Truman Signs Presidency Succession Bill

MAKES HOUSE SPEAKER HEIR PRESUMPTIVE TO OFFICE

WASHINGTON — President Truman today signed a bill which makes Republican Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., his heir presumptive to the presidency.

The new law specifically puts the House speaker next to the vice president in the line of succession to the White House post when the president becomes unable to serve. After the speaker comes the president of the Senate.

Since there is now no vice president, Mr. Truman having left that post when he succeeded to the presidency on the death of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, Martin is the next in line.

The Massachusetts Republican will continue in that role until the term Mr. Truman is serving out expires on Jan. 20, 1949. At that time, an election having intervened, the country will have a vice-president again.

The House speaker will then be no. 2 in the line of succession. Thus far in U. S. history, the vice president is the only officer in the line of succession who ever actually moved up to the presidency. That has happened seven times.

Peace Officers Meet This P. M. In Eastland

From 50 to 75 peace officers including county and district attorneys from a wide area adjoining Eastland County are expected in Eastland this afternoon to attend the bi-district meeting of peace officers. The meeting will be held in the 91st district Courtroom at 2:00 p. m.

Sheriff J. B. Williams and members of his department will be host and will serve a barbecue dinner. Just where and how the barbecue dinner will be served will depend upon how many are present, Sheriff Williams said.

Says Tito Has Fifth Column Working Here

WASHINGTON — Chairman Charles A. Eaton of the House foreign affairs committee said today the United States is "within sight of a shooting war this minute in Greece."

The New Jersey Republican told the House rules committee that the Soviet Union, as a result of Secretary of State George C. Marshall's "plan" for the rehabilitation of Europe, "has taken off its mask."

"Either America will stand and hold the fort in Greece or Russia will take over," Eaton said. "If Russia takes over Greece, the destiny of mankind is at stake."

Fresh Guerilla Forces Gather

ATHENS — Guerillas in northwestern Greece scattered today under heavy strafing attacks from Greek aircraft, but a fresh guerilla force was reported forming in Albania.

Greek war minister, George Stratos, said the new guerilla force was sighted behind Lake Prespa, at the juncture of the Albanian, Yugoslav and Greek frontier.

TRANSFER DEFEATS GOODRICH

Ranger Transfer defeated the Goodrich team Thursday night by a score of 19 to 9 in another of the Ranger Softball League scheduled games.

Goodrich led off with five points in the first inning and not until the third inning did Transfer pull up to even that score. Goodrich drew blanks in all innings after the first until sixth when one more point was scored and in the seventh inning scored three. Transfer's other points were added two in the fourth, one in the sixth and two in the seventh.

Umpires for the game were Bridges, J. Littlefield and Landtroop.

R. Williams scored a two base hit for Transfer and L. Williams knocked two home runs for the same team.

Former Resident Dies At Wink

Mrs. L. P. Willhelm and her daughter, Mrs. Addie Williams left Thursday for Wink where they were called by the death of Mrs. Willhelm's brother, Claude Pearson.

Mrs. Pearson formerly made his home in Ranger.

Flood Control Doomed
WASHINGTON — Sen. James E. Murray, D. Mont., said today that pending legislation to create a Missouri Valley Authority is doomed until "the people elect a Congress that will respect their interests instead of the interests of private power."

ARMY SOUNDS KNELL OF PONY CAVALRY

By William F. McMenamin, United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — Horse cavalry is dead, the Army reports. "The cavalry of sabre charges and prancing steeds is gone," a spokesman for the ground forces said. "But in its place armor has been born and proved itself in battle. Armored cavalry has a tradition of its own to foster."

Officials said there is no chance that cavalry will be revived at any future date. Although the army has abolished cavalry as a fighting arm, congressional action is still pending to abolish the branch officially.

The first cavalry division which fought in the Pacific war in World War II is now on occupation duty in Tokyo and is employed as infantry.

Army ground force officers said mechanization, automatic weapons and "the uneconomic feature of the supply and maintenance of the horse" sounded the demise of the equine.

"It cost no more to ship one tank overseas than it would have cost to have shipped one horse," ground force officers said.

Congressional legislation is still pending to legalize the armored cavalry. What the military once knew as cavalry is now: 1. Armored divisions, 2. reconnaissance troops, 3. light armored regiments.

The Russian, French and Polish armies used cavalry extensively in World War II but none was used by the United States.

The army said, however, if the need developed it would use horses in a future war in mountainous terrain or in isolated areas. Pack mules or burros might be used in cases of emergency to assist mountain troops.

Profanity In Hat Upsets Dignity Of Congregation

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UP) — When a collection plate was missing, a hat was passed at a church here.

The hat went down the auditorium, pew by pew. A somewhat startled minister observed that all along the way it set off a trail of red faces, snorts, and suppressed giggles.

Later he examined the hat. Inside was pasted a red pasteboard identity card with the owner's name.

In addition, it said in big black letters: "Like Hell it's yours. Put it back."

Gen. Marshall Hopes They Know What They're Doing

BOSTON (UP) — Addressing a gathering of investment bankers here John J. McCloy, president of the World Bank, told this story:

McCloy, who formerly was undersecretary of war, had just been made World Bank President when he met Secretary of State George C. Marshall returning from the Moscow conference.

"Hello, John," he quoted Marshall as saying. "They've made a banker out of a lawyer and a diplomat out of a soldier. I hope to heaven they know what they are doing."

Navy-Type Mosquito Boat Finds New Use

SEATTLE (UP) — The city health department's version of the war-time navy mosquito boats has been put into operation in the swampy areas of Lake Washington and Lake Union.

The Calicide, a queer looking craft which draws only 10 inches of water, is driven by a paddle wheel and a 45-horsepower engine.

It spreads a DDT and oil solution over mosquito-breeding waters.

Likes to See Both Ways
BOSTON (UP) — A Boston motorist has a windshield wiper on the rear window of his sedan, as well as on the windshield.

The Doughboys will be here July 30 to take part in the big rodeo kick-off parade. They will also give their regular noon broadcast from Ranger, and will appear at the opening performance of the rodeo that night.

ABOUT 300 ATTEND BIG BARBECUE

About 300 people were present Thursday night for the Jaycee barbecue at the rodeo arena, given in honor of rodeo stockholders. Guests included people from Cisco, and Eastland, as well as Ranger.

Following the supper, Price Crawley presided as master of ceremonies for an informal program which included short talks by James P. Morris, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Howard Oliver, Jaycee director, Rep. L. R. Pearson and Chief George Murphy. Out-of-town guests and prominent Ranger people were introduced to the crowd.

Wilson Guest, treasurer of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, gave a financial report on the rodeo arena and stated that an appraisal of the plant made Thursday set the value of the property at $20,000 more than it actually cost.

The treasurer reported that the total cost of the arena was $24,405.79 and outstanding indebtedness against the arena is $15,985.00. Total proceeds from the rodeo last year were $18,362.21 and total expenses were $11,292.69 making a profit of $7,069.52.

Mr. Guest further reported that to date a total of $2,819.41 has been spent on the livestock barn being built at the arena and that it can be completed with a roof for $1,700 more.

When the barn is completed it is estimated that the total assets of the arena will be $57,500.00.

It was pointed out that construction of the arena was possible at the figure mentioned due to the fact that the Lone Star Gas Company, Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Company and Premier Oil Refining Company made donations of pipe and material. Other materials were bought at wholesale or below.

DeLeon Man Pays Fine of $69.00 In Eastland Court

A De Leon man entered pleas of guilty in three cases, two on speeding charges and one for operating a car without a drivers license, in Justice of the Peace E. Wood's court in Eastland Thursday afternoon. He paid fines totaling $69.00.

Sheriff J. B. Williams saw the car passing through Eastland and gave chase, overtaking it after a short time. He arrested the driver, who was accompanied by other parties, and filed the charges against him.

Committee Votes More Aid Money

WASHINGTON — The House appropriations committee today voted the authorization an additional $1,353,924,000 for foreign relief, including the full $400,000,000 requested for the Greek-Turkish aid program.

The committee, however, cut by $18,000,000 the projected $350,000,000 post-UNRRA relief program for Poland, Italy, China, Hungary.

PRESIDENT REJECTS 2ND INCOME TAX CUT BILL

WASHINGTON — President Truman today again rejected the $4,000,000,000 Republican income tax reduction bill, but this time the House promptly overrode his veto.

The Senate, however, is expected to sustain the veto late in the day. This would kill the tax reduction bill for the second time in a month and eliminate all chances for enactment of a tax cut this year.

The House vote was 299 to override the veto and 108 against. This was 27 votes more than the two-thirds majority necessary to override.

In vetoing the revised bill with its Jan. 1 effective date, Mr. Truman repeated his previous objections—that it was inflationary, unsound and unfair to the low income group.

And he injected a brand new argument—the international crisis caused by the recent sharper division between the Russian bloc and the west.

Although the House overrode his decision, a veto sticks unless both the House and Senate override by two-thirds majorities.

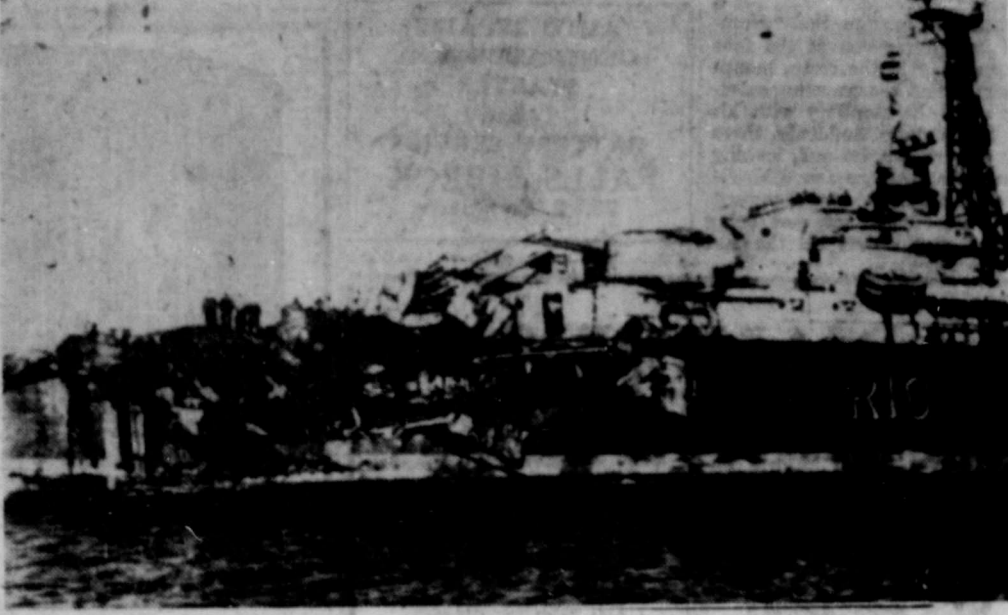

The Senate was expected to fall two votes short of the necessary two-thirds.

The House had sustained the veto of the first tax measure a month ago by a two-vote margin, making it necessary for the Senate to act that time.

Republican spokesmen charged Mr. Truman with abusing the presidential veto power for political purposes.

National Chairman Carroll Reece said in a statement that "apparently Mr. Truman is determined that his three-and-a-half year tenure in the White House shall go down in history as the worst administration."

CANADIAN DESTROYER IN COLLISION

Denham Says Labor Law Good For Both Sides

WASHINGTON — Robert N. Denham, chosen by President Truman as a chief administrator of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law, said today the new act is a boon to both labor and management.

"The law has a well-defined place in the labor-management picture," said the 62 year old lawyer whose nomination to the $12,000 a year post as general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board goes to the Senate today.

"It is not nearly so bad as it has been painted by its opponents," he said. "I feel that it will do a great deal to benefit both labor and industry."

SAYS RUSSIA WILL VETO U. S. PLAN

LAKE SUCCESS — A Bulgarian official predicted today that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko would veto the United States plan for a long-term United Nations border commission to police the Balkans.

The Bulgarian official asked that his name not be used.

The forecast of Russia's decision in the east-west dispute over the Greek question came as the UN Security Council undertook point-by-point argument on the majority-backed American proposal rising out of the UN Balkan inquiry. The proposals are aimed at Soviet-supported Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania.

American sources reported, meanwhile, that a pre-meeting huddle between American, British and French officials had resulted in an agreement which apparently put an end to the French efforts to modify the American proposals.

Says Shooting War In Sight

WASHINGTON — The House Un-American Activities Committee is investigating charges that Marshall Tito's Communist-dominated Yugoslav government has a "fifth column" operating in the United States, it was learned today.

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas, R., N.J., said witnesses already had told the committee privately that Tito has an "active" fifth column at work among Americans of Slavic extraction. He said an ex-Yugoslav diplomat had been called to testify on the charges.

Cooperation Of Merchants Speeds Parade Plans

It was stated today that plans for the rodeo parade are advancing rapidly and that this has been made possible through the splendid cooperation of the merchants of Ranger.

Most of the merchants, it was stated, already have entries in the parade and that some very clever ideas are being incorporated into the entries. Great secrecy surrounds the entries due to the competition for the prizes.

It was also pointed out that there is still some advertising space left on the rodeo programs, and merchants who wish ads and have not yet turned them in may do so by contacting James P. Morris.

Queen of Aviation

Miss Kitty Adamson is presented with a ticket to Minneapolis by Jimmy Dobbs as a prize for winning the title of "Gregg County Queen of Aviation" at the dedication of the three million dollar Gregg County Airport. While in Minneapolis Miss Adamson will compete for the title of "Miss Calendar Girl". (NEA Telephoto).

Well... I Dunno, But...

You'd almost have thought that the rodeo had opened last night judging by the crowd that was out for the big Jaycee barbecue at the arena.

Yep, we had meat and plenty of it, along with all of the trimmings.

It was quite an occasion and everybody seemed to have a good time.

Like Cogburn who keeps a close check on our weather thermometers, is turning out to be something of a weather prophet. Yesterday he took the statistics of the past several days and figured that the maximum reading for Thursday would be 104. Sure enough, that's just what it was. We can always go surrounding towns one better on that point. If they get 102 we have 104 and if they suffer at 100 we suffer at 102.

Guess all concerned should be happy. Susie Hansford got her flag back through a plug in Susie's home and we got a jar of Susie's home grown honey for our efforts. If the honey's as good as it looks, we've really got a treat in store for us.

Well, folks, rodeo time is here and the crowd's beginning to gather. And if you don't believe us, just take a look see for yourself. Why, even Alec, the negro bull fighter, is here, two jumps and a pair of rodeo britches ahead of a goodling bull.

Now, they aren't really real, but the creations of Deaf Smith of Fort Worth who's going up and down the street painting rodeo pictures of merchants windows.

The pictures are as clever as can be and artistically executed. They tell us that Deaf Smith doesn't use a chalk to chalk out the pictures. He just takes his paint brush and starts in aid before you know it there's a romping good rodeo going on before your eyes.

Gibson Soffee Shop, Ranger Auto Parts, Shelton's Ice Cream Palace, Chamber of Commerce, Roscoe Hopper's Grocery Store, Texas Electric and Arlie Carver already have their windows decorated.

Whoops, we're really getting rodeo minded.

They tell us that the softball game tonight between Premier and the Baptists sure ought to be a good one. Neither team has lost a game in the second half of play and Premier will be defending an undefeated record, having won every one of their scheduled games, which, of course, made Premier the winner of the first half of play.

Everybody keep your fingers crossed. A cool north breeze and heavy clouds hanging around might bring some rain. Goodness knows, we need it. Over half of July is gone and only .12 of inch have fallen.

That's worse than last year, and last July was pretty dry with only .30 of an inch of rain falling during the entire month.

Corporal Gomez Enroute Home

Corporal Manuel Gomez, of Box 273 Ranger, Texas, has recently left for return to the United States aboard the S. S. General Hodges, from Headquarters, Ryukyus Command on Okinawa.

Upon his arrival in San Francisco, he will be sent to Camp Stoneman Personnel Center in California for separation from military service.

Game Scheduled
Two more softball games are scheduled for this week.

Tonight at 8 o'clock at the softball field Premier will play the Baptists and Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock Ranger Transfer will play Cisco in Ranger.

Divorces Top Marriages In Los Angeles County

CHICAGO (UP)—Los Angeles County, Cal., issued fewer marriage licenses in the first half of last year than the number of divorce suits filed, the Encyclopedia Britannica 1947 Book of the Year says.

The United States as a whole held the rate of one divorce for each three marriages, which is established in 1945. Some authorities have predicted that half of all marriages will be ending in divorces by 1956, according to the Britannica.

The average marriage in Los Angeles County lasted only 6.1 year in 1945 against 9.3 years in 1933.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

When Millard Cope, publisher of the Marshall Messenger, was a boy, he lived at Sonora and used to play in "Carver's thicket", so named from the fact that a notorious outlaw had been killed there.

The arrival of a new traveling man in the town always provided entertainment. Usually, kangaroo court was assembled, and he was solemnly placed on trial for some trumped-up offense and after he had been sufficiently alarmed, he was allowed to settle the case by buying drinks all around.

Another procedure was for a merchant to engage the "drummer" in conversation at the foot of a stairway in the store, maneuvering so that the traveling salesman would be standing with his back to the stairs. Suddenly, there came a terrific noise and, looking around, the stranger saw a barrel bouncing down the steps toward him. The merchant, not being startled, would wait till the last instant, then step to one side but the panick-stricken victim of the prank would run wildly from the store with the heavy barrel right at his heels.

The Trot Theater — where would it be? In Cuero of course, the home of the "turkey trot". And as I was leaving Cuero shortly after dawn with a hop halfway across the state ahead of me, just beyond the city limits I heard a "gobble" from the grass beside the highway; a big gobbler gave an appropriate farewell.

Between San Augustine and Jasper, a sign points down a side-road, "Grist mill; runs Saturdays". The highway in this area offers plenty of scenery—the tallest magnolia trees I ever saw; a pool covered with water lilies in bloom; another pool covered with lavender flowers. Just east of Palestine is a lake that is the color of new steel and as one approaches San Augustine there are long, dense hedges thick with flowers — Cherokee roses.

A new flashlight peers around corners—the bulb is mounted in the end of a flexible metal tube.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

This is the second of two dispatches analyzing the new Taft-Hartley Labor Law in the light of a threatened coal industry tie-up which would give the measure its first test of workability.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—Biggest point of debate among lawyers studying the new Taft-Hartley Labor Law is how the courts can frame an injunction to stop the coal industry now threatened.

The courts can't compel anyone to work if he doesn't want to. The Constitution says so. And the contract between the United Mine Workers Union and the mine owners ended June 30. So the courts can't order the miners to go back to work under previous working conditions as to hours and pay.

But assume for the sake of argument that the courts can get around these obstacles by dictating the terms of a new contract of the judges' own devising or by ordering the miners to return to work under terms of the expired Krug-Lewis contract.

Under the Taft-Hartley law this injunction may run for only 60 days, while labor and management try to make a new contract.

At the end of 60 days the President could call back his Board of Inquiry. This Board would then make public the employer's last offer of settlement. Within 15 days the National Labor Relations Board would have to conduct an election to see if a majority of the employees wanted to accept this final offer. This election would cost the government about $180,000.

If a majority of the miners voted to accept, the contract would be drawn up on such terms. If they voted against accepting, within the next five days the attorney general would have to ask the courts to dissolve the injunction. Thus 80 days after the injunction was first granted the miners would be free to go out on strike again.

The Taft-Hartley law would then require the President to report the situation to Congress.

At this point, suppose the mine owners decided to try to break the strike. The owners could ask their old employees to return to work. If the old employees didn't choose to do so the mine operator could hire new workers.

With a new working force the employers would be free to break away from the industry-wide bargaining agreements formerly signed with John L. Lewis. Mine owners might also try to break away from the union shop, which requires all employees to join the union.

These conditions would put the coal industry on an open-shop basis, with bargaining by regions or by state, local or individual company units. If these changes could be put over, the power of the union would be broken and John L. Lewis would be licked.

BUT suppose that the new employees got together in a new local union of the United Mine Workers and decided to bargain.

Since the United Mine Workers Union had not been certified as bargaining agent under the Taft-Hartley Act, the first step would be to hold another NLRB election. This would take another month.

First the union would have to register with the Secretary of Labor under the Taft-Hartley Act provisions. The union would have to certify that none of its officers was a Communist, file full financial reports, and certify that copies had been furnished all its members.

Then the union would have to get 30 per cent of the employees of the unit to sign petitions designating the United Mine Workers Union as bargaining agent.

In the meantime, a lot of secondary issues would have to be settled: status of foremen, supervisory employees, professional employees, agreement on checkoff, how to deal with non-member employees.

All of these decisions would be subject to court review. A minimum of six months might be required to restart collective bargaining.

(The writer, sports editor of the Detroit News, is guest columnist today for Harry Grayson, who is on vacation.)

DETROIT—(NEA)—More than a few people were surprised when Ben Hogan, the defending champion; Bobby Locke, Jimmy Demaret, Johnny Revolta, Jimmy Thomson, Sam Byrd, Harold McSpaden, Herman Keiser and Bob Hamilton were eliminated in the first round of match play in the recent PGA tournament at San Sneed went out in the second round. But their dismissal was no surprise to Gene Sarazen.

"They're overgolfered," said the Goling Squire, who knocked off Sarazen in the first round and Sneed in the second. "These fellows are burned out and they're playing third-rate golf today."

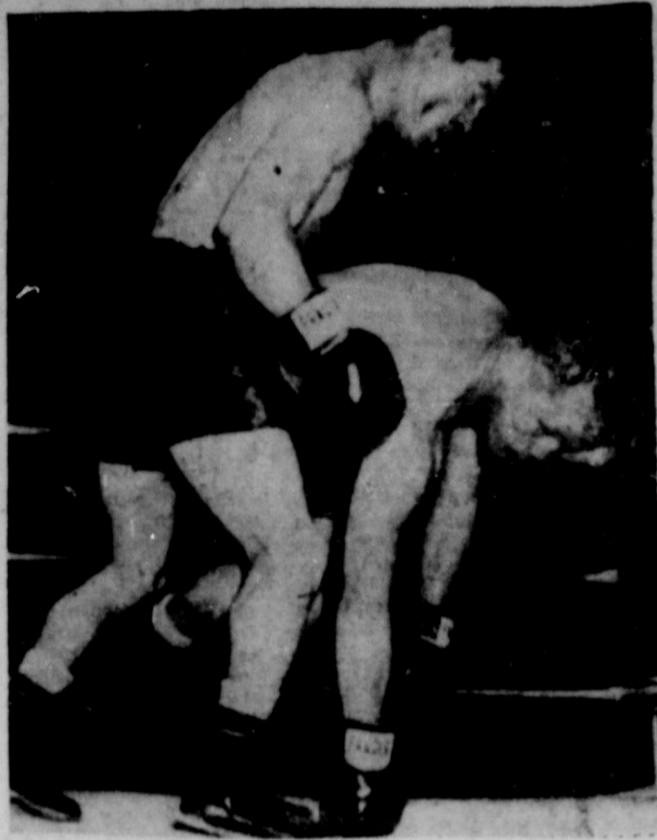

"When Hagen and I were playing we never called more than 10 tournaments a year and we got plenty of rest and relaxation between them, but these fellows today engage in 30 or more tournaments a year."

"THERE never lived a golfer who could compete in 30 tournaments a year and maintain a high standard of play. Today, they play through the winter, spring, summer and fall tournaments. It's a 12-month season for them."

"And look at the shape they're in. You wouldn't dare speak to one of them when he enters the clubhouse or locker room. If you did the chances are he would hit you over the head with a club."

Jim Wilkinson is a little slow. 4 hours and 20 minutes were required for him to make the same course that the other two made in 10 minutes less. Taking along 1-2 gallon of coffee and sandwiches probably caused the expenditure of the extra time. Did you ever try to drink hot coffee from a gallon thermos while flying an airplane at night?

The amphibian Seabee Republic has been recently used for insect spraying. It can cover a swath from 170 to 300 feet wide in forest spraying operations and one plane can eradicate the pests from 3,000 acres of forest land per day. Such efficiency is fast even for an airplane.

Bill Trigg, operator from Gorman, was on the airport yesterday.

Hail forms almost exclusively in thunderstorms. Vertical air currents of approximately 200 miles per hour must be present to form hail. These currents do not appear in any type cloud except thunderstorms.

George Bale, instructor at the airport, needs a place to live. He has one wife and three children, and we recommend him.

T&P STARTS INSTALLMENT BUYING TICKET PLAN

DALLAS, Tex., July 18 — Americans are accustomed to buying their homes, automobiles, washing machines and a multitude of other things on the installment plan. Today they found these time payments extended to an entirely new field—railroad passenger transportation.

Effective today, installment buying of passenger tickets made its appearance on the Texas & Pacific Railway, one of the nation's 137 Class 1 lines.

The T&P is a 76-year-old railroad which operates 1,800 miles of track between Texarkana, Tex., and New Orleans, La., on the east and El Paso, Tex., on the west.

This installment buying has no connection with the credit card plan inaugurated on the T&P and some 40 other railroads earlier this year.

If the Texas & Pacific idea spreads to other railroads, it will mean that the $35 a week stenographer and the man and wife with children and a moderate income will be able to take an enjoyable vacation without using a major portion of their savings or pawning their belongings.

In substance, the T&P Railway installment plan is set up like this: (1) Any person planning a business or pleasure trip where the first-class fare is $50 or more, exclusive of Federal tax, may make application for installment buying of his transportation at any T&P passenger agency where this arrangement is in effect.

(2) When the applicant's credit standing is approved, the passenger agent issues the ticket and the customer makes a down payment of not less than 25 per cent of the ticket's total cost.

(3) The passenger signs a promissory note for the balance, which is payable in consecutive monthly installments for the next six months. A service charge of 2 per cent on the unpaid balance is made at the time the transaction is closed, and this amount can be spread over the six-month period.

In dollars-and-cents, the T&P installment idea means that a person on limited income, for instance could afford a trip that cost him $152.60 by laying out only $38.15 cash. Balance of $114.45 ($114.45 plus 2 per cent service charge) is due in five monthly payments of $19.46 each with the sixth and final payment $19.44.

In distance it means that the salesgirl who has $100 or so as the total amount to spend for her vacation now can go from Dallas to New York and return instead of to a resort 50 miles away. And she'll still have spending money for Radio City and perhaps a new hat from Fifth Avenue.

Besides the broad stipulations in the newly inaugurated installment tariff applying to passenger fares on the Texas & Pacific, there are a number of specific rules governing the plan which are more interesting to students of business and finance, perhaps, than to the general traveling public. However, in explaining them in his office at Dallas today, T&P Traffic Vice-President, Chester G. Hayes emphasized that there were no "fine-print" catches to riding the railroad on the installment payment plan.

Hayes said that the promissory notes signed by the passengers carry no interest and are payable on or before maturity date. The 2 per cent service charge is to take care of the extra detail work, such as sending regular bills ten days before a payment is due.

The installment plan is particularly designed for vacationists, Hayes stated, and therefore applies to round-trip fares only. Signing of the note puts responsibility for payment of collection expense upon the customer in the event the amount becomes delinquent.

Even though only one railroad is using the plan, it affects, and benefits traffic on all U. S. railroads. That is because such tickets bought at a specified point on the T&P usually takes the passengers to a destination on one or more of the rest of the country's railroads. To use the plan, persons must originate their trip at one of eight T&P terminals—Abilene, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth and Texarkana, Tex.; Alexandria, New Orleans and Shreveport, La. To reach their T&P off-line destination, such as New York, San Francisco, Milwaukee or Palm Beach, they are required to buy transportation via St. Louis, Memphis, Shreveport, New Orleans, El Paso, Dallas, Fort Worth or Sweetwater (Tex.) when making use of the installment tariff.
