Shortage Is Feared Than Highway Accident

Drivers apparently are more concerned about wearing out their tires than they are about possible accidents, according to Bill Angus, Highway Patrolman of the state.
Angus said that along the highways there has been a shortage of tires. He said that the Highway Patrolman of the state has been ordered to rationing tires. He said that the shortage

Texas Youth Writes Of Dec. 7 Attack Upon Pearl Harbor

By United Press
GLADEWATER, Tex.—Beating the Japs away from Pearl Harbor was only a "before breakfast" job to the defenders, a former Gladewater boy wrote his mother, Mrs. Pearl Crabtree.
"We took a few shots at the slant-eyes and chased them away.
Then we went back and ate our breakfast," related Marine Pvt.
Leslie Doyle Crabtree.
"Nobody was much alarmed.
The Japs were bum shots. I hope we meet a million more of the same kind."
But first, he wanted to join his brother, Vernon Crabtree, army corporal in the Philippines. Mrs.
Crabtree has not heard from Vernon. He enlisted six years ago and two and one-half years ago was sent to Manila.
Leslie's company was awarded a medal for being "first in action" at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7. He admitted being surprised by the sneak attack but said he "wasn't scared a bit."

Eight Ranger Boys Live In Big Co-op At A. & M. College

By J. A. JOHNSON, JR.
There are eight Ranger Aggies living in the Eastland county unit of the project house system at Texas A. & M.
This is the largest student cooperative in the world, and is composed of 20 separate project houses, each of which are managed entirely by the students themselves. All expenses are shared by the boys, and the entire system is organized as a unit to buy groceries more cheaply.
These cooperatives were first organized about 1935 to enable students unable to find rooms on the campus to attend A. & M., but they are now located on the campus at College Station and are organized as a military unit like the other dormitories.
The entire cooperative system is under the supervision of Dr. Dan Russell, and the individual units are sponsored by the county agents of each county maintains a house.
The first students from Ranger to live in the Eastland county house were Lieutenant Jack Morris, who is presently in the field artillery on the Philippine Islands, and Lieutenant Jack Palmer, who is now in Fort Benning, Georgia.
Seniors who will graduate this year are J. A. Johnson, Buster Wheat, B. S. Dudley, and E. E.
Kribbs. This graduation will leave only four Ranger students in the house: Dick Hodges, Bill Hodges, Bill Mitchell, and T. L. Wheat, and Ranger Aggies are looking for more boys to keep up the excellent record made by Ranger students at A. & M. in the past.

3 Islands In Philippine Group With Coastline As Long As In U. S. Are As Large As The British Isles

A land area of 114,400 square miles the embattled Philippines is slightly larger than the British Isles and slightly smaller than Japan proper. The New England states of New York, New York combined. This group made up of 7,083 islands, with within a rough triangle miles high and 660 miles in length.
The base in the South. Its indented coastline, almost as that of continental States, explains the difficulty encountered by the American forces in preventing Filipino landings.
These islands, 438 have an area of 3,387 square miles; 2, 100 have only 11 square miles.
The latter are the Luzon (40,814), Samar (18,000), Mindanao (30,906), Sulu (4,448), Negros (4,902), Palawan (3,522), Panay (4,448), Mindoro (2,779), Cebu (1,534), and Masbate (225).
The largest island in the Philippine group is Luzon, whose name "mortar" in Tagalog, one of the main Filipino dialects. Luzon is only a little smaller than the state of West Virginia.

It has rich deposits of gold, chromite and iron, and produces a wealth of hemp, copra, sugar and tobacco.
Lying as it does only 200 miles south of Taiwan (Formosa) and approximately 100 miles east of the Spratly Islands, which Japan occupied in 1937, Luzon was the logical recipient of the first blow in the attack on the United States.
Except for the Cordillera mountain chain, which runs down the whole Pacific Ocean side of the island and which cuts it in half just north of Cabanatuan, Luzon is a lowland traversed by rivers that regularly inundate their banks. Its perpetually fertile alluvial and coastal plains are naturally ideal for the cultivation of rice, tobacco, abaca (hemp), suggar, coconuts, bananas, timber, and many other tropical products.
The subsoil, too, is rich in gold, chromite, manganese, asbestos, and many other essential minerals.
Manila, the largest city in the Philippines and the capital of the country, is located on the estuary of the Pasig River, which flows into Manila Bay, the scene of the attack.

THAI MINISTER HOPES TO FREE HIS HOMELAND

By JOHN E. REICHMANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Thailand Minister Rajawongse Pram-oj is the latest, youngest and slightest addition to the diplomatic corps "nonman insurrectionists," but he makes up in his enthusiasm for democracy what he lacks in size or years.
He issued his manifesto against the surrender of his country to the Japanese invader before the ruins of Pearl Harbor had cooled. As soon as his government had capitulated, he announced he could no longer take orders from Bangkok.
His staff cheered him to the man—and he slept better that night.
Now his legion, its doorway surrounded by the figure of Garuda—a half man, half bird and an omen of good fortune—hums with activity as he prepares for history a paper destined to prove to the world that Thailand is a nation of free people, imbued with democracy, and hating the Japanese.
But Pramoj's two boys, Seri, nicknamed Toi, 9, and Umi, nicknamed Tul, 7, express the real sentiment of the legion.
Across the deep rugs, behind the rich oriental hangings and heavy silk drapes, they carry on a bitter but ever-winning pugilist battle against the Japanese. Toi wants to be a bombardier; Tul can't decide to join the army or the navy.
Pramoj joined the diplomatic corps here in 1940, at the age of 34. At home he had been a judge of the court of appeals, taught law at the university, criticized the opinions of the supreme court in

County's Farmers Asked to Uphold Quality Of Crops

Farmers of Eastland County have been appealed to to help along the nation's war effort by eliminating food waste and by producing only farm crops of unquestioned quality.
The appeal comes from H. C.
Darger, coordinator of the National Cream Quality Program, Chicago.
Darger is immediately concerned with the waste involved in that portion of cream produced on farms which, because of a low standard of cleanliness or care in production or handling or perhaps infrequent marketing, is found on delivery to the creamery to be unfit for manufacture into butter under the stringent federal food regulations. Cream thus rejected represents a serious loss to the nation's nutrition as well as to the farmer's pocketbook. Darger estimates the loss to American farmers from unfit cream, including seizures of shipments of butter and cream and the loss from price differentials between cream and butter that grade less than first quality, at $40,000,000 annually. This would indicate a loss to Texas farmers, who produce 1.9 per cent of the nation's butter output, of close to $760,000 a year, he figures.
According to Darger, there is no reason why any farmer should produce a poor grade of cream.
Everything hinges on the care the cream receives on the farm and the frequency with which it is delivered to the butter maker. The required sanitary precautions are easy and inexpensive for the average farmer to carry out. He can readily obtain any desired information from the state agricultural college or from the cream buyer or creamery with whom he does business. The little extra trouble involved in producing the best quality of cream not only makes available the maximum of protective food for the consumer but extra dollars as well for the farmer exercising this extra care, he said.

Meeting of Vital Importance Here Called Tonight

A very important meeting of all business and professional men and women of Ranger has been called for this evening at 7:30 in the City Hall, at which everyone is urged to be present.
The meeting is described as being of vital importance to everyone connected in any way with any business, large or small, throughout the city, and to all who are interested in the welfare of Ranger and in promoting more business for Ranger and the Ranger trade territory.
It is expected that the meeting will be brief, in order that no one will be kept away from other activities for any length of time, but it is of so much importance to everyone in business of any kind in Ranger that a large attendance is being urged.

Alameda Club Has A Regular Meeting

The Alameda Girls 4-H Club met Monday, Jan. 12. The house was called to order by the president and ways and means of raising money for the club was discussed.
Wanda Myrick gave a talk on "A Well Groomed Person." Wanda Wheatley gave a very interesting talk on "Care of Our Health."

Fender Bender Henderson

Heedful of threatening U. S. metal shortage federal price administrator Leon Henderson practices his program of wartime moderation as he straightens out a damaged fender on his 1936 sedan and smokes a 5-cent cigar.

NEW CARS TO BE RATIONED UNDER A PLAN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 14
Price Administrator Leon Henderson disclosed plans today to release from 614,000 to 674,000 new automobiles for sale by dealers under a rationing plan similar to that in operation for tires and tubing.
The plan, he said, had been presented for approval to the Supply Priorities and Allocations Board, which is soon to be reorganized, but he did not say when it might go into effect.
Henderson made the statement in testimony before a special House committee investigating the impact of the industrial effort on small business.
Henderson said that between 550,000 and 600,000 new cars now frozen by government orders, will be subject to rationing. A share of the 204,000 automobiles to be produced by the industry during January will be placed in the same category.
Of the January production, he said, the plan contemplates freezing from 130,000 to 140,000 for about a year to provide a stockpile for future needs.
The remainder, he said, will be thrown in with the present floor stocks, to be rationed to the public.

Detective Team Has Achieved Success

mid-month, succeeding Tom Jackson, who is retiring after 32 years service on the force.
Grant and Howard were fellow detectives in 1928.

Woman Questioned In A Theft Probe

ALLIES STRIKE BACK AT JAPANESE ON THE FAR EASTERN FRONTS

West Texas Shows
Increase In Cotton
Over Rest Of State

Allied armed forces struck sharp counter offensive blows at the Japanese offensively directed against Singapore and the Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines.
Dutch soldiers went into action against the Japanese on the borders of Sarawak Province, in Borneo, while Dutch airplanes bombed the enemy at Tarakan island and the enemy air base in the Southern Philippines.
American and Filipino forces on Bataan Peninsula, under Gen.
Douglas MacArthur, threw back two more Japanese thrusts in Bataan Province and American bombers were reported to be cooperating in attacks on the enemy bases and warships off of Tarakan and elsewhere in the East Indies.
British Imperials, aided by increased air support, were setting up a strong line on the Malaya Peninsula and were believed to be concentrating on a major stand on the borders of Johore Province, about 90 miles from Singapore.
The British were fighting considerably north of that line for the time being, however, but some believed that the major British stand would be made south of the present fighting lines, where the Malaya Peninsula is narrower and the defense lines would not be so long.
The net effect of these Allied operations is not counter offensive but defensive action, designed to slow up the enemy in all theaters of the Pacific, to stop the Japanese wherever possible until full Allied strength can be mustered for big-scale attacks.

Weapons To Whip Hitler Is Aim Of Production Chief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Donald Nelson, America's new war production and procurement chief, declared today that his aim is to produce enough war weapons to whip Germany and Japan in the "shortest possible time."
In letters to the Office of Production Management Director William Knudsen, Undersecretary of War Robert Paterson and Undersecretary of the Navy James Forrestal, Nelson said that any "organizational changes" needed to "lick Hitler and the Japs" will be made.

Texas Exes Begin Plans For Mar. 2

AUSTIN—Plans for tradination. John A. McCurdy, secretary of the Ex-Students' Association reports.

University campus speakers and several local speakers will fill engagements at the meetings, Mc-Curdy reported.
The traditional banquets this year will be held from coast to coast, several being planned in army training bases throughout the country.

Europe's Remaining Motor Vehicles Operate On Variety of Fuel Substitutes And Most of Them Are Unsatisfactory

Europe's motor vehicles, the few that are still operating, are using everything from alcohol made from bakery dough to producer gas from charcoal burners to replace almost unobtainable gasoline.
Before the war the 4,300,000 passenger cars and 1,400,000 commercial motor vehicles in Europe required about 75,000,000 barrels, or more than 3,000,000,000 gallons of imported gasoline, in addition to the quantities produced at home. For more than two years these imports have been blocked, and only a few of the most essential motor vehicles can still operate.
Four types of fuel are replacing gasoline, the Petroleum Press Bureau of London reports: liquid and gaseous products made from coal and lignite; liquid fuels obtained from oil shale and asphaltic rocks; power alcohol from farm, forestry and other products and producer gas generated from a variety of materials.
German ingenuity long before the war had perfected and was operating, though with heavy government subsidy, a vast industry making petroleum from coal and lignite by two synthetic processes.
Production of these high-cost fuels had reached almost to 10-000,000 barrels annually by 1938, and 1940* production may have been as high as 25,000,000 barrels. A tremendous proportion of this production of necessity is earmarked for military needs, however, and probably few civilian motorists ever see a gallon of it.
Small additional production of liquid fuel from coal is obtained as a by-product of coal carbonization in the coke-oven and gas-works industries of Germany and other European countries. Few countries besides Germany have been successful in developing a synthetic oil industry from coal, however, although France, Italy, and Belgium have made several attempts with small plants.
Liquefied gases, mostly obtained as a by-product of Germany's coal hydrogenation plants, are being used successfully. At the end of 1939 about 40,000 German motor trucks were operating on this compressed fuel, and the number probably has increased greatly

War is a Matter of Faith

War is a matter of faith.

War is not a chess game in which men sit in favored nooks of safe withdrawal and solve abstract problems.

War is not a balance of forces, in which some geometrical ratio between the productive power of one group is balanced out on a sheet of white paper against the productive power of another and the whole resolved into a nicely balanced equation.

War is not entirely factory against factory, gun against gun, plane against plane, though those are certainly important factors.

War today is not color against color, or race against race, or even nation against nation in the sense in which that was understood a few years ago. It is also men against men.

War is faith.

We have today a conflict of faiths, as we have had so many times in the world's past.

We are going to win this war, for many reasons. Not alone because we will pile up the greatest mound of munitions, though that will help, though perhaps it is indispensable. Not alone because we have at our disposal the greatest heap of natural resources, though that will help, and perhaps that, too, is indispensable. We are going to win it not alone because we have the most men and women, though that, too, is a vital advantage.

We are going to win this war because we have faith that the things we fight for are good, and needful to men. We are going to win because we shall cleave to our faith with a mighty straitness.

The other side believes it is ordained to establish a superiority over other men. The German and the Japanese believe (the Italians do not really believe it) that they are somehow chosen to dominate others. We believe in the right of the others to rule themselves. We wish dominion over none. That is the difference.

The other side believes man is a puppet, a cog, a unit. We believe man is a personality, a soul, a collaborator. We believe he is competent to get together with his fellowmen and to rule himself. That is the difference.

We have our faith. They have theirs. Which faith shall prove stronger? Which faith deserves to live? Which faith shall live?

The guns are necessary. The tanks, and the planes are necessary. The industrial production is necessary. The whole material panoply of victory is necessary. But in addition, there is needed faith, faith unbending and undying that what we struggle for is worth survival.

That is the faith that will carry us to victory.

After While It Will Draw Tighter

Lindbergh Chapter Is Left In Reader

AUSTIN.—Suggested revision of a reader for use of sixth grade pupils in Texas public schools because the reader carried a story of Charles A. Lindbergh's early life and trans-Atlantic flight has caused a flurry in the state board of education.

Revisions were discussed by the board at its January meeting after reporters and others had been excluded from the session.

It was ascertained, however, that the board's committee on revisions had given an OK to the chapter.

The chapter on Lindbergh is entitled "The Lone Eagle." It is adapted from accounts of the flight by Irving Crump. It tells of Lindbergh's early life; how he rode a motorcycle to San Antonio to enter the army's flying school there; his subsequent air pilot career; and the flight to Paris. It stops there. There is no reference to his later disagreement with the policies of the national administration.

Thai Minister

his law review, and generally earned the name of a radical young liberal.

He and his wife had bought lottery tickets regularly in the hope of a windfall that would permit them to visit the United States. Then he was named minister, his first diplomatic post.

World events left his quiet legation, just across the street from the French Embassy, untouched for a time. Then the war on Indochina and Japan's "mediation" of that conflict, Thailand fell in official grace and was called a "puppet" of Japan.

"We did not want that territory," Pramaj says, vehemently. It is called the equivalent of "Great Land," but the Thai people, who use monosyllables, refer to it as the "Black Land," which sounds almost the same.

"The Thai people hate the Japanese. They have been against the Japanese since early in the 17th century. Most of the government is not pro-Japan, or pro-anybody.

"If the government capitulated, it was done by two or three ambitious men, men who think Japan will make Thailand a great nation. They are just personally ambitious.

"In my own family, I was brought up to hate the Japanese. My mother frightened me with tales of them.

"When the invader took over our land, I could not accept orders imposed. All I have to live for is the restoration of my country. I do not know yet what attitude the State department will take toward the legation.

"I have spent my life in the public service of Thailand. All that is gone for nothing if my country is not free. I know what the Japs will do to my people. They will kill the country. They will give us opium and destroy us. You watch. Within a little time they will be selling cigarettes there that have opium in them. They won't let us speak the Thai language. Wait and see.

"Is it our fault that our people are small? Is it our fault that we had nothing with which to resist? But if our people have the spirit, they will be free again."

Educated in England at Trent College and later at Worcester College, a member of Grey's Inn, Pramaj gave up a scholarship he won in law school to return to his native land when he was 24. He is a great-grandson of Rama 11, a monarch of Thailand.

"But don't refer to me as a prince," he says. "In Thailand the son of a monarch is a royal prince, the grandson is a prince, and the great-grandson a princeling. The next son becomes a commoner. That shows even our monarchy is democratic. It rules only by the common consent of the people."

MAKING AMERICA STRONG

From camps all over the country, men are being dispatched regularly to the great industrial rubber center of Akron, Ohio, for thorough instruction in a wide variety of automotive maintenance and repair work. These courses instruct in the care and repair of tires, wheels, brakes, batteries and spark plugs. Special classes also are conducted to show the soldiers how to retread and recap tires—a vitally important job in view of the precarious nature of present rubber shipments from the Far East.

The companies grant certificates of efficiency to the soldiers upon the completion of their course. Many of these "graduates" return to their camps and instruct their own fellow-soldiers. Others are detailed to the maintenance of units for Uncle Sam's Army.

These industrial courses are a very important adjunct to the Army's quartermaster schools. These schools, which have been vastly expanded last year in order to train past numbers of men in the work of maintaining and repairing the Army's most two hundred thousand cars, trucks and motorcycles.

How to Keep Small Business Anti-Axising is Big Job Facing U. S. Employment Service

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Service Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—If the system worked right, these things happen when a small business faces a shutdown because it cannot obtain materials to continue making things for civilian consumption.

The employer, foreseeing inevitable should call in USES, the United States Employment Service. There are 1500 branch offices of this service scattered about the country, so is one near every town of any importance. Now that this service has been federalized taken out of the hands of the state governments by presidential order, these 1500 offices should be expected to function with more of a national point of view.

Once the USES boys are on the job, they supposed to give the working force of the a good look, classifying the employees by trades, and numbers.

At the same time USES is called in, the CDD—the Contract Distribution Division—be called in. CDD hasn't as many offices as USES, but USES men should know what the CDD branch hangs out. The function of CDD case would be to send in an engineer for a plant survey, check the machines and equipment, what it has been making for use, what it might be making for war use.

THE buck is then passed to Army and Navy contract division. Here is plant A, with a factory of so many square feet floor so many machines of such and such a type, so many employees such and such skills, and whadyougot for 'em to do?

Under ideal conditions, the Army or Navy would say, dandy. A has just what it takes for what we want and let 'em be piece of this. Employer A gets contract, workers keep on working and everybody is happy and gets lousy prosperous on war. But too often these ideal conditions don't exist. The plant small, or it can't quite convert, or the USES and the CDD of Army and Navy don't co-operate. Nothing happens after the war is made and employer A, sore and discouraged, shuts up the plant and starts looking for a job right along with his employees.

It is to overcome these difficulties that CDD and USES are their best efforts now. CDD was late getting reorganized under W. Odom to meet its problem after a false and somewhat ineffectual start. It will be heard from more and more during 1942. USES federalized into a more cohesive unit and with a young new in the person of John J. Corson, has yet to make its mark. There is any one agency which has the primary job of mobilization's manpower for maximum war production, it is that states Employment Service. OPM's labor division calls for its aircraft workers by the thousand. USES tries to find them.

THE PAY OFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK.—Herbert Bayard Swopes' annual report on New York racing is so elaborate that it at first might seem like a package containing it for one of the chairman's old suit clothes.

You may have read that the Master Tailors Council of Herb Swopes as America's best-dressed man.

When, to my utter disappointment, the package did not contain a uniform of which Commissioner Swopes had grown my thought was the report would make an excellent outfit is that huge.

I tackled it, however, and quickly found racing figures as goring as the report is long.

IT shows that attendance at all American tracks for the year 1941 was 15,000,000, the mutual handle $500,000,000, of which New York bet $133,982,574. Total state revenue, excluding federal tax for the country was $20,000,000, with New York paying its share $7,727,884, excluding income and real estate taxes.

Thoroughbreds are 56,000 in number in America, worth 600,000. They consume $11,000,000 of farm produce, cause employment of 56,000 persons who are paid $60,000,000 and support 224,000 in their families. The value of all the thoroughbred industry ramifications is $160,000,000.

Racing, it is apparent, is here to stay—as long as the pack can stand the gaff.

THATLL be great—Gary Cooper as Lou Gehrig.

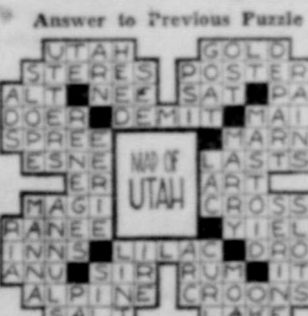

Still Cooper isn't any more miscast as Iron Man. Gehrig was the slick-haired Tyrone Power as Jesse James.

The next thing will be Mickey Rooney as John L. Sullivan. Shirley Temple in the role of Diamond Lil, after which no doubt will see Freddie Bartholomew as Stanislaus Zaykov. It could only happen in the movies.

SPEAKING of Harlo Scott, who replaced All-American England in the champion Wisconsin's basketball league. Badger tub thumper says: "While Scott does not have tremendous height and weight—standing no more than six feet three inches weighing only 185 pounds—he gets more than his share of defensive and offensive rebounds." These little fellows have a tough time as the game is played today.

TAMBAY GOLD

BY SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Mom Baumer wangles permission from Jane Ann Judson, last of aristocratic Mauries of run-down Tambay Plantation...

"You might have asked me that before you started." "She doesn't mind," Tatters said.

She smiled a queer sort of smile. "Parties are the same everywhere, I guess. You get passed from hand to hand around a hot and stuffy floor...

KIDNAPPERS, INC.

CHAPTER V

FOUR likely looking lads came in at nine-fifteen the evening of the Rogues' dance and called for waffles. Juddy, who was oiling up the order trolley...

THEY saluted like wooden soldiers. "Trusting to be favored with your continued patronage, we are and-so-forth."

WE found an upper passage where it was cool and quiet, with a door overlooking the dance floor. A man in complete soup-and-fish was sitting there...

It was the signal. They all stood up and yelled "What! No beer?" and stuck a bag over Juddy's head and shoulders...

"I want to go home," Juddy said. "Here's Mom Baumer, yearning her heart out to go to the dance..."

"I understand I'm not welcome there. Sorry, but I'm under University orders." "Have you stopped the work?" she asked.

"Pause for station identification," he said, and they opened up with a song. Then the back seat went to it, like the college kids do.

"I like fun." "You might have let me in," Juddy said. "I need a stimulant."

"You were't with them, were you?" "I was never with them. They kept me in school."

"Do you think I'm a heel?" In his dinner clothes he was about the best-looking thing outside the movies. No blame to Juddy for smiling.

An hour later we made our royal entry at the Rogues' dance. Angel Todd was in a corner surrounded by a bunch of drooling female twirps.

"There was a beautiful young Mrs. Judson with her husband at the Staffords' place in New Hampshire several years ago. It's probably only a chance resemblance..."

"What poise!" Rags said. "There's a sense of reserve power. Don't you feel it, fellows?" "Phoogy," Juddy said.

"I know. But it's the only way I could get you." "I like your gang." "What about me?" "I haven't decided yet."

"He seemed to be thinking that over before he said, 'I used to know Henderson Kent.'" "Her face had turned secret, you might almost call it sulky."

Use of producer gas possibly is saving Germany as much as 4,500,000 barrels of liquid motor fuel annually, the Petroleum Press service reports. But although this figure increases somewhat, there are definite limitations to its use.

Budget Remains Out of Joint With the Times, With War Costs Further Spreading the Margin

BY PETER EDSON NEA Service Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Budget estimates for running the government of the United States of America in the fiscal year 1943, which begins July 1, 1942, are about to be transmitted by the President to the new session of Congress.

This budget will be a dandy, and no fooling. It might reach as high as $50 billion, or approximately half of the estimated national income. The hard-working Budget Bureau, under quiet, serious, economist Harold D. Smith, has been adding to this budget since Sept. 15. Defense estimates have been raised several times since then, and the declaration of war has raised the total again.

The 1942 budget was pretty sizable. On Jan. 3, 1941, this budget, which the country is supposed to be operating on now, started out as a $17 billion baby, nearly $11 billion of which was to go for defense.

When Congress gets this message, the solons will have six months in which to argue about it before it is due to go into effect. For congressional action, the budget as a whole is divided into 11 sections covering Departments of Agriculture, Interior and Labor and federal security, War, Navy, Treasury and Postoffice Departments, State, Justice and Commerce Departments, independent offices, District of Columbia, legislative establishment, and deficiencies.

It is all this deliberative procedure which ends up the six months between the time a budget message is presented to Congress and the time it is scheduled to go into effect. All these appropriation bills must be passed before midnight of June 30, preceding the beginning of the new fiscal year for the appropriation to be legal.

Spraying, Pruning Of Fruit Trees To Be Demonstrated

Proper methods of spraying and pruning fruit trees will be shown at two demonstrations being arranged by county agent Elmo V. Cook on Thursday, January 22. A morning demonstration will begin at 9:30 a. m. and will be held at the Dallas J. Jobe orchard about a mile from German on the Carbor road and that afternoon at 2:00 p. m. at the Pete Roach farm about two miles East of Rising Star on the Okra road.

WOMAN CLUBS EAGLE TO DEATH

W. S. Coleman, wife of a farmer living near here, killed with a club an eagle that tried to attack her. The bird—a rarity in this section—had an eight foot wing spread and its longest claw measured seven inches.

THE PAY-OFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y.—Joe Louis Barrow turns into his 11th year of fighting with only a slight scar on his right eyelid to show for 110 battles—56 as a professional.
Joe Louis will be 28 years old, May 13. He has earned $1,750,000 with his fists.

What are the world champion's plans?
"Buddy Baer, Jan. 9. Billy Conn in June, and I hope dat boy, Lem Franklin, keeps coming," replies Louis, in his simple, straightforward way. "Anytime Mike Jacobs picks."
Would he box Franklin, the Cleveland Negro who has moved along like a prairie fire?

"With the greatest of pleasure," says Louis. "Roxy (Manager John Roxborough) and Chappie (Trainer Jack Blackburn) don't think much of him, but I know he has improved. I keep track of all them fellas."
"I'm going to see Franklin fight Bob Pastor in Cleveland in February. I've seen him two or three times."
"Now him lose a six round decision to Freddie Fudicia in the Sarden. He hasn't hit Fudicia yet, but that was four years ago, and Fudicia know too much for him. He's a right-hand puncher who depends on punching and has a brittle right hand."

"I hope that right hand stays in good repair and that he keeps knocking them fellas out until September. I'll be lookin' for an appointment about that time."

HOW long would Louis remain in the thick of things?
"Until next September, anyway," he explains.

"Right now I have the urge as strong as I've ever had it—to such an extent that I've spent the holidays in a training camp." Louis did this in order to give his entire purse for the encore with the 245-pound Baby Baer to the Naval Relief Society, which will net something like $120,000 as a result.

"But I'd like to retire undefeated," continues Louis, "after giving everybody around a crack."
"I'll hang 'em up at the first sign that I'm slipping. I'd like to retire undefeated while in the Army."
Louis expects to be inducted into the Army at any time.

"Army life will do him good," asserts Handler Blackburn. "And he'd like to be tossed right in among them Japs in the Philippines. For one thing, he won't do as much intensive boxing training as he has done in order to keep his fighting fires as a civilian." The Louis camp is confident that unless Louis is included in an expeditionary force, he will be given furloughs to fight with his fists. No service fund will have to ask twice for his championship services. He expresses his willingness to continue fighting for nothing if it will help his country.

LOUIS is vastly more concerned about the war and golf than he is about the Buddy Baers, Conns and Franklins.

Though he has been playing for no more than three years, he has a 74 to his credit.
He played with Bing Crosby and Jimmy McLarin while in Los Angeles. Crosby had a 74, McLarin a 75, and Louis is still kicking himself for taking a 7 and 6 on the last 190 holes to go 3 above par for an 81.

His progress in golf demonstrates that Louis can play well any time he puts his mind on.

Landscaping For Camp Wolters Is Now Being Started

CAMP WOLTERS, Mineral Wells, Tex. (Special)—Materials for the first phase of the $200,000 landscaping and development project have arrived at Camp Wolters and approximately 150 laborers are at work digging holes and setting out shrubs and trees, according to Captain Thomas G. Gamble, Area Engineer.

The work now being done has been confined to regimental areas 2 and 3 but bids for an additional 12,000 shrubs and 1200 trees were put in the mail Saturday and work on the second phase of the project will be started just as soon as material contracts are awarded, according to A. A. Blinks, landscape architect.

The sidewalk project shows a completion percentage of 96 per cent and is the only remaining portion of the current $2,000,000 expansion program at this camp. Landscaping on the sidewalks has already begun and will be carried on through the winter months.

Work on the type "C" United States Organization recreational center for white troops and civil defense workers in Mineral Wells has reached a percentage mark of 40 with work already started on the additional story which was authorized recently.

The type "A" center for colored troops and defense workers is 65 per cent completed. Both projects are being rushed to completion with crews of workmen on duty Saturdays and Sundays.

Work on the huge sports arena is at a standstill awaiting the installation of lighting fixtures before turning over the building to the camp commander for use of the troops stationed here.

The type "D" center in Wichita Falls for colored troops will be completed Saturday and will be turned over to USO officials for use of the troops and civilian defense workers. The Freear building project which will be used as type "A" for white troops shows a completion percentage of 43 and is on schedule. The remodeling and complete renovation of this building is being rushed by officials.

SANDUSKY, O.—A prehistoric tooth found by a party of engineers on the site of the army's new Plumbrook Ordnance works near here is as large as a man's two fists and is between 20,000 and 25,000 years old according to Dr. F. J. Wright of Demson University.

WHAT, NO PURPLE?
DUPREE, S. D. (UP)—A white mare owned by rancher Barney Lennan foaled a colt with a six-colored hide—white, black, red, roan, blue and pink. Lennan named it "Rainbow" and hopes to sell it to the circus that comes to town.

McMurry College Plans First Aid For All Students

ABILENE.—One hundred per cent enrollment of the student body of McMurry college in the first aid classes was announced today as one of the major objectives of the college defense council which held its first meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The standard Red Cross first aid course will be offered free of charge at the college beginning next semester, and one semester hour's credit will be given, according to W. B. Daniel, McMurry dean and head of the council. Dr. Hubert Seale, college physician, will teach at least two classes, and instructors will be provided for as many other sections as are needed.

The council appointed two committees Wednesday. Mrs. Harold Thomas headed a group to compose a questionnaire that was presented to the McMurry student body at Friday's chapel exercises; from this questionnaire the council may obtain a statement from each student as to his special qualifications for defense activity and his willingness to donate a definite amount of time to the activity.

Kathryn Gardner and Patsy Lester are assisting Mrs. Thomas. W. F. Haggard, Guy Kemper and Kenneth Day made up a committee to investigate the saving and collection of paper and tinfoil on the McMurry campus.

"It is the desire of the council that at least one night each week will be set aside for 'all out for defense,' and that every student give perhaps two hours to some defense activity," said McDaniel.

Others serving on the council were Jennie Tate, dean of women, Elmer Watson, Dorothy Rivers, Frazier Dameron, Adeen Fry, Reta Mae Bigony, and J. P. Young.

Mann Is Question In Political Race

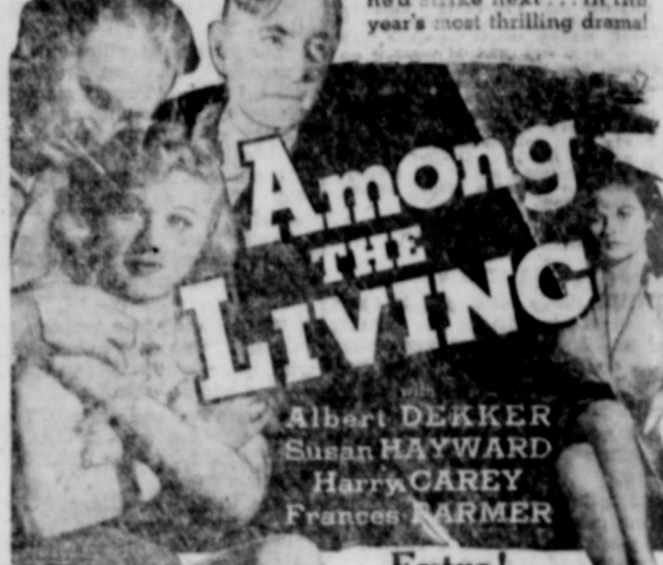

AUSTIN.—Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann remained the question mark of the 1942 political campaign in Texas. He has been mentioned as likely candidate for (1) U. S. Senator, (2) for Governor, and (3) for re-election as Attorney General.

"I have made no plans farther than today," was Mann's New Year declaration.

The new Navy uniform regulations were two years in preparation and are the most comprehensive ever published.
