BIG THREE AT THE DECISION MAKING STAGE

POTSDAM (UP)—The Big Three has reached the decision making phase of their discussions, it was revealed today.

That was indicated by statements from the American delegation that the work of the conference is going forward steadily and that "much serious business has been done."

The Americans revealed that President Truman, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill have met an average of three hours daily.

The three foreign secretaries have been meeting even longer hours while the numerous sub-committees of experts have worked in the late evening hours preparing material for the Big Three.

The material is screened by the experts, submitted to the foreign secretaries and then passed on to the Big Three in final form for decisions.

Thus, it was believed, the preliminary sifting of a myriad of problems virtually has been completed leaving the Big Three free to make their decisions.

Members of the President's party are spending a good deal of time inspecting Berlin. Edward W. Pauley, chairman of the American section of the reparations commission meeting in Moscow, said "after being Berlin I didn't see so bad about London."

Pauley was amazed that although on a national basis only 20 per cent of German industry was destroyed, Berlin itself has been largely obliterated.

Air Conditioning Method Prevents Apple Disease

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP)—By applying the principle of the gas mask to protecting apples in storage, apple growers of the country may save thousands of dollars annually.

Research at the Cornell University Agricultural Experiment station has developed a method of air conditioning, similar to that used in a soldier's gas mask to control the gases given off by the apples themselves. The conditioning prevents storage apples from developing a "scald" disease, which causes the fruit to become unsightly and to lose market value.

Sea Monster Caught

Here's an unusual sea monster of 90 pounds which was caught by Edward Rowe Snow, Boston Harbor historian of Winthrop, Mass., while on a canoe trip in the harbor. The mouth of the fish opens wide enough to swallow a football. (NEA Telephoto).

LT. BORDEAU ARRIVES IN STATES FRIDAY

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bordeaux received word Friday that their son, Lt. (jg) John Bordeaux has returned from foreign service and is now stationed in Virginia.

The news reached the parents when their son called them from his station in Virginia. He has been in the Mediterranean theatre of operations since before the invasion of Southern France.

Lt. Bordeaux was not able to tell his parents when he will be granted a leave in order that he may visit his parents.

Veterans Are Being Set Up In Small Businesses

CLEVELAND (UP)—Small, flourishing businesses are popping up in Cleveland. All of them are doing war or essential civilian work. Their operators—returned veterans.

Richard Cazad and T. J. Robbins, together planned to open a business together while acting as flight instructors at Texas, are turning out depth-bomb parts at their company, Milestone Meter System, Inc.

L. N. Balkay is making aircraft engine parts at his little shop, the Baldwin Manufacturing Co. And the Standwood Products Co., operated by Stanley Bach, is making boxes for shipping military supplies to the South Pacific.

Still under medical treatment, John Danko is using his spare time to get the Sykes Iron and Sheet Metal Shop established.

None of the five veterans was interested in returning to his former job. They were looking for bigger and better things and, with the help of Smaller War Plant Corp., they found them.

HOUSE QUITS UNTIL NEXT OCTOBER 8TH

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House adjourned at 2:22 p. m., today until Oct. 8 for its longest vacation of the war.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House is scheduled to begin a 11-week recess today, taking its longest vacation from the capitol since 1938.

Although the Senate will stay until it has voted on the United Nations Charter—probably next week—the House was prepared to quit until Oct. 8 after a perfunctory session today.

It disposed of its last "must" legislation yesterday by accepting minor Senate amendments to the bill approving the Bretton Woods monetary agreements and the reconversion tax bill.

The House decided to recess without acting immediately on three recent requests of President Truman. They were for legislation to: 1. Liberalize unemployment benefits during the reconversion period; 2. To permit reorganization of the executive branches and; 3. To provide for one-man control of surplus war property disposal.

Both House and Senate, however, have heeded administration requests for passage of bills to strengthen the governments position in internal economic relations.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Moseley of Route 2, Ranger have received a commendation given their son, Staff Sgt. Fred K. Moseley by his commanding officer for action in combat on Leyte.

Following is the commendation: "It is with pleasure that I commend you for your courage and outstanding devotion to duty during the Leyte operation. On the 5th and 6th of December, 1944, although twice wounded, you refused to be evacuated and remained to assist in the destruction of a heavily fortified enemy position.

It is this type of loyalty that reflects credit upon you and the men with whom you serve.

On behalf of the officers and men of the regiment I express to you our appreciation for the job well done." The commendation was signed by Col. Francis T. Paehler.

A veteran of three major campaigns he holds the Bronze Star for heroic achievement in the campaign for Attu.

Among those who have already entered animals in the show are: J. M. Peticok of Goldthwaite, Will Allison of Roosevelt, O. J. Camp of Junction, Robert Kirby of Goldthwaite, Sam F. Cooper of Leakey, W. Miss Doris Wheat was named Eastland county's queen to contest with other nominees for the place as queen of the association.

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion started Saturday that they are hoping to make the coming paper drive the biggest ever staged in Ranger and the people of the town are urged to save every bit of scrap paper for the drive on August 5.

Old newspapers, magazines and paste board boxes are acceptable. The papers and magazines must be tied in separate bundles as must the boxes which must also be flattened out.

The drive will start promptly at 1:00 P. M., Sunday, August 5, and citizens are requested to have the bundles of waste paper at the curbs by that time so that trucks may pick it up.

Hill, who received a shell wound, was a pattern leader of the 27th Infantry (New York) Division and was hit on his second day in combat on the slopes of Iwojima islands.

"The care's shown at a Japanese camp saved my life," young Hill said. "A mortar shell hit me in the back, but luck—the enemy had failed to pull the fuse and the projectile did not explode."

Hill worked on the Sacramento, Cal., Bee newspaper before he enlisted in 1942. He earned a commission in the coast artillery, but later was assigned to the infantry.

Besides Hill's parents, his wife and small son live in Tulsa.

Safe In Father's Arms

WAC Corp. Margaret Hastings, one of the three plane crash survivors who were rescued from New Guinea's "Shangra La" jungle valley, gets a hearty greeting from her father, Patrick Hastings, as she returns to her Owego, N. Y. home.

CLAIM SECRET WEAPON READY FOR RAIDERS ON RETURNING

PEARL HARBOR (UP)—Jittery Tokyo forecasters looked anxiously out to sea today and hinted that it wouldn't be long before Adm. Halsey's ships and planes returned to fill Japan's skies with bombs and shells again.

But American fleet headquarters kept mum on the whereabouts of the mighty combined fleet, which has covered its tracks since it ceased shelling Tokyo bay early Thursday.

Jap broadcasts insisted the Anglo-American units, perhaps 150 strong, had rearmed and refueled at a secret Pacific rendezvous and were expected to start bounding the home islands again at any time.

The Japs said they had a new secret weapon awaiting the Allied raiders and a Naval spokesman declared the remnants of the Imperial fleet would shortly be thrown over a sign of "one last blow."

The army plane from two days ago landed on the island through a narrow gap in the mountains and the southern coast of Iwojima.

Careless Jap Saves American Officer's Life

TULSA, Okla. (UP)—The son of former Oklahoma House Speaker Johnson D. Hill is alive today to tell of his experience with a careless Japanese. The story was learned here by Hill from his son, Lieut. J. D. Hill, now in Letterman Hospital at San Francisco, Cal.

Hill, who received a shell wound, was a pattern leader of the 27th Infantry (New York) Division and was hit on his second day in combat on the slopes of Iwojima islands.

"The care's shown at a Japanese camp saved my life," young Hill said. "A mortar shell hit me in the back, but luck—the enemy had failed to pull the fuse and the projectile did not explode."

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Soon to be released—possibly as a presidential report to Congress—is a document which will give the lowdown on U. S. plans to "denazify" Germany. Delouse of course means "denazify."

Tentatively known as "Ten Sixty-Seven Slush Six," meaning that it is the sixth draft of memorandum 1067, this document consists of the detailed orders given to General of the Armies Dwight D. Eisenhower as commander-in-chief of the U. S. Army of Occupation in Germany. General Eisenhower has been carrying these top secret orders "in his hip pocket" for some weeks.

They were prepared in Washington under direction of an outfit known as "IPCOG"—the Interdepartmental Policy Committee on Germany, whose top men are Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau and Assistant Secretaries Will Clayton of State, John J. McCloy of War, Ralph Bland of Navy, Bard, resigning, will presumably be replaced by Artemus L. Gates.

If there is any doubt about how tough the U. S. Military Government in Germany is going to be, as compared with how tough the Russian Military Government is going to be, it is expected to be removed when IPCOG's first orders can be released.

SPECIFICALLY it has been charged that in some instances the anti-Nazi have not been given their proper place, that known Nazis have been put back in office to re-establish local government, that German industries have been turned back to their old Hitlerite masters.

In Washington all such charges are emphatically denied by Maj.-Gen. John H. Hildring, commanding the Civil Affairs Division of the War Department General Staff. If it is happening at all, says General Hildring, such appeasement is not in compliance with orders which are to completely delouse Nazi Germany so that it will never become a threat to the peace of the world, disband all German armed forces, breaking up the General Staff, eliminating all industry that might be used for military production, bringing all war criminals to trial, wiping out the Nazi party and all its influences.

TEN thousand trained military government officers and enlisted men have now taken over this job in the American zone of southern Germany. They work in teams, with city manager and director of public utilities, health, public safety and other departments trying to get local government back on its feet.

Nearly all these officers and men have had experience in previous U. S. zones of occupation. They did a tremendous job in France for which they never got credit because they functioned smoothly and without incidents which might have called attention to what they were doing.

AMID the tumult and the shouting of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap will be one quiet, dignified gentleman in the stewards' stand. Christopher J. Fitzgerald, in the guise of one of the most notable careers in American racing, will be honorary steward for the day to crown the winner of the world's richest turf fixture.

It will mark the venerable Christ's first return to the stands since he served with distinction as presiding steward from the opening of Santa Anita in 1934 until ill health forced his retirement in '39. A crowd that rival the record turnout of 78,548 last Memorial Day is expected to be on hand, but crowds never bothered Chris Fitzgerald.

PRESENCE of the white-haired, dignified Judge Fitzgerald adds sentiment and interest to the eighth running of the Santa Anita Handicap, which ranks as the richest race in the world. Judge Fitz, as he is known wherever there is racing, has been associated with the sport since he started as a telegraph operator in New York as a young man. In succession he has been a sports writer, starter, official and broadcaster, with signal success in each endeavor.

Beauty Culturists Shampoo Injured

BATTLE CREEK, Mich (UP)—As the postman takes a walk on his day off, so do two beauty operators in Battle Creek, who give free shampoos every Monday to the wounded soldiers at Perry Jones hospital.

The two operators, Mrs. Rhea Coffman and Miss Margaret Genoe, wanted to do their part and when the nursing shortage arose the chief of nurses told Mrs. Coffman that she could really help if she would give shampoos.

The shampoo job is almost on a mass production basis and Mrs. Coffman reported that on one of their largest mornings, she usually scrubbed 50 heads. They usually average between 30 and 40.

Worked Eighty Five Years, Never Missed Pay Day

WATERVLIET, N. Y. (UP)—A working career, which began one year before the outbreak of the Civil War, ended recently with the death of 97 year old John Martin.

Remarkable thing about Mr. Martin was that in all that time—85 years in all—he never lost a days pay. He took his first job at the age of 12, receiving $12 a week tending gas and kerosene street lamps on a seven day week

MOTHER-HEN ADOPTS CHICKS WHOLESALE

AMARILLO, Tex. (UP)—It isn't unusual for a mother hen to adopt a few extra chicks to go along with her own, but a Rhode Island Red belonging to W. T. Dykeman goes in for the idea on a large scale.

A mother of five of her own, this biddie lost one shortly after hatching. Then, when Dykeman bought 100 incubator chicks, she took them under her wing, and added another 100 a short while later.

She spreads herself over as many of the 204 chicks as she can at night, and has fought off all attempts of other hens to pirate some of her brood.

Ultimate Costs, Seen and Unseen
... are all paid for by the consumer. The farmer sells his bale of cotton for $100.00, and we buy it back in suits of clothes for $1,000.00. Same old cotton except the looks, design, color wage, transportation, rent, storage, interest, commission, profits and taxes—many kinds of them. Like the bale of cotton, the abstract, too, must bear its myriad of operating costs but well worth it as it is the basis of your title security and your protection against fraud.

Making Pigs of Themselves
