LACK OF SUPPLIES IS SERIOUS HANDICAP TO THE RETREATING AXIS

The British Imperial Eighth Army today stood at the threshold of complete victory in the opening round of the all-out drive to oust the Axis from Africa.

The German Afrika Korps was falling back, battered and beaten, toward the Libyan frontier in a withdrawal which is rapidly turning into an every-man-for-himself retreat.

Already five or six Italian divisions of the eight near Alamain appeared to have abandoned by the Nazis to shift for themselves and the British believed that their capture or decimation of these units was virtually assured.

The remainder of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's armored forces, the remnants of his motorized units, was scrambling along the jammed coastal highway under a rain of bombs dumped by the dominant British and American air forces.

Whether Rommel will be able to pull his troops together, to make another stand at famous Halfaya (Heilfiro) Pass, on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, was not yet certain.

Serious as was Rommel's present predicament there were strong signs that it will grow worse almost immediately.

President Roosevelt told his White House news conference today the British victory was of importance—a phrase he hadn't previously used to describe military developments.

Dakar and Casablanca, both bases of Vichy France, are named most frequently in the Axis reports as danger points from an Axis move.

Reports from Spain asserted a tremendous concentration of Allied naval and air strength had been assembled at Gibraltar, including 125 warships, from aircraft carriers and battleships on down.

It seemed obvious that if Spanish reports were correct the forces being assembled for a major offensive operation.

Marshal Rommel's forces were said to be virtually without oil, food, or ammunition, and his Italian units, in some instances, were reported to be almost at the end of their rope in so far as supplies are concerned.

Soldier Declines To Ride On Truck Hauling Sheep

(Editor's Note—The following item was turned in by one of the Ranger Times carriers, who is in a contest on which a prize is being offered the carrier who gets the most subscriptions and turns in the most news stories. It is printed as written by the carrier.)

Yesterday a soldier from out of the state came into a Ranger cafe. He ordered a soft drink and the waitress asked him where he was going, and he replied he was going east.

There was a truck driver sitting there and he told the soldier he would ride to Fort Worth with him.

"O. K., pal," the soldier replied, but when they went outside to get into the truck he said, "Thanks, pal, but I don't like wolves."

The truck was loaded with sheep.

Merchants Vote To Close Nov. 11

A "record vote" in which merchants of the city were contacted and allowed to write their opinions as to whether or not the stores of the city should be closed on Wednesday, Nov. 11 in celebration of Armistice Day, was almost unanimous in favor of closing. It was announced here today after the vote had been completed.

The vote was conducted by the Retail Merchants Association after there had been some dissent as to the closing decision.

Since the vote was practically unanimous, it was stated today, the decision to close was reached.

U. S. MARINES: 'First to Fight for Right and Freedom FROM THE REVOLUTION—'

Our fighting Marines commemorate 167 years of fighting around the world

For 167 years the U. S. Marines have been landing and getting the situation well in hand. Created by the Continental Congress Nov. 10, 1775, the Marine Corps fought in the Revolution with powdered hair and uniforms of green and white. The Marines made their first landing in the British Bahamas in 1776. On "the shores of Tripoli" they battled the Barbary pirates of the Mediterranean in 1805. They stormed the "Halls of Montezuma" at Mexico City during the War with Mexico in 1848. And today—after Sumatra, Formosa, Korea, Hawaii, Cuba, the Philippines, China, Haiti, Nicaragua, France and Wake Island—the Marines fight on in the Solomons and other world front, commanded by Lieut.-Gen. Thomas Holcomb. On land, on the sea and in the air they live up to the closing lines of their famous fighting hymn:

"First to fight for right and freedom,
And to keep our honor clean;
We are proud to claim the title
Of United States Marine!"

BOND AND STAMP SALES Wearing Poppy On Saturday To Be Defense Aid

Bond and stamp sales for Eastland county for the month of October totaled $57,765.95 with the city of Cisco leading the towns and communities in total amounts purchased. Judge Cyrus K. Frost, County chairman, stated in a statement just issued.

To this will be added approximately $8,000.00 that will be tabulated in the next few days from the employer-employee deduction agreement which will make a total of approximately $65,000.00 for October as against our quota of $60,400.00.

"Some of the banks and post offices of the county have already reported that brisk sales have started for the month of November. As the snow pile up on the Russian front, let's pile our money up on the Eastland County front so that our boys will know we are doing our part here while they offer their lives at the front."

"Chairman of the several committees in the county, together want me to convey to you their sincere appreciation for your joyous and continued support of the program for Eastland County for the calendar year," Frost said.

Sales at the close of business October 31, 1942, for the month of October are as follows:

Cisco, $10,081.50; Eastland, $11,119.60; Ranger, $8,800.00; Hugo, $8,451.50; Goran, $7,009.90; Carben, $1,060.00; Upton, $867.75; Dandemona, 20.25; Pioneer, 20.85; Nimrod, 210.8; Okra, $6.20; Scranton, $3.65; Dothan, 2.50, making a total for the county of $57,765.95.

Cash Income In Texas Shows Big Jump In Sept

AUSTIN, Tex. —Farm cash income in Texas during September, exclusive of government subsidies, increased 28 percent from a year ago, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

This amount brings the total of agricultural income during this year to $4.5 billion dollars, as compared with $3.1 billion dollars during the corresponding nine-month period of 1941, the Bureau reported.

Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the Bureau, declared that it is unlikely that the same rate of increase will be continued during the next three months, but that the total increase in income during the year will probably be at least 40 percent.

Police Tell Woman Purse Is Stolen

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UP) —The police called on Mrs. Mildred Kaplan and told her that if she would come to the police station she could get her purse.

"My purse is right here on the bed," she replied.

"Oh, no, it isn't," the police insisted. "It is right here on our desk along with the man with the man who stole it."

Then it was, that Mrs. Kaplan knew for the first time that she had been hobbled.

BULLDOGS DOWN LIONS BY 20 TO 6 SCORE IN GAME HERE THURSDAY

OLD OIL FIELDS USED TO STORE GAS RESERVES

LOS ANGELES. (UP)—Vast subterranean cavities created by withdrawal of petroleum now are being converted into huge storage "tanks" to free vital material for fighting the war on more important fronts.

The scheme to use mother earth for storing unused war energies has been developed in Southern California but experts believe it applicable elsewhere.

The storage of steel and other metals needed in the war program has made it impossible to construct conventional tanks for gas storage. In view of this, the Defense Plant Corporation, under the war powers act, recently took over a worn-out oil field near Los Angeles and is converting it into an underground natural gas reservoir, to be tapped when present supplies are exhausted during the winter months.

The many new war industries and the consequent increased population have overloaded the community's normal gas supply to such an extent that a daily shortage of 18,000,000 cubic feet was anticipated this winter.

However, the plan which has been put into operation will pump 20,000,000 cubic feet daily into the earth between the present and the anticipated peak load in January. Officials point out that this will be more than ample to insure a steady flow of gas to private consumers and industry alike until next spring.

No critical materials are being used for the storage project, according to engineers, since pipe and compressors, in use when the field gas producing, are already on hand.

No doubt exists regarding the practicability of the venture, for a successful precedent has been set at the Paloma field, 100 miles north of Los Angeles. There natural gas from producing wells is returned 10,000 feet below the surface under 6,000 pounds of pressure and has been a major factor in stabilizing winter consumption in that locality.

OLD OIL FIELDS USED TO STORE GAS RESERVES

Billie Ray Elder personally took charge of the Brownwood-Ranger football game at the start of the second half, Thursday night, and had a part in 19 of the 20 points scored, in the 20 to 6 victory.

After a more or less hotly first half, during which both teams showed good defense but little in the way of offense, the Bulldogs suddenly came to life as the second half started.

The Bulldogs brought back the kickoff to their 30 yard line, and Elder crashed through for 45 of the 70 yards to the goal stripe. One five yard gain was made by Houghton during the march. However, at that, Elder had to score twice before one counted, as the first time he went over from the four yard line an off-side penalty was called and he had to carry over from the nine.

Early in the game Brownwood suffered the same kind of a reverse, a touchdown being called back because of an off-side penalty, but in the case of Brownwood they were unable to push it over again.

The Bulldogs again went on the march, with Elder doing the ball carrying, starting on their own 48 yard marker, to go to the Brownwood one-foot line, where the Brownwood line staged a game goal line stand, but Elder plunged the center of the line to make it a first down, with the goal only a foot away. On the next play he went off his right tackle for the score, and then passed to Mitchell for the extra point.

Brownwood's offensive also began to click, just about the time it looked as though the Bulldogs were going to make a runaway of the game, and scored their lone touchdown.

After taking over a Ranger punt on the 15, the Lions were aided by a 15-yard Bulldog penalty, and from there Brinkley and Alford two shifty-hipped and fleet backfield men, carried to the three yard line, where it was first down and goal to go. After two vain attempts to penetrate the Bulldog line Alford carried over for the score.

The Bulldogs lost no time in forging further ahead, however, and took the Brownwood kickoff on the 45-yard line, after the Lions had suffered a five-yard offside penalty and had to kick again from their 25. Elder again did the ball carrying aided by six yard limp by the crippled Bill Gray, and then passed from the Brownwood five to Mitchell for the score. Mitchell kicked the extra point to end the scoring for the evening.

Both the Lions and Bulldogs suffered numerous set backs, when long gains and two touchdowns were called back because of penalties. The Lions gambled twice, once on fourth down when they attempted to carry over for the first down pass on the Ranger 35 yard line. Crossed signals also cost the Lions lots of yardage on two occasions when the center passed the ball back to the little man who wasn't there, but the Lions recovered for 17 and 10 yard losses in each case.

Elder wasn't the whole show for the Bulldogs, however, though he did figure in practically all of the spectacular plays. Mitchell at end probably played his best defensive game, and Carson Dabbs was instrumental in breaking up a number of plays, recovered one costly Lion fumble to give the Bulldogs a break. Noel Dabbs and Bill Gray both played well on the defense, while the center section of the Ranger line stood up well against all Brownwood thrusts.

Defensively Bill Harrison and Bill Smith, back and end respectively for the Lions, probably turned in the best defensive games, and proved hard to keep out of any plays going toward their side of the line.

All-in-all, it was a very satisfactory game from a local standpoint, as it was the first Ranger victory over Brownwood since the 44 to 0 victory of 1934.

NELSON SAYS A MANPOWER BILL NEEDED

WASHINGTON, D. C. —War Production Chief Donald Nelson told a senate committee today that "sooner or later" congress would enact legislation giving the government compulsory authority over manpower.

Senate Military Affairs Committee at a time when it was believed the administration did not intend to ask for manpower legislation.

Nelson, however, told the committee he believed, personally, that "you are better off with an act to congress defining what the standards are than to leave it to an administrative act."

The War Production Board chairman also emphasized the need for efficient utilization of manpower and asserted that "we have got to lengthen the work week."

Teen Age Draft

After all, it appears that they who prophesied there would be no 18-19-year-old draft until after election were right. For a time it looked as though Congress might make liars of the cynics. But no such luck.

The holdup cannot be held against all congressmen, and not even against both houses. The representatives approved a clean-cut amendment which met the nation's military, industrial and social need in this regard. As a body, the representatives can hold up their heads.

But in the Senate obstructionism did the dirty work, tying onto the teen-age draft a rider so vital that the whole bill must wait until representatives get back from re-election campaign.

First there was the Josh Lee prohibition rider which delayed matters. It is not for us to pass here the sincerity of the Oklahoma senator in urging the banning of liquor sales in and near military camps. Nor is the wisdom of his proposal the most important issue.

What does matter is that Senator Lee could not possibly have been ignorant that his rider was so intensely controversial that its attachment inevitably would stall final action upon the draft law amendment. By pushing the rider, he willfully permitted military necessity to wait.

When ultimately this was sidetracked and left to stand or fall later on its own merits, came the rider offered by Senator O'Daniel requiring that drafted men under 20 not be sent into combat until after a year's training.

Sentimentally this is fine. Practically, it has appealing angles. But United States senators know some of the elementary facts of life. They must realize that co-ordinated combat units can not be prepared for action if commanders are obliged to drop out 2, 5 or 10 per cent of the men because those men are ineligible for combat.

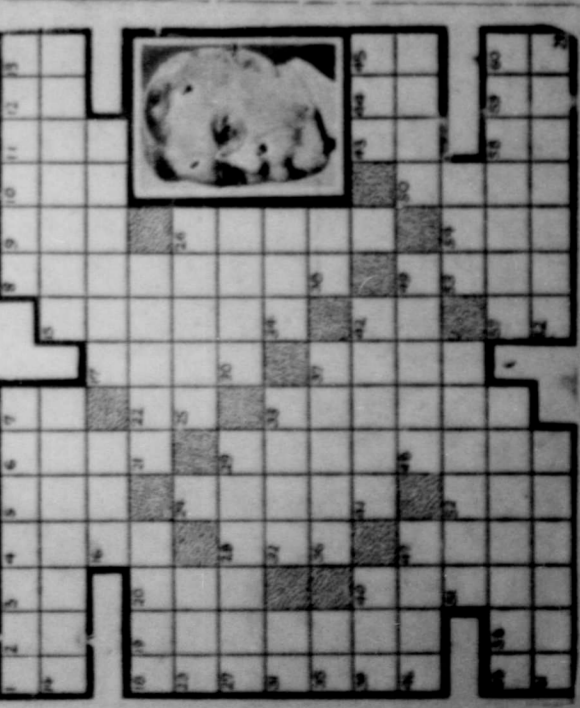

If such a law is adopted, the only recourse will be to put the teen-agers into separate regiments and divisions, train them for a year and send them into battle more or less intact. Comprising, as they will then, our best shock troops, these exclusively youngster outfits will get the most hard-arduous tasks, and mortality among them will be inordinately heavy.

That is the practical effect of Senator O'Daniel's proposal, that, 39 senators tacked onto the draft law amendment. That, and delay in passage of the measure until representatives come back after election.

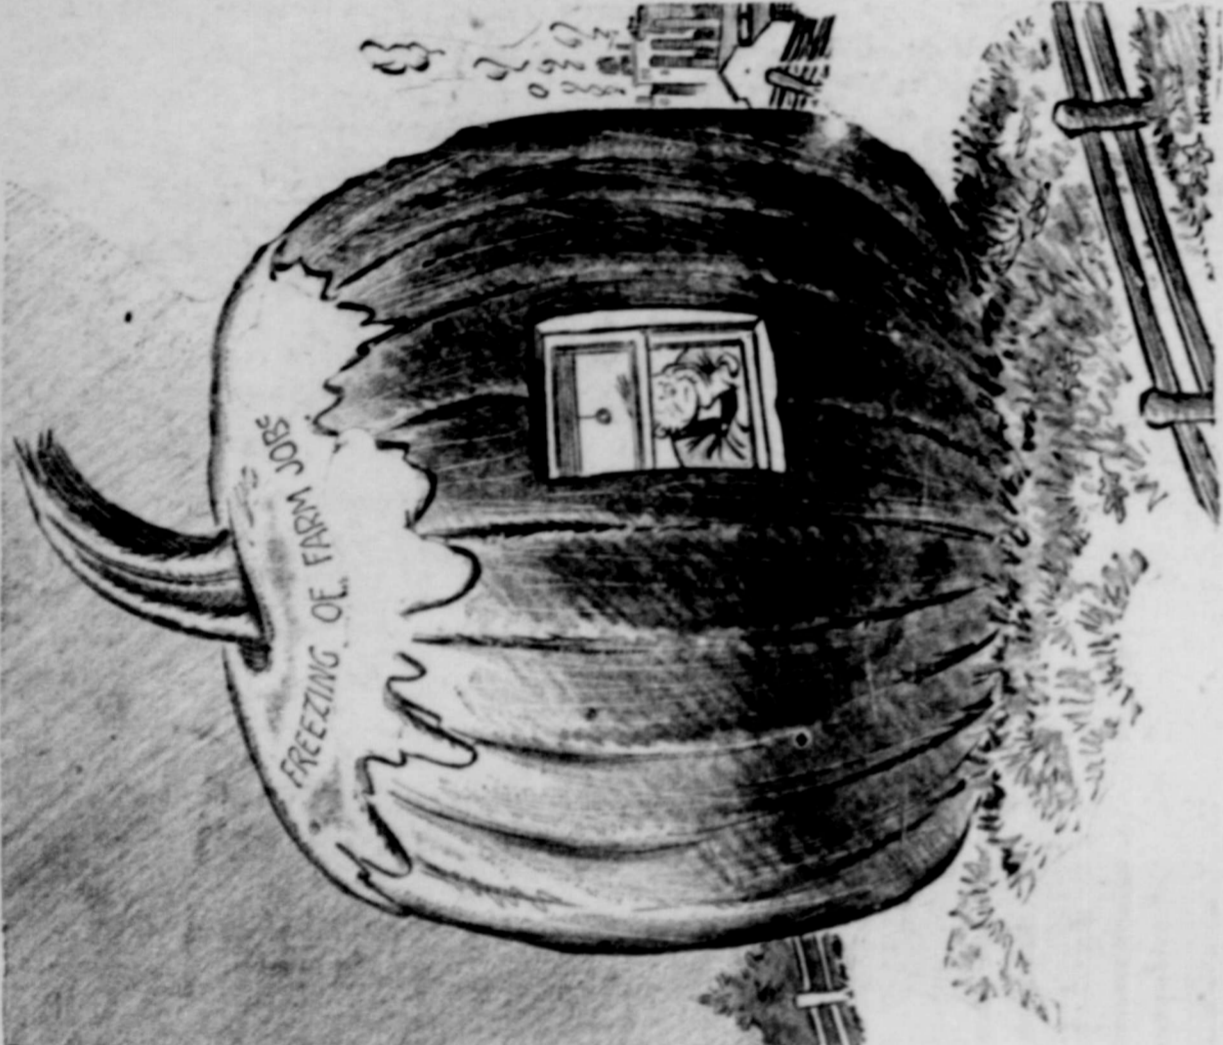

No, the cynics weren't wrong. Congress again found itself unable to do a straightforward job in a clean-cut manner, promptly and effectively. Take a bit of cotton and a wind whipping it about the slender form of actress Anne Gwynne and you have a seaside symphony.

MODERN MENU-

MANY low-cost foods have hidden flavor. Learn to cook them carefully and they will reward you with high grade pleasure and savory delight.

Beef Heart Fricassee (Serves 3 to 4) One beef heart, 1 bunch carrots, 2 medium-sized onions, salt, pepper, prepared mustard, flour, 1-2 cup water, 1-2 cup butter or margarine, 1 cup wine or large amount of vinegar. Wash out all cotted blood. Slice (across the heart). Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spread with rich brown prepared mustard and roll in flour. Brown in hot drippings in large heavy frying pan. Add onion and carrot slices. Cover. Add butter. Simmer gently 30 minutes. Add additional liquid, if fricassee is cooking dry. Cover and simmer gently until carrots and onions are tender.

Mashed Rutabagas and Potato (Serves 4) One large rutabaga (yellow turnip), 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup boiling water, 4 medium-sized potatoes, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup cream. Cover rutabagas. Cube and add water and salt. Cover tightly and boil gently until white potatoes are pared and quartered. Add to rutabagas. Again cover and continue cooking until both are tender and water is absorbed. Drain. Add butter and milk. Sprinkle with a sprinkling of paprika.

Glazed Potatoes (Serves 4) Two parsnips, 3 tablespoons salt, 2 cup cornmeal, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 tablespoon butter. Cook parsnips in boiling salted water until tender. Drain, peel and rub in lengthwise pieces. Place in baking dish, cover with butter. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup milk. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.).

TOMORROW'S MENU BREAKFAST: Baked apples, pastry cream, whole-wheat toast, jelly, coffee, milk. LUNCH: Chicken salad, milk, crisp french fries, steamed dried apples, tea, milk. DINNER: Beef heart fricassee, mashed rutabaga and potatoes, green salad, bowl, pumpkin, pie, cheese, coffee, milk.

BURLINGTON, IOWA—"Am I turned up," says Marbel, the Malayan monkey who amuses park crowds by licking War Stamps and sticking them in her book. "If those Japs do to your home what they've done to mine, you'll be hot and bothered, too."

"Well, some folks say we monkeys have more sense than you humans," says Marbel, the 23-year-old monkey who was brought from Malayan natives by Frank "Arling-Kim-Rick-Alive" Buck years ago. "As long as I can lick stamps, I'm going to have something for Uncle Sam to use."

"Gosh, these stamps accumulate so fast that you hardly miss the money. I've filled this book quicker than I can scratch a flea. Well, every stamp I lick is another lick at those dirty Japs, so here goes."

"I'll make monkeys out of a lot of you folks who aren't doing anything with your money to help the government. My first book is already filled and ready for a bond, but why stop? The war isn't won yet, so I'll fill another."

BY PETER EDSON.

THIS 1942 First Revenue Act of 1942 is expected to raise about $10 billion for the government in 1942. Eight billion of it will come from personal and corporation income taxes, the other $2 billion from the 5 per cent Victory tax which your boss will start deducting from your pay envelope after Jan. 1 if your earnings are at the rate of more than $24 a year, which is $2 a month. This Victory tax business is important. The Treasury has no experience in collecting anything like this Victory tax, but the Treasury has a long history of what credits it is entitled to for the purchase of war bonds and stamps.

By that time the Victory taxpayer may have changed jobs twice, forgotten how much he earned and how much was deducted from his pay envelope by each employer, and a truck full of what credits he is entitled to for the purchase of war bonds and stamps.

THE estimates of $2 billion from income taxes for 1942 are net—will get after the costs of collecting have been deducted. Since 1932 the costs of tax collecting have been about $1 billion. In 1942, the costs of collecting will be about $1.5 billion. In 1942, the costs of collecting will be about $1.5 billion. In 1942, the costs of collecting will be about $1.5 billion.
