Fierce Battle Raging Around Salerno

Well, i dunno but-

Folks, it looks like Ranger's on the map again, and if we can just keep Coke Stevenson in Mexico long enough, we can expect big things for Ranger and another blow from the "big windbag of the Oil-belt."

Yes sir, somehow Lee Roy Pearson and Brann Eugene Garner got themselves appointed to the staff of acting Gov. John Lee Smith. Both of them are lieutenant colonels and while we have this power in Ranger we ought to make it pay off, so whatever you want for Ranger just let the lieutenant colonels know.

We are not sure just what they are going to do for the governor but we understand that they will be called to Austin for a conference with the chief.

It's alright about Lt. Col. Pearson giving his time to the state because he's got a bunch of oil wells working for him, but we can't figure out yet how the Eastland County Gasoline Rationing board is going to spare Lt. Col. Garner for other duties. Of course, it won't bother the Arendt Theatre of which the colonel is manager, because Mrs. Garner is running that anyway. And the services which he has been giving the newspaper, barber shops and other institutions have been donated, so naturally we can't object to being denied his efficient assistance.

But the thing about it is this, these men around town like Hill Walker, Mayor J. J. Kelly, Pleas Moore, C. B. Pruet, Edwin George, Jr., L. E. Gray, V. V. Cooper, Jr., Dr. G. C. Boswell, Dr. P. M. Kuykendall, Ed Eubank and all the others who have been working for some kind of a project for Ranger, can just sit back and let the Colonels have it. Yet sir, we'll get something for Ranger now.

Shucks, girls The Corporal is married, and it's funny, too. The Jeep is still loyal and hasn't gotten a divorce. But we guess it will be alright about the Cpl. Being married because the bride (they've just been married four months) is OK and she likes Ranger and she is helping deliver War Bonds and maybe helping to sell some.

Mrs. Corporal tells us that this is really a honeymoon for them, for as soon as they were married her husband had to go back to work for Uncle Sam and this is the first time they have had any kind of a honeymoon trip. She is thoroughly enjoying the breather from household duties.

Hope Looms For Wage Fight End

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13, (UP)—Fresh hope of a break in the long coal wage deadlock arose Monday when United Mine Workers' President John L. Lewis called the union's policy committee to a meeting here next Thursday to consider current negotiations.

The committee is seldom summoned unless decisions are imminent, but a UMW spokesman announced that while progress has been made there has been no definite agreement. He said the union seeks a contract embracing a lengthened work day to provide payment for underground travel time and at the same time boost the output of the needed coal.

Typhus Fever Not Conquered Yet

AUSTIN, Tex.—"The conquest of typhus fever in Texas is far from complete and the mere fact that typhus is on a slight decline during the past few weeks should not for one moment lull us into a false sense of security," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, declared in Austin today. "There is still entirely too much of this disabling and sometimes fatal disease."

"Concentrated effort and close cooperation from every citizen of Texas is urgently needed if typhus fever is to be brought definitely under control," Dr. Cox continued, "and this certainly must be done if our civilian health and that of our armed forces in Texas is to be protected."

Inasmuch as typhus is spread by the flea which feeds on typhus infected rats, control measures, according to Dr. Cox, depend on rat extermination through means of starving out and building out rats as well as trapping and poisoning them. He stated that regardless of what a fine garbage collection and disposal system a community maintains, it is practically worthless in rodent control unless garbage is put into (and not beside) a garbage pail and the pail kept covered at all times.

Rat-proofing of all homes and business houses should be undertaken as quickly as possible and the local health departments are usually able to assist in overcoming the obstacle of obtaining materials and labor. They can also assist in trapping and poisoning campaigns, and will gladly do so upon request.

More Workers Are Needed By Steam Laundry

George Rogers stated today that under the new shift system being used by the Ranger Steam Laundry, more workers are needed and has appealed for additional women and college students, who may also fit their schedules to the laundry shift system.

Put into effect on Monday the three shifts work as follows: from 9:00 a. m. until 5:00 p. m.; second shift from 5:00 p. m. to 10:00 p. m. and the third shift from 10:00 p. m. to 7 a. m. In this way more people can be employed and more work turned out. Women who work on the second and third shifts will have transportation to and from work if they live within the city limits. This accommodation will make it possible for some who have wanted to work before to do so. Rogers stated that the need for workers is urgent and anyone wishing to get a job at the laundry is asked to call there immediately and make application for the work.

Denison Proud of Commanding Army Officers

DENISON, Tex. (UP)—If Denison is typical of other Texas towns, the army can put up recruiting posters like the one the Marine Corps uses which reads: "Join the Marines and help Texas win the war."

Of the 17 ranks in the army, Denison is represented in 16. They need a three star general for complete representation.

Heading the list is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of United Nations Forces in the Mediterranean area, who was born here Oct. 14, 1890. Denison's two other generals are Maj. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, assistant chief of staff in the Army Service Forces, and Brig. Gen. Walter A. Dumas, commandant of the Tank Destroyer Division at Temple, Texas.

Denison also is the home of four colonels, three lieutenant colonels, ten majors and 18 captains.

SALAMAUA IN ALLIED HANDS LAE NEXT GOAL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in the Southwest Pacific, Sept. 14, (Tuesday) (UP)—The big Japanese air and naval base at Salamaua, on the northeast coast of New Guinea, fell under a combined Australian and American assault Sunday and the broken enemy force is now in headlong flight to join the remnants of a second garrison trapped at battered Lae, twenty-one miles to the north, it was announced Tuesday.

A triumphant communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that the Allied forces had overrun the Salamaua Peninsula and town area and were sweeping on to the north for the junction with the Australian and American troops converging on Lae from east and west.

"Our southern forces are in close pursuit of remnants of the enemy's disintegrating forces," the communique said. Great quantities of equipment were abandoned by the beaten Japs as they fled northward from their shattered base, once the main Japanese concentration point for what was to have been the conquest of Papua.

With the base safely in Allied hands, MacArthur's headquarters permitted the disclosure that the brunt of the assault on Salamaua had been borne by the 162nd Infantry Division, largely from the Pacific Northwest, and the Australian 17th Brigade. These troops, it was announced, had spearheaded the drive on Salamaua since the landing at Nassau Bay, eleven miles to the south, more than two months ago.

The conquest of Salamaua was completed barely twenty-four hours after a vanguard of Australians swam across the twisting Francisco River Saturday and seized the bomb-pocked airfield two miles southwest of the town.

Chinese Choose Chiang For Long Term as Leader

CHUNGKING, China, Sept. 13 (UP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was named president of China's national government Monday, succeeding the late President Lin Sen, who died Aug. 1. During the war Chiang Kai-Shek will remain Grand Marshal of the nation's armed forces.

Chiang, who was serving as acting president, was chosen unanimously by the central executive committee of the Kuomintang, dominant government party, which under China's provisional constitution is entrusted with all high appointments.

Chiang was elected for a three year term, although the provisional constitution fixes the chief executive's term of office at two years. Because of the war emergency he also is expected to retain leadership of the executive organ of the government, despite a constitutional provision barring any concurrent government post to the president of the Chinese Republic.

Returns Home From Cousin's Funeral

Eugene Baker has returned from Goose Creek where he was called by the death of his cousin, Daniel C. McGary, who died September 8.

The deceased had been a leader in Democratic circles for many years and was prominent in civic, fraternal and church affairs. His death followed an illness of several weeks.

War Bonds Speed This Trainload of Precious Cargo

A hospital train, being loaded with wounded men brought home from some far spot when they fell in action. Swiftly, streaking through the night, this train of mercy will take them safely to some big, modern hospital where they will receive the best attention medical science can muster—attention that your War Bonds helped provide. As invasion mounts, there will be more and more trains like this—and more and more money will be needed to keep them in operation. Buy as many EXTRA $100 Bonds as you can in the Third War Loan.

Singers' Meeting To Be Held Here Saturday, Sunday

By Chas. Ashcraft
The Texas State Singers Association which is meeting at the Recreation building next Saturday evening, and again all day Sunday, brings to Ranger a group of people who write, teach and conduct music.

There is a very small membership fee, and yearly dues—less than one dollar all together. However, musicians who are not members appear on the program. It also is true that many members do not sing or play, but they do encourage gospel singing and some of them contribute very liberal financial support. They believe that singing is not only a form of worship and praise but that it also is a very delightful and cultured entertainment.

The business and professional people of Ranger have made possible a very substantial fund for free entertainment to this group. It is hoped that there will be plenty of homes Saturday night for all singers who come to the opening session. These people are always delightful guests, and it is believed you will enjoy them, and that the singing will be more appreciated after you have learned to know some of them. Register for your guests early, then come and enjoy the singing while heartily.

Allied Losses In Pacific Revealed

WASHINGTON.—Americans and Japanese have traded air blows at opposite ends of the Pacific battle line with the Americans coming off second best in the number of planes lost, the navy revealed today.

The navy also revealed the loss, presumably in the Pacific waters, of the relatively new submarine Grenadier with 65 men bringing the total of American submarines lost thus far in this war to 12.

NAZIS SCRAP TREATY AND ENTER MILAN

CHIASO, Italy-Swiss Frontier, Sept. 13, (UP)—The German forces of Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel, breaking an agreement by which they had agreed not to occupy Milan, moved into the city Monday, and arrested the commander of the Italian garrison, Gen. Vittorio Ruggero, reports to the border said.

German forces overpowered resisting groups in street fighting, the reports said. The Milanese battled courageously, but lacking ammunition, they finally were forced to flee, many of them escaping to the surrounding countryside.

They are continuing the struggle, border reports said. Ruggero had broadcast from Milan Saturday that all organized resistance to the Germans in Lombardy had ceased, and that the Germans had agreed to refrain from occupying Milan, Como and Varese in return for capitulation of Italian forces in that area.

The Germans, this broadcast said, had agreed to permit the Italian troops to retain their arms and Ruggero warned that any violation of the agreement by either side would bring on new fighting.

Durin and after Ruggero's broadcast, there were persistent reports here that, despite his declaration, resistance to the Nazis had not ceased and that they were meeting with resistance in northern Italy.

Judge B. W. Patterson of the 88th district court Monday convened a grand jury composed of the following persons:

PARAMUSHIRO POUNDED BY U. S. BOMBERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13, (UP)—The Navy announced Monday night that American heavy and medium bombers have struck again at Paramushiro—the North Pacific—and reported hits on enemy ships and the destruction of at least ten challenging enemy fighter planes.

At least four United States bombers were lost and six others failed to return. (War Bond purchases of $1,000,000 must be made during the Third War Loan drive to replace those ten Allied planes. Although the lives of the aviators cannot be replaced, bond purchases will curtail much additional loss of life by shortening the war.)

This fourth American attack on the enemy naval bastion which guards the northern approaches to Tokyo was carried out Monday and encountered heavy aircraft fire and fighter plane opposition.

A communique reported that more than twenty-five enemy fighters intercepted the American bombers and that in the ensuing fifty-minute running air battle at least ten enemy fighters, and possibly three others were shot down.

It was not revealed how many participated in the attack but a broadcast version of a Japanese communique said earlier that eight bombers comprised the American formation and that eight were shot down. It acknowledged that two Jap transports and one Jap plane were damaged, but claimed that damage to land installations was extremely slight.

A later Tokyo broadcast said seven American planes were shot down and that one "enemy plane" who parachuted from his plane was captured by Japanese forces.

The Navy announcement said that despite spirited enemy opposition the attacking planes scored numerous hits on ground installations, set fire to one transport which was left in sinking condition, damaged another transport and scored hits on three cargo vessels, one of which exploded. Additionally, numerous small craft were strafed and many were set afire.

The American losses were the heaviest suffered thus far in any raid on Paramushiro and gave evidence that the Japs have developed considerable strength to fend off aerial assaults from the Aleutians.

Paramushiro, on the extreme northern tip of the Kurile Island chain—northern stepping stone to Tokyo—is some 745 miles from American reconquered Attu Island at the western end of the Aleutian chain. It appeared possible the Mitchell medium bombers were based at Attu and that the heavy weights—four-motored Liberators—came from some other base to the eastward of Attu.

Since the fall of Attu last May and the unopposed American reconquest of Kiska last month, the Japanese have shown increasing fear that American long-range bombers would utilize the Aleutian route for a direct blow against Tokyo, via Paramushiro.

The latest attack was the fifth aerial thrust against Japanese vital. The first was the raid on Tokyo and other Japanese cities by Major Gen. James H. Doolittle's fliers April 18, 1942.

The first blow against Paramushiro fell last July 10, but weather conditions compelled the American fliers to drop their bombs without determining the results. Nine days later they struck again and followed this up with a third thrust Aug. 12.

Eighty-nine per cent of all land in Nevada is Federally-owned or controlled.

NAZI MAKING ALL-OUT DRIVE AS BRITISH RUSH TO ALLY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in North Africa, (UP)—The American 8th army gave ground against powerful Nazi tank counter attacks, a communique said today, in one of the fiercest battles of the Mediterranean war on the Salerno bridgehead south of Naples.

The Germans apparently were making an all-out effort to smash the long Allied bridgehead before the British 8th army, which took Bari and Cosenza, can move 100 miles up from Southern Italy to join the Americans. The Nazi high command communique said the Allies had been driven back to Salerno and the beaches with severe losses. London observers were inclined to view the Nazi evacuation claims as an exaggerated but acknowledged that bitter fighting was in progress.

Both sides were intensifying their aerial operations over the bridgehead where fierce see-saw fighting continued on land as well as in the air. Many enemy attacks were thrown back by the Americans and British but the battle continued unabated.

The battle was reporting raging with fury as the enemy's famous 88 guns hammered the Allied positions at Salerno—which has repeatedly changed hands—and on the Sele River, 17 miles south of the town. British sources compared the struggle to the battle of Gallipoli, where the British failed in a long and costly struggle to force the Dardanelles.

Late Bulletins—

LONDON—Formations of Allied bombers covered by strong squadrons of fighters flew over the channel toward Europe late today.

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Top officials of the Army and Navy today were summoned to present to a senate committee this week their views on drafting of fathers, as the senate leadership temporarily sidetracked consideration of the Wheeler bill for deferment of Pre-Pearl Harbor fathers.

VALETTA, Malta, (UP)—The total number of surrendered Italian vessels already in port here or expected shortly, approached 80 today.

The fleet appeared to be getting up steam preparatory to departing.

WASHINGTON, (UP)—President Roosevelt reported to the Senate today that the War Relocation Authority has started a program to segregate disloyal persons of Jap ancestry from pro-Americans among the 110,000 persons who were evacuated from their West Coast homes after Pearl Harbor.

Seaman Beck Back From Service In Foreign Stations

Mrs. Lloyd Eugene Beck this morning received a telephone call from her husband, Seaman Second Class Beck, who had just arrived in California after a year's service on foreign fronts.

Seaman Beck has seen service in the Philippine Islands and on Guadalcanal. While talking with Mrs. Beck he stated that he had just recently gotten the promotion to second class seaman. He expects to be in Ranger soon.

THE END OF THE ROAD
CHAPTER XXV

"YOUR name?" demanded the dervah.

"Terek el-Medjahiri, of the edge of the Bi Hassanyeh."

"Salam, salam! We have been anxiously awaiting you. I am Sayid el-Wahqab, of the Lodge of the Semussiyeh."

Lincoln knew at once who the man was: one of the most notorious anti-European leaders among the Moslems, fully as dangerous to the cause of the United Nations in Africa as Mahatma Gandhi was in India.

By this time, some of the other dervahs had crowded about the American. One of them, a lean, dark-skinned Egyptian, laughed.

"You were—a little previous, were you not, Terek?" he demanded.

"Oh . . ."

"Aren't you the one who killed said Elliot, the governor at Moussetville, before our master gave the order to strike?"

Others joined in the laughter. They shook Lincoln's hands, and he reflected, ironically, that he seemed to be popular for having caused his own death.

After a while, trying to keep his voice steady, he said:

"I should pay my respects to the hokmoot ameer. Where can I find him?"

The Egyptian pointed to a tent a little larger than the rest.

"You'll find him in there. But it is almost time for evening devotion. Wait until afterwards. For our master is a most rigid Moslem, a descendant of the Prophet Mohammed the Adored."

HALF an hour later, after a dervah had chanted the sunset prayers, with day dying and the first ghostly moonrises vanishing their way through the clouds, Lincoln went to the tent of the man whom he was going to kill.

He was not conscious of the slightest quiver of excitement who he was.

"I am Terek el-Medjahiri of the Bi Hassanyeh."

"Come in, O pilgrim!"

He raised the tent-flap, entered, and was alone with the hokmoot ameer. Again, as when he had first seen the clearing, he felt disappointed. For, again, there was nothing startling or dramatic. There was merely, sitting cross-legged, dim in the half-light of a far corner, a slight, medium-sized man, dressed in a long, brown robe, his face blurred and indistinct by the troping shadows; and a voice greeting him with a pleasant:

"Salam aleykoom, yah sheikh!"

"So matter-of-fact!" thought the American. "So commonplace!"

But a second later, he considered that it was the man's very plainness which made him doubly dangerous. His simplicity, his refusal to stoop to theatrical, Mussolini-like flummery to impress his followers, proved that he was utterly sure of himself.

Lincoln shrugged his shoulders. He told himself once more:

"Let's get it over with."

His first shot would have to kill. Couldn't afford to miss, or people would hurry in. So, groping under his burmosee and sliding the revolver snug to the palm of his hand, he took a step forward. A monkey-dance in and brought his face into sharp relief—and he heard a slow voice speaking in French:

"Why—if it isn't Lincoln! How are you, Lincoln?"

The hokmoot ameer rose. His features, too, became clear, and Lincoln recognized Raoul.

SILENCE dropped like a pall. They stared at one another. But they could not stand there forever, silent and staring. Something had to be done—or said.

This something was said by Lincoln.

"You haven't changed a bit, Raoul!" He spoke with that sudden excess of brutality which comes to New Englanders at moments of great emotional stress. "You're still the crook, the cheat, as when you stole regimental funds."

The other smiled mockingly.

"There's a difference," he replied.

"Oh . . ."

"Two differences. I stole—well—thoughtlessly, to pay for my father. But this I am doing with full knowledge of what I am doing, and for the sake of revenge against," harshly, "the society that Europe, the Christianity which condemns and never forgives in its stinking self-righteousness." He paused. "And the other difference . . ."

"Yes . . ."

"This time I'm getting away with it. Nobody knows that I . . ."

"What about me?"

"You don't matter."

"Don't it?"

"You're helpless."

Lincoln's grip tightened about the revolver.

"Why," he inquired, "do you imagine I came here, as a dervah?"

"Ask me a harder question," Raoul's mocking smile widened. "To kill me, Right?"

"Right."

"You wouldn't do it, now that you know who I am?"

"Yet you were ready enough to include me among those to be murdered."

"I didn't find out until just the other day that you had been appointed governor. I wondered and worried what to do. Then the news came that you had been killed . . ."

"And so, since it was not on your direct orders, you absolved your conscience. Well—I don't believe you."

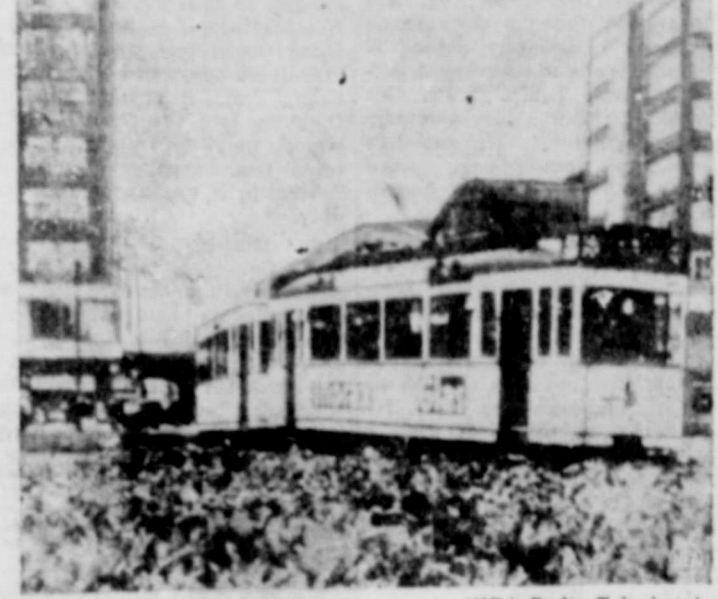

"You must believe me. It's the truth."

The Friendly Store

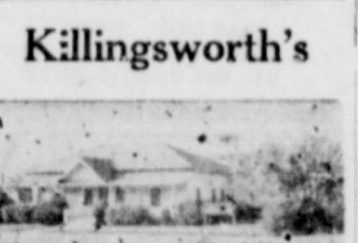

War hasn't harmed the possessions of 62-year-old Mr. Lidbetter, English traveler, philosopher and writer—he takes them with him wherever he goes. Cycling through a Sussex town, the roving author is, in his own words, a "rolling stone who gathers no moss but whisks."

Pauline Krivitsky, 11, New York City, is mighty glad that's her name. A 45-year-old woman named Pauline who had been kindly treated by the Children's Aid Society as a child made donation to the organization, asked part of funds provide vacation for a youngster named Pauline. And this Pauline is the lucky girl.

Bearded Biker Lists 7 Points In US-British Plan For Peace

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP)—The plan President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill agree upon for peace and world order consists of seven principal points, according to Dr. Kenneth Colegrove, professor of political science at Northwestern University. He believes these points are:

- (1) The final peace settlement will be a negotiated peace instead of a dictated peace, negotiations being made not with the Fascist or Nazi elements but with the representative government set up in each country.
- (2) The United Nations will retain a monopoly of weapons, forcing disarmament upon Germany, Japan and Italy for all time.
- (3) The United Nations will maintain an international police force to crush aggression perhaps for a century.
- (4) There will be a new international organization for the maintenance of peace and for collective action against aggressor nations.
- (5) The U. S. and Great Britain will play the leading role in the council of the United Nations, trying to get maximum cooperation from Russia and China.
- (6) After occupation of enemy homelands by an international police force, such occupation gradually will be relaxed in favor of representative governments established there.
- (7) The final peace treaty will favor elimination of economic barriers and the opening of national resources to all nations on equal terms.

"While Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill are developing the pattern for the new world order," Dr. Colegrove said, "they are not unmindful of Soviet Russia and China, the other two of the Big Four in the United Nations."

But, due to the failure of Dictator Stalin fully to cooperate, the full force of Soviet Russia is not now involved in world-planning. As to China, it is apparent that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is not too remote from Washington and London."

Give Them the Right of Way

It may be a 48-Hour Pass for some of them. Just enough time for a visit with the folks, and then back to camp. And, too, it may be that last furlough home before being shipped out. These boys in our service deserve to have the right of way to the seats on the trains. Please do your best to plan your trip so it does not interfere with theirs.

If you must travel, then please plan your trip in mid-week. Purchase your ticket in advance. Take the accommodation that is available. Carry only one bag. Check ahead other baggage you might need. See that all baggage is properly and plainly labeled, so it will not go astray. Cancel reservation promptly if your plans are changed. Every train is crowded.

You will do yourself a kindness and help our boys in uniform if you will follow the above suggestions.
