotary Club while pastor at First Baptist Church, Loving.

Prior to his pastorates at Dimmitt and Seagraves, Pollard served as associate pastor of First Baptist Church, Big Spring, and as pastor of First Baptist Church, Loving.

35,429 showings for a total of 1,534,942 viewings, representing more than one-tenth of the entire Texas population.

In addition to providing Texas school teachers with films for classroom aids, the library makes films available to religious and fraternal organizations and to civic groups.

Practically any club or organization may book films for a general interest or educational viewing, but they are limited to use within the State.

If you happen to be this month's program chairman for a neighborhood ladies' club, perhaps you'd like to show clubmembers an approved, step-by-step method of making a baby's formula. There is a sequence in a film titled "Linda" to do exactly that.

Or perhaps your civic club is studying use of narcotics. "Monkey on the Back" may be of help to you.

All films are shipped parcel post, with the borrower paying return postage.

Applications Being Accepted For FCIC

Applications for Federal Crop Insurance on irrigated cotton and grain sorghum are now being accepted in Castro County it was announced today by Ben A. Jordan, Jr., State Director, for FCIC. The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is an agency of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Under the program, participating farmers are protected against crop losses from natural hazards, Jordan said. He added that nearly 12,000 farmers in 49 Texas counties are carrying almost $40 million in FCI protection.

Federal Crop Insurance guarantees a basic harvest, pegged at the value of the approximate production costs and pays the difference between actual harvest and the guarantee when the crop is damaged or destroyed. In 1964, crop insurance protected 23 varieties of crops on nearly 15 million acres. Payments for crop losses last year totaled $30 million.

According to Jordan, the 26-year-old Federal Crop Insurance service now operates in 1,212 counties in 36 states. Over a third of a million farmers protected $550 million in farm expenses during 1964 with Federal Crop Insurance. The self-help service operates like any other insurance plan, with farmers paying yearly premiums based on past crop production and loss experience and with payments for crop losses being paid from this premium fund.

"When crop damage hits an area", Jordan explains, "it hurts everyone for miles around - merchants, bankers, every business and profession feels the loss. Federal Crop Insurance is meant to put money back into an area when weather, insects or disease have crippled the economy."

Soil Fertility Day

Local GSPA Re-elects Wes Anthony President

A group of 40 farmers and interested persons attended the annual Soil Fertility Day Wednesday, February 24 in the Dimmitt Junior High auditorium.

In a business session held at the close of Fertility Day program local Grain Sorghum Producers Association elected the following officers and directors for 1965: Wes Anthony, president; Melvin Barton, vice-president; Frank Wise, secretary-treasurer; Carl King, Donald Wright, Don Carpenter, Joe Drerup, D L Thomason, Raymond Wiley, John Gilbreath, Calvin Petty, Ed Bennett, Dale Winders, Doyle Underwood and James Welch

Wes Anthony, '64 president also, gave a short report concerning the local GSPA activities. He said, "Castro County elevators, with the exception of two elevators who have not reported, handled 584,964,000 lbs of milo in 1964." According to Anthony 354 farmers in the county have contributed to GSPA this year.

Nolan Chandler, first assistant to executive vice-president of GSPA told the group that Castro County is one of the top counties in supporting GSPA.

Chandler said, "Basically '64 was a pretty good crop year. National production of grain sorghum was down 20 per cent however."

He said, "1964 held fairly good prices for grain sorghum compared in earlier years. Price was 11 cents higher at end of market year in '64 than at same time in 1963."

Concerning future farm legislation Chandler emphasized, "We need to make sure that administrative decisions do not cut the profits out of feed-grain program."

First speaker of the afternoon Soil Fertility program was Dean Howard who is with the High Plains Research Foundation. He spoke on "Water Management."

Howard emphasized, "There must be an interest shown in holding down the depletion of our water supply." He told the group that in the High Plains situation we did not have any running source of water to replenish our underground source.

He pointed out some things being done to remedy this problem such as artificial recharge, tailwater recirculation system, underground tiling system, ground preparation, benching, etc.

Howard declared the key to conserving water is "We're going to have to pump less of it and make it go further."

He said the High Plains Research Foundation is trying to sell a prolonged water supply.

Howard also spent a few minutes discussing grain sorghum irrigation-fertilizer tests and the results at the Foundation. He said, "As grain sorghum irrigation tests proved, the key to maximum production is the timeliness of the application of irrigation water."

Jim Murphrey, farm management specialist with Extension Service was the second speaker. He talked about costs and returns for the farmer in planning farm program. He said, "Our concern here is utilizing your resources as you approach the 1965 crop year."

Murphrey pointed out this bit of wisdom to the farmers. "Keep farming budget in good balance since we don't know what 1966 holds as all of our farming programs are coming to an end in 1965."

Murphrey said, "As we begin to measure cost or income received from making a crop we need to study our unit cost production."

"Too often we look at a net return per acre only and we need to take a look at input or output per acre of labor, land, capital and water."

Murphrey added a somber note in his address as he said, "Here in this area, we are not in so good financial state. Bankers carried over more notes this year than they have in a long, long time."

He continued, "Bankers are taking a closer look at agriculture loans and in some places are cutting farmers off completely."

The farm specialist pointed out to the farmers that their most limited resource at this time may be money.

He said, "We need to take a look at our farming operation and see what or where we can get the most out of our most limited resource, money, water, land or labor."

He concluded, "Do not make the mistake of doing what your neighbor is doing, his resources may be different from yours."

Dr. Allen Wiese, agronomist at Bushland, addressed the group on "Chemical Weed Control."

With the use of colored slides, Dr. Wiese demonstrated types of weed control for cotton and grain sorghum.

He said, "Our chief weed in this area is the careless weed."

Types of control include pre-plant, pre-emergence (put on immediately after planting) and post-emergence.

Pre-plant chemicals for cotton include Treflan and Dacthal. Pre-emergence herbicides include Karmex, wet or dry applications, Dacthal, Herban, Treflan and Caparol. Application of these herbicides will cost about $1.50 per acre according to Dr. Wiese. Post-emergence herbicides include oils, Karmex and Diuron.

He pointed out that farmers have never been bothered by residues on cotton in application of pre-emergence herbicides.

Grain sorghum herbicides include Propazine for pre-emergence, Atrazine for post-emergence, and Karmex for controlling small weeds in 15 inch sorghum.

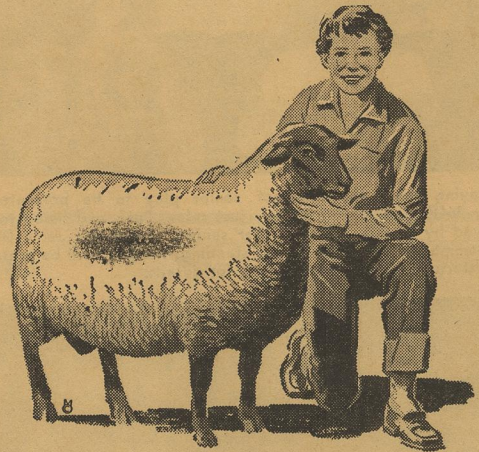

He said, "Propazine will last for six weeks on surface, works beautifully on careless weeds but not as good on grasses."

Dr. Wiese elaborated on Atrazine. He said, "It will kill small careless weeds if they are no more than 2 inches high. Atrazine pound for pound is a better herbicide than propazine, however, it is a little too hot for grain sorghum."

He said, "Diuron is pretty good grass killer if grasses are real small. Don't dare hit sorghum plants with Diuron. I have ruined six inch sorghum growth by spraying on Diuron to kill small weeds."

Soil Fertility Day was sponsored by the Extension Service. Charles Hottel, County Agent worked out the program for the Fertility Day.

DONALD A. JOHNSON

Johnson Named PCG Executive

Youthful Texas Tech graduate Donald A. Johnson was named Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at a meeting of the PCG Board of Directors in Lubbock February 22. The vote of the Board was unanimous. He succeeds George W. Pfeifferberger who served as executive officer of the 23-county, 25,000 member cotton producer organization from 1956 until his death in December of last year. Johnson had served as Executive Assistant to Pfeifferberger since 1962.

He joined the staff of Plains Cotton Growers in 1960 as Field Service Representative working with farmers, ginners and agricultural leaders over the High Plains area. His outstanding work in this capacity and ready grasp of other duties with the organization gained him the post of Executive Assistant after two years, and in this position he gathered valuable experience and knowledge of PCG's broad program of research, promotion, legislative work, educational programs and textile mill consulting service.

Johnson, born in 1933, is a native of Hamlin, Texas and has been associated with cotton farming virtually all of his life. After High School he entered Texas Tech in 1951 and four years later was graduated with a BS in Agricultural Education. He averaged 25 hours per week part time work while in college, paying two-thirds of his expenses for the four years and at the same time maintaining better than a "B" average for all college work. He later returned to Texas Tech to complete nine hours graduate work in advanced chemistry. In addition to work with PCG, Johnson served two years with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, in charge of organizing and conducting in - service education programs, some 13 months of which was spent in Germany; taught chemistry and science in the Olton High School, Olton, Texas, and was employed with two agricultural chemical companies as chemist and in field service work.

In an interview following his appointment by the Board, Johnson simply said that he felt honored at being selected, and that he would do all in his power to merit the confidence placed in him.

Johnson is active in the First Nazarene Church of Lubbock and is a member of Alpha Zeta social and honorary fraternity, Alpha Chi honor fraternity, and is a Junior Rotarian. He lives at 3835 27th Street, Lubbock, with his wife, Yvonne, and two children, Nancy, 12 and Linda Sue, 8.

New Fire Siren Installed Here

Dimmitt has a new fire siren with 7 1/2 horsepower announces Guy Waldrop, Fire Marshal. The siren replaced the old 5 horsepower fire whistle which has been serving Dimmitt since 1928.

For 37 years, the old siren alerted firemen with its shrill, insistent voice. It was silenced forever with the installation of the new 400 pound whistle purchased from Darley Co., Chicago, Illinois.

The old siren had been repaired several times during the past years according to Waldrop until finally, it would have taken all new parts to repair it.

The new alert system was installed Wednesday, February 24. According to the marshal, it can easily be heard all over the city.

Marion McKinney Will Speak To Young Homemakers
