Floods Drive 3,000 More From Homes

Well... I Dunno, But...

You know, we hear a lot of people talking about working over congressmen and executives and we know what they mean. But we're wondering if the "working over" shouldn't begin at home. In the United States we're still free to elect whom we please and if the voters would take more interest in who goes into office, we might get better results.

It's the public's American given right to cuss those in office, but if we told the guy that's in office what we think's wrong instead of just mouthing generally about it, he might be able to do something about the wrongs.

Very few times in our life have we ever written or wired a congressman or state legislator, asking that something be done. How does he know what the people he represents want, if they don't tell him?

Constructive criticism is healthy and there are some people (some, you notice we say) who can talk it, and a fellow has no business getting into politics if he can't take both constructive and destructive criticism. But there's no place in progress for just plain "knocking".

And it's our observation that the knockers aren't the doers. Oh, here we go again, sickening our neck out!

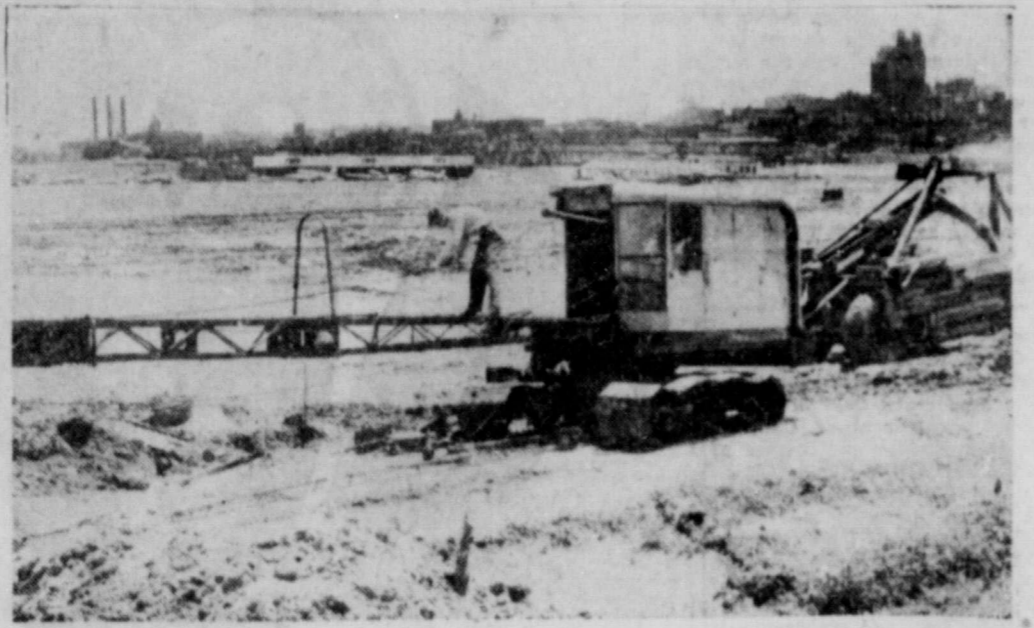

Our proof reader, incidentally our daughter, called our hand the other day on a word that we used. She said that there wasn't any such word. We agreed but claimed the right to coin one if we choose.

So this morning we found justification of that contention in the mail. Funk and Waggonals admits that sports have coined six new words in the past five years. Now if we want to add ONE in a LIFE TIME, we guess it's ok.

The six new words are: from football, the use of football in a political sense; from horse racing, nose, a verb; from hockey, puck; from marbles, two, as a verb and from racing and horseshoe pitching, cat's cradle and ringer.

We believe that another flower show might be in order. The reason—Mrs. Joe Dennis could probably put on one all by herself. Wednesday afternoon the girls in the office were showered with gifts from her garden and the yellow dahlias that she brought measured nine inches across. Along with the dahlias were perfect specimens of salmon pink gladioluses, also out of her garden.

Raise Dikes To Protect Airport

With the nearby Missouri river expected to crest above 27.5 feet, Army engineers endeavor to make the Kansas City Municipal airport safe by raising the dike from 30 to 32 feet. This crane is used to scoop sand to heighten the dike. An airport hangar and planes are in the left background and part of the downtown Kansas City skyline is at right. (NEA Telephoto).

SAYS TRANSFER OF STUDENTS NOW IN ORDER

Dr. G. C. Boswell, superintendent of Ranger schools has issued the following statement relative to transferring students.

"Transfer time has come, and to those who desire to send children from other districts to the Ranger Public Schools we insist that the parent make the transfer as soon as possible.

The child is the most important factor in the school system. The type of school it attends will reflect in after life. We are going to stress hand, voice, home making, agriculture, and athletics along with the solid subjects. We are offering another year in the high school Latin. In fact we are attempting to make the schools more rigid, and to give the youth the necessary things in education to help youth find its place in society.

The education of a child cannot be put off. The right time to offer the child educational advantages is now, for the child is a growing institution and growth will not stop, and certainly should not be hampered in an educational way.

We expect to delve deep in the extra curricular field another year. Debate, public speaking, drama, and other things that will produce and arouse the curiosity of the child to bigger and better things in life should come from extra curricular work along with the regular class room activities.

The buildings and class rooms will be in better condition, and will furnish a more wholesome atmosphere for study and recreation.

Therefore, if you are interested in your child having the type of training that we are expecting to give the students another year we welcome your patronage.

The public school is for general use. It should provide several lanes for traffic movement in an educational way. It should be a work shop for the diffusion of knowledge in a wholesome atmosphere, giving the student every thing it needs for advancement."

PRESIDENT VETOES WOOL BILL

WASHINGTON — President Truman today vetoed the wool price support bill with the declaration that tariff-boosting provisions in the measure "would be a blow to our leadership in world affairs."

It appeared likely that Congress would sustain the veto. The President said enactment of the bill over his veto would be "a tragic mistake."

The administration opposed the bill from the start on the grounds that its authorization of import restrictions on foreign wool might jeopardize this country's efforts to persuade other countries, in the interests of world economic peace, to lower their barriers against trade.

IOWA GETS WORST FLOOD IN 44 YEARS

New flood crests rolling down the rivers of Missouri and Iowa drove almost 3,000 persons from their homes and covered some sections of Des Moines with three feet of swirling water. It was the Iowa capitals worst flood in 44 years.

Meanwhile, the Red Cross announced it had sheltered 25,899 persons driven from their homes by flood waters which have inundated the productive farmlands of four midwestern states during the last month.

In Missouri, the fifth crest this month was moving down the Missouri river. Two levees broke, adding 5,000 acres to the 1,000,000 already flooded by the "Big Muddy," which was 10 miles out of its banks in spots.

At Des Moines, hundreds of volunteers, city workers, naval reservists and coast guardsmen sand-bagged levees to hold back the surging waters.

Daily production losses were estimated at more than 1,000,000 tons, or about half the national output.

The National Coal Association estimated 250,000 miners were idled by the walkouts that began Monday immediately after passage of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Undaunted By More Reptiles Snakebite, Wants

KENNER, La. (UP)—Gerald Torlt, Louisiana's snake master, is still in the market for moecasins, harmless or poisonous, in unlimited quantities.

Torlt, who owns the "Jungle Snake Farm" on the Air-Line highway about 10 miles north of New Orleans, needs the snakes because he has a contract with a Chicago pharmaceutical concern for four ounces of raw snake venom daily.

The herpetologist was bitten by a cottonmouth moecasin during a lecture on snakes to about 200 New Orleans school children last month. He extracted the broken fang and continued his lecture, but later was forced to lance a swollen muscle.

Now fully recovered, Torlt said he would open his snake farm for summer tourists and nature lovers as soon as he receives a shipment of cobras, corals, cottonmouths, and boa constrictors.

She's Nearing 101 But Likes Fast Driving

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UP)—Mrs. Jennie Gilmore says she would like to celebrate her 101st birthday in September with a "long, fast car ride."

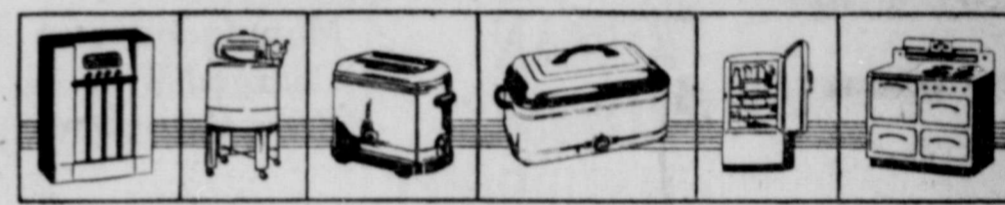

Returning from a 3,400-mile auto jaunt to California, Mrs. Gilmore said: "I had a delightful time. In fact, I enjoyed every minute of it except when we had to slow down at times."

Chester Hedges, 54, her grandson, who drove, said Mrs. Gilmore complained only when he dropped the speed down to 40 or 50 miles an hour on the long stretches of desert road.

"She likes to travel at around 70," he said.

Crazy Hat Wins Refrigerator!

One of those "Breakfast in the morning" radio shows came to Capital City last week, and Sarah Carey won first prize for wearing the craziest hat in the audience. It was a full-sized refrigerator! (The prize, not the hat.)

"Glad them hats of hers paid off at last," says Ed, treating the whole thing like a joke. But you could see he was proud of Sarah.

From where I sit, there's another thing Ed can be proud of: the way he's put up with those hats of Sarah's, with never a criticism; just as she's put up with Ed's pipe and the other little freedoms he enjoys.

They've got that refrigerator home now, stocked with beer; and we're going over tonight to drink a toast—not just to Sarah's hats taking first prize... but to a happily married couple, who've learned to live with one another's differences in taste—whether it's a taste for hats or beer!

Two New Bells Complete Set Rung In 1776

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The set of bells that rang out when the Liberty Bell sounded American independence on July 4, 1776, is now complete.

Two additional bells were dedicated at famous Old Christ Church, joining the eight other historic ones brought to this country from England in 1754. The two new bells completed the beffy set needed to play all bell and hymnal music.

The additions were made in part from enemy material captured in World War II, provided by the U. S. Army Ordnance at Edgewood Arsenal on orders from President Truman.

WHALING DAY OVER, OLD PORT OBSERVES 100TH ANNIVERSARY

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (UP)—This historic port, once the home of a now-vanished New England whaling fleet, will go back a century in spirit on Sunday, June 29, when it opens a week-long celebration of the 100th anniversary of the city's incorporation.

Today a thriving textile manufacturing center of 115,000, the city is paying tribute to the 15,000 inhabitants of tiny Bedford Village who in 1847 named their maritime community New Bedford.

Parades, pageants and historical exhibitions, climaxed by a big street procession July 4, will trace the evolution of the city from Quakers from Cape Cod and Rhode Island laid out their farms within earshot of the Atlantic's surf.

When the Revolutionary War broke out, Bedford Village was already a shipbuilding and whaling port. Its busy harbor, a rendezvous for American privateers, was the scene of the first naval engagement between the British and the Colonials.

Incensed when the Americans seized two sloops, the British invaded the town and destroyed parts of it.

By the end of the War of 1812, Bedford Village had captured the whaling leadership from Nantucket.

In the house obtained extensions on their eviction notices. Guzowski, meanwhile, was forced to move from the house he'd been occupying.

So he and 12 relatives, including five children, put up an army tent on his newly-acquired property and set up housekeeping.

Fight To Save Historic Ill. Market House

GALENA, Ill. (UP)—Galena citizens are waging a campaign to save the city's ancient market house where slaves were once sold at auction and Ulysses S. Grant bartered for hogs.

Architects describe the building as one of the finest examples of class design in the Midwest. The market house stands on the Mississippi River levee. Its brick walls are deteriorating and the building has fallen into disuse.

At one time it was the scene of colorful activity as housewives and tradespeople bargained over produce. A "flying" staircase led to the second floor city council chambers and in adjoining cells, prisoners gazed from barred windows.

For the coming week's celebration, New Bedford has invited state and national dignitaries, including Gov. Robert F. Bradford of Massachusetts. The city's 25,000 textile workers will be on vacation, and many other industries will be closed for the anniversary.

RUBBER COATING DEvised TO PRESERVE NAVY SHIPS

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Scientists at Mellon Institute, heart of the nation's industrial research, spent more than $7,000 a day during the last year developing new

"servants" for manufacturers and housewives.

The institute's director, Dr. E. R. Weidlein, in an annual report to the board of trustees, said $2,897,982 had been invested in experiments during the year.

His report covered a wide range of research activity, stretching from atomic energy in the petroleum industry to longer-wearing nylon stockings.

Much progress also was made in the field of synthetics, particularly synthetic rubber.

One of the hopes of the institute was to make synthetic rubber spread like lacquer to seal materials against rust and wear. Weidlein said the process already is in use "mothproofing" the navy's re-

KANSAS Rich in Coal LAWRENCE, Kan. (UP) — Kansas, principally an agricultural state, has proved minable coal reserves of nearly a billion tons, says a report by the state geological survey at the University of Kansas.

Back to the Farm CHICAGO (UP) — Two hundred city girls from Chicago public schools will do outdoor farmwork in northern Illinois this summer. They will detassel corn for a two-week period in late July and early August. The girls, 15 and older, will be housed in dormitories near the farms.

The institute believes this protective coating will be used some day to prolong the life of steel condensers, boiler tubing and hot water tanks in homes.

Included in the long list of developments during the year were synthetic wood and brake fluid, artificial castor oil for linoleum and oilcloth, and artificial animal bones.

Weidlein said the aim of the institute was to simplify plant operations, increase production and lower prices of the finished synthetic product.

Highly successful achievements also were noted in the field of plastics.

Weidlein disclosed the use of clay as a chemical in the production of plastics. This new plastic, especially applicable as insulation against electricity, is acid resistant, water shedding and withstands high temperatures.

The institute said another "very important" step was taken in the development of a new plastic called "polystyrene." Now under production at the Kobuta, Pa., plant of Koppers, Inc., the new plastic is considered tough enough to use in building construction.

ARTIFICIAL GULLETS CREATED TO SAVE THROAT VICTIMS

By Walter Cronkite

United Press Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW (UP) — Soviet surgeons are now creating artificial gullets to save the lives of those whose vital passage from throat to stomach has been blocked by accident or disease, according to a report to the Pirogov Surgical Society in Leningrad.

Prof. Sergei S. Yudin, who developed the difficult technique several years ago, reported triumphantly to his colleagues that 270 artificial esophagus operations have been performed and that he now has so perfected the complex process it can be completed in two weeks.

Prior to Yudin's technique, patients whose esophagus was blocked or destroyed by burns from accidental poisoning by acids or alkalis, or by cancer or other tumors, were fed through tubes inserted directly in the stomach. They usually were bed-ridden for the duration of their lives.

According to his report, Yudin's operation enables them to eat normally within one week.

Yudin creates an artificial esophagus by first removing the end of the small intestine. Then he "drills" a tunnel from the abdomen to the neck with the help of special instruments he has developed. To the upper end of this tunnel he attaches the small intestine, joining it, through a small incision in the neck, with the patient's throat. He calls this the creation of a co-organ.

Of the 250 operations Yudin's school has performed, 140 have taken place in the last few years since the perfection of the technique.

"Seventy have led to the creation of an irreproachable and fully functioning artificial esophagus which replaces the normal one," the newspaper Leningrad Pravda said in reporting Yudin's Surgical Society appearance.

"The results obtained on many other patients were also sufficiently satisfactory."

SUSIE IN EXILE AFTER SNAKE BITING ACT

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N.Y. (UP)—Susie, an ordinarily mild-mannered raccoon, had a tantrum when the housing shortage forced her out of her private cage at the Trilside Museum here.

She bit off the heads of nine of the museum's best snakes. Susie's cage had running water, a luxury which 'coons appreciate. She was ousted, however, to make room for two bear cubs and was left to shift for herself.

Susie set up housekeeping in a hollow log. Next morning the museum keeper found nine of 11 blacksnakes in an outdoor pit were dead. Susie was taken eight miles away from the museum and placed in a swampy area, where museum officials hoped she would be happy.

ACCENT'S ON YOUTH AS TOWN ELECTS BOY MAYOR

KENT, Wash. (UP)—Probably the youngest mayor in the United States was inaugurated in this Pacific Northwest town of 3,400 with 2 1/2-year old Dave Mooney, ex-army corporal, took office.

In a campaign promising aggressive leadership and a Mayor Mooney defeated his nearest rival by a substantial margin. Chief interest for the "boy mayor" in his new capacity will be the problem of juvenile delinquency. Mooney has worked with youngsters since graduation from high school in 1941, trying to keep them out of trouble.

"Now I'll be able to do something about it officials," Mooney said. Seven playgrounds will be operated by the Kent Co-ordinating Council next summer Mooney said. Plans are underway for the construction of a $100,000 community center as a "living war memorial."

Oddly enough, the day Mayor Mooney took office happened to be the traditional day for high school students to take over city hall reins. Hardly had Mooney taken the chair when he had to turn over the office to 17 year old Glenn Armstrong. But 24 hours later authority was once more in the hands of the "elder" chief.

Mooney was born in Kent in 1923 and lived there all his life until entering the army in 1943. After 14 months service, he spent one year as patrolman for the Washington State patrol.

Since mayoring is not a fulltime job in Kent, Mooney expects to continue operation of his sand-and-gravel hauling business, and his duties as a volunteer fireman.

Kent citizens are justly proud of their young mayor, and, as shown by the full confidence election vote, are ready to stand back of him in his new responsibility.

Still happy, Mayor Mooney is said to be one of the most eligible bachelors in Kent. In this connection, Mooney said, "I'm not ready to settle down yet; I've got too much to do."

IN MEMORIAM

Donald Edgar Ward

He would not want the ones he loves

To grieve for him today,
We must not say that he is dead.

For he is just away—

Away upon a journey to a land that's bright and fair,
And though we all will miss him here

We know he's happy there—
And memories of him will bring—

New comfort every day

As we recall—he is not dead

For he is just away.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Anderson have extended invitations to their friends to visit them between 3 and 6 o'clock Friday at their home when they'll be celebrating their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Though they've been married 50 years, they're still sentimental about it and when their children wanted them to wait until Sunday to have the open house, they balked. They wanted to have it on the day they were married and they won.

Don't forget that meeting at Alameda Friday night. Those who plan to go are asked to meet at the Chamber of Commerce at 7 o'clock and from there go in a group to Alameda.
