RATIONING REGULATIONS OUTLINED FOR BENEFIT OF LOCAL FAMILY UNITS

Registration for sugar ration books will be conducted here with business institutions registering on April 28 and 29 and individuals on May 4, 5, 6 and 7.

The application form includes the local board number, county, place application is made, full name and address of applicant, including street number or box number, and city or town, county and state in which applicant lives.

Other information includes the applicant's height, weight, color of eyes, color of hair, age and sex. The one signing an application must indicate whether the book is being obtained for self, father, mother, husband, wife, son, daughter or some other member of the family unit; the total amount of white and brown sugar on hand in any form, and, if the person is not a member of a family unit the amount of white or brown sugar owned by the person.

Only one member of the family needs to come to the registering booth for the registration of the whole family and it is suggested that the wife and or the mother do this since she will know the age, color of hair, color of eyes, height and the weight of each member of the family. Each person coming to register for the family should know these very important items.

Correct information must be given as the registrant will be under oath and, if correct information is not given the registration will not be worth anything.

All persons who live in the household must be registered. This includes the family and if there are any in-laws who make their home as a part of the family unit, they must be registered also.

The person's name in full must be given, such as "William Howard Smith."

The public school superintendents throughout the nation are responsible for the registering of all persons who attend the public schools and the territories from which these persons come. Sugar rationing, it is agreed by all, will be a huge task and a greater part of the burden will rest on school superintendents who have the job of seeing that the registration, which must include every person, little, big, old and young, and from the lake in arms to the person 100 years old, is carried out.

The most important thing is that every person should become informed as to the rationing and registration and help others register in order that no one will be in a predicament about getting sugar.

It was brought out in a meeting at Comanche by the state officials that two pounds of sugar will be allowed each person without the use of any of the coupons from the war rationing book.

Children's Week Is Recommended By Health Officer

AUSTIN.—Commenting today on the widespread interest and cooperation shown by Texans in the observance of Texas Children's Week, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said that America has no better safeguard for her future than the promotion of good health in the youth of today.

"Americans have done a great deal in the past to make the United States a better and safer place in which to live the all-important years of childhood," Dr. Cox said, "but in spite of all this, American childhood has not yet been made as safe as it should be."

Dr. Cox pointed out that the national emergency naturally adds to the health hazards that already exist and urged parents of every child in Texas to make sure that their children have been immunized against such preventable diseases as diphtheria and smallpox.

Dr. Cox stressed the fact that although babies are born physically sound the foundation for future health is laid in the first six years of life. All parents must realize that raising child health standards is a job for them especially, Dr. Cox said, and added that it is better to keep them from getting sick than to try to save their lives when they are ill.

NAZI REVENGE TAKING TOLL OF HOSTAGES

VICHY, France, April 21.—Pierre Laval, new chief of the Vichy government, conferred in Paris today with Adolf Hitler's personal envoy on the course of "loyal collaboration," while German reprisals against the anti-Nazi outbreaks spread in occupied France.

German military authorities, it was revealed, have executed 20 more innocent French hostages at St. Nazaire, in reprisal for the recent British commando raid on the important German-held base.

Thirty hostages were shot at Rouen yesterday, in revenge for derauling of the German troop train, aboard which 44 German soldiers were killed, and Germans fixed Thursday as the deadline, after which 80 more French hostages will be killed unless the train saboteurs are arrested.

Not only will 80 more hostages be shot, the Germans said, but 1,000 Frenchmen will be deported to Eastern Europe—presumably to concentration camps in Poland.

Small Lake Owners Need Not Worry If Fish Are Dying

AUSTIN.—Owners of small lakes who in considerable numbers have complained that fish in those waters are dying were advised today by the Chief Aquatic Biologist of the Game Department not to worry about it too much.

This is Spring, and in the small lakes or ponds there is taking place a dramatic battle between fresh vegetation and fish life. They are fighting for oxygen, fighting for air to "breathe." It wouldn't do to remove the vegetation, for it produces microscopic food on which fish largely live. And the battle is a see-saw affair, depending on the weather and various other conditions. Usually, the biologist said, the thing works itself out satisfactorily and there is no cause to be alarmed.

But man can help the fish in this underwater struggle. Here's the way the Chief Aquatic Biologist sums up the entire problem and offers suggestions for its relief:

"Springtime with its days of warm weather causes the waters of a small lake to become thickly populated with a teeming mass of microscopic plants and animals. These plants and animals are so small that with your eye alone it would be impossible to distinguish just what they are. But their numbers runs into astronomical figures. These small plants that are present are capable of making their own food just like the trees, grasses or any other higher plants. Herein lies the secret of why some fish die. All plants that manufacture their own food are green.

President Pins An Award On Flier Downed Six Planes

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—President Roosevelt today personally presented the Congressional Medal of Honor to 28-year-old Naval Pilot Edward H. O'Hare, for "one of the most daring, if not the most daring, single action in the history of combat aviation."

O'Hare, a modest hero who shot down six Japanese bombers in the naval engagement off the Gilbert Islands in February, entered as a lieutenant and left as a lieutenant commander—a further surprise award for gallantry.

The naval flier is a native of St. Louis.

300 YEAR OLD TEXAS ROAD IS IN WAR PLANS

By RICHARD M. MOREHEAD
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN.—A 300-year-old strategic road across Texas, established by the Spanish to offset French encroachment from Louisiana, is being improved today to aid in the present war effort.

The route is known as El Camino Real (Spanish for "The King's Highway") and is "the Old San Antonio Road." It was laid out as a trail in 1714-1716 by a party of Spaniards under Captain Domingo Ramon, under orders from the Spanish viceroy at Mexico City. Spain then controlled the Texas area and across the Sabine river, the French governed the vast Louisiana territory.

A Frenchman named Louis Juchereau de Saint Denis left Louisiana in 1714 and crossed Texas to San Juan Batista, a town on the Rio Grande near the present site of Eagle Pass, Texas. The Frenchman was arrested, and his presence so far inside Spanish territory prompted the viceroy to decide upon establishment of a road from the Rio Grande to the eastern extremity of Spanish territory in Texas to prevent infiltration by the French.

With Saint Denis as a guide, the Spaniards laid the trail through Southwest Texas, through what is now San Antonio, north-eastward across the Colorado river to the (Continued on page 2)

Con Men Using A War Goods Lure

By United Press
SAN DIEGO, Cal.—War racketeers, peddling special air raid sand, chewing gum tires, trick insurance policies and other wackies, are finding rich pickings in war-minded San Diego, Charles Gurley, Better Business bureau manager, reports.

San Diego, one of the nation's defense boom towns, is also facing a boom in the rackets, Gurley warned, and cited examples of some of the confidence schemes practiced.

Faked physical examinations for registrants, worthless bootlegged tires, beautifully engraved oil stock ("now more valuable than ever because of gasoline and oil shortages") are only a few of the tricks designed to take advantage of the present emergency.

Skepticism is the best attitude when approached with bargains in air raid sand or new schemes to solve the rubber shortage, Gurley advised.

"Every time you fall for a shady proposition you waste money which would do great good if turned over to a reliable agency," Gurley emphasized.

Submarine Menace Is Nothing To The Terror of Merrimac

By ARNOLD DIBBLE
United Press Staff Correspondent

DALLAS.—Submarine peril along the East Coast admittedly is great, but the consternation it causes is slight in comparison with the dread caused by the iron-clad Merrimac during the War Between the States.

From the library of Mrs. M. F. Jenkins of Dallas comes a rare document describing the "first iron clad naval engagement in the world—history of facts of the great naval battle between the Merrimac-Virginia and the Ericsson Monitor."

It was written by E. V. White, assistant engineer on the Merrimac, who took part in the great battle off Hampton Roads, March 8-9, 1862.

The document quotes contemporary reports following the Merrimac's successful attack on the U. S. Navy's Cumberland. The commentator—a "yankee"—was ready to believe that the world virtually had come to an end.

"The swift work done by the Merrimac on this occasion spread consternation throughout the Northern States. The blockade of the Atlantic Coast maintained at that time could not last long before this mighty and invulnerable engine of destruction, New York, Boston, and Washington would soon be threatened."

"The most alarming crisis of the Civil War was at hand. As the sun went down that night over Hampton Roads ever Union heart in the fleet and in the fortress throbbled with despair. There was no gleam of hope."

"The Merrimac was impervious to balls and could go where she pleased. In the morning, it would be easy work for her to destroy our whole fleet."

"She could then shell Newport, News and Fortress Monroe at her leisure, setting everything combustible in flames, and driving every man from the guns."

Bullfight Is Dull So A Spectator Shoots The Matador

By United Press
MEXICO CITY.—A novice matador, already painfully gored by his bull, was shot and killed in a ring at Tampico by a spectator, according to an investigation filed with the Union of Matadors in Mexico City.

The report identified the slain "novillo" as Omar Villalobos, one of six promising Monterrey youths being trained for the ring by veteran Lorenzo Garza.

During his corrida in a small ring at Tampico, Villalobos had been gored. The report admitted the novice's performance had been desultory, but said the crowd failed to realize the extent of his wound.

He was being boned and hissed, but nevertheless the youngster entered the ring with his muleta and sword, determined to go on and make the kill. While passing the bull near the barriers, a spectator who was not further identified, shot the matador at close quarters. He died in the infirmary under the stands.

The account said the spectators were "stunned by the enormity of the crime," which was without precedent in the stormy annals of Mexican rings.

Bicycles Must Be Lighted At Night Police Chief Says

Chief of Police Lee Ames, after receiving a number of complaints, and conferring with city commissioners, today issued a warning about boys and girls riding bicycles on Main, Pine and Walnut streets and the intersecting streets in the business section of Ranger, after dark.

Chief Ames pointed out that after dark bicycles must have a headlight and a reflector type rear light, as safety precautions, and anyone riding a bicycle at night without these lights and reflectors would be apprehended.

A number of complaints of near accidents have been received, recently, Chief Ames states, most of them being because boys and girls ride unlighted bicycles at night.

However the chief also stated that riding bicycles on the sidewalks in the business section was also a violation of the law, as well as a dangerous practice, and would not be permitted. Anyone caught riding a bicycle on a downtown sidewalk will be fined, it was stated.

This precaution has been taken because of the possibility of bad accidents, which the increase in use of bicycles has made a new hazard, particularly in the business section.

Funeral services for Clyde E. Colley, 62, who died Sunday were conducted from the Eastland Baptist church at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday by Rev. David Phillips, pastor of the Baptist church at Ranger, officiating. Burial was in the Eastland cemetery.

Born at Henrietta, Clay county, Texas, January 2, 1880, Colley was reared in Kentucky. He came to Texas, settling in the Pleasant Grove community near Eastland, in 1920 and for the past 20 years had been in the employ of the Arab Gasoline Corporation.

He married Miss Elsie May Mattien and to this union seven children were born and are as follows: Mrs. Lewis Bargesley, Dallas; Clyde Colley Jr., with the United States Navy; Howard and Lester Colley, also in the United States military service; Miss Frances Colley, and Eldon and Russell Colley, all students in the Morton Valley High School.

Mrs. Will Crowder of Quanah is the deceased's only living relative other than the immediate family.

Among other relatives attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mattien, parents of Mrs. Colley, Grandfield, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Will Crowder of Quanah; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harrell of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Mattien of Grandfield, Okla.

Funeral services for Elmo Royal Scott, 41, who was killed in an oil field accident in Odessa, were conducted from the First Christian Church of Ranger Tuesday afternoon with Rev. H. B. Johnson in charge, assisted by Rev. J. A. D. Collins. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery, with Killingsworth's Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

The deceased was born in Waxahachie February 10, 1901, and had been in Odessa approximately eight months. He formerly lived in Ranger and Abilene.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. E. R. Scott, two daughters, Betty Jean and Billie June Scott, and his father, J. R. Scott of Ranger.

Cotton Industry Aid in War Efforts

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—The War Production Board today ordered the cotton textile industry to convert many of its looms to the production of cloth needed in the war effort.

Increased production of cotton cloth will go into materials for sandbags, camouflage cloth, agricultural bags and other uses, the board stated.

JAPAN STILL JITTERY AS NEW AIR ALARM IS SOUNDED OVER COUNTRY

FLOODWATERS ARE DROPPING AT FT. WORTH

DALLAS, April 21.—The Trinity River flood crest swept past Dallas today, taking the downstream load of all its tributaries and a torrent that inundated portions of Fort Worth's industrial district.

At least four were known to have drowned and damage was estimated in excess of $1,000,000.

A high mark of 45.4 feet was recorded at Dallas early today and then for the next seven hours the river dropped one tenth of a foot an hour. But the weather bureau warned that little change would be expected for 24 hours, while the crest of the flood piled up downstream.

At Carrollton the river stage was 11.9 feet, compared with a mark of 14.8 Monday, and at Fort Worth the river had dropped to 16.5 feet from the high of 17.6 Monday.

At Rosser the Trinity stood at 32.4 feet and was still rising, with a threat of exceeding last year's flood by Thursday night.

Bullet In Stomach Since The Argonne Causing Trouble

By United Press
FORT WORTH.—Joe Atkins thought it was a stomach ulcer. But it wasn't. It was a bullet. His stomach pains becoming unbearable, Atkins, federal probation officer, went to a physician to be X-rayed. The X-ray picture disclosed jagged-shaped remnants of a dum-dum shell in his abdomen.

Atkins said it must have been the German machine gun bullet which cut him down as he advanced in the Argonne Forest in the last war. The doctor advised against an operation because the bullet had been in Atkins' mid-section so long.

A soldier at 17, Atkins was in the Rainbow Division and remembers vividly General Douglas MacArthur in the Argonne battle, walking briskly with advancing troops, armed only with a walking stick.

"Big 88 shells were falling all around us and machine gun fire was heavy," Atkins recalled. "We were on the first wave. Someone beside me said 'look over there—there's MacArthur.'"

"I turned and there he was. He passed us up, still walking toward the enemy. A French aide trailed him but had a hard time keeping up."

"A few minutes later I was forced to dive into a shell hole, the machine gun fire became so intense. I was gassed in the hole. I climbed out, only to be machine-gunned. MacArthur was ahead of me. I can't see to this day why he wasn't riddled with bullets."

C. L. Martin, 76, Buried Monday

Funeral services for C. L. (Uncle Lou) Martin, 76, who died Sunday, were held at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Henry Calloway, States Oil Camp, Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. Interment was in the Eastland cemetery. Hamner's was in charge of the body.

Survivors include his widow and the following children: Mrs. Oran Grubbs, Eastland; Mrs. Henry Calloway, Eastland, and Jim B. Martin, California.

Born Feb. 22, 1866, Mr. Martin came to Eastland county in 1874, and this county had been his home most of the time since, with the exception of a few years spent in California. He had been ill for about two years.

ALTHOUGH NO CONFIRMATION OF THE RAIDS UPON JAPAN LAST WEEK HAVE YET BEEN FORTHCOMING FROM AMERICAN SOURCES, A NEW AIR RAID ALARM WAS SOUNDED TODAY IN JAPAN, AS JAPAN BECAME MORE AND MORE JITTERY OVER THE RECENT AIR RAIDS.

At the same time renewed enemy attacks were reported in the Philippines and stiffening Allied defenses were reported from India and the Burma area in the war reports from the Far Eastern Front.

Air raid alarms sounded in Central and Western Japan—but no new air attacks were reported—shortly before Axis propaganda broadcasts suggested that casualties and damage to transportation facilities might have been considerable in the last week-end air bombing of Tokyo and three other important war centers of Japan, although Japanese reports, at first admitting some damage, later claimed that only schools, hospitals and "cultural centers" had been damaged slightly, with few casualties.

Broadcasts from Axis sources told of immediate enforcement in Japan of a law providing aid for victims of air raids and reported disruptions of railroad and other transportation facilities had been comparatively brief last Saturday, presumably because of bombing hits.

Army and Navy Want Teacher, The Navy Gets Him

College To Begin In June This Year

DALLAS.—This year, college begins in June!

With wartime's needs calling for college-trained men and women, the usual September opening date of school is being pushed back in favor of a summer opening that allows a continuous program.

Just released, an S.M.U. promotion folder stresses the importance of a student training program continuing after the end of the spring semester.

It points out the value of the plan to high school graduates, who may immediately enroll in school, take full work under a program of courses no different from that of the long session, and without interruption of their study schedule be well launched in college training by the opening of the fall semester.

High school graduates 17 years of age or younger, by starting this summer, may complete their college course in three years or less and receive a degree before being called to military service.

Full freshman work is being made available for the term beginning June 10 so that the new student will not be thrown into an irregular course of study, but will have his work meshing neatly with that offered during the fall and winter. First summer session ends July 29, and second term begins July 21, running until August 29. Fall registration begins Sept. 21.

To Avert Nationalization

LIBERALIZATION of New York State's Unemployment Compensation system appears probable. And that is of immediate interest to each of the other 47 states and the District of Columbia.

Proposed changes would increase the weekly benefit rate paid to persons who lose their jobs, would extend the period during which benefits can be obtained, would bring partial unemployment under the system and would reduce the waiting period.

SUPERFICIALLY, perhaps, the outlay of many millions annually by New York is a matter purely of local option, and of casual interest to workers or taxpayers of the other jurisdictions which have such systems.

But the experts are convinced that upon New York's action will depend whether any of the states shall even possess unemployment compensation systems of their own much longer.

The federal government is committed to an attempt to nationalize the set-up, and to take it out of the hands of the states. Organized labor leans toward such a step. That is why the most reactionary employer groups are vying with social workers in hoping that New York will deprive Washington of a powerful weapon by liberalizing the law in the largest and most prominent unit of the system.

The danger is real, unless one favors centralizing one service after another in Washington until the states lose everything but a rubber-stamp administrative place in the federal scheme.

Sidney Hillman, worried about the millions who would be thrown out of work temporarily by industrial conversion to war production, had a bill introduced appropriating $300,000,000 to be added to unemployment benefits disbursed under state laws. That, in itself, was worthy and proper.

BUT the bill provided that the President—which meant Administrator McNutt—could promulgate relations with which the states must comply. And the tentative list made public would have raised all weekly benefit rates by 20 per cent, extended their duration to a full six months and brought every employer of a single workman under the system.

Such generosity went far beyond what even the richest state could afford.

The Hillman proposal was killed in committee by the bitter opposition of state officialdom. For the moment it appears permanently dead. But word comes that unless the states go at least part way toward satisfying the demand for liberalization, Washington will revive the campaign for nationalization of unemployment compensation.

Keep an eye on this situation. Its solution may have a great deal to do with the type of federal government with which we emerge from this war.

THE PAY OFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Speaking of the Yankees' chances, don't overlook Joseph Vincent McCarthy's skillful handling of pitchers.

All manager, this fellow, in his unobtrusive way. A pair of 20-game winners is supposed to be the prime requisite of a pennant winner, yet the New Yorks won by 17 games last trip with nine top-rate men accounting for from five to 15 each.

Joe McCarthy is a firm believer in pitchers working in regular turn. He'd use a Big Four to a fare-thee-well, if he had one. Without a Big Four, he is a master at dropping his pitchers into the right spots.

Strategist McCarthy did a pretty fair job against the amazing Bob Feller. He realized that the way to beat Feller was not by hitting him, but by keeping Cleveland from scoring. So, first Bump Hadley, and then Alcy Donald came up to the Rapid Robert assignment following a good, long rest.

Joe McCarthy will do until a more adroit juggler of pitchers comes along.

That is the great secret of the success of one of the greatest managers in the history of baseball.

That is the principal reason why he gets $35,000 a year for sitting by the plate.

LES FLEMING, Cleveland's new first baseman, is another Sam Leslie. Remember Sam of the Giants and Dodgers? Good hit, no field.

Nashville, where Fleming compiled his .414 batting average, has a short right field fence, and the Texan will ricochet many a drive off the 290-foot right field wall of Cleveland's old and dilapidated League Park.

But, while Les Fleming has the physical advantages left-handedness gives a first baseman in the field, defensively he'll make the departed Hal Trosky look like George Sailer.

H. C. SCRUGGS NAMED HEAD FOOTBALL COACH OF RANGER BULLDOGS

At a meeting of the Ranger School Board, Herman C. Scruggs, coach of the Pup team, was elected head football coach, replacing C. B. Roland, who was employed this spring as coach. Coach Roland left for Colorado City, where he will be football coach.

Scruggs' experience in football consists of one year under Coach Fouts at Denton Teachers College, two years under "Bugs" Morris at A. C. C. He was a back on the Wildcat team that tied for the T.I.A.A. Championship in 1931.

Every Ranger football fan should be well acquainted with Scruggs' coaching because most of it has been done in Eastland county. He spent five years at Ol-Natchitoches, La., to establish homes in the Colorado and Brazos river valleys. These furnished the nucleus of Americans who won independence for Texas in the revolution of 1835-36.

In 1929, the Texas Legislature passed a bill directing the state highway department to designate mark and maintain "the old San Antonio road" as an historical project, whenever counties along the route provide 100-foot right-of-way. The marking was done and the highway is maintained over most of its original route.

This year the U. S. War Department is constructing a large Army training cantonment a few miles north of Bastrop, and the state highway department is rushing construction on almost 30 miles of improvements along the original route from San Marcos, northeast of San Antonio, to Bastrop. A paved highway formerly was available only via Austin.

But military necessity—as 300 years ago—is causing the government to improve "El Camino Real." It will afford faster, more direct contact between Camp Swift and the army area headquarters at San Antonio.

den where he compiled a record of 33 wins, 10 losses and three ties, never finished lower than third in a district of nine schools. Olden was the second smallest school in the district. Scruggs' record does not consist of football only, but he added two state championships in track, 1936 and 1937.

A summer program for all persons who are interested in tennis, playground ball and swimming, will be conducted.

For the past three years Coach Scruggs has been in Ranger coaching the Pups, where he won 18, lost 5. Coach Scruggs promises that his every effort will be toward the development of an athletic program in Ranger that is second to none, and he asks the cooperation of every Ranger citizen.

"Don't you think it would be a good idea for men to give up neckties and wear open collars in the summer? It would be patriotic because silk for ties came from Japan and wool for ties is needed by the army."

Which may comfort the neck-tie peddlers who think they never get any consideration from their government.
