Low Cost, More Clothing OPA WPB Objective

The joint OPA-WPB clothing program proposed to the trade in Washington last week is directed at (1) reducing the average family's clothing bill by 6 or 7 per cent, and (2) making more of the essential low and medium cost clothing available in more stores.

The lack of inexpensive house dresses, work clothes, underwear and other essentials has been felt by nearly every family of moderate income in America. The situation has been made especially acute in rural areas where stores that normally buy in small quantities have been receiving proportionately less of the garments than large city stores. A part of the program will result in the delivery of a fair share to stores serving rural communities.

A good deal of hard thinking and painstaking work remains to be done before the clothing program goes fully into effect. Government agencies point out that it will be several months before much of the clothing manufactured under the new materials priority and price plan reaches the retail stores. However, many of the cotton items will be given easily recognizable "dollar and cents" selling price tags.

Military requirements for textiles demand a large proportion of the total mill output. Although the OPA-WPB clothing program is going to make more of the civilian yardage available for the kinds of clothing that civilians need most, it cannot increase the total amount of goods that the mills can produce. Scarcity of labor, not of raw materials, is making it impossible for the mills to turn out more cloth. This situation probably will continue as long as the war lasts.

W. N. Miller Made Corporal At Nevada Air Field

TONOPAH, Nevada, 25 Jan.—Winifred N. Miller, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Miller, Ranger, was promoted recently to the grade of Corporal. It was announced by Col. John A. Feagin, Commanding Officer, Tonopah Army Air Field.

Col. Miller is a former student of Colony High School, Eastland Co., and entered service, May 19, 1941, prior to his entrance, he was a rancher and farmer. He graduated from Harlingen Guntery School, Harlingen, Texas, and is at present a gunner with a combat crew in training here.

LOCAL MARINE TELLS OF 1ST TOKYO ATTACK

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex.—The first bombing of Tokyo was no secret to Marine Corporal R. V. Cole, 22, a guard here at the Naval Air Station, for the Leatherneck was a gunner on the deck of an aircraft carrier when the Doolittle mission got underway.

Cole, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cole, 41 N. Austin street, Ranger, Texas, saw the planes led by Major James Doolittle leave the decks of the Hornet, one of Uncle Sam's largest aircraft carriers.

His ship, the Enterprise, was maintaining air support for the Hornet during the operation. It was very cold the morning of the take-off, as the heavy bombers left the runways atop the Hornet. The first ship took off in the early morning of April 18, and at intervals of three minutes, the other planes left to bomb Tokyo.

While coming into close range of Tokyo, the convoy accompanying the Hornet had met several Jap sampans and other small ships. All had been sunk.

It was a happy moment for the men aboard the ships which escorted Doolittle's planes when they heard the radio flashes that the raid was successful, Cole said.

Cole, who enlisted July 25, 1941, was aboard a ship enroute to Hawaii when the attack on Pearl Harbor occurred. His ship made port while the harbor was still smoking from fires. For three months he stood guard at Pearl Harbor while the work of repair and rescue went on.

A veteran of 23 months of overseas duty, he was prominent in central Texas golfing tournament prior to his enlistment. In 1940 he was finalist of the Mineral Wells Invitation Tourney and in 1943 he participated in the Hawaiian open.

Mrs. Pulley Has Opened Up New Insurance Firm

Mrs. D. E. Pulley has announced the opening of the Pulley Insurance Agency at 203 Main Street in the building also occupied by the Pulley Jewelry Company.

The company will handle all kinds of insurance, including fire, casualty, automobile, bonds, public liability, life, health and accident and marine insurance.

Mrs. Pulley has had about 20 years experience in insurance and will carry some of the largest and most reliable old insurance lines. Mrs. Pulley is one of Ranger's best informed insurance agents and will use her experience in the operation of what she expects to make one of the best agencies in Ranger.

Aside from the insurance lines, Mrs. Pulley will handle real estate and will retain her notary public license.

During the 1943-44 school year approximately 4,000,000 children in 30,000 schools throughout the country took part in the school lunch program.

HUMP HOPPING VET TO TEACH BLIND FLYING

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Blind flying is something the "hump" route pilots know a great deal about. It costs them their lives in many cases if they don't.

First Lt. Robert W. Metzke, 21-year-old transport pilot and son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Metzke of St. Louis describes a typical flight over "the hump" in the Himalaya mountains of the China-India-Burma theater.

He recently returned home after more than a year's absence from "ping" during which time he totaled 194 missions, requiring 667 flying hours.

Unarmed, except for an army revolver, and with a crew of only two men, Lt. Metzke was one of the unsung heroes of the cargo command who made the raids on Tokyo possible by carrying supplies to the bases of the giant B-29s.

Lt. Metzke said, "you take off from the base in India with ground fog huddled about your plane and over the field, crouching all around you like human forms waiting to blind and smother you if they can."

"Then you're in the air, soaring over the 'hump' in the monsoon downpour with nothing but blackness in front of you and death waiting below on the jagged mountain peaks in the Japanese patrols. And in the camps of the border bandits."

The pilots average about one out of every four flying hours by instrument alone, and every once in while the Japanese knock off one of the ships.

The veteran pilot will be stationed at Rosecrans Army Air Field at St. Joseph, Mo., where he will instruct blind flying.

For his service, Lt. Metzke was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal, with one oak leaf cluster to each. He also holds the Presidential unit citation.

The young flier wears a flight jacket designed especially for the Air Corps men stationed in the China-India-Burma area. On the back of the jacket is an American flag, and the inside are both Chinese and Burmese flags with announcements in different languages, that a large award awaits those who guide a forced-down American flyer to the nearest Allied lines.

His wife and two daughters are making their home in Little Rock, Arkansas.

Funeral For Mrs. J. F. Moseley Held At Gorman Tues.

Funeral services for Mrs. J. F. Moseley of Gorman were conducted at the Church of Christ in Gorman Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and burial was in the Alameda cemetery.

Mrs. Moseley, a pioneer Eastland county resident, died in Gorman early Monday morning. About three weeks ago she was burned when her clothing caught fire and after this accident contracted pneumonia which was reported the immediate cause of her death.

She and her husband, the late J. F. Moseley who died in 1924, had been closely associated with the development of Eastland county and had resided in the Gorman community since coming to the county. She was 79 years of age.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Jack Blackwell and Mrs. Earnest Calvert of Ranger, and Mrs. Ed Brown of Gorman, and three sons, J. F. Moseley of Ranger, Bob Moseley of Gorman, and Claude Moseley of Coleman. A number of grandchildren and great grandchildren also survive.

One souvenir eagerly collected by servicemen stationed in Alaska is an illustrated booklet published by the Anchorage USO, titled "The Friendly Log Cabin." The book contains colorful reproductions of scenic paintings by Alaska GI's.

J. S. FULLWOOD WOUNDED 3RD TIME IN WAR

At least one Ranger soldier is surely hoping that there is something to the old saying that the "third time is charm" for the third time since the start of the invasion of Europe he has been reported wounded in action.

He is Staff Sgt. James S. Fullwood, son of Mrs. Joe Cahler, and on Monday for the third time his mother received a message from the War Department informing her that her son has been wounded in action. It was stated that the sergeant was wounded in action in Luxembourg on January 13 and that he had just returned to duty on December 23 after recovering from wounds received in Germany on December 15.

He was first wounded in action in France on September 16 and word to this effect was received by his mother on September 30.

The message Monday stated that Sgt. Fullwood was "slightly" wounded, and that his mailing address would be forwarded immediately direct from the hospital where he was taken for treatment of his wounds.

Lt. Lyon Recovers From Wounds At Jackson Hospital

Friends here received word from Lt. Lloyd Lyon stating that he is now in a veteran's hospital in Jackson, Mississippi where he was taken after being returned to this country from a hospital in England.

Lt. Lyon was injured in action on June 15 and previous information received stated that he had received four wounds from mortar fire and that both legs were hit. Recent information is to the effect that the casts have been removed from his legs and he is now getting about with the assistance of crutches.

He was reared in Ranger and educated in the Ranger schools and later graduating from the University of Arkansas. He was an outstanding Bulldog player during his school years here and also at the University.

His wife and two daughters are making their home in Little Rock, Arkansas.

Income Tax Data Must Be Filed By March 15, '45

March 15, 1945 is the deadline set by the department of internal revenue for the filing of income tax returns and it has been announced that deputy collectors will be in room 10 of the Prairie building in Eastland from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. from February 15 through March 15.

The collectors will assist individuals in making their returns and no charges will be made for the service.

Any person who made as much as $500 total income in 1944 will be required to file a return, even though they have been paying income taxes through the withholding plan. Either the withholding receipt or income tax return form 1040 may be used to make the return.

Sgt. Lee has been serving with an ordnance company in the Asiatic Pacific theater of war for the past 21 months.

Pupils Bake Cake By Latin Recipe And Then Eat It

SALIDA, Col. (UP)—Did you ever make a cake from a recipe 2,000 years old? Probably not, but some Salida school children did recently.

The pupils in the high-school Latin classes found some ancient recipes in their Latin books.

And just to prove their adeptness at translation, they selected a cake recipe 2,000 years old and translated it.

Then to show the teacher that their translation was correct, they made the cake and ate it.

Since there wasn't any need for bicarbonate, the youngsters concluded that the ancients knew their "business" when it came to making cakes.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Jan. 29.—Sgt. Dewey H. Brawner, age 25, son of Mrs. Lado Dawson of 1001 Pershing, Ranger, Texas, qualified recently as expert with the carbine at Fort Worth Army Air Field, a unit of the AAF Central Flying Training Command.

Dental Ailments Laid To Diet "Refinement"

CHICAGO (UP)—Civilization is beating its gums.

The increased use of refined foods as civilization progresses is largely responsible for many of men's dental ailments, said Dr. Donald A. Kerr, Ann Arbor, Mich., writing in the journal of the American Dental Assn.

The dietary "refinement," together with man's failure to use his masticatory apparatus at high gear, has caused a marked increase in gum disease in the past 25 years, said Kerr, instructor in pathology at the University of Michigan.

"Periodontal (gum) disease is as old as the recorded history of man, he said. "Nevertheless, it is a disease of civilization. It becomes more prevalent as man becomes less primitive."

Kerr said gum diseases, such as gingivitis, trench mouth and pyorrhea, creep up on man slowly and often are in full maturity before their presence is recognized.

The Pacific Northwest is now producing more aluminum than twice the prewar average output of the nation.

Cotton yields in recent years have averaged 100 pounds above what was considered normal in the early '30's.

DDT Kills Foe And Friend Of Apple Trees

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—Entomologists thought they had the codling moth problem conquered with perfection of the new DDT solution but experiments proved the insecticide also exterminated other parasites beneficial to the apple tree.

Even so, the use of DDT with certain precautions may prove a valuable boon to the apple industry of the Northwest, seriously threatened with the apple worm.

Here is the insect drama as enacted in a Hood River apple orchard recently:

The trees in the orchard, having been treated with DDT, were almost entirely freed of the pest codling moth and 99 per cent of the apples produced were clean.

And then it was discovered that chapsin DDT also had killed poor little Aphilemus maki, who is the apple tree's best friend and protector against the enemy woolly aphid that spreads the fatal perennial canker of the apple and pear tree.

Aphilemus maki is a parasite that attacks woolly aphid and was brought into the orchard for that purpose by the experiment station 15 years ago, when woolly aphid had become an extremely serious pest. Since then the parasite has kept the aphid at safe minimum.

but on the trees sprayed with DDT last summer, which were freed thereby of the codling moth, aphid reappeared in great numbers.

Experts say that a weaker solution may be the answer to this problem. It has been demonstrated that solution one-tenth as strong as that used at Hood River will handle the codling moth.

Bill Proposes Censorship Of Motion Pictures

AUSTIN (UP)—A bill to create a seven-member motion picture censorship committee in each state senatorial district was introduced in the Texas House of Representatives today by Miss Rae Files, Waxahatchie.

The board would have authority to demand a preview showing of any motion picture before it is offered for the public. If the board believed the picture undesirable, it would notify the theater manager he should not show the picture publicly and also would notify the governor.

Mrs. FDR Won't Talk About Blaise And Plane Ride

WASHINGTON (UP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said at her press conference today that she "would not know in the first place" and would not comment if I did know whether her daughter, Mrs. Anna Boettiger, ordered plane transportation for Blaise, Col. E. Hott Roosevelt's bull mastiff.

She was asked about reports that Mrs. Boettiger had initiated the arrangements for Blaise to travel to California under a priority on air transport command plane from which three servicemen traveling were displaced.

Says GI's Seldom Use Taken Guns

LONGVIEW, Tex. (UP)—There's a good reason why GI's seldom use captured enemy guns.

Sgt. Albert L. Cook, former Texas theater man who is recovering at Harmon General Hospital from wounds received in France, says the sound of his bark tells a soldier whether a machine gun or rifle is friend or foe.

"Any fellow silly enough to start using an enemy gun would find himself full of American bullets," says Cook. "The boys would know it was a Jerry gun the moment it opened fire, and they'd shoot at the sound."

Cook landed in Normandy on D-Day and spent 87 days in France.

NEXT TO LAST WATER BARRIER TO BERLIN HAS BEEN CROSSED

Soviet forces pounded into Pomerania and Brandenburg provinces today in a massive drive for Berlin, with forward columns only 30 miles from the capital. A Moscow dispatch said units entering Brandenburg had crossed the Ohra River, last water barrier to Berlin before the Oder.

American troops in the Ardennes pressed the Nazis steadily back on their Siegfried line defenses along a 35 mile stretch of the German border. The American Third Army captured the German town of Welschenbussen, eight miles southeast of St. Vith.

The French First Army in Alsace was reported to have recaptured Colmar, the last large French town in enemy hands.

Immediate objectives of the Russian drive apparently included Frankfurt-On Oder and Stettin, at the rivers mouth near the Baltic.

In East Prussia, Russian troops were within two miles of Konigsberg, which was three-fourths encircled. Heavy fighting was in progress in the streets of Poznan, and Silesia, the Russians drove five to six miles across the Oder.

On the Italian front, sharp patrol clashes continued and the German forces were reported to be "considering" withdrawal of some forces to meet the Red Army threat in the east.

In the Air, RAF bombers attacked Berlin for the third straight night.

On Luzon in the Philippines, American forces were reported in the Calumpit area 23 miles north of Manila.

Administration To Back Mexico-U.S. Water Treaty

WASHINGTON (UP)—The administration considers the proposed U. S.-Mexico water treaty a test of the "good neighbor policy" and plans to throw its full weight behind the effort to get it ratified, it was learned today.

Sen. Tom Connally, D., Tex., who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was expected to have a key role in the fight for ratification.

Connally has closed repeatedly with California witnesses opposing the treaty at the Senate Committee hearing.

Tokyo Reports B-29 Raids On Several Targets

By United Press Tokyo radio said 36 Superfortresses raided targets in northern Luzon in the first B-29 raid of the war on the Philippines.

Tokyo also reported that single B-29's made several missions over Osaka, Kyoto and Wakayama on Honshu last night and today, the Japanese said, made a reconnaissance flight over occupied Korea today.

In northern Luzon, the American threat to the entire Baguio area brought strong enemy reaction.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—U. S. transportation today is in a tenuous predicament than most people appreciate. When Office of Defense Transportation Director Col. J. Monte Johnson stopped a four-day ban on the shipment of everything except freight over storm-bound, Chicago-to-New York railroad lines the other day, he may have been setting a pattern for drastic action that might have to be repeated from time to time throughout 1945. There have been other war-time local embargoes before—on the movement of tank cars or refrigerator cars to or from certain areas, or seasonal passenger travel to resort centers and such things. But when the railroads in Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania and New York got tied up by the mid-January blizzards, ODT told them they could discontinue passenger service wherever it was necessary to keep the war freight rolling, and they did. Furthermore, they can do it again, any time it is necessary to relieve congestion.

If the embargo had been put on non-war shipments in the northeastern area ten days earlier, the transportation situation today might be a little better. As it is, the railroads will be feeling the effects of the storm for six or eight months, says Col. Johnson—perhaps right up to the gradual peak freight movement after the harvest season, next fall.

OCTOBER has traditionally been the month of heavy rail freight movements in the United States. But last November and January might have beaten December if it had not been for storms in the lower Great Lakes states. With war production schedules calling for increased output during the first six months, there will be no slack summer season and 1945 looms ahead as the toughest year the American transportation system has ever had to face.

The sad facts of this situation have not yet registered on the American public, says the ODT director, despite all the demands and warnings to keep the trains running. Citing statistics to show that the railroads and trucks and buses are having to carry more passenger and freight with no more equipment than they had before the war does no good.

ODT DIRECTOR JOHNSON has been described by the transportation situation ever since he took office last May and he has been remarkably right in calling the turn. Seven months ago he was warning that all conventions should be cancelled, but they have only now been stopped.

In June he was warning that railroad and bus accommodations may be cancelled without notice, and that has now come to pass. He has been predicting that the coming summer will be a preparing to intensify that campaign during the coming summer.

He is as bullish on the automobile, truck, bus and fire situation as he is on railroads. Yet he believes that somehow, the job will be done. His motto all through the war effort has been, "Prepare for the Worst."

NEW YORK—It is surprising that Eugene Young's resignation as head-trainer at Notre Dame did not attract more attention. Scrap Iron Young looked after more famous college athletes than anybody else alive. Following 15 full years with the Irish, Young departed in 1930 to take over the coaching job at Poplarville, Ark., to start a boys' summer camp near his farm. He will run the professional Pittsburgh Steelers because the job will keep him busy only three or four months.

YOUNG, a great favorite of Knute Rockne, started out to be a coach. He wound up an adjunct of jobs and one of the most colorful figures in Notre Dame athletic history. Contributing to his ability as a rubber were hands that hang like hams. Young was born and reared at Canal Dover, O., in the celebrated Bellaire football district. I believe he is of Italian descent. Young probably is his Americanized name.

Weighting 145 pounds, he matriculated at Notre Dame in 1923, promptly went out for football and just as promptly broke his leg.

Impressed with the little guy's courage, Rockne advised him to give up football and take up track, encouraged his interest in training work.

During the next three years, he became one of Notre Dame's great track stars, breaking college records for the mile and two-mile. He also was on the cross-country team.

Throughout his undergraduate career, Young was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Young was graduated from the Notre Dame law school in 1928, with magna cum laude honors and the annual Kansley award which goes to the monogram athlete with the highest scholastic rating.

SCRAP IRON passed up a law career when Rockne advised him to accept a coaching job at St. Catherine's High of Racine. He had two good years there before Rockne called him back as full time trainer at Notre Dame in 1930. He watched the locker room and equipment and athletes, welded the towel and water bucket at all contests ever since.

Rockne tagged the Scrap Iron nickname on Young. Rockne watched Scrap one day as he set up the bleachers for a track meet, participated in the mile, two-mile and relay events, took a shower and then tore down the portable bleachers.

"That boy is made of scrap iron," commented Rockne. Things won't seem quite the same at old Notre Dame without Scrap Iron Young.

Young was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

THE WAY OUR PEOPLE LIVED

A GEORGIA TOWN IN 1867

It was the middle of the afternoon on the day of the dinner party before Kitty found any time to sit down and rest. In preparing for such an occasion every nook and cranny of the house had to be cleaned, or so she thought. Being distrustful of the interest of the house servants in their allotted tasks she followed them assiduously and pointed out dusty corners and grimy windowpanes. She was in and out of the kitchen to see if the cooking were going on according to plan. The Negro butler had spent an hour or two polishing the silverware, then she had him clean all the lamps and fill them fresh with sperm oil. On the dining table she planned to have candles—pink candles with shades—in her set of silver candlesticks.

At last she concluded that everything had been attended to and she sat down in an armchair by one of the parlor windows that overlooked Centre Street. With a sigh she reflected that the street, which had been just a country road when their house was built in 1790, was now the chief thoroughfare for entering the town from the south. At this season, in the fall, Centre Street was busy nearly all day with cotton wagons bringing the season's crop to market. "Ah well!" she thought. "One must take things as they come."

The Earle house, or mansion, as it was sometimes called, was a medley of architectural fashions, like the houses of many well-to-do people in that era. The chief idea of its designer was to make it look imposing, and he had succeeded in accomplishing that purpose, though it was lacking in other ways.

Across its front there was a handsome portico which occupied the whole width of the house.

From its outer edge rose six tall, white columns. They ran to the top of the house and supported the lofty roof of the portico. Squared close to the roof were the second floor windows, so completely overshadowed that the bedrooms behind them were in semi-darkness nearly all day.

The body of the residence did not measure up to the Greek temple boldness of its face. The most spacious place in the house was a wide hall which ran from the front door to the back. The rooms, with high ceilings, were small and crowded with furniture. On the ground floor there were four rooms: parlor (or living room), library, dining room and a so-called "smoking room" which had a billiard table. The meals were cooked in a kitchen in the rear and brought to the dining room under a covered way.

The second floor had six bedrooms, including two rather large ones in the front. The beds were wide and massive. Each had four heavy posts with a canopy and curtains. Only the two larger rooms had built-in closets; the small bedrooms were furnished with wardrobes. There was no bathroom in the house, and of course no running water. When anyone wanted to take a bath the servants brought in a large circular wooden tub and filled it with buckets of water brought up from the well. Each bedroom had a handsome washstand equipped with a pitcher and a bowl of decorative china.

Each of the four rooms downstairs had a fireplace, and fires of pine and hickory were kept going in all of them during the winter months—from December first to the middle of March.

There were only a few pictures on the walls and most of those were paintings of Kitty Earle's relatives. In place of pictures some of the walls were covered by French tapestries, and here and there hung a strip of silk colored and flaming with Chinese embroidery.

The house stood in a plot of about two acres. Between it and the street was a flower garden which, in the summer months, was full of roses and other flowering plants. A wanderer from the 20th century would have observed, with interest, no doubt, that some tomatoes were growing among the flowers. Tomatoes were called "love apples" in those days and they were raised in flower gardens because the red love apples were pretty. Children were warned never to eat them or even to handle them.

Back of the house stood the stables, a barn and some out-houses. To the left was a vegetable garden, a grape arbor and a small peach orchard. On the right, behind the kitchen, were the cabins of the Negro house servants. These cabins, built of boards, were whitewashed. Each cabin consisted of one room, and had a brick chimney, a door and a window. The slaves who lived in the cabins were not permitted to put up window curtains, for the patrol on making its rounds of slave quarters looked through the windows to see what the Negroes were doing. Before the front door of each cabin there was a porch.

For carrying on the housework there were six servants besides two more outdoors. All the housework could have been done easily by three people if energy and briskness could have been put into slaves. But that was impossible for the servants got no wages at all, and they had developed deliberation of movement, slowness of action, and stupidity of comprehension into an art. It should be said, however, in justice to human nature, that the temptations to practice that art must be very strong in those who are never paid for their work.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germs laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

"I didn't know..."

... that cleaning lamp bulbs and fixtures made such a difference. The whole house looks brighter and more cheerful. I'll agree that clean bulbs give up to 30% more light.

Many of our customers, both in homes and stores, are getting more light these days simply by keeping lamp bulbs and fixtures clean. Set up a regular schedule to dust lamps. It will pay you well in more and better light.

Wartime "Bag-o-Tricks"
 to get more light from your lamps

Reline Dark Shades
 Dark shades absorb light. You can reline them with white paper easily and at small cost. You'll be surprised at the improvement.

Move the Lamp Closer
 You can double the light on your book or sewing by moving the lamp one-half closer. Keep lamps close as practical for better seeing.

Use Bulbs of Right Size
 It's no economy to strain your eyes under a lamp with a small bulb. Poor light tires your eyes and lowers efficiency.
