Mail Order Cigarettes Out

If you're one of those frugal-minded citizens figuring on saving a very few pennies by purchasing cigarettes without payment of Texas tax through a Missouri mailorder house, you'd better junk the whole idea.

But perchance you are headstrong and prefer to go ahead and try to get out of paying the three cents a pack state tax. If you are, about eight—or maybe nine—out of ten chances an investigator from the State Comptroller's office may come knocking at your door.

After he leaves, you may be quoting the Raven: "Never more, never more."

Of course, like the majority of others, you may try to plead ignorance of the law in buying the tax free cigarettes when the investigator starts asking questions. The sheepish, guilty look on your face may give you away then.

Or you might claim you never bought any of the mail order fags. Again don't fool yourself for the agent will have the goods on you when he comes to call.

How did the investigator get the facts, figures and dates, you ask.

That's another story, but for the most part it is a comptroller's secret—just as confidential as the military variety. You can bet the price of the penalty you'll have to pay that the information is right on the line.

The minimum penalty is $25—and can range up to $500—plus double the amount of the tax.

Strange part of the mail-order cigarette business is that a goodly portion of the customers is made up of professional men and others of civic pride and prominence.

Checking the list of violators, you'll find a fair number of lawyers, doctors and dentists and oil men, some of whom are yet to be visited by the "C" men.

In all, the Comptroller has about 10,000 names of citizens who at one time or another couldn't resist the temptation.

For instance, take the case of a South Texan who was unusually attracted by the thought of saving pennies. He put his name on the dotted line for 150 cartons of cigarette. A gracious host, he wanted to supply guests who dropped in.

But to the man's surprise, the comptroller's investigators paid him an unexpected visit. He finally admitted buying the cigarettes, had about 50 cartons left—which were confiscated—and paid a handsome fine, plus double the tax.

There's another angle about trying to beat the state out of cigarette taxes. Receipts from the levy go into the school fund and to pay old age pensions. If you're turning over the idea of placing an order, remember where the money goes—to a school child's benefit or to help some aged person.

Missouri has become somewhat of a mecca for the mail-order business because the state does not levy a cigarette tax as do Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas. New Mexico doesn't have a tax, but thus far there's been no mail order business out of there, officials say. However, some folks have tried to bring quantities across the state line by motor vehicle, but highway patrol vigilance has stemmed that practice.

The Rome To Come

British Expert Praises U. S. Thunderbolt

NEW YORK (UP)—The Republic P-47 Thunderbolt, newest fighter plane to appear in service over Europe, is supreme "as a destroyer of high-flying enemy bombers between 25,000 and 35,000 feet," a British expert says.

Peter Massfield, British aviation technician, found in an analysis of the American plane, appearing in "Flying" magazine, that the Thunderbolt both out-guns and outdives the German's formidable Focke-Wulf MW-109 fighter, but would do well to avoid fast-climbing planes like the FW-190 and the Japanese Zero in dog fights at medium altitudes.

Massfield's critical study of the P-47 reported that:
1. Its extraordinary diving speed—approaching the speed of sound—due to its great weight and enables it to break off combat at will. The weight, however, reduces its rate of climb.
2. Its maneuver its rate of roll is "excellent," though its turning circle is rather wide.
3. Its eight machine guns have a hitting power of 2,628 muzzle horsepower, 26 per cent greater than that of the FW-190.
4. Wide fuselage, relative position of wing and cockpit, and large radial cowling restrict the pilot's view.

"Of all controls," Massfield found, "the ailerons stand out for their brilliance—a great tribute to the Republic designers."
"They are both powerful and light and, in consequence, the rate of roll of the Thunderbolt compares well with that of any other fighter flying today—an important point.

"The Thunderbolt becomes airborne with full load at about 167 m. p. h. after a run of about 200 yards with flaps slightly down. When coming in to land the approach is made at about 120 m. p. h. and the machine sits down at just over 100 m. p. h. Once on the ground it remains firmly put and, because of the wide track landing gear, is easy to control there."
British fliers have been astonished at the great use of the Thunderbolt, Massfield wrote. An RAF squadron leader hanging about expectantly after he saw the pilot dismount from a P-47, asked: "I have seen the pilot get out—but where are all the troops?"
The 420 miles an hour which the Thunderbolt develops in level flight make it "certainly the fastest airplane ever to have a radial engine," according to Massfield, and "as a destroyer of high flying enemy bombers between 25,000 and 35,000 feet the P-47C is supreme."

If every man, woman and child in the United States lays aside $100 the aggregate will be about $13,000,000,000 or the amount the Treasury must raise in its Second War Loan.

Stops Piano Career For Busy War Role

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (UP)—A year and a half ago, Mrs. Gertrud Stroloff was the busiest pianist in town, playing on radio in concerts, recitals and church programs. But, since January, 1942, she hasn't even lifted the lid on her piano, because she:

Makes wrenches for the armed forces at the Crescent Tool Co., serves as a morale builder in the Red Cross Motor Corps, has contributed her 12th pint of blood to the blood bank service, is a supplementary driver for ground observers of the War Department, and is a member of the Woman's Recruiting Committee of the War Manpower Commission.

GOVERNOR STEVENSON'S PROCLAMATION URGES RETURN OF DEPOSIT BOTTLES. In the proclamation, just issued by Governor Stevenson, Texans are urged, during the month of August, to conserve the existing supply of returnable deposit bottles by returning them promptly to the dealers. Governor Stevenson's proclamation points out that the general public, by returning idle milk, carbonated beverage, and beer bottles, which can be sterilized for civilian re-use, will permit the glass industry to re-use even more of its facilities for the manufacture of glass containers for food, and other items, required by the armed forces at home and abroad. Mrs. Margaret McDuffie, the Governor's personal secretary, was photographed with him at the time the proclamation was signed.

War Induces Peak Demand For Men Women Graduates

MINNEAPOLIS, July. (UP)—The girl graduate may have been an employment problem at one time, but for the duration at least that situation is drastically reversed.

This is indicated by the eighth annual survey of employment for college graduates—both men and women—conducted by the Northwestern Life Insurance Co. in 128 colleges throughout the nation.

The report emphasizes that starting salaries are establishing "new highs."

"Women are being inducted into all the usual women's jobs and also as junior executives, personnel officers, salesmen and sales executives, and into engineering and accounting. The placement officials unanimously said 'All graduates who want jobs can have them.'"

Shortage in Engineers

In many men's colleges, the senior class is going into uniform immediately. From one-third to two-thirds of the 1943 engineering graduates are being drafted into the fighting forces; the remainder are being snapped up by war industries. The shortage of trained engineers may be even more grave in 1944.

The reports add: War industry offers three to ten war jobs for every engineering graduate available, and is absorbing business administration and other seniors. Civilian industry can draw only from 4-Fs and women who do not enter war work.

There is a noticeably increased interest in Latin-American jobs.

Many graduates are interested in long-range possibilities in the jobs they select. A few appear to be developing exaggerated ideas of their salary value.

Study Postwar Problems

The survey also reports that many universities and colleges are working in advance on problems of postwar employment. They are making detailed analyses of the abilities and training of graduates entering the armed services, so they can aid in finding employment for them immediately after the war ends.

As part of the war program, many schools are offering both "quickie" training courses for war tasks, and accelerated long-range academic courses of study.

The war-induced demand for women engineers has caused many engineering and technological schools to admit them for the first time. Other schools long have accepted women in engineering classes.

Summing up, the report says: the demand is far greater—the supply is smaller—the pay is 30-40 per cent higher.

Workers in a Michigan refinery faced up a very low, false door leading to the pay office. On it is inscribed: "You will learn to duck lower if you don't buy a Bond."

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murrell have received word that their son in law Lt. Wesley C. Hancock, a fighter pilot now stationed at Henderson Field, Pampa, Fla., has chalked up a record in aerial gunnery at the field.

Lt. Hancock firing the fighter plane guns shot a 21 which is the record for fliers at the field. On only one other occasion has a gunner shot the 21 score.

The young pilot before entering the service was employed at The Globe in Ranger and shortly after receiving his wings and commission was married to Miss Muri Dean Murrell at the home of her parents here.

If you haven't gotten around to buying a Second War Loan Bond, stop and think what it would mean to you if our soldiers hadn't gotten round to the fight.

Through the efforts of the Eastland County Chapter of the American Red Cross and Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, chairman, Pfc. Robert C. Carpenter a young soldier from Ranger now in North Africa has been notified and given the details of the death of his father, Walter C. Carpenter who died in a Ranger hospital July 4.

In response to letters sent by Mrs. Perkins, the soldier wrote the following letter: Dear Mrs. Perkins: I was so sorry to hear about my father's death but was so proud to receive a nice message from you and get all the details. I had received a letter from my folks but they were in no shape to tell me anything about it. It hurts me so much to have him taken away from us but he had to answer the call. Mrs. Perkins, it was very nice of you and the Red Cross to be willing to help me and my mother, and I don't know anything in the world that would please me more than for you to send me the clipping.

Please tell my mother that I have had the adjustment form changed. I am going to take care of my mother to the best of my

Keep 'Em Oiled and Greased
THEY'VE GOT TO LAST!

Electric fans have been working overtime. The chances are they again need a little oil or cup grease to protect bearings from wear. Electric fans have gone to war—take care of them.

Some Fans Need Oil

For fans which have oil holes, use a medium-weight lubricating oil, such as automobile engine oil. Be careful not to use too much, for it runs out and rots the rubber insulation.

Some Fans Need Grease

Some fans have grease cups instead of oil holes. These cups, containing a small wick and coil spring, should be filled with cup grease; not oil. If in doubt, take your fans to an electric shop for oiling and greasing.
