RANGER PEOPLE URGED TO GO TO CHURCH

Editor's Note—Following is an article in the series of articles appearing for church loyalty. Rev. B. English, minister of the Methodist church is the author of this article.

The government has made a strong appeal to every citizen to be loyal to the stars and stripes by buying War Bonds, by donating blood, by contributing to the Red Cross and other war agencies.

The call has come to workers to stay on the job. The call has come for chaplains and nurses, but never has the government asked one of us to quit paying to the church or quit attending the church services or to quit using our talent for the Lord.

The very life of our nation and our community is depending upon the churches. The very life of these churches is depending upon church loyalty.

If you are a member of a Ranger church, attend the church of your choice this Sunday— if you are not a member of some Ranger church, why not attend on this Sunday.

If your membership is elsewhere. Why not transfer it to the town in which you live?

October is "Go To Church Month" in Ranger.

OKLAND, Calif. — A formal pathologist report to the Alameda County Coroners Jury said today that Amie Temple McPherson, famous Los Angeles evangelist, died of shock and respiratory failure due to an overdose of a barbiturate.

COAST SCANS 1883 PLANS ON SILK CULTURE

SACRAMENTO, Cal. (UP)—Col. Alexander R. Heron, state director of reconstruction and re-employment, dug down in California's musty archives and dusted off an idea today which may provide the state with a new industry after the war.

Col. Heron, long an advocate of non-food uses of agricultural products, found new support for his theory in a report from a forgotten state board of silk culture, published in 1883.

What happened to the board of silk culture and the flourishing silk industry it predicted for California between 1883 and 1944 is something Col. Heron has not found out yet. However, he believes the time has come again for an investigation of "definite possibilities" of the industry after the war.

California climate is as equable now as it was 60 years ago, he pointed out, and the board in 1883 found it was the "best in the world" for cultivation of the mulberry tree and the worms themselves, particularly in that it lacks summer thunder storms, which apparently distract a silkworm from his business.

A silk manufacturing industry nothing short of immense was predicted by the 1883 report, which added, "The time is not far distant when in value and importance silk and silken fabrics will rank among (California's) first productions."

Col. Heron is willing to try for this again. He said he believed postwar expansion plans of California apparel manufacturers might provide ready markets for "superfine" California silks.

One of the state's biggest post-war problems—the fate of women welders when shipyards close down—is neatly solved by the board of silk control.

Indicating that California industry faced a similar problem in 1883, the board deplored the absence of "appropriate industrial pursuits" for women and "the evils and dangers likely soon to arise from the fact that most women find themselves unable to contribute to the family income, nay, scarcely able to support themselves."

Silk culture, it declared, would give "multitudes of our daughters healthful occupation." More over it called it an industry peculiarly fitted for women, saying, "The gentleness and tenderness required in the nurture of the silkworm appeals to woman's motherly instinct."

M. B. Martin, 84, 46 Years In Co. Buried Friday

M. B. (Crip) Martin, 84, native of Georgia and for the past 46 years a resident of Eastland county, died Friday, Oct. 6, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. O. Martin, in Eastland. Following his first wife's death he married Miss Lorena Barner who also preceded him in death. O. Martin of Eastland. A daughter in law Mrs. Ralph Martin and children also live in Eastland.

Purple Heart Awarded Lt. Cecil Waters Posthumously

Further evidence that Lt. Cecil Walters of the United States Air Corps, reported missing in action more than a year ago, went down in the English Channel, is the fact that the body of a member of the crew of his ill fated plane washed ashore in England.

Mrs. W. W. Walters, mother of Lt. Walters, recently received a letter from Sgt. Earnest Jones, Jr., in the Finance Department of the United States Air Force and stationed in England, telling her of his meeting Miss Betty Goodman in England who is a sister of Sgt. Barnett Goodman who was assistant engineer on the plane on which Lt. Walters was the pilot, and whose body has been recovered from the English Channel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walters parents of Lt. Cecil Walters, have received official notice from the War Department of the "Presumptive Finding of Death."

Southern England Hit By Robots During Night

LONDON—A number of flying bombs were launched against Southern England and the London area from the North Sea during the night but many of them were destroyed by fighters on a heavy barrage off the East coast.

One spectacular kill was made when three fighters simultaneously attacked a Robot after it flew over an East coast town enroute to London and knocked it down in open country where only damage was to a few farm buildings.

ROY PLUMLEY IN FRANCE IS MADE CAPTAIN

Mrs. Roy Plumley has received word that her husband who is serving with the armed forces in France, has been promoted to the rank of Captain.

Capt. Plumley was promoted to his present rank on October first while serving in action in France with the Fourth Armored Infantry. He holds the Purple Heart for wounds received in action and the Bronze Star for gallantry in action.

He went into service with the National Guards in November 1920 and remained with the 36th Division until at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas he was transferred from the infantry to the armored infantry. He received his training at Camp Bower, Camp Blanding, Fla., Ft. Benning, Georgia, Camp Robinson in Arkansas and Camp Chaffee. He received his commission as second lieutenant in September 1942 and was promoted to first lieutenant in April 1943. He was sent to England on December 5, 1943 and was in the invasion of France.

Mrs. Plumley and their six year old daughter, Linda Irene, are making their home with Mrs. Plumley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Brown, while Capt. Plumley is in service.

HUSBAND OF FORMER LOCAL GIRL WOUNDED

Mrs. J. C. Craver received word this morning that her brother-in-law, Pvt. Tom Brown of Ft. Worth, was wounded in action in France on September 25. Mrs. Brown will be remembered as the former Miss Jo Craver, daughter of Mrs. "Roto" Craver who is with her daughter in Ft. Worth.

Pvt. Brown was serving with the infantry of the Third Army at the time he was wounded. He entered the service of the army in January of this year, was inducted at Camp Wolters and sent to Fort Mead, Maryland for training. Around April the first he was sent to England and from there went into the invasion of France.

Pvt. Sullivan, An Ex-Dodger Putting On Weight

FORT SILL, Okla. (UP)—Those lowly dwelling Brooklyn Dodgers can take heart. All is not lost for Pvt. Robert V. Sullivan of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Dodger farm system property, was dispatched to the Army with the hope that the 18 year old shortstop prospect would put on some weight, and he has.

A month after Sullivan joined Battery C, 50th Battalion, he showed a gain of 11 pounds. "The Dodger farm system stresses a lot of work with the throwing arm and a lot of weight," says Pvt. Sullivan. "And I'm getting heavier." And I'm getting heavier.

Pvt. Sullivan, who played short stop for the 6th regiment baseball team in their final games of the Center League this season, was signed by the Dodgers this spring. He was to have gone to the Olean, N. Y., club, a Dodger farm, but the draft suspended those orders.

He played shortstop for Poughkeepsie high school and then started playing semi-pro ball in New York. While with the Roper Movers he attracted the attention of the Brooklyn scouts with a .321 batting average and throwing strikes across first base from any place on the diamond.

He also had a tryout with the Boston Red Sox and the Pittsburgh Pirates two years ago, but they came away when they learned of his age.

Considers His Election Nothing Short Of Miracle

TYLER, Tex. (UP)—Lt. Col. Gordon Simpson, Democratic nominee for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, considers his election a "miracle."

Col. Simpson was elected to the Supreme Court post while he was serving overseas.

He expressed his thanks to friends who worked for his election at a homecoming gathering in the Tyler district courtroom. "I could never hope to repay my friends of Smith County for their work on my behalf," Col. Simpson said. "All I can do is say 'thank you,' and try to make the kind of judge you want and expect me to be when I get to Austin."

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS SAY HUNGARY SEEKS AN ARMISTICE

Athens, the birthplace of culture, is free.

An official announcement reports that Greek patriots have liberated the city and the nearby Port of Piraeus.

The frequently inaccurate radio Paris claims Budapest is being evacuated. Other unconfirmed dispatches say Hungary has asked the Allies for armistice terms.

Radio Athens says the Yugoslav Partisan Chief—Marshal Tito—will go to Moscow to confer with Stalin and Churchill. It is believed Tito will be consulted on armistice terms being drawn up for Bulgaria.

A Swedish newspaper says a powerful Russian armored column has pushed across the east Prussian frontier. The report adds that Soviet tanks are approaching Tilsit, 12 miles inside the frontier.

American troops have driven several blocks deeper into Aachen proper. A front report says German resistance appears to be cracking.

The Germans have massed great tank and infantry forces for a large scale counterattack outside Aachen. The enemy concentration called the largest ever faced by the American first Army.

Allied pilots report the German are using barges to evacuate their forces squeezed by Canadian bridgeheads on the south bank of the Schelde River.

British troops in Holland have gained more than one mile in the first few hours of a new attack west of Venlo. The drive is heading toward the Meuse River.

Late Bulletins

LONDON — Radio Berlin says the greatest air battle of the Pacific war is underway over Formosa, indicating that a new assault is under way.

In the first attack we destroyed 223 planes and knocked out 55 ships. Berlin calls the Formosa operations a prelude to an invasion of the Philippines.

Radio Tokyo says the Japanese cabinet is meeting with Premier Koiso to discuss "impending problems." A domestic News Agency dispatch also reports a cabinet emergency council has been given "virtual dictatorial" powers.

A Chinese military spokesman has acknowledged the fall of Fochow—which he said was captured by the Jap invasion forces last week. The city—which was the last important Chinese port on the East coast—lies across the straits from Formosa.

Says Helicopters To Ride On Roads

WASHINGTON — An aviation official in Washington says Helicopters of the future will be able to drive their wheels along the road like cars—when they don't want to fly them.

Grover Lowing—Chairman of an Aeronautic Subcommittee—also reveals jet-driven Helicopters may soon be developed.

FDR Asks More Farm Machinery

Paris Now Turning to Paratroops Improvised Washington for Hotel Unique Type of Chapel

WASHINGTON—An R. street milliner is making hats to send to Paris. She says she thinks the Paris hats are so hideous that French women will be glad to have something really chic to put on their heads.

THIS NOW IS A VERY PLEASANT piece about France. I found it in a letter a Red Cross girl wrote home.

MR. CHURCHILL may say the European war is going to last for another year or so. General Eisenhower may warn against optimistic peace talk.

Another current yarn reports the conversation of one of the barkeepers at the Columbus Country club on the subject of who is going to win this election.

At this point the gentlemen, overlooking the club rule of "no tipping allowed," dug up two-bits or so here and there, got their highballs and martinis in double quick time and thus proved the value of the bartender's prediction.

THIS IS FIRE PREVENTION WEEK
This is fire prevention week, by proclamation of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. One out of every three persons who lost their lives as a result of fires in the United States last year was a farm person, the Department of Agriculture reports. Fire is more hazardous on the farm than in the city because few farms can call on a trained fire department for assistance, most farms are not equipped with a ready water supply for fire fighting, farm buildings usually are not as fire resistant as city buildings and farmers usually carry less fire insurance than city people do. Farm fire prevention suggestions have a readily available ladder that will reach to the top of the highest building, see that there is a water supply for fire fighting in the farm yard, and establish fire breaks around haystacks, farm buildings and mowing farm crops of high fire hazard.

SAFETY RULES FOR PAPER SAVING
When salvage paper is collected, to avoid fire hazard, the Department of Agriculture recommends that it be stored neatly and tied in bundles. Paper boxes should be flattened, then tied in bundles. A metal trunk or a light cover is the safest place to store paper. Next best is to stack paper bundles on a cement floor away from furnace, stove or hot pipes. Soiled or oily paper is useless for salvage and is a fire hazard and should be burned.

THE REST OF MY LIFE WITH YOU by Faith Baldwin

CHAPTER TWENTY
On Thursday night Lynn came to dinner. His cocktail was waiting, the lighted fire, and Mary, in a long sheer wool frock, with her hair brushed a new way and her serenity. He said, on a long breath, "Lord, this is good!"
After dinner, sitting by the fire, he said, breaking a long silence, "I've never spoken..."
Mary looked up, from her own thoughts. "You've never spoken of what?" Then she knew and put out her hands quickly as if to ward off a blow. "Oh, don't," she said, "please don't, Lynn, please don't spoil things!"
He said heavily, "If, to speak would spoil anything, then, my dear, you do not care for me at all."
"I do!" Her eyes were shining, and said, "Matthew, you, Irene. You three are my whole life."
Lynn said, hopelessly, "I went up to see Nan yesterday. Rita went too. I begged her not to... she disturbs Nan very much. But we went because Nan hasn't been as well physically of late. She is better now, quite restored. Her heart is good." He added, after a moment, "How brutal this sounds... but she may live for years. The doctors said just that. Mentally she is much worse. She did not know me, Mary."
"Mary was staring at the fire. "It has been so long... I have loved you so long a time, without disloyalty. Because for over twenty years Nan has not been the woman I loved and married, but a screaming stranger. I have loved you and taken what comfort I could in the fact that I may see you, may touch your hand and listen to your voice... what comfort I could in knowing that you lived, that we walked under the same sky, on the same streets, and breathed the same air. But... it is not enough. Yet even if you feel as I do - and you do not, I know it - do not look at me so, there is no need to tell me - even if you did, there is no other way but this way. Only sometimes when I am very tired it seems such a waste. I would ask nothing more of life than this, to be with you, to grow old with you, Mary."
She was crying, a little. She said, "Dear Lynn..."
"I know. Forgive me, and I won't speak of it again, I promise. Only there are moments which come suddenly, one cannot anticipate them or evade them. In such moments the barriers fade and one is compelled to speak."
He was silent and she looked at him in sudden wonder. She had been so fond of him always, from the very first. Mary had been with her a long time that he loved her, and had deeply respected his silence, had been grateful for it. But she had not imagined...
Something stirred in her, a vain wish, like a spark from a fire she had long thought cold and perished. Lynn said harshly, "Don't be kind to me. I - I could not endure it. Next time it will be as it was before."
But things are never as they were before.
The telephone rang sharply and Lynn ran to answer it. She called

HOW TO PREPARE YOUR GAS HEATERS
for more efficient winter service
The first chill breezes of fall are reminders that it's time to get out your heaters, clean them, adjust them and get them ready for more severe northers to come. Follow these suggestions for greater heating efficiency:
1 REMOVE RADIANTS and blow dust from both radiants and back wall with bicycle pump, bellows or any strong puff of air. Handle radiants carefully as they are very fragile.
2 BLOW DUST from mixing chamber and burner ports by attaching bicycle pump or bellows to gas intake. Or take heater to filling station and use air hose.
3 REPLACE RADIANTS being careful to seat them properly above burner ports. Replace broken radiants as radiants are essential to efficient operation.
4 ATTACH TUBING or rubber hose connection and check for cracks or leaks. Escaping gas can be detected by smell (local gas is strongly odorized for this purpose) or by brushing suspicious places with soapy water which will bubble if there is a leak. Do not use matches to locate leaks.
5 ADJUST AIR MIXTURE so that gas burns with a clear purple-blue flame. This is done by opening or closing air mixture shutter or valve while heater is burning. A yellow flame indicates insufficient air; a blue flame that dances away from burner tip shows too much air.
If you need help in adjusting your heaters, please make your request for service as early as possible. We'll fill requests in order received and take care of them as soon as possible, but wartime conditions may make it impossible for us to respond to calls as rapidly as in the past. Your cooperation will save you possible delay and inconvenience.
