DEVASTATION IN BERLIN IS REVEALED BY WAR PRISONER

LONDON, Oct. 28 (UP)—For every fifteen yards and ammunition dumps after the Allied bombing of Berlin the Germans were still digging their dead out of the ruins of the Berlin Sports Palace, hit by a full stick of heavy bombs, a report of a British war prisoner said Thursday.

Five thousand people were in the stadium, listening to a Nazi pep talk when British Bomber planes arrived.

Frederick Buxton, one of the repatriated prisoners, used to be taken through the city each day.

"After every raid I saw great areas laid out flat and buildings still burning," he said. "It was as if a great scythe had been swept through the city during the night."

Then came the bombing of the stadium.

"All lights went out and everybody was panic-stricken," Buxton said. "A stick of bombs fell right on the stadium. They were big ones. The next day it was announced that 168 had been killed."

"Ten days later I saw them still digging out Germans."

Buxton said other British and American correspondents told British correspondents of a shabby, hungry, dispirited Germany, of a shabby population, of Berliners who were horribly frightened, wondering what each night would bring, of a country which knew the war was lost and of civilians who only wanted the war to end.

The Americans told her Germans had spat upon them, stoned them, even threatened them with death. They agreed with the Britons that Germans were bleeding and breaking as the result of bombings and said that all Germans they talked to, even soldiers, were praying for the end of the war, and believed it must end by Feb. 28.

A British Medical Corps orderly was in camp in Austria.

"When Rommel advanced in Egypt the Austrians liked to be called Germans," he said. "When Montgomery marched to Tunisia they preferred to be called Austrians. When Rommel was thrown into the sea they wanted to be called Saxons."

Staff Sgt. Milton Williams, Omaha, Neb., said some Germans to whom he talked thought the American planes which bombed Germany had flown direct from the United States, and he let them keep on thinking.

Life begins at Stalag 9-c at 6 a. m., when German guards come through the wards shouting "Raus mit dir!" Williams declared.

"It's a life that makes you madder than hell when you hear of people back home griping about conditions," said Williams, who lost half a leg when he bailed out of a Fortress April 17 after being hit by a bomb.

"The people who gripe should see what it's like in Germany," he said. "In prison you really learn respect for human rights."

The prisoners were allowed to walk around the hospital freely or to go into the exercise yard below the hospital, which is a limestone building formerly used as an agricultural college. The yard was surrounded by a barbed wire barricade. Six feet inside was a trip wire with signs warning the prisoners they were liable to be shot if they passed.

RECRUITERS FOR WAC TO BE HERE NOV. 6-7

Girls in Ranger, who have wondered how they can get information about joining the WACS, and particularly how they can get into the Army Air Forces, will be given the opportunity to learn all about it Saturday and Sunday, November 6 and 7, when a recruiting team headed by Captain James C. Boone of Blackland Army Air Field, Waco, will be in town to talk with those women who are interested in joining the Air-WACS.

Lt. Elizabeth A. Miller, WAC officer, and Lt. Virginia F. Williams, will assist Capt. Boone.

"Air-WACS" are Women's Army Corps soldiers in the Air Forces. They are stationed at Army Air Fields and perform many important duties formerly done by male soldiers. Among the many attractive positions in the Air Forces for women are radio tower operators, dispatching the Army's big planes to and from the base; photo lab technicians, (there is a chance for a girl to put her picture hobby to work for Uncle Sam) More than 150 specific positions in medical, personnel, public relations, weather, drafting, radio, mechanical and other fields are open.

Physically fit women of good character from 20 to 47 years of age, without dependents or children under 14, are eligible to become "Air-WACS." They must have two years of High School training or be able to pass a mental test which will be given by the recruiting officers in Ranger and by Lt. Williams, during the next six weeks, either at her office, 301 P. O. Building, Abilene, or here by special appointment.

Life for the Air-WAC isn't all work either, here is a good example of extra curricular activity. Since WACS are soldiers, they are permitted to ride in Army planes, so to inaugurate the Air-WAC recruiting campaign in Waco, a group of WACS put a last dab of powder on their noses, climbed into fast twin-engine training planes at Blackland Army Air Field and with accompanying combat pilots, "bombed" the city of Waco with pamphlets.

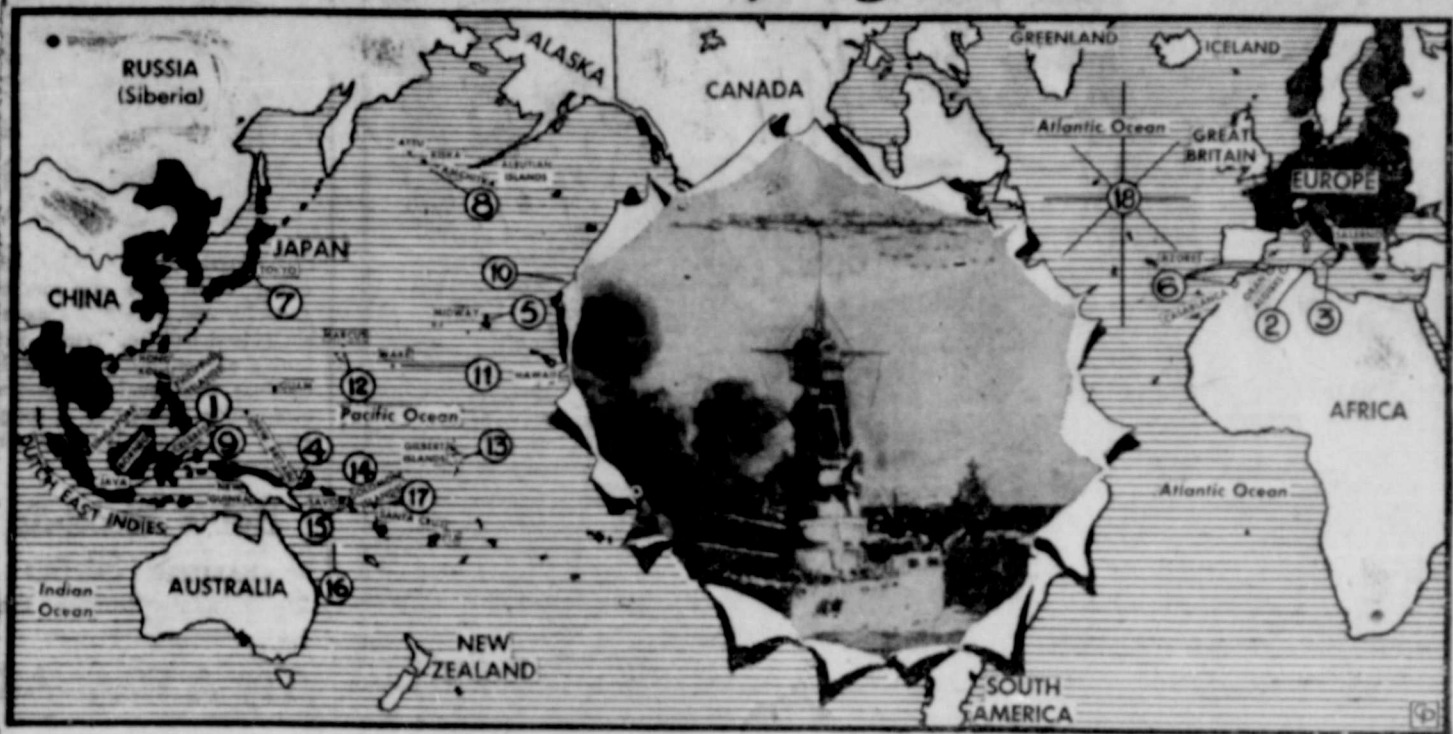

Social life for the Air-WACS is well planned. Dances, roller skating parties, bowling alleys, basketball, baseball are but a few of the entertainment events open to the women soldiers. Good food served in their own mess halls, quiet, tastefully decorated day rooms in which to relax, and a beauty salon of their own are just a few of the advantages WACS enjoy on an Air Field.

Here is the typical comment of a large post commander, said Colonel Emmett F. Yost, Commanding Officer at Blackland Army Air Field:

"Our Air-WACS are doing a marvelous job. Regular Army men who may have shaken their heads at first are now enthusiastic boosters for the women soldiers. They have fitted themselves rapidly into the Army program and their work is a credit to their whole Corps."

Ranger women are urged to talk with the group of Army officers when they arrive or to Lt. Williams on her weekly visit here on Wednesdays. They will be able to give helpful, accurate information on the Air-Wac program, the exciting part women are playing in the Army of today and finally how to become a member of Uncle Sam's great group of women soldiers.

BULLDOGS TO MEET MINERAL WELLS ELEVEN

Winning of their first conference game for the year will be the main objective of the Ranger Bulldogs when they go into the game tonight against the Mineral Wells Mountaineers, coached by Boone Yarbrough.

The game will start promptly at 8 o'clock at the Bulldog stadium and indications are that fans will be out in full attendance.

According to Coach Don Martin of the Bulldogs, the team is unusually high spirits and physically in fair condition, with two of the first string going into the game handicapped by slight injuries.

Statistics compiled by officials give the Ranger team a little edge as favored to win. The Mountaineers have not won a game this year and while the Bulldogs have not won a conference game they have one non-conference game. Brownwood defeated the Mineral Wells eleven by a score of 52 to 0 and defeated Ranger by 19 to 0, thus indicating that Ranger may be regarded as the strongest team.

Officials for tonight's game will be B. Broome, Capt. R. P. Barrows, and Cpl. Dub King.

Likely starting line-ups and reserves for both teams are listed below:

REDS POURING LIKE SPRING FLOOD ACROSS A STEEPLAND

MOSCOW—Russian forces are "pouring like a spring flood" across Nogaisk steppeland carpeted with German dead in the wake of a Nazi retreat which degenerated into a rout at several points below the lower Dnieper, government organ Izvestia reported today.

Gen. Fedor I. Tolbukhin's swift mobile units were reported slamming the door on the Crimea and tightening the drawstring on the neck of a Dnieper valley sack containing hundreds of thousands of battle-grooved German troops.

Swarming through the great gap knocked in the German barricade across the mouth of the Nogaisk Corridor between the Dnieper and the Azov sea, the Russians chopped down thousands of fleeing troops and seized vast stores of abandoned arms and supplies.

Paced by hard riding cossack Cavalry, the Russians had narrowed the Corridor between the jaws of the Nogaisk-Dnieper pincers to less than 80 miles.

Izvestia said fighting was raging along the whole width of the steppes along the German line of retreat, with Russian forces constantly probing, the hindermost enemy positions and coming to grips with Nazis who failed to shake off the pursuit.

Tolbukhin was developing the Melitopol breakthrough with such rapidity that he appeared to be making a bid to destroy the German remnants. He was trying to smash clear through, split the German, then turn and destroy each wing, front reports indicated.

RANGER OVER TOP IN WAR FUND DRIVE

Ranger today went over the top in the drive for funds for the United War Chest, with slightly over the $2,700 quota already collected and a few donations which have been pledged still outstanding.

At the same time that it was announced that Ranger had gone over the quota, it was stated that the county quota is still a little short of completion. M. L. King, chairman for Ranger for the drive, asked that persons who have not made their contributions, contact some of the committeemen and add their donations. King pointed out that this will be needed to raise the county quota as some communities were not able to reach the goal set for them.

Coming close on the heels of the Third War Loan Drive, the quota for Ranger was first regarded as a little high but with characteristic spirit committeemen went to work to see that Ranger's reputation for always meeting obligations was upheld and with one day yet to go before the deadline that quota has been met.

Revival Will Be Opened Sunday At Rocky Point

A revival meeting will open at the Rocky Point Pentecostal church on Sunday, October 31, with services being conducted by Evangelist E. W. Anglin of Grand Saline.

Singing services will be conducted by E. J. Myers and services each evening will begin promptly at 7:45, according to an announcement made today by Rev. J. J. Kinsfather, pastor of the church.

The public is invited to attend the services.

CHUNGKING, China. (UP)—American heavy bombers set fires at Lungling, Japanese-held Burma road base, and shot down eight planes Wednesday in an attack support Chinese troops who have stopped an enemy offensive, it was announced today.

WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD

This little piggy really went to market and when the day was over was worth more than his weight in gold.

He turned out to be something like the "goose that laid the golden egg" for the United War Chest Drive in Ranger when he was put up for sale at the auction held last Thursday at the Sig Faircloth Sales Barn. The little white pig with USO in big black letters on his back and weighing 30 1/2 pounds, made $135 for the fund in Ranger.

And that isn't the end of the tale. Clinton McCain of Eastland, who finally won the pig, stated that he would keep and feed the pig for another auction sometime about Christmas.

The auction was arranged by M. L. King, chairman for Ranger, vice-in-chairman for Eastland County and Jim Morris, committeeman and was held through the courtesy of S. I. Faircloth, owner of the Sales Barn and Vic King, auctioneer, who contributed his services.

MRS. PETERS DIES IN DALLAS THIS MORNING

Relatives and friends were advised this morning of the death of Mrs. J. E. T. Peters, 52 of Dallas and formerly of Ranger. Mrs. Peters' death occurred at 1 o'clock this morning and followed a lengthy illness.

Funeral services will be conducted in Dallas Saturday morning at 10 o'clock with interment in the Hillcrest Burial Park at Dallas.

Mrs. Peters whose maiden name was Vera Rawls was born and reared in Ranger and was the daughter of the late T. O. Rawls and Mrs. Martha Rawls who survive her. After graduation from the Ranger Schools the deceased taught school in Carbon and necessity before she was married in Ranger to Mr. Peters. She was a member of the Methodist church.

Besides her mother survivors include her husband, J. E. T. Peters, a son, W. C. Peters and two grandsons, all of Dallas; four sisters, Mrs. Lada Riddle and Mrs. John M. Cholsen of Ranger, Mrs. George L. Davenport of Eastland and Mrs. W. R. Bowden of Midland and two brothers, R. B. Rawls of Ft. Worth and T. O. Rawls of Ranger.

Mrs. Gholson and Mrs. Bowden were with her sister at the time of her death.

BACK FROM NORTH AFRICA

Pictured above is Cpl. J. B. Blackwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Blackwell of the Cheney community, and brother of Mrs. G. C. (Lum) Love, who arrived home Thursday night after having served with the armed forces in North Africa.

Cpl. Blackwell has been given an honorable discharge from the services in order that he may assume the care of his father who is ill and his mother who recently fell and broke her arm and to supervise the operation of his father's farm.

Russian Power Revealed to Nazi

LONDON, Oct. 28 (UP)—Radio Berlin painted a vivid picture of Soviet strength on the southern Russian front Thursday.

"In one sector," it said, "the Russians are so massed that there is a soldier every yard, a grenade thrower every seven yards, a field gun every 15 yards and a machine-gunned gun every forty yards."

New Food Setup Is Announced

WASHINGTON, (UP)—President Roosevelt announced today a reorganization of domestic and international organizations aiming at more efficient distribution of food. He described the changes as "an important step in the simplification of the food allocations process."

Roosevelt Says Conference Of Ministers Success

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Roosevelt said today the Moscow conference of foreign ministers already has resulted in definite agreements, and he indicated that they cover both prosecution of the war and post-war problems.

Declaring the conference is a tremendous success in bringing the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union into closer working cooperation, Mr. Roosevelt told his news conference the agreements soon will be reduced to writing.

English Said To Be Aiding Slavs

LONDON, Oct. 28 (UP)—British military observers indicated Thursday night that British soldiers, singly and in small groups and armed with vital war equipment, had gone to the aid of Yugoslav guerrilla armies battling a heavy German offensive throughout their homeland.

The British soldiers, it was indicated, were armed with light mortars, guns of various types, supplies of grenades, and probably short wave radios.

It was not revealed how the soldiers may have been transported into the embattled country, but British liaison officers have been with guerrilla groups for some time, and contact between the guerrillas and the Allies is maintained along the Adriatic coast.

It was believed the British soldiers might be aiding the forces of both Gen. Draza Mihailovic, Yugoslav's War Minister, and Gen. Josip (Titi) Broz.

SWEETHEART TO BE CROWNED AT GAME TONIGHT

Dr. G. C. Boswell announced today that at the half at the Mineral Wells-Ranger football game tonight the football sweetheart for the Bulldogs will be crowned.

The identity of the young lady will remain a secret until the hour for the coronation and most Ranger III ladies will go to the game with fluttering hearts. The choice was made by members of the team in secret ballot, and the girl getting the largest number of votes was the one elected.

Plans call for the luck young lady to be carried to the center of the football field on the shoulders of the co-captains, Noel Dabbs and Mace Olyer, and there will be presented flowers from the team.

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The House Ways and Means Committee turned to government economies today after approving less than one fifth of the administration's ten and a half billion dollar revenue goal.

Mrs. M. C. Bruce To Be Buried In Lubbock Sunday

Funeral services for Mrs. M. C. (Carrie) Bruce of Lubbock formerly of Lucas, will be held in Lubbock Sunday afternoon, according to word received by relatives and friends here. She was an aunt of L. L. Bruce of Ranger.

Mrs. Bruce died Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of a daughter in Lubbock. Until only a few years ago she had made her home at Lucas and was well known in Ranger.

Survivors include a son, Herbert Bruce, of Lubbock and three daughters, Mrs. Edith Biggs of Lubbock, Mrs. John Jordan of Monahan and Mrs. Ernest Langford of Oden.

Mr. Roosevelt Depicts First Lady Tells Story of Great War Tragedy

By HELEN ESSARY Central Press Columnist

A few months ago I wrote a sharp criticism of Mrs. Roosevelt in her own newspaper columns. You may have listened to her on the air. You may have seen her somewhere on a train or on a lecture platform.

Today, I could not write another such criticism of Mrs. Roosevelt. It isn't that I have changed my own attitude toward war, its stupidity and tragedy. Or that I wish to say: "Mrs. Roosevelt is the sort of woman the country needs for another four years."

It is that Mrs. Roosevelt has changed. There is a new Eleanor Roosevelt. A war-sick, heart-sick Eleanor Roosevelt.

You yourself may have discovered this new Eleanor Roosevelt in her own newspaper columns. You may have listened to her on the air. You may have seen her somewhere on a train or on a lecture platform.

I glimpsed her when she held her first press conference after her return from the South Pacific. I recognized her completely when she talked to the Red Cross congressional ladies in the Coolidge auditorium of the Library of Congress.

This new Eleanor Roosevelt talked of the war, not in terms of generals and guns. She talked in terms of suffering, frightened boys, women and victims of our struggle against the enemy.

Weeks ago when I mentioned that first press conference of the new Eleanor Roosevelt to several friends, I said, "Mrs. Roosevelt has come back subdued and deeply thoughtful. That old confidence is gone."

"Don't be sentimental," I was told. "She is just tired. A 23,000-mile trip in a chaise seat for her. She'll be her old confident self again before you can say 'Fourth Term.'"

She isn't her old confident self again. Humility has taken the place of intrepidity. The zest for life that sometimes turned into rhapsody and got into the joke books is gone. The once dauntless Mrs. Roosevelt is bowed down with the reality of what she saw on that long journey.

The simple, terrible picture she gave her Coolidge auditorium audience of courageous young Americans, homeless and ill in hospitals on far-away islands! And her stories of the "exhausted" "shell-shocked" was the term in the last war for those stricken in nerves and mind.

Of one of the "exhausted" she repeated an incident that made her listeners ill with horror and helplessness. A Red Cross girl worker was sent to help a boy, huddled with bent head, in a camp far from civilization. The boy was sick in mind and heart. He had not spoken for days. The Red Cross worker hoped she could discover what particular misery was making him dumb.

"You mustn't feel so badly," she said. "It's time to be happy. Soon you'll be going home."

"That's it!" cried the boy. "It's home." His voice was thick with despair. "I can't go home."

"You can't go home? Why, home is the best place in the world."

"Don't you see—" said the boy. "I'm not fit to go home!"

"Not fit to go home? You've been one of the bravest men out here."

"I can't go home, I tell you. For five months I've done nothing but kill. I'm not good enough for home." He covered his face with his hands. "For five months I've done nothing but kill."

"Please, please don't feel that way. You have had to kill. Everybody knows you have had to kill. It was your job. You had to do it to get this awful war over. The people at home will understand what you have been through. They'll be so glad to have you back. They'll be glad what you did."

"But you don't think they'll find a change in me?" The sound of a little hope was in the boy's voice.

"Certainly they won't think you've changed. They'll see a strong, brave man coming back. Besides they themselves may have changed a little. Perhaps you'll go home to a different world from the one you left. It will be a world that will appreciate what you have done."

"We have got to do something about that world," said Mrs. Roosevelt, solemnly concluding her talk.

"We have got to see that the world these men come back to is worth the sacrifice they have made."

I haven't quoted Mrs. Roosevelt exactly. I couldn't take notes as she talked. I was too absorbed. My words were better, but they were true. Now a word about...

You have heard the old saying: "All hands and the cooks". Well, 'twas true in this case the past few days. The only difference was the lunch room cooks, Mrs. Electra H. Burleson, Mrs. Elsie H. Alameda is always about two jumps behind in everything. Word has been received that we have a quota of one hundred dollars to be contributed to the United War Chest Fund. Each person is asked to give any amount that he or she wishes, and a special arrangement is provided for those wishing to contribute larger amounts, by pledging the same in installments. Mr. Davis school superintendent, is in charge of the fund. So let's go! Alameda.

A Good Job, Well Done—

Those of us who have lived in Eastland County for a long time are not surprised at anything that may happen. When the September bond quota was announced, the size of the figures and the magnitude of the undertaking, made us dizzy. But intelligent leadership and perfect co-operation from the ranks did a great job. There will be future quotas, and with the same kind of leadership and loyalty by us who follow, we cannot fail.

tends an invitation to every one to be present next Sunday, November first, to hear Dave Hearn, an able minister of the Gospel, from Abilene Christian College.

Mr. and Mrs. Aften Underwood and children spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Underwood, Alameda and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lewis and family, Desdemona.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Moseley of Coleman, brother of Mrs. Alice Calvert of this community, visited her and other relatives this week end. Mrs. Addie Moseley of Gorman accompanied them home for a visit.

Pvt. James Calvert, punctured his tire with an eight penny nail Sunday night, just when he was in a hurry to start back to camp. You shouldn't have stayed out so long, Jim.

People do find out things somehow. It seems wedding bells are to ring for Dow Wilson on Thanksgiving. He was minister for the Church of Christ at Cheaney two years, and is working with the church at Silver City, N. Mex., this year. Where he succeeded, Wallace W. Layton, former Ranger minister.

Don't forget. The spooks and witches are inviting you to their jamboree to be held at the High school, Friday night October 29. So bring your pennies and come.

Overheard, believe it or not: Ice man—You know, I've seen some flies lately, that look big as sparrows.

Lady of house—That's nothing. I was chasing a chicken out of the house when I caught it, it was a fly.

Pupil—I see you are wearing a diamond, too. Are you engaged?

Teacher—No, I bought this myself fourteen years ago.

MIAMI BEACH SEES BIGGEST YEAR SINCE '25

By John E. McDermott
United Press Staff Correspondent
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UP)—The greatest winter tourist season since the "boom" days of 1925 is anticipated at this resort city, where near-capacity business has been evidenced all summer despite partial occupation by the Army Air Forces Technical Training command.

"Advance indications remind you of the lush days of a gold mine," one hotel operator commented.

And for the first time in history the Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce is issuing its "Come one, come all" call with a note of caution. It asks that visitors write in advance to insure hotel and housing accommodations.

The Army still occupies 188 of this palm-lined city's 332 hotels and only eight of those available for civilian occupancy are "name" hostels of prewar days. These all report record smashing summer business and an abundance of early reservations for the winter.

"There is so little space available that a tremendous season is assured," Eugene Dennison, manager of the MacFadden-Deauville hotel said.

ARCADIA FRIDAY AND SATURDAY LOUISE RAINER AND WILLIAM BENDIX IN "HOSTAGES"

The same certainty is reflected also along fashionable Lincoln Road, the South's swankiest shopping district. All of the more prominent New York shops, which in the past had stores here, plan to reopen by December, Guy Ellis, executive vice-president of the Lincoln Road Association said.

He also said that out of 204 store units in the district, only 12 are now occupied. Many stores, he added, still a thriving business throughout the summer.

An indication of what is to be expected is given by the massive Roney Plaza hotel, which is in the process of redecorating for the first time in years. The exclusive Tatem Hotel also reports unparalleled summer business and reservations as far ahead as February, 1944.

THOSE red points are precious. Make them go just as far as you can. Let your gas range help save them. "Low temperature" meat cooking, for example, performed at 300 to 350° reduces shrinkage as much as 1/2 . . . gives you several more slices . . . saves delicious juices . . . saves gas, too.

The use of meat "extenders" is practical and patriotic. By combining meat with other healthful foods, you multiply the food value and still retain the meat flavor. When you buy a roast, try the recipe shown below. Here's a dish that's nutritious and economical. Your family will surely like it.

STUFFED SHOULDER OR BREAST OF LAMB

Select a shoulder or breast weighing 3 to 4 pounds and have it boned. Use bone for stock. Wipe meat, sprinkle inside pocket with salt and pepper, and stuff. Roll and sew edges together or fasten with skewers. Rub surface with salt and pepper and dredge slightly with flour; place in roasting pan or rack in open pan. Roast in a 300° oven allowing 45 minutes per pound. Serve hot with brown gravy made from drippings and stock from bones. Serves 6.
