Russia To Get Sharp Protest On Coup

Well ...
G Dunno,
But ...

In the mail recently was a letter from Cpl. Bobby R. Eakin who says that his home town newspaper is a source of pleasure to him away over there in Japan.

He says that his old battalion, the 152nd Airborne Anti-Aircraft Bn. recently won the softball championship of Japan and that he has been moved from Hokkaido to Yamagata, Honshu, 500 miles south of his last station. Enroute he says he passed through some of the most beautiful country that he has ever seen.

He asked us to give his friends his new address and here it is: Cpl. Bobby R. Eakin 18269722, B Battery, 674th PRcht. F. A. Bn., APO 468-Unit 2, Care of P.M. San Francisco, California.

Thursday's livestock sale at the Ranger Livestock Commission Company's sale barn broke all records on sales with a turn over of nearly $60,000. That's a right good day's business.

A record crowd attended the sale to buy the 905 head sold, the most stock ever offered at one of the sales.

Crawford (Speedy) Buttrill who runs the GI flying school at the Ranger Airport, tells us that he's turned out another licensed pilot. He's Eugene Clemons, who earned his private license Thursday.

Like we've said before at the rate they are turning out plane pilots, the plane business sure should boom and air traffic increase. But there's one thing that it won't have to dodge: planes and we do automobiles.

V. V. Cooper, Sr., is having a birthday Monday and on Sunday his family is having an open house at the Cooper home for all his friends, far and near.

There's one thing about it though, Mr. Cooper won't tell us how old he'll be, so we'll have to wait and count the candles on the cake.

However, we do know that he's been around sometime, or he couldn't know practically everybody in the county. And he does that and further—more knows 'em well and loves to visit with 'em.

He asked us to be sure and let the people know about his party and to tell 'em to be sure and come.

Many Ranger people are planning nice trips for the summer and summer travel seems to be getting back to normal after the war years standstill. The J. E. Matthews family are now on a trip that will take them to Missouri, Virginia and New York. A long the route they will visit several colleges so that daughter, Anita, can decide which one she wants to attend.

Mrs. Susan Hunt has joined her sister, Mrs. Park Weaver of Ft. Worth and Mr. Weaver on a trip to New York. Enroute they will visit other places of interest.

Sunday Mrs. Harry Henry and daughter, Dorothy, Mrs. Fred Yonker and Mrs. Bill Doak of Waco will leave for a visit in New York. They'll be gone two weeks and Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Yonker will combine business with pleasure and do their fall marketing while up there. Enroute home Mrs. Yonker will stop in Pennsylvania for a visit with the late Mr. Yonker's sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Price Crawley are already in California where Price attended the international Jaycee convention and will make quite a vacation of it before returning home.

RESTRAINED

Frank Marcello is restrained by police officers from leaping at his brother-in-law, Frank Viana, during a coroner's inquest in Chicago. The inquest was held in connection with the fatal shooting of Viana's wife, who died as a result of bullet wounds allegedly inflicted by Viana during a quarrel over the custody of the family's two small children. JUDGE HEARD IN VOTE FRAUD INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON — A Kansas City federal judge said today he "probably would have suggested" further investigation of alleged vote frauds in Missouri's Democratic primary last summer if he had seen all the evidence collected by the FBI.

The judge, Albert L. Reeves, testified before a Senate judicial subcommittee which is investigating charges that the justice department failed to look into alleged frauds in President Truman's home county with sufficient vigor.

Reeves and two other judges, John Caskie Collett and Albert A. Ridge, ruled that the FBI data presented to them did not warrant a federal grand jury probe.

An earlier witness told the subcommittee that the data submitted to the judges was "not complete." He said it was just a synopsis.

Subcommittee chairman, Homer Ferguson, R., Mich., asked Reeves if testimony he heard of "would have changed your mind."

"I probably would have suggested a further investigation," the judge replied.

Reeves, the other judges, and U. S. District Attorney, Sam Wear of Kansas City, were summoned before the committee to tell why no grand jury investigation was ordered.

Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev., had accused Sen. Homer Ferguson, R., Mich., of "appearing the press" in his conduct of the hearing.

McCarran quarreled repeatedly with Ferguson as a witness read to the subcommittee affidavits by persons who said they were deprived of voting rights in the primary.

Ferguson at one point said evidence collected by the Kansas City Star indicated "bribery" of voters. McCarran snapped that "the chair is passing evidence" and added "it sounds to me like appeasing the press."

The subcommittee chairman stared at McCarran. After a long moment of silence, he said—"I won't comment on that. The witness will proceed."

Army Security Agency Needs Qualified Men

The Army Security Agency, a part of the Signal Corps and military intelligence, is now open for direct enlistment from civilian status, it was announced today by Sgt. James Hendrick, of the Eastland Army Recruiting Station.

This should be of special interest to high school graduates as it affords excellent training in a highly important job. Promotion opportunities are better than in most branches of the service.

Individuals with Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard Service may be enlisted in a grade higher than private depending on their prior training and experience.

Men with no prior service will be processed in a normal recruit manner. Upon completion of processing and recruit training the individuals will be transferred to the Army Security Agency School, Vint Hill Farm Station, Warrington, Virginia.

All persons assigned to ASA must be cleared through regulations on Cryptographic duty and subsequent security regulations.

Anyone interested in this highly important work for the national security are advised to contact the Army Recruiting Station, located in the Eastland County Court House, as soon as possible.

M. L. KING NEW LIONS PRESIDENT

M. L. King was elected president of the Ranger Lions Club at the annual election held Thursday at noon in the Blue Room of the Gholsom Hotel.

Nicol Crawford was named first vice-president; Howard Oliver, second vice-president and R. B. Thomas, Jr., third vice-president. Price Crawley is the new Lion tamer and F. P. Brashier, Jr., tall twister, Joe Nuesse and C.E. May Jr., were named to the board of directors.

Mr. King was also elected delegate to attend the International convention in Los Angeles in July.

J. E. T. Peters of Dallas, formerly of Ranger, was the guest of R. V. Galloway at the meeting and made a brief talk citing some of his memories of the days when he was manager of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce in 1920 and when he was principal of the high school back in 1898. He was also at one time justice of the peace during the boom days.

J. A. Knox, retiring president, presided at the meeting Thursday.

INTERVENTION OF UN MAY BE REQUESTED BY UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON — President Truman has approved a sharp note to Russia protesting the Soviet coup in Hungary and stating that the action may be submitted to the United Nations, it was learned today.

The note was drafted by the state department. Diplomatic officials expected the note to be dispatched "soon."

The suggestion in the proposed note that the United States may ask for UN intervention was reported by the diplomatic officials to be dependent on whether Russia gives a "satisfactory reply" about her actions in Hungary.

The Hungarian minister in Washington also asked for United Nations action in the Soviet coup. The envoy, Aladar Segegy-Maszak, said Hungary's only hope to escape from Soviet domination rested with the UN.

The minister was one of 12 members of the Hungarian legation here who refused to transfer their loyalties to the new Soviet backed Hungarian government.

Diplomatic officials said that while the new note is "sharply worded," it is not as blunt as President Truman's denouncement yesterday that the Soviet coup was a terrible outrage.

Russia rejected two earlier U. S. notes with the suggestion that it is the United States which is interfering in Hungary.

REID HUNTER GETS DEGREE AT U. S. NAVAL ACADEMY

Today at 11:00 a. m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, H. Reid Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hunter of 505 Elm street, received his commission as Ensign in the United States Navy and the Bachelor of Science Degree from the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland. Ensign Hunter is the first Rangerite ever to receive the commission and degree from the United States Naval Academy. He was sworn into the Navy on June 14, 1944, and entered the Naval Academy as appointee of former Congressman Sam Russell, after having made the highest grade on competitive examination in the Seventeenth district of Texas in September, 1943.

In June of 1945, Congress ruled that the Naval Academy classes return to the peace time basis of four years but permitted the upper half of the Class of 1948, scholastically speaking, to be graduated on a wartime schedule in 1947 and be known as the Class of 1948 A. Mr. Hunter is a member of the class.

Seventeen other Texans were in the class.

He was graduated from Hodges

Oak Park grammar school in 1938 as Valedictorian of his class and was also Valedictorian of the Class of 1942 of Ranger High School. In June of 1942 he entered Baylor University, still maintaining a high scholastic average, and in less than two years became a junior. In Baylor he belonged to the first families of Baylor, the Baylor Chamber of Commerce, and the tennis team and was civilian instructor in tennis for the army classes and student assistant in physical education.

These from Ranger attending the June week activities of the Naval Academy are Mr. Hunter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hunter, and Myrl Squires, student of the School of Government of the George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Hunter will return to Ranger with his parents for a leave and then will report to U. S. S. Destroyer Keyes. He has been assigned for duty in the Pacific.

Believed Dead, Woman At Cisco Comes To Life

This is a story about a woman who died and came to life again—or did she?

Thursday morning Cisco officials called the County sheriff's office at Eastland and said that a woman Cisco police had picked up on the streets on a vagrancy charge, had taken some form of powder which she had snorted on her person and which the officers, failed to find when they searched her, and had died after being rushed to a hospital.

Cecil Graham, office deputy at the sheriff's office, advised the Cisco caller to call a coroner and that someone from the sheriff's office would come over.

Twenty or thirty minutes after the first call another call came from the Cisco officer who stated first thought and was being revived.

Graham said the woman, a dope addict, had been released by the authorities of a state institution where she had been confined, and had been staying with relatives and friends. She told officers that she took the drug, that since her "buddy" was killed in a car accident a short time ago, there was nothing for her to live for and she would be better off dead.

Officers were not sure this morning what disposition would be made of the woman, whether she would be turned loose or returned to a state institution.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—Effort to change U. S. international aviation policy—substituting a single, U. S. flag "chosen instrument" airline in place of regulated competition among the 13 U. S. companies now certificated for overseas flying—represents one of the biggest subsidy grabs ever attempted in Washington.

As disclosed by Civil Aeronautics Board Chairman James M. Landis in testimony before the House Interstate Commerce Committee five—really seven subsidies—are now being sought for this proposed super-dooper airline, topped by a guarantee of 10 per cent profits no matter how bad its service might become or how much it worked against the national interest.

Two bills to create a joint international aviation company, owned by the U. S. airlines, railroads and steamship companies, are now before Congress. They were introduced by Rep. Carl Hinshaw of California in the House, by Senators Owen Brewster of Maine, Pat McCarran of Nevada, and others in the Senate. Pan American Airways is the only U. S. company supporting this legislation. All the other airlines, the President's Air Co-ordinating Committee, State and Commerce Departments are opposing it.

SUBSIDIES which this legislation would provide are these:

- 1. A construction subsidy. If foreign plane manufacturers could build airplanes cheaper than U. S. manufacturers, the government would have to pay the American flag line the difference out of the U. S. treasury.
2. An operating subsidy. If foreign airlines, with cheaper labor, could operate planes and ground crews for less than the American line, the government would pay the difference.
3. An obsolete equipment purchase subsidy. If U. S.-made planes became outmoded—that is, if American manufactured four-engine propeller-driven planes should have to be replaced by British jet-driven planes—the U. S. government would be obligated to take the old planes off the U. S. flag line's hands.
4. A national interest subsidy. On routes that did not take in enough revenue to cover costs of operation, the government would have to make up the difference if it was considered in the national interest to keep this route going against foreign competition.
5. A foreign subsidy offset subsidy. If a foreign government paid its airline a subsidy, the U. S. government would be required to match the foreign subsidy so as to keep the U. S. flag line in business on an even basis. This could lead to an international subsidy race.
6. A national defense feature subsidy. This could cover a number of things: Building of airports at strategic locations for the peacetime use of the U. S. flag line, maintaining a fleet of transport planes which could be operated by the U. S. flag line as a contract carrier for the armed services.
7. International mail pay subsidy. The U. S. government would be required to pay for carriage of the mail, in addition to guaranteeing the U. S. flag line against other losses.

IN summing up his testimony on this proposed legislation, Chairman Landis declared that it "goes even further than the establishment of a monopoly in destroying all incentives; it even destroys the profit motive itself. . . . The carrier can operate almost without regard to its success in keeping costs low and in attracting patronage. The management will be little concerned with actual airline operations; its main function will be to see that the maximum take is developed from the public treasury."
The Civil Aeronautics Board's contention today is that its present policy of regulated competition, called for by the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, is working and that there is enough traffic in sight to enable all U. S. competing airlines to show a profit without all the heavy subsidies considered necessary for the proposed single, "chosen instrument" carrier.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—That yarn about the Cardinals threatening to strike because of the presence of Jackie Robinson in the Brooklyn lineup was highly exclusive. To such an extent, as a matter of fact, that it must have been the result of a phony tip that wasn't investigated before it was put into print.

Why drag the Red Birds or any other outfit into it? The St. Louis club, especially, for the blokes in the red blazers have enough troubles of their own at the moment.

Any opposition to Robinson in Brooklyn begins at home. It is for the first time revealed that, while the Dodgers were fighting the Cards for the pennant last fall and desperate for a third baseman, Branch Rickey wanted to bring Robinson in from Montreal, where he was leading the International League in batting.

The Superbas took a vote, decided that they would rather lose without Robinson than win with him.

THAT there was violent objection to Robinson in the Havana training camp this spring was no secret. That is why the UCLA alum was transferred from the Montreal to the Brooklyn roster at the last minute.

Robinson's rise easily could be reason why Dixie Walker was named the Brooks' manager. Leo Durocher was suspended. The Peep's Cherce seemed to be the logical selection, and

OLDEST BILLPOSTER RUNS 1-MAN BUSINESS

HANCOCK, Mich. (UP)—The oldest active billposter in the Middle West still is on the job. He's Frank Wagner, 75, owner and manager of the Hancock branch of the Outdoor Advertising

Company. Wagner is a one-man concern. He mixes his own paste, drives the truck, posts the paper, builds and repairs the display boards and even does the book-keeping. He owns more than 100 boards in seven Houghton County towns. Lean, lanky and spry, Wagner can cover a dozen billboards in a morning, barring bad winds and excessive scraping of old paper. He never pauses once he starts until the poster is completed.

Fifteen Miles Army Dam Curb Fresno Floods

FRESNO, Cal. (UP)—Nearly 15 miles of earth-filled dams and levees are being erected in the fields northwest of Fresno to prevent repetition of destructive floods which struck the area during past winter seasons.

Army engineers are building the dams in the area known as the Dry Creek Basin, which is fed mainly by three streams and numerous smaller tributaries. Floods caused by the streams in the past cost citizens thousands of dollars in damages to their homes, roads and land.

The main dam will be about 500 feet in width and will reach a maximum of 46 feet in height. The dams are intended strictly for flood control with no irrigation or power features incorporated.

THE STORY: After a lifetime of drifting in the world, the great actress Sophie van Erik comes home to the little Maine coast town where she was born. Widowed by an international banker, she had lived comfortably on the Riviera until the war. In her party are Victoria Perkins, her grand-daughter, Marcel Perzault, an elderly Frenchman who is her portrait painter, and Sir Charles Madden, her butler. Sophie has bought the old Peabody house on exclusive Route Neck point. Godfrey Mansbridge, who is living in an old actor's home, is on her conscience. She writes offering him a home and he accepts. She tells Marie and Sir Charles. The two men, who hate Godfrey, exchange a despairing look.

XI
"WHEN does he come?" asked Marcel.
"In a few days. I suppose I should have told you sooner, but I dressed it so."
Marcel began taking his easel down. "Whoever meets him at the train cars takes me to the station. The train which brings him also carries me away."
"Isn't he hasty?" said Sir Charles. "That train's going north. You surely don't want to go where it's colder, even to escape Godfrey?"
"Then I take it on its way back."
Sophie stood in the window, wringing her hands. "Marcel! What are you thinking of? You mustn't go, after all these years! You stuck with me before, all the time Godfrey and I—" She stopped abruptly in order not to turn the knife in the wound and said, "Sir Charles, we can put him in the back room on this floor."
"Can he have my room?" said Marcel.
"Please, Marcel," she begged. "Please, there's no need for that. I was afraid you'd take it this way. There's plenty of room for everybody."
"MY room will be empty as soon as I am packed again," Marcel said stubbornly. He bustled about, freely to live with us is carrying an old dislike too far. He must be made to reconsider."

"I doubt very much that he will leave," Sir Charles said frigidly. "After all, he has threatened to do so before."
"Twice," said Sophie. "But someday he might, and I could never rest if he were wandering on the face of the earth homeless and old, a man who has dedicated his whole life to me—"

"YOUR heart is as big as the world, Sophie, and in Marcel's case I believe your sentiments to be noble and altogether admirable. But Godfrey has not dedicated his life to you. We all know what he did to you, the dastardly—"
She laid a hand on his arm. "It was all so long ago, nothing like that matters now. Never mind. Let us not hold grudges." She pleaded with a gentle pressure of her fingers. "Marcel must be made to reconsider. Will you help me? Please!"

He struggled with himself for a long moment and then said stiffly, "Very well."
She relaxed, sighing in relief. "Ah! Then in the morning you will get the south room ready for Godfrey."
"Sir Charles," Sophie began, "I am appealing to you for your help as a friend. Regardless of your personal feeling for Godfrey—and I suppose you have a right to like or dislike whom you choose—you are in my house in your capacity as butler and as such are obliged to accept my guests with the best grace you can. But I need your help as a friend with Marcel. For some reason he never liked Godfrey, but this decision to leave just because I have invited God-

TIME ERASING INVASION SCARS ON UTAH BEACH

By W. J. Boyle
United Press Staff Correspondent
STE. MERE EGLISE, France, June 5 (UP)—The thin, bright-white sand blows gently today, deeper and deeper, over the pill-boxes on Utah Beach. It is just three years ago that the allied invasion forces landed, on June 6, 1944.

High on the center hill of what was once the Normandy town of Sant Lo, a children's carousel scatters its high, thin music, mingled with the childish laughter, through the piles of granite blocks which once were houses.

On the main road to Arromanches, near the scene of the now famous "break-through" by American armies, two machines of war and one of peace are intermingled in a scene which illustrates how the war has begun to slip into the memory of Normandy. Standing against a high bank by this much traveled road, almost unnoticed, are three German anti-tank guns and a farmer's huge wheeled hayrake. Their wheels are all aligned and the muzzles of the guns parallel the wooden shafts of the hayrake as they nuzzle into the rich Normandy grass.

There are many scars of the fighting which raged from the beaches of Utah and Omaha.

Not all the wreckage is gone from Omaha, where the Seventh Army Corps landed. In the center of the beach two broken hulks of ships lie—a transport and a tanker. Their backs are broken and they lie bare and battered at low tide. On each end of the beach there are "graveyards" and hulks so stripped it is now not possible to make out their original use. A mere fraction of the wreckage which once covered the broad yellow sands of this beach is still there, however.

Do You Have Frequent Headaches?
Persons afflicted with "eye-caused headaches" are often surprised to find out how quickly properly fitted glasses relieve this distress. All headaches are not caused by eyestrain—but a great many of them are, and this is particularly true of headaches which closely follow reading, studying, book-keeping, card playing or an evening at the movies.

All of this will remain as it is—a "memorial." The beaches and the scene of the artificial ports—"mulberry" in the parlance of the invasion—have been declared state property by the French government.

To mark forever the opening scene of the liberation of Europe, the French government will place barbed wire guards around old shell-battered chateaux. They will bring German guns and tanks from inland depots and plants to re-mark the "Atlantic Wall" of Hitler. Today that vaulted "wall" is scarred and marked by footpaths worn into the sod by sightseers and visitors. The walls of the forts and pill-boxes which were to stop the allies are marked with initials of thousands of GI's and visitors.

HELPS KIDNEYS

Remove Harmful Impurities
Backache, loss of the old pep, getting up nights, and headache are often caused by nothing more than improper kidney action due to excess acid in the urine. The kidneys are one of Nature's ways of removing impurities from the blood. And when these impurities back up, trouble may start.
So if you have these troubles, give your kidneys and bladder a good flushing out by taking Dr. Kline's Swamp-Root. It works on the kidneys to flush them out . . . increasing the flow of urine to help relieve that excess acidity and ease that burning sensation when you pass water . . . helps that bladder irritation that makes you get up nights.
Made of 15 herbs, roots, vegetables, and balsams, Swamp-Root is absolutely non-habit forming. Millions have taken it for three generations . . . often with wonderful results. Caution: take as directed.
For free trial supply, send to Dept. X, Kline & Co., Inc., Box 1345, Stamford, Conn. Or—get full-sized bottle of Swamp-Root today at your druggist.

annual dinner of the Yakima Valley anglers and hunters club. His story:
"Dan MacDonald was telling me about a hunting trip to Canada, when it was almost too cold to survive. One bitter day he spotted a fine, 12-point deer. He shot and scored a direct hit, but the deer leaped over a cliff and disappeared. When Dan looked over the cliff he saw the deer frozen in the air half-way down. It was so darn cold the law of gravity froze, too?"

POULTRY, EGG SHIPMENTS FALL OF

AUSTIN, Texas Rail shipments of poultry and eggs from Texas stations slumped from March to April to remain below the April 1946 level, The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.
Shipments of chickens sagged 24 per cent for the month and 12 per cent for the year to total only 8 carloads. Turkey shipments reversed the general trend to rise 20 per cent over March but slid 80 per cent below April 1946 shipments.

Egg shipments showed a 4 per cent March-to-April hike but fell 58 per cent during the year. Shell eggs remained steady during the month, shipments of frozen eggs rose 22 per cent and shipments of dried eggs declined 4 per cent. All were well under the April 1946 totals.

Intrastate receipts of eggs by rail at Texas stations soared 400 per cent for the month to recover the sharp losses incurred in March. However, receipts remained 80 per cent below April 1946 receipts.

Somewhat Like a Precious Heirloom—
. . . an abstract may, or may not, be used and appreciated as much as some other possessions we have. But it never becomes obsolete, and its value increases as time goes on. Unlike the heirloom, the abstract is not a rarity as most owners of real estate have abstracts. It is now almost impossible to sell a piece of real estate without an abstract. Cement Production Up
AUSTIN, Tex. (UP) — Cement production chalked up a 10 per cent February-to-March hike to stand one per cent above March, 1946, production. A University of Texas Bureau of Business Research report states the increase failed to come up to expected gains, bringing the seasonally-adjusted index down 10 per cent.

FRENCH LABOR HITS BLOW AT IDLE ZAZOUS

By David A. Loehwing
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS (UP)—Constantly a thorn in the side of the Germans during the occupation, France's "zazous" have now become the chief propaganda target of the communist-controlled labor unions.

The war-time zazou movement was a rebellion against the militant German work program. Young French blades showed their contempt for the occupants by adopting an extreme version of the American zoot-saulter's costume, speaking as much English as they knew, dancing to American jazz, and spurning all useful labor.

The communists now earnestly engaged in winning France's post-war battle of production, claim there is no further point in the rebellion.

They want the zazous put to work. During the recent big-scale demonstrations of French labor, manufacturers carried placards and shouted the slogans, "Les Zazous au Travail" (Zazous to Work) and "Les Oisifs au Boulot" (Loafers to Work).

A spokesman for the General Labor Confederation (CGT) told the United Press it is estimated there are still at least 10,000 "zazous and oisifs" of both sexes in Paris and other metropolitan centers. He said:

"They include the sons and daughters of wealthy parents who do not have to earn their living as well as large numbers of young people who would have worked before the war but, who are now unable to find easier and more lucrative ways of earning a living."

"They are the black market operators, prostitutes, smugglers, and procurers you see around the streets of Montmartre. They include the Arabs peddling cigarettes on the street corners and the jitterbugs in the juke box joints."

"They cry to put these parasites to work has come spontaneously from France's laborers who see them loafing around in their fancy clothes, spending money in the night clubs."

The CGT spokesman admitted the organization had no concrete program for putting the zazous to work and denied it is advocating forced labor.

"For my part," he said bitterly, "it wouldn't hurt me at all to see these people herded into labor camps. Freedom is relative and doesn't extend to living off the work of your fellow men. But, of course, we don't seek any such extreme measures."

To tell you the truth, the campaign against zazous was

DDT Concentrate Devised For Cattle

CLEVELAND (UP) — Development of an improved DDT emulsion concentrate for cattle and livestock, substantially lowering the cost of treating herds to the point where it will be available to hundreds of thousands of smaller farm operators and cattle raisers, was announced by the Sherwin-Williams Co. here.

The company's chemists describe the improved DDT emulsion as a 25 per cent concentrate easily mixable with water. It can be applied without power-driven spray equipment, they said.

The chemists said the new concentrate has been proven by exhaustive research to be one of the most efficient agents yet found for combating horn, house and stable flies, lice and other farm-menace parasites.

Pipe-Carving Hobby Turns Into Business

VALLEY CITY, N.D. (UP) — Allison J. Seymour, a former army major, has turned a service hobby into a thriving business.

He found pipe-carving a pleasant pastime, and his fellow officers begged for a chance to buy the pipes. When he packed away his uniforms, he had orders for 150 custom-built pipes.

And he had briar, brought from Algeria. So he opened a small "factory" in the basement of his home. And no matter how fast he works, he can't meet the demand.
