High Court Upholds Contempt Decisions

Well...
I Dunno,
But...

It always gives us a warm feeling to see wrong challenged and right the victor. We have a profound faith in right winning in the end, but the defeats are sometimes hard to overcome and often discouraging. But that's where that old American courage comes in handy and it's a characteristic that we ought to hang onto.

It takes clear thinking to combat wrong but once convinced of the right, no man loses the respect of his fellowmen by showing the courage of his convictions. Furthermore, no man is discredited in the eyes of others by admitting that he is wrong.

To the contrary, most people gain the respect of others by being fair enough to admit they are wrong.

Frankly we have more admiration for those that will admit that they were wrong than we have for those that obviously lack in their victory. And we don't like to see a victor gloat his opponent after winning the victory.

No, there was no one specific thing that reminded us of this. There were several specific things.

My, my, with two chambers of commerce in constant action, we feel sure we'll have to increase our staff to cover 'em all.

There's the paper drive due March 16 and for which the Jaycees are hoping that you are saving your paper; there's that series of bingo parties coming up for the next four Monday nights and which Truman Harper and the rest of the Jaycees hope you attend; there's the rodeo coming up and is already getting the attention of those scheming Jaycees; there's their livestock barn which they are pushing to completion and you never can tell what else is in the back of their heads.

The senior Chamber of Commerce is as full of plans as a dog is fleas and they're itching about 'em just as much as the proverbial canine.

They've got a string of committees that cover about every civic idea that you can think of and those committees are working and planning. They're not overlooking a thing.

The senior boys have a big community banquet planned for Tuesday night March 18 and they've planned it for the people. It will be at the Ghoslon Hotel rather than at the Recreation building which we erroneously reported Wednesday. There's their big clean-up and fix-up campaign on the making and a thorough making it is, too.

In fact, wherever ever any help is needed for civic improvement, you'll find the senior Chamber of Commerce in the middle of it. They have been helpful to the city officials in working out the airport improvement program, veterans housing programs.

One of the big committees met last night and they're so full of plans about trade stimulation and extension that a report of their plans and ideas would fill a volume.

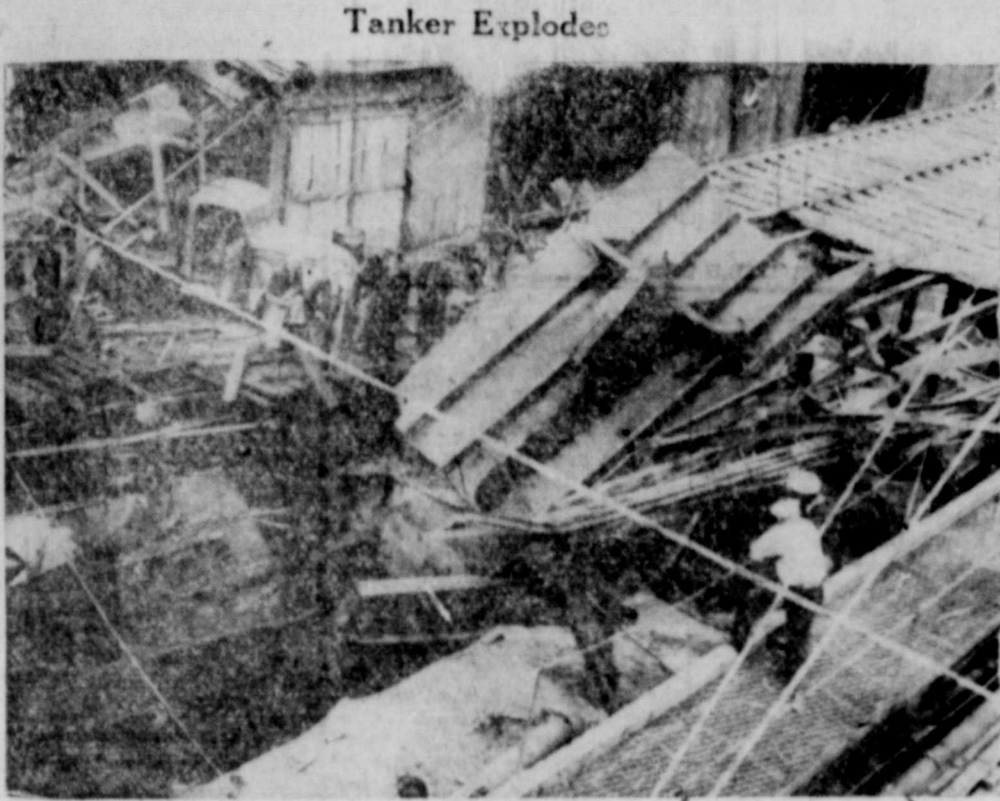

But that's just the way we like and you fellows do it and we'll sure write about it "so the people may know," as one of our prodigal friends says.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Imholz are getting quite a kick out of the timely return of the martins to the homes in trees at the Imholz home. Since moving to their present home several years ago they have observed that the birds return each March 4 and sure enough they did it again this year.

One of the swallow family, the Imholzs are wondering if the birds are relations of the swallows of San Juan Capistrano Mission in California. They are also wondering where the birds go in the winter. Poor things, they must think this morning that they arrived a little too early.

Sure enough we got accused this morning of bringing on the bad weather again. While we had nothing to do with it, other than mentioning several days ago that it sure was dry, we think we'll hatch up a little scheme to warn 'em ahead of time.

U. S. ACCUSES RUSSIA OF INTERFERENCE

WASHINGTON — The United States today accused Russia of "unjustified interference" in the internal affairs of Hungary by attempting to substitute a Communist dictatorship for the present freely-elected government.

The charge was made in a statement by the state department. The statement followed along lines of a formal note dispatched to the Russian chairman of the Allied Control Commission for Hungary and to the Hungarian, Soviet and British governments.

The statement said that the United States was "impelled at this time to express its feeling of concern at the political crisis which has been precipitated in Hungary."

Jaycee Bingo Parties Start Monday Night

Truman Harper has announced that beginning Monday night at 7:30 o'clock a series of bingo parties will be sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

There will be four parties in the series, one on each Monday night throughout the remainder of March. The parties will fall on Monday nights, March 10, 17, 24 and 31. They will be held in the Recreation building and the public is invited to attend.

TRUMAN AT WACO ASKS LESS TRADE BARRIERS

WACO, Texas — President Truman, speaking to the nation from the heart of Texas, warned today that failure to continue the present United States policy of reducing world trade barriers would invite international economic warfare.

The President said there must be free trade if the world is to live in peace and declared that tariff-cutting would not hurt American industry.

Mr. Truman's immediate audience was the faculty and student body of Baylor University, oldest college in Traditionally-Democratic Texas, which presented him with an honorary doctorate of laws.

But it was obvious that the President's remarks were aimed at segments of the Republican party opposing government plans to negotiate further tariff reductions with other nations this year.

Striving to protect his reciprocal trade program from GOP attacks, Mr. Truman said reduction of trade barriers is a settled policy of this government and "one of the cornerstones of our pains for

HINT CLUES FOUND IN ROBBERY

Chief George Murphy stated today that a thorough investigation is being made of the robbery of the Texas Drug store earlier this week and that some clues had been developed.

The robbers entered the store Monday night through a side window and took a little over $182. The money taken had been placed in hiding in the store just before closing time but had not been put in the safe. It was stated that the burglar overlooked a sum considerably larger than the one he took.

Finger print experts from Abilene were called in and some prints found and taken by the experts. These have been turned over to the FBI for study and identification.

In connection with the robbery, Chief Murphy asked that merchants take all precautions to avoid such robberies, making sure that all entrances to their buildings are properly protected and locked each night.

Many Killed in Riots NEW DELHI (UP) — Official sources estimated today that 150 persons had been killed in Hindu-Muslim rioting in Punjab province, where bloody battles were reported raging at Lahore for the third straight day.

A window cleaner with a jointed handle that makes it possible to clean the outside of the pane from the inside of a room has been devised.

Huge throngs braved rain, chill wind and 34 degree temperatures to cheer the President enroute from the airport to the Baylor campus. The degree ceremony and address were moved indoors from Union Bowl at the last minute because of the weather.

The President was dressed in a flowing academic black robe with a touch of purple for the law and a lining of gleaming gold for Baylor.

Attorneys Argue Thompson Legal Georgia Governor

ATLANTA — Attorneys for Lt. Gov. M. E. Thompson contended in the state supreme court today that the Georgia legislature usurped a judicial function when it decided that it was empowered to elect Herman Talmadge governor.

Talmadge's election by the legislature, the attorneys charged, was unconstitutional, and Thompson should be declared the legal governor.

The arguments were made as the high court opened hearings on appeals in three suits involving the battle for the governorship between Talmadge and Thompson.

LEWIS' FINE STANDS; UMW REDUCED TO $700,000

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court today upheld contempt of court convictions against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers, but ordered the $3,500,000 fine against the union cut to $700,000.

The fine of $10,000 against Lewis was upheld by the high court.

Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson delivered the high courts 46-page opinion. Because of the urgency of the case, the decision was handed down out of the usual order shortly after noon today.

Usually, decisions are given only on Mondays.

Plaintiffs were registered by Justices Frank Murphy and Wiley B. Rutledge.

Partial dissents were registered by Justices Robert H. Jackson, Hugo L. Black and William O. Douglas.

The decision disposed of the decisions against Lewis and his union. They were cited for contempt by Judge T. Allan Goldsborough of the federal district court here last fall when they ignored his restraining order directing to cancel a coal strike called on Nov. 20 in defiance of the federal government and the courts.

Vinson held that Lewis and the UMW were properly found guilty of both criminal and civil contempt. The high court held that neither the Norris-LaGuardia Act, limiting the right of federal courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes, nor the War Labor Disputes Act barred the government from obtaining an injunction to prevent the strike.

The court upheld both Goldsborough's original temporary restraining order and the preliminary injunction issued at the end of the contempt trial.

Lewis and the union were convicted because they refused to obey these injunctions.

NLRB Suggests Some Changes In Labor Laws

WASHINGTON — The National Labor Relations Board cautiously suggested today that Congress prohibit some jurisdictional strikes and other union activities as unfair labor practices.

But at the same time, it asked the lawmakers to beware of most proposals for overhauling the Wagner Act, which is administered by the board.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce disagreed, however, and asked the House labor committee for a general overhaul of the Wagner Act. Representing the chamber was Herman W. Steinkraus, president of the Bridgeport, Conn., Brass Co., who said frequent changes in NLRB views showed the need for revising the law.

Army Busy Turning Out Burial Flags

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Expert seamstresses at the Philadelphia

quartermaster depot are busy turning out the largest single order of American burial flags in the nation's history.

The assignment calls for the production of 169,000 additional be used to drape the caskets of fallen World War II heroes. Each flag is five feet wide and nine feet, five inches long. The stars and stripes are sewn individually.

The interment flags, made of high-grade mercerized cotton, duplicate in size the regulation U. S. storm flag which floats over American military posts, camps and stations; government buildings and American embassies throughout the world.

The army has designed a match which can be struck even after prolonged immersion in water.

Liberty Bell's Twin At Villanova Honored After Exciting Career

By Frederick W. Jones
 United Press Staff Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA (UP)—A celebration at Villanova College has uncovered the fact known only to a few students of American history, that there are two Liberty Bells and that only chance prevented the second from becoming the symbol of American liberty.

The second bell now rests in the Villanova College museum after a history that is almost as exciting as that of the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall.

The history of the two bells began when the assembly of the Province of Pennsylvania sent to England for a bell to be hung in the new state house in Philadelphia.

Isaac Norris, chairman of the superintendents, sent the order, which directed that the lettering of the bell should read "proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof," and below this, "by order of the assembly of the Province of Pennsylvania for the new state house in the city of Philadelphia, 1752."

"Know Nothing" riots of 1844. It was badly damaged by fire on May 8, 1844, when rioting mobs surged through the streets and burned the church.

The damaged bell was salvaged from the ruins and three years later was recast by Joseph Hornblow. He did not attempt to recast the bell so it would bear the same inscription as it had before the fire. The Liberty Bell's sizer now carries only simple lettering "cast by J. Hornblow, Philadelphia, 1847."

The bell was turned over to Villanova College. It was hung in a tree on the college campus, where for the next 50 years it was used to call students to class.

In 1917, when the first building of the Church of St. Nicholas of Tolentine was built at Jamaica L. I., the old bell was sent there, as its history forgotten.

Then shortly before the outbreak of the second world war, historians of the Augustinian Fathers of Villanova traced the bell and brought it back to Villanova.

The bell is rung now only on historic occasions in the college's history. On Sept. 20, 1942, it was rung on the altar when Dennis Cardinal Dougherty celebrated mass for the college's 100th anniversary.

9,117 Feet Of Tiling To Line New Tunnel

NEW YORK (UP)—Giving the new Brooklyn-Battery tunnel under New York's East River that finishing touch will mean installation of the longest continuous string of tile ever laid in the United States.

So say engineers of the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority, handling the $80,000,000 project. The tiled lining of the tunnel will extend 9,117 feet, or 540 feet longer than the tile work on the Holland tunnel under the Hudson, longest now in operation in this country.

More than 780,000 square feet of tile will be needed for the job. The volume of work on the tunnel is so great that a single tilesetter would need more than 55 years to complete the job, according to construction experts.

New Chemical Route Germs From Air

BERKELEY, Cal. (UP)—A process for reducing germs in the air is an enclosed space by as much as 63 per cent has been worked out here. It will be particularly useful in hospital wards, institutions, hotels and similar public places.

The technique, developed by University of California scientists and the office of naval research, involves impregnation of blankets and clothing with a solution of a germ-killing component of which is formalin, a new chemical.

Blankets and clothing can be impregnated with ordinary commercial laundry equipment. The oil is placed in the last wash.

Pampered Pups Housed Atop Ft. Worth Hotel

FORT WORTH, Tex., (UP)—That old phrase "a dog's life" means a life in the lap of luxury if it refers to the "penthouse puppies" at the Worth Hotel. Dogs of guests at the hotel occupy a suite atop the building complete with running water, heated sleeping quarters and a skyline view of the city.

The pampered pups even can have their meals served in bed. The dog "kennel" is 20 stories high, atop the hotel, and Manager Jack Farrell says it's the highest kennel in the country as far as he knows.

A 10-foot high fence keeps the dogs safe during exercise and porters serve the meals.

URGE LAW MAKING NEW YORK PATRON OF ARTS

By Betty Bauer
ALBANY, N.Y. (UP)—Over a hundred or more art-minded civic leaders from all over the state are spearheading a drive to put New York State in the art business on a glorified scale.

Under a bill before the 1947 legislature, the state could decorate its public buildings with works of painting, sculpture and prints from resident artists. A $75,000 appropriation was requested for first year fees and commissions.

Backers of the plan, which failed to find legislative approval last year, claim the support of virtually every museum director, university official, education department official and artist in the state.

"I think it's a good idea," said Dr. Carl E. Guthe, who as New York's state museum director would be one of the guiding figures in building up the art collection. "As a matter of principle, whatever can be done to increase interest in public appreciation of fine arts is all to the good. That's part of our civilization."

Should the state find itself in the art business, each artist would be limited under the current bill to $1,200 a year in fees on commissions from the state. No limit, however, is set on the number of works to be acquired.

"Paintings, sculpture, movable artists and museums and serving without pay.

All schools, colleges, libraries, hospitals and civic buildings owned or leased by the state could then borrow or obtain permanently the paintings or other state-collected art works. On whatever the basis, however, the institutions would have to help pay the cost of the pieces they would want.

No. 2 (For Lean Fish)

DEEP FAT FRYING

After fish is drained, cut into serving portions. Dip in seasoned flour, corn meal, or other dry cereal. Use a deep kettle with a frying basket. This simplifies removal of fish. Heat the fat (vegetable or salad oil) to a temperature of 375°. Fat is hot enough when an inch cube of bread browns in 30 seconds. Turn fish to brown both sides. Allow 4 to 10 minutes, depending upon thickness, or until it is an even golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper.

Tropic Sea Horses Get Heated Ride

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Tropical fish, riding in an electrically-heated tank-car truck, safely made the trip from Guaymas, Mexico, to be added to the Steinhardt Aquarium in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park.

Donald Simpson, who drove, said that although he struck snow at one point in Mexico and encountered cold weather all the way, all of the fish survived. Among many rare fish added to the aquarium were two sea horses, one red and one gold, more than three inches in length—the largest at the aquarium.

U. S. COULDN'T STAND COST OF NEW WAR, McLAIN SAYS

By William F. McMenamin
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Lt. Gen. R a y S. McLain estimates World War II has cost the United States $340,600,000,000 to date and in 25 years the cost will run up to more than $700,000,000,000.

"We just can't stand the expense of any more such wars," McLain said. "Neither can anyone else." His proposed solution is for the country to support a War Department proposal for universal military training, for which he is leading a campaign. He believes this would discourage future wars because it would give evidence to other powers that the United States is always ready to defend itself.

If war did come, he holds, it would shorten the duration of having trained men ready, instead of fighting a delaying action while we take two years to train them.

McLain said all the previous wars in our history cost less than one-fifth of the cost of World War II, and we have spent over $400,000,000,000 for war in our history.

World War II cost 10 times as much as World War I both in direct and continued costs. World War I cost $34,000,000,000 to fight. But by 1946 interest on the debt and veterans' benefits brought that cost up to $50,000,000,000, McLain said.

The Revolutionary War cost approximately $55,000,000, the War of 1812 cost $134,000,000 and the Mexican War $166,000,000, for a total cost of war up through 1860 of only $1,700,000,000.

The direct cost of the Civil War was $3,800,000,000, but the continuing cost raised that figure to $15,000,000,000, according to McLain.

"The cost of three days of war at the 1945 rate would support universal military training for a year," McLain said.

The estimated annual cost of universal military training is $1,000,000,000.

Gentle Spring Thoughts Stir Law Man's Breast

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UP)—W. A. Blackwell, director of field activities of the Kentucky Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, is anxious for the time of year to come when his men can search more diligently for bootleggers—the season when "the birds will be singing and the jonquills will be blooming."

Blackwell took note of the recent severe weather conditions in the state in a bulletin to his field representatives and observed that

Off To Moscow

Secretary of State George Marshall waves "goodbye" as he prepares to take off from National Airport, Washington to attend the Big Four Foreign Ministers' meeting in Moscow. (NEA Telephoto).

"shortly the weather will be better."

"The birds will be singing, the jonquills will be blooming," Blackwell added. "Then your pent-up energy will urge you to get out and work a little harder. You will want to go to the fields and woods to locate stills and meet the bootleggers in the alleys and buy from and arrest them. It will also be more bearable to stay on the road to watch for illegal transporters."

Nearly 20 billion pounds of steel will be required in the building of freight cars to replace the 600,000 cars which now are more than 25 years old, according to the American Railway Car Institute.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or steady periods with smarting and burning sometimes there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

With numerous medicines to combat your kidney trouble, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of appetite, nervousness, weakness, swollen face, headache and dizziness. Join RED CROSS Carries On!

The one emblem that commands respect and honor the world over is the revered Red Cross—symbol of humanity and the banner under which people of every race, religion and nationality may work together in creating international goodwill and universal peace.

The Red Cross has always faced two responsibilities—one of serving our armed forces, both at home and abroad, and the other in providing aid for stricken and unfortunate civilians. Now a third responsibility has been added—assistance, advice and counsel for returned veterans.

The American Red Cross has faithfully and efficiently carried on its work since its inception in 1864. No organization ever faced a greater task than did the Red Cross during World War II. The chapter to which you subscribe assumed its full share of this burden and covered itself with glory in carrying out its assignments.

Now, in peacetime, that work goes on. The need for aid for servicemen, veterans and civilians alike never ceases. The need for funds to continue this great work never ends. Give gladly to your Red Cross.

GIVE + — so your RED CROSS can carry on!

Engineers' Record 300 Below Zero

NEW YORK (UP) — Sub-zero temperatures, faced by the Byrd Expedition at Little America, and even the 81 degrees below recently recorded at Snag Airport, Canadian Yukon, are commonplace to engineers who deal daily with 300 degrees below zero.

"Measurement of temperature of the stratosphere by means of German V-2 rockets, for new oil refining, metals and other industrial processes, makes use of thermometers which cannot freeze," according to engineers of the Brown Instrument Co.

All liquids have a freezing point. Mercury freezes at about 40 below zero, different types of alcohol from 152 to 173 degrees below zero. As a result, engineers developed an instrument which they say will record accurately temperatures of 300 degrees below zero and over 3,500 degrees above. These instruments, used by industry, are usually electronic devices which record cold and heat with platinum and other metals instead of liquid. BUY U. S. SAVINGS BONDS

Advertisement by Joe Marsh. Text: 'From where I sit... by Joe Marsh A Definition of Our Town Somebody defined our town just the other day as "A place where the people talk about you behind your back, and come to wait on you when you're sick." I've got to admit there's something to it. A lot of our folks are inclined to be pretty outspoken and quick to criticize... even about little things, like a woman's hat, or a man's preference for a glass of beer, or the color of Cy Hartman's new barn. But when anyone's in trouble, those differences and points of criticism are forgotten... and folks become neighborly and helpful, like they really are. From where I sit, criticism never did much harm to anybody, so long as folks don't let it guide their actions... so long as they respect our individual preferences, whether they apply to hats or beer. That's the way it is in our town, anyway, and I hope that it's the same in yours. Joe Marsh Copyright, 1947, United States Brewers Foundation'.
