BULLDOG DAY AT SCHOOL IS HELD FRIDAY

Setting an example to be followed in the future Friday was designated Bulldog Day at Ranger high school and fitting ceremonies were held at the school at 11:30 in the morning and a banquet given at the recreation building in the evening. In the high school chapel at 11:30 o'clock before members of the student body, members of the football team indicated their preference among the long ladies and pinning the team colors, maroon and white wropeed poles. A setting with a football theme had been arranged for the ceremony with a large football suspended over a goal between maroon and white draped poles. Miss Dana Sue Kerbow presided and gave the welcome to the team and young ladies. Soft music was played by Miss Imogene Minton during the service. Miss Minton also accompanied W. A. Moore Heasley who sang "My Prayer For The Boys Over There." Coach Don Martin introduced the players as each came forward. Following are the names of the young ladies who chose their team: Misses: Louise Bond, Billie Jean Crawley, Natalie Watson, Billie Mae Pounds, Jo Oyster, Betty Jean Jones, Mary Katherine McHenry, Marylen Murray, Valerie Lenore, Betty Gallagher, Rosemary Bruce, Elaine Brandt, Dorothy Wyman, Glenna Weaver, Norma Heintz, Oona Taylor, Virginia Cooper, Verna Nell Case, Betty Lou Robinson, Johnnie Ruth Eaves, Mary Frances Orr, Myra Sue Ice, Marie Moore, Maxine Beck, Cleticia Hames, Billy Cooper, Margie Pearsal and Hazel Dempsey. Uncle In Sicily Writes Niece Interesting News

Lida Jane Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith, is the possessor of a letter of which she is justly proud. It was written to her by her uncle, Capt. Thomas J. Bishop, who is serving with the Field Artillery in Sicily. Capt. Bishop wrote the letter from the child's viewpoint but because of the interest it has for the average reader, it is printed here in part. The handkerchief of which he speaks in the letter is beautifully embroidered in cross stitch work. Following is part of the letter: "You probably want to know something about the girls and boys here. They don't get to go to school this year as all schools have been closed. The girls aren't pretty and clean like you, but their clothes are ragged and dirty and they don't get enough to eat. Their houses are ugly and dirty and the chickens, pigs, and cows all live in the house with them. They line the streets and roads as we pass and beg for "caramels," which means candy in English. We throw them our candy and they rush for it and fight each other for it. We give them flour for bread and powdered eggs so they won't starve. The country is very beautiful. High mountains and pretty green valleys filled with vineyards, and lemon groves. They don't have many automobiles here. The people have one horse cart like the one on the handkerchief, and travel in them or haul their possessions in them. The little handkerchief comes from a little shop in Palermo, which is quiet a large city and the capital of Sicily. It is torn up now by our bombs, but is being rebuilt. Well Lida Jane, be sweet and study hard and sometime you can write me a letter and tell me about school and the things that are happening at home now."

HODGES-YOUNG FOOTBALL TILT TO BE NOV. 17

Officials of the Hodges Oak Park and Young schools announced Saturday that the annual football tilt between the two schools will be played at the Bulldog stadium Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This game should be something of an innovation in football. There is no "dope" on the teams as they have not worked out this year, but the coaches, principals of the schools, J. R. Ervin and Miss Lillian Strain, are very enthusiastic over the prospects for their teams. Players are not limited in age since none of them is over 13 years of age, and their scholastic standing is not taken into consideration, though all of them are making passing grades. No player can weigh over 115 pounds. "About the only thing about the game that is orthodox is the selection of the officials, and they are qualified football judges. Coach Don Martin of Bulldog, Assistant Coach Bill Gray and Ray Gray will serve as officials. It is understood that a number of "scouts" from other teams will be on hand looking for football "material" in the players. The public is urged to take advantage of the opportunity to see this game.

RUSSIAN TANKS RUMBLE THROUGH STREETS OF KIEV

TANKS OF THE RED ARMY rumble once more through the streets of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine and third largest city of the U. S. S. R., as Russian forces wrest the city from the Germans and drive on toward the Rumanian border. Buildings on Krechchatik street, above, have been wrecked by shells and bombs that have left only the walls standing. (International Radiophoto) big American blow against Rabaul by carrier-borne planes and land bombers that sunk or damaged 1 Japanese warships and destroyed 88 aircraft today blasted Japanese hopes of saving their last strongholds in the Solomons. The attack, 13th against the big New British base since Oct. 17, was carried out Wednesday night and Thursday and resulted in a raging air battle above the U. S. fleet units lying somewhere between Rabaul and Bougainville, only 250 miles to the southeast. Two hundred planes winging from carriers and from South Pacific bases sank an enemy cruiser and two destroyers, damaged a second cruiser and 11 destroyers and smashed an enemy aerial effort to take revenge on the American warships. Twenty-four of the enemy planes fell over Rabaul; 54 more over the sea above the gunfire of the vessels. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's spokesman said that the enemy's reinforcements hastily rushed to the area to combat the invasion of Bougainville, northernmost of the Solomons, had been so badly battered they would be unable, at least for the time being, to interfere with the campaign. WASHINGTON, (UP)—The Navy announced today that a force of 12 Japanese bombers attacked the new American base at Nanomea in the northwestern Ellice Islands, killing one man and wounding two and causing only minor damage.

JAP HOPES TO HOLD RABAU ARE BLASTED

TWENTY-FOUR SALVOS GIVEN VICTORY BY MOSCOW GUNS

LONDON, Eng. Nov. 13. (UP)—Moscow's 24 Victory Guns tonight thundered a salute of 24 salvos heralding the capture of Zhitomir, one of the first Russian cities to feel the impact of German bombs on June 22, 1941, when the Nazis invaded the Soviet Union, also cut the Ukrainian section of the Leningrad-Odessa railroad. The last Trans-Russian line in German hands. In the Crimea, even repeated Axis counterattacks, bolstered by reinforcements rushed up from the central Crimea, failed to halt the Soviet advance, and at one point, the Russians encircled a large German garrison in a northeastern suburb of Kerch. Fifteen hundred of the enemy were killed and hundreds captured. German cutters attempted to evacuate part of the encircled force by sea, but were blasted to the bottom by Russian artillery. Many Germans drowned. While opposing ground armies were locked in desperate fighting on the approaches to Kerch, Russian and German cutters, motorboats and barges battled in the narrow reaches of the Kerchenski Strait and off the Crimean shores. The Germans were striving to cut the Soviet supply line from the Taman Peninsula in the Caucasus, but a field dispatch to the newspaper Pravda said scores of Soviet vessels were pivoting turbulent waters to pour a caustic stream of troops, other equipment into the Kerch head.

MRS. WALKER TO BE BURIED HERE SUNDAY

Final rites for Mrs. Nannie Walker, 81, who died at the City-County Hospital Friday morning at 1 o'clock, will be held at the First Baptist church in Ranger Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. David M. Phillips, assisted by O. G. Lanier, will be in charge of the services. Interment will be in the Evergreen Cemetery, and arrangements will be by Killingsworth's. Pallbearers will be F. P. Brashear, Willis Barton, C. B. Pruet, T. J. Anderson, L. L. Bruce, and W. A. Lewis. Honorary pallbearers will be her host of friends. Mrs. Walker, who has been a resident of this section since about 1884, had been closely associated with the development of the section and especially Ranger. She had been active in business, social and church circles. It was on her property that the first well was drilled in the Ranger area, making a gas well and later blowing in an oil well. So closely had been her association with the First Baptist church here that she was affectionately known to church members and others close to her as "Mother Walker."

MANY TARGETS GET ATTENTION OF AIR RAIDERS

LONDON, Eng. Nov. 13. (UP)—American heavy bombers took up the Western Europe offensive against the Nazis today, smashing one of the most important shipping and industrial targets in Northwest Germany. The target was not identified immediately, but likely was Bremen, Wilhelmshaven or Emden. Thunderbolt and Lightning fighters escorted the Flying Fortresses and Liberators, helping ward off attacks by scores of German planes, some of which launched rockets at the raiders. For the ninth straight night Mosquito bombers of the Royal Air Force struck at Western Germany. Fighters sank a German patrol vessel off Boulogne and attacked railway targets in northern France and Belgium. On the southern front, Lieut. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz's Mitchell Medium bombers attacked an oil refinery at Berat in South-Central Albania, and fighters shot up a landing ground at Mostar, Jugoslavia. Supporting the land fighting in Italy, Marauders wrecked a railroad bridge north of Rome and Wellington night raiders demolished another below Leghorn.

Restrictions On Coast Lighting Are Lifted Today

DALLAS, Tex. Nov. 13. (UP)—Full lifting of restrictions on all types of lighting along the Texas and Louisiana coasts was announced by the Eighth Service Command today, completing a move started two weeks ago to return the night life of the coast areas to normal. For the first time since Oct. 7, 1942, it was permissible for bright lights to shine on roof and highway signs, baseball parks, tennis courts, parking lots and other outdoor areas, including floodlighted monuments and buildings. The command warned, however, that users still should restrict non-essential lighting as a move to conserve electricity, and that the restrictions may be reinstated at any time if the military situation demands.

Staggering Cost Of World War II Just Revealed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (UP)—The United States Government has spent as much in the four and one-third months since July 1 as the total cost of World War I to this nation—$32,830,000,000 (B). In the same four and one-third months the public debt of the nation has risen more than it did during the first World War. Since July 1, when the 1944 fiscal year began, the debt has increased by $28,686,000,000 (B)—to about $169,500,000,000 (B). The increase in the last war was $24,915,000,000 (B). The $32,830,000,000 (B) figured by the government as the total cost of World War I included $23,424,000,000 (B) of actual war costs and $9,406,000,000 (B) of loans made to other governments immediately after the war. The $32,860,000,000 (B) of government expenditures since July 1, shown on the Treasury daily statement, includes normal government expenses of $2,200,000,000 (E) and war spending of $30,660,000,000 (B). Included in the war spending, is some $4,400,000,000 (B) laid out for lend-lease. This would make the actual war expenses for the four and one-third months $26,260,000,000 (B), or nearly $3,000,000,000 (B) more than total actual war costs of World War I.

WORKERS HAVE RECORD MAKING R.C. DRESSINGS

Chairmen of the Red Cross surgical dressings work in Ranger, Saturday expressed their delight with the hearty response given their appeal for workers and stated that in the two days of work last week that more than half of the 10,000 dressings were completed. It was pointed out that if the women of Ranger will turn out this week as they did last week that the quota can be very easily completed, in the five days allotted for its completion. On Tuesday of last week a total of 31 workers registered and completed 2,420 dressings. On Wednesday of the same week, 32 women registered for work and completed 2,611 dressings. This, the chairmen think, is something of a record and very typical of the fine response always given an emergency call by Ranger women, who have the reputation in the county of always being first in completing Red Cross work.

LOSING JOB BREAK FOR RESTAURATEUR

WAUKESHA, Wis. (UP)—In 1892 22-year-old Chester Goff lost his job with the Wisconsin Central railroad and went into the restaurant business. Today, his restaurant recommended by Duncan Hines, the dining authority, is celebrating its 50th anniversary. Goff began as a restaurant helper. Saving his money he acquired enough capital to start out on his own. As chief cook, head waiter and menu planner he supervised his first establishment, which was furnished with a three-legged stove, eight stools, some cups and a coffee pot. Today, Goff's restaurant, famous for its excellent meals and fine pastries, has a seating capacity of 150. Three generations of several Waukesha families have worked in the restaurant cooking, waiting on tables or helping with the Sunday night smorgasbord.

WINS WAR BONDS FOR RIBBON SUGGESTION

LOS ANGELES (UP)—You take a worn-out teletype ribbon, soak it in a pail of water, heat it up to dry, and it's good for another five days. That's what W. E. Pereira did and won $5 in war bonds and stamps for the recipe that will save his company, American Airlines, $550 a year. The company gave out $695 in war bonds and stamps to its employees last month, and most of the awards were for common-sense suggestions such as Pereira's rather than for ideas based on technical skill.

Old Railroad Engine Saves Plant Tie-Up

JUNEAU, Wis. (UP)—Chicago and North Western road engine, too light for heavy wartime trains of today, bit for the war when it saved 2,000,000 pounds of milk for the armed services. Purst boiler plates in the land Co-operative condensers brought a call for help. T engine was placed on a side two connections made. Five days a train crew, assisted condenser workers, kept condensing process in operation. The plant produces 400,000 pounds a day, and goes to the government as the armed forces or civilians.

Delinquency On Increase Among Girls Reported

BUFFALO, Nov. 13 (UP)—L. Clark Schildren, warden of the El Reno, Okla., Federal reformatory, told delegates to the national conference of Catholic charities last night that juvenile delinquency has increased 30 to 50 per cent among girls and 10 per cent among boys. Schildren reported that a check with various agencies throughout the country showed that war conditions, poor environment and lack of supervision, accentuated by war was responsible for the increase. The increase in delinquency among girls was principally in localities where there are large groups of servicemen, he said, attributing it to the "appeal of the uniform to many girls who can best be described as 'kinky wacky'."

Memorial Service To Be Held Here On November 21

The Ranger Junior College and Ranger High school jointly will present a Memorial program in the High School Auditorium Sunday afternoon, November 21 at 3:00 o'clock, for the men and women from Ranger who are in the service of the country. School officials are eager to have all school patrons and friends, and especially fathers and mothers of sons and daughters in service, to attend the service and urged interested persons to contact these people and urge their attendance. The program is being planned and prepared by Mrs. Hal Hunter, Mrs. Katherine Heasley, Miss Dana Kerbow and Miss Imogene Minton.

Rehabilitating Occupied Lands To Be Costly

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—The United States will probably be asked to contribute one per cent of one year's national income, or about $1,100,000,000 to meet the relief and rehabilitation needs of Axis occupied countries, it was learned today. The first Congressional appropriation, however, was not expected to exceed half of that amount, or $560,000,000 since supplies stored in various warehouses may be used to represent part of the total sum. Additional funds, if asked, might come later. The exact amount of the existing supplies has not been evolved. The United Kingdom also has large amounts of supplies stored away in warehouses, but the amount of these, too, was not known to the present conference of the council of the United Nations.

COURT RULES 'MYRNA' O.K.

BURENO AIRE (UP)—Fernando Nansa had to call his one-month-old daughter "Baby," not just out of affection, but because she had no legal name. He wanted to call her "Myrna," but the city recorder refused to register the name on the grounds that it is not translatable into Spanish. Nansa appealed to the courts, which have ruled that the name "Myrna" is quite permissible, and that parents may give any name to their children, so long as it is not insulting to its bearer.

WASHINGTON Report

An Open Letter to F. D. R. Reporter Pleads for More Subject: Press Conferences Consideration of Newsmen

By HELEN ESSARY Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—A Personal Letter to the President of the United States.

My Dear Mr. President: There's a little something I want to say to you about your news conferences. You've probably seen them mentioned in the papers before. But this is a new angle on the old story.

Don't you think you could make them a little more pleasant than they are now? More like the news conferences held at the British embassy by the British Ambassador Lord Halifax? You've probably heard all about Lord Halifax's conference. I shouldn't be surprised if you knew what it would be like before it happened. In case you raised some of the details, I hereby put them down for your information.

The British ambassador did his conference in an atmosphere of soft answers, chrysanthemums, tea, Scotchies and sodas, chicken sandwiches, chintz chairs and cream cakes. I mention especially the soft answers. They were meant to turn away lend-lease and post-war-air-base-control wrath. I must admit they did their job beautifully.

You don't go in for soft words at your press conferences, Mr. President. Not too often. You are more likely to be—let me see—what is the word? Well, call it "provocative." I suppose this attitude of yours in the middle of a war is indicative of the audacity of our young nation. When we have been on the map a few hundred years longer we, too, may be smooth in the English way.

Your news conferences are not as easy on the press as you might think. First, we have to stand in the anteroom, jammed in a sardine row waiting—heaven knows how long—for you to notice that it's 4 p. m. on Tuesday or 11 a. m. on Friday. Lord Halifax got to his conference 15 minutes ahead of time. Nice change, if I may say so.

When your "come ahead" signal is finally given, we find ourselves being rushed and rushing like a football squad—trying to get ahead without being tripped on. We hold our identification passes high, as we gallop into your oval study and up to the berths of chairs which the Secret Service insists must be kept before your desk at such times.

There you sit, facing the crowd with your president's flag behind you. You are generally reading a letter or a treatise of some sort and pretending that running the world is a casual sort of business. Beside you, in the usual vase of flowers. Before you those dead knick-knacks—donkeys, paper weights and the like. Gifts from loving friends and public.

At your right and our left in a neat row, sit members of the "Clock Room Cabinet"—Lowell Mellett, Jim Barnes, Laughlin Currie or maybe Elmer Davis. Elmer always looks as if he wishes he were still working with the press instead of against it. Nice Marvin Moore is generally present. So is Steve Early, half sitting on a table as he gets to look more like you every day. Behind you are two art Secret Service men. The press keeps coming. Then someone says "All in." The conference begins.

I always awfully hot in the conference room. Since you have come in for lectures on journalism and other extraneous matters the standing time is long and tiresome. I expect somebody to faint at each conference. Nobody ever does. It's probably your inspiring personality that keeps us on our toes.

As I said before, at the British ambassador's press conference things were quite different. The embassy, as you know, is a mighty stinky place. After we had trod its deep carpets, silted across the polished mahogany floors, glanced at several majesties on its walls and been directed this way by a first footman and that way by a second footman, we had acquired a useful respect for the trapdoors of empire.

The atmosphere in the ballroom where the conference was held was soothing to flesh and spirit. Black mirrors reflected hauntingly lighted crystal chandeliers and bowls of yellow and rust chrysanthemums and autumn leaves. The chintz-covered chairs were deep and relaxing. Gold screens caught the late afternoon sun. It was a sort of dim and cozy in the big room with now and then a flash of watch flame as a cigaret was lighted.

Lord Halifax, whom I admire as a man of integrity and ability, did not feel that we must keep our eye on the post-war plans of the British commonwealth, talked easily, confidently, purposefully. You that although it was not yet the moment to go in for happy joy, victory was well in the Allied pocket. It was after that that the moment for tea and things arrived.

Why don't believe, Mr. President, that you should add things at your conferences. Not a. Somebody would say we were adding Mas. Only to our troubles. Nor China tea. That too Chiang Kai-shekish! And certainly

Oh, think how much fun the press, especially my own and the 100 million taxpayers would have with your highballs! I honestly don't see, Mr. President, why you can't go in for answers and easy chairs at your Tuesday afternoon and Friday ing meetings. There isn't room for easy chairs in the oval study. Why not move over to the East room? Nobody is using it for now. The East room has chandeliers. And ancestral portraits. But don't let's have the musical chairs, the little gift used for concerts. I like fat chairs.

What about trying out my idea some day? I think you'd be smart to be up "with" or "to" the press right now. I honestly do. Mr. President may be stronger than you think. Mr. President, yours in Good Will and Reasonable Unity,

H. P. HELEN ESSARY.

Service Sons' Friends Mother's Boys' Too

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP)—"Ma" Brown has 36 "boys" in the service and she hopes it will be 100 before long.
 "Ma" is Mrs. Frederick Brown and her 36 "boys" are all servicemen friends of her own two sons in the Army. She has photographs of them all and corresponds with them regularly — sending letters to such distant spots as Australia, Egypt, Munda, New Caledonia and England.
 Says Ma happily: "I wanted to be a mother to them all and I guess I have succeeded."

Third Class Petty Officer George Allison has returned to his station at New York after a visit with Mrs. Allison and friends.
