Professor Tells How To Avoid Static Shock

LUBBOCK, Tex., (UP)—How to avoid being shocked by static electricity in automobiles is explained by Prof. W. F. Helwig of the Department of Electrical Engineering at Texas Technological College. Numerous complaints and inquiries from "shocked" persons led Professor Helwig to make a study of this phenomenon. "We of the Plains all know that the cool dry days of winter and early spring are particularly favorable to static formations and accumulations of electric charges which are simply itching to crackle into some unsuspecting victim's finger, elbow or other convenient projections of the anatomy," Helwig explained and continued. "Ministers are quite susceptible to this type of annoyance due to the peculiar circumstances which find the driver frictionally charged with an enclosed metal body. All electric charges consistently tend to reside on the exterior of the metal shell. Consequently when the driver reaches for the ignition lock, door handle or other metallic parts of the car, he is nearly nipped by the charge which pops across the air space as soon as the space is narrow enough, and instantly spreads over the surface of the car body."

LATE WAR NEWS

LONDON (UP)—The Third Army captured the city of Linz today. LONDON (UP)—Russian troops have captured the by-passed Baltic port of Swinemunde, Marshal Stalin announced in an order of the day today. PARIS (UP)—Gen. Eisenhower said today that the steady demoralization and disintegration of the Germans on the western front continued. LONDON (UP)—Radio Oslo said today that Major Vidkun Quisling head of the German controlled Norwegian government has announced that his regime will carry on to prevent Norway from becoming a battlefield. COUENHAGEN (UP)—Danish Nazi police, defying the German surrender of Denmark fought patriots and German army troops in Copenhagen today. An estimated 1,000 of the police barricaded themselves in buildings and streets for a last desperate burst of violence even as Denmark was celebrating liberation from the German yoke. WITH U. S. SEVENTH ARMY (UP)—Army officials announced today the capture of Hans Frank, Nazi governor general of Poland during the German occupation.

STOPS FIGHT FROM SWISS BORDER TO CZECH BORDER

PARIS (UP)—Supreme headquarters here announced today the unconditional surrender of the German Army Group "G"—The First and 19th Armies, obliterating Nazi resistance from the Czechoslovak border area north of Linz southwestward to the Swiss frontier. The Germans surrendered to Gen. Jacob Devers, commander of the U. S. Sixth Army group. The first announcement at SHAEF said the surrender embraced the entire front southwestward from the Chemnitz area of Germany including that before the U. S. Third Army now fighting in Czech. The last 1,000,000 Germans under arms in northwestern Germany, Holland and Denmark surrendered unconditionally at 1 A. M. CWT today, but VE-Day was delayed by refusal to capitulate in southeastern Europe and Norway. The cause of the hitch was definitely revealed by Adm. Karl Doenitz, self-proclaimed fuhrer in succession to Hitler. He called on the German armies in Austria, Czech and Yugoslavia to continue to resist "to save as many Germans as possible" from "Hilfsdivision and enslavement." Doenitz had contrived the northwestern surrender "in the field" to the British Second Army under Field Marshal Montgomery, seeking to avoid a political surrender to the combined Allies including Russia. Doenitz made it clear in today's broadcast addressed to the German armies still holding out that his object is to get as many Germans as possible into the hands of the Western Allies instead of Russia. The broadcast was from an unidentified German-controlled station overheard by FCC monitors. Doenitz was believed in Norway, attempting to run a government in exile there. The surrender in the northwest meanly went into effect in an orderly fashion except for about 1,000 Danish Nazi police known as Hipomen who resisted in Copenhagen. The course to be taken by the Germans in Norway and in the southeast became the focal point of attention. Persistent reports were circulated in London that negotiations were in progress for the capitulation of some 250,000 Nazis in Norway. The possibility of surrender in Czechoslovakia and in Austria also was feverishly discussed. Czech sources in London reported that Czech resistance forces had started an uprising, centering in Moravia and that a patriot uprising had liberated Prague, capital of Bohemia. Patton's Third Army has taken Linz, Austria, and is not far from a junction with the Russians which would complete the encirclement of Yugoslavia. The Third Army advanced as much as 38 miles in the past 24 hours and approached Linz on three sides. Further south in Austria, resistance against the American Seventh Army had almost vanished.

COLLEGE KING, QUEEN NAMED FRIDAY NIGHT

Miss Clelia Hames, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hames, Route 2, Ranger, was crowned queen of Ranger Junior College at the annual coronation ceremonies held at the Recreation building Friday night at 8:30 o'clock. Billy Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Anderson, was crowned king. The two were selected by vote of the student body and their identity remained a secret until they were announced Friday night and crowded by Dr. G. C. Boswell, president of the college. Miss Mary Catherine McHenry and Bob Hickey received the second highest votes for the queen and king. For the coronation the stage in the hall had been turned into a garden with grass carpets and climbing roses for the background. Miss McHenry, president of the student body, welcomed the guests and Miss Amelia Walker was an announcer for the court. Miss Elaine Brazda was trumpeter who signaled the approach of the various members of the court. Pages were Bill Creager and Donaki Ray Carver. Dukes and duchesses representing other colleges and high schools were: Miss Julia Brown and Bill Forbes of North Texas Teachers College; Denton, Miss Dorothy Henry and Herman Barrow of Texas Wesleyan College; Ft. Worth; Miss Doris Bond and Tim Fambrough of Cisco Junior College; Miss Dorothy Pearson and Charles Brinkley of Weatherford Junior College; Miss Mildred Anne Mitchell and Joe Howard Morris of Strawn High School; Miss Gene Robinson and Herman Smith of DeLeon high school; Miss Willy Jeanne Crawley and Mace Oylar of Ranger high school; Miss Mary Martha McKay and Bill Ross of Mineral Wells high school. Crown bearer was Anna Beth Duffbach and train bearers were Kay Vaughn and Flora Simon. A short program for the court was given and consisted of the following numbers: piano duet, Richard and Robert Martin; vocal solo, Miss Rosemary Bruce and the Assembly singing of the Star Spangled Banner. Following the coronation ceremony the king and queen and members of their court were entertained with a dance for which music was furnished by an orchestra from Camp Walters. Arrangements for the coronation were made by Miss Mary Virginia Williams, Mrs. Hal Hunter and Mrs. Olen Holoway.

Women Sewers Repair 1,000 GI Garments Daily

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP)—Forty-seven women who do Army mending at Fort Snelling take their darning seriously—their average mending rate is 1,000 garments daily. Fort Snelling's C and E (clothing and equipment) shop is the darning center for Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin and any other garments there for renovation. Operating the shop's 22 power sewing machines are 47 women who specialize in various kinds of repairing—patching, collar mending, turning sleeves. The monthly output now averages 25,000 or more repaired articles of clothing and equipment a month. At one time, in June, 1942, the shop was run by five soldiers, and there were only three power machines. At that time only post repair work was done. But Capt. William C. Entzinger, the reclamation and salvage officer, soon changed things. Capt. Entzinger boosted production from 5,000 the first month he was in charge to 8,000 garments in eight months. Now besides the 47 women and the captain, there are Lt. A. G. Neuser, clothing and equipment officer; R. F. Hoffman, technical adviser, four tailors and several assistants to the captain.

EDUCATION IS BIG FACTOR IN GI PROMOTIONS

CHICAGO (UP)—The typical Midwestern college graduate has had a better chance of becoming a commissioned officer in the armed forces than his buddy who never went beyond high school. College graduates from the Midwest have had a 50-50 chance of becoming commissioned officers. Men with high school educations have had the same chance of becoming sergeants but only one chance in four of being commissioned. These facts were revealed by studies made by Prof. Robert J. Havighurst, secretary of the University of Chicago's committee on human development, and Miss Mary Russell, Walgreen Foundation researcher at the University. Their findings are reported in the current issue of the "School Review." The writers studied a typical Midwestern county-seat town of 6,000 population with a fair proportion of industrial workers. They came to the conclusion that a high school education is practically essential to advancement in present-day American life, whether civilian or military. "There is a very high positive relation between rank in the armed services and educational attainment prior to entering the services," they reported. "Having at least a high-school education is almost essential for promotion to the level of commissioned officers. A sample group of 163 servicemen was selected scientifically and their records were examined for rank in relation to educational level. Seventy-eight per cent of the men with no more than an eighth grade education did not go beyond the rank of private or corporal. Of those who were graduated from high school, 55 per cent remained privates or corporals and 21 per cent achieved officers rank. Almost half the boys from the upper and upper-middle class families are officers or officer candidates," Havighurst and Miss Russell said. "On the other hand, only 13 per cent of the upper lower class and none at all of the lower-class are officers. The young men from the lower-middle, upper-lower, and lower-lower classes have been equally successful in reaching the rating of sergeants and other non-commissioned officers. "High school graduation is almost essential for promotion to the level of commissioned officers, and educational background appears to be one of the principal factors, if not the primary factor in promotion in the armed services. "A survey of 20,000 officer candidates in the army showed that only 6.5 per cent had not graduated from high school. "Length of service, which has little relation to a man's chance of getting a commission, does bear a positive relation to moving up in the hierarchy of non-commissioned officers. "The largest proportion of those at the level of sergeant and the smallest proportions at the level of private and corporal are found in the two groups with the longest service."

New Employers Must Get Number For The Business

ABILENE, Texas, May 3—Many returning veterans are going into business for themselves for the first time. Some are men who have never been employed before. These individuals are reminded that any new employer should file an application with the Social Security Board for an identification number for the business. This is necessary even though only one person is on the payroll, who perhaps works only part time. Each employer is required to keep a record of the worker's social security account number for use when it comes time to make out the social security tax return to the collector of internal revenue. New employers may secure identification numbers by writing the Social Security Board, 205 Alexander Building, Abilene, Texas, and asking for form SS-4.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—An unofficial yet highly authoritative opinion that the White House has no power under existing law to make executive agreements which would grant foreign airlines the right to operate in the United States is appearing in the forthcoming April issue of the George Washington University Law Review.

This G. W. U. Law Review article is something more than just another one of the endless series of long-winded differences of opinion among lawyers. It was written by Arne C. Wiprud, special assistant to the Attorney General in charge of transportation cases for the Anti-Trust Division.

Wiprud is the man who did much of the spadework for the Department of Justice suit against the western railroads on charges of conspiracy to fix rates.

"Under existing law," writes Wiprud at the end of his exhaustive research into all U. S. aviation laws and treaties, "... the conclusion of executive agreements to affect an exchange of operating rights is without legal basis. Such executive agreements, to have legal validity, would require the adoption and ratification of a treaty between the governments concerned."

If the Wiprud argument is correct, the White House would have two choices. Either to recall the agreements and send them to the Senate in the form of treaties for ratification, or else ask Congress for new legislation, an amendment to the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938 which would give the Administration the power to do what has already been done.

Arne Wiprud is not the only lawyer in government who takes the view that executive agreements permitting foreign aircraft transport rights within the United States are not within existing law. Sen. Josiah W. Bailey of North Carolina, delegate to the Chicago conference and chairman of the Senate Committee on Commerce, has testified before the Foreign Relations Committee that he believes the interim agreement and possibly the first four freedoms—covering the right of an airline to fly over foreign territory, to land for service, to put down, pick up, or traffic from and to its own country—are within existing law.

But on the fifth freedom Senator Bailey has his legal doubts. This fifth freedom would grant any international air carrier the right to put down or pick up traffic from and in other countries than its own country and the country to which it was flying.

SPORTS

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

ST. LOUIS—With Martin Marion around and about, the Cardinals need another shortstop like a desert needs sand, so the blues in the red blazers get Albert Schoendienst out of the Army at 22.

To take up the batting slack left by the departure of Stan Musial, Red Schoendienst is patrolling left field, where he hardly will be weak on ground balls.

Old-timers among St. Louis fans will remember that the same breath with that of Honus Wagner, yet more than one competent critic declares that the Octopus could not afford to remain out of the lineup for more than a few days.

If Marion does, they contend, he won't get back unless Schoendienst's presence is more valuable elsewhere, which happens to be the case at present. In other words, it is their considered opinion that Schoendienst is Marion's superior as a shortstop and all-around ball player.

WHEN Sam Breason was asked where the Cardinals find all their players, he replied, simply, "We look for them."

Schoendienst, 5-11 and weighing 195 pounds, a quick and second-slit hitter of unusual speed, is a phenomenon who materialized at a Cardinal camp conducted near his old home town, Germantown, Ill., in 1941.

Schoendienst of the bright red hair rose rapidly to Rochester, where in 1943 at the tender age of 20, he became the most valuable player in and the batting champion of the International League in his first year in Double A. He batted 373 in 25 games for the Red Wings before joining the Army last spring.

EVEN though Musial is in the Navy Billy Southworth's world champions will not suffer for lack of speed. Emil Verban, utility infielder George Fallon, Johnny Hupp and Augie Berganso scout. Walker Cooper picks 'em up and lays 'em down for a big man and a catcher.

The Cardinals will never have to take the gas for lack of it. Pete Gray, the one-armed left fielder, practically clinched his place in the Browns' lineup in the opening game of the repeat World Series. Because he bunts and drags superlatively, Gray is hitting second. What caught Luke Sewell's eye, however, was his handling of a liner hit down the left field foul line by the light-footed Verban.

Gray, whose right arm is off three inches below the shoulder, got to the ball in great haste, blocked it with his gloved hand, tossed the ball out of the glove, tucked the glove under the stub of his arm and threw in one motion.

Junior Dairy Association Is Formed In County

A Junior Dairy Herd Improvement Association has been formed among the Eastland County 4-H Club boys with 21 charter members, William Brigham Emergency War Food Assistant said today.

The function of the new organization is to weigh the milk twice daily, and in turn run a butterfat test once each month, on each cow in production. This record is to be kept during all months of the lactation period. The sum of each cow's monthly butterfat record will be summed at the end, or each lactation period to get the amount of butterfat produced. And in turn each club boy in this organization will learn to operate a butterfat testing machine. Also to run test on butterfat. The club boy who has the highest production in butterfat during the lactation period will receive a registered Jersey bull calf for his achievement.

This organization is for the purpose of encouraging better methods of feeding and to improve the methods of dairying such as the eight point system of dairying as follows: Grow an abundance of high quality feed; Balance your herd to meet your feed supply; Keep production and feed records on each cow; Practice disease-control methods; Udder diseases—use common sense; Produce milk and cream of highest quality; Adopt labor saving methods; Provide good shelter; and Develop a sound breeding program.

Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE
"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 6.

The Golden Text is: "Have I any pleasure at all that the wicked should die? saith the Lord God; and not that he should return from his ways, and live?" (Ezekiel 18:25).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it." (Malachi 3:10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit blesses man, but man cannot 'tell whence it cometh.' By it the sick are healed, the sorrowing are comforted, and the sinning are reformed." (page 78).

It's Not So Bad -

... to make the first mistake, nor the second, perhaps, but he who keeps it up is doomed to sad failure. The man who buys property for the first time without an abstract has made an honest mistake. What he should then do is to charge off his loss to experience but resolve not to err again in the same way. All wise men make errors but only the foolish repeat them.

A LITTLE CLOCK WITH PASTEBOARD HANDS

Just an advertising novelty with a regular dial—and between the numerals were the numbers 1 to 50 in rotation around its face.

The directions were—"set the hands at your age and see what time of day it is for you." For the young man of 21 it was 7:30 A. M.—he had the morning of life before him. For the man of 35 it was high noon—he had only the afternoon left. For the fellow of 45 it was 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon—he didn't have so much time left. For the fellow of 52 it was 6:00 P. M.—he had only 'til midnight to get his second wind.
