Truman Would Avoid Special Session

Well... I Dunno, But...

If you're one of those guys that's been breaking all of the laws in the traffic book, you'd better mend your ways.

They tell us that 200 more patrolmen will be added to the staff and they intend to enforce the law to the limit.

Now don't ever tell us again that Ranger isn't football minded. That's all we're hearing these days and this morning everybody you met asked the question, "Going to the game tonight?" And the answer was always yes. Even heard of some meetings that are being rushed up so that those attending can attend the game.

Another victory for the college team and we won't even predict what will happen, but we'll bet the old hometown will be slightly wild.

And that's not all of the football for Ranger this week. The Bulldogs go to Fort Worth Saturday night to play Tech. Noticed that one sports writer favors Tech to win their first game since 1945. Could be, but then we've seen the time when upsets changed the picture.

Just noticed something. Of the two games Ranger Junior College has played they've piled up more points than the two opposing teams combined. Ranger's total of points is 32 against 26.

The high school Bulldogs have six against 19 for the two teams they have played.

It looks like the pacifists and isolationists would have learned their lesson from past experience and know that the United States cannot afford to let down her defenses nor any more can we live into ourselves alone.

In the face of all that is going on in international relations, it looks like our safest bet is to be prepared for the worst even if it never comes.

Russia is bucking the United States on another issue and first one and then the other calls the other a "war monger." Fact is, we don't think either one wants war, but both are pretty determined to have their way at the UN conference table.

Double Trouble

Heiress Ann Cooper Hewitt struggles with a match to light a cigarette while bridegroom Frank Nicholson looks on. The couple are shown at a press conference in Sacramento, California September 23, after they had attended the funeral of Nicholson's late wife on the fourth day of their honeymoon. Officials are investigating the death of Nicholson's former wife. (NEA Telephoto).

GRAIN PRICES CLIMB AFTER TRUMAN TALK

Wheat, corn and oats prices rose on the Chicago Board of Trade today after President Truman acknowledged that it would be impossible to send as much grain to Europe this year as last without conservation at home.

Mr. Truman's statement resulted in greater buying of grains. Wheat futures rose more than four cents a bushel from the day's lowest price. Corn was up more than three cents.

Meanwhile, spokesmen for the National Livestock Producers Association took issue with the President's recommendation that less grain be fed to livestock.

They said there would be a large amount of soft corn this year because of the late planting and early frosts. Soft corn, they said, is suitable only for livestock feed.

Previously, the nation's big livestock, grain and commodity markets had fluctuated haltingly in anticipation of the President's food policy statement.

Traders feared he might advocate a return to rationing and priceceba.

New Traffic Code Discussed At Rotary Club

What to do and not to do under the new traffic code in Texas was discussed at the Rotary Club Wednesday at noon by Highway Patrolman Avera. Major changes in the law were explained and it was pointed out that teeth have been put into traffic laws, a strict enforcement of them is intended.

Patrolman Avera stressed the changes in right-of-way for drivers, stating that only streets designated by the highway department as "through highways" will take the right-of-way over the "driver to the right" general rule.

The speaker was introduced by John Tibbels who was in charge of the program.

Preceding the traffic talk, four new members, R. L. Snyder, A. L. Sam Aills and J. R. Ervin were taken into the club in a formal ceremony conducted by Dr. Claud P. Jones.

City Meeting With Engineer To Be Saturday

Mayor Lee Dockery stated today that the meeting of the city commission with Edwin S. Martin, Jr., airport consulting engineer which was scheduled for tonight will be postponed until Saturday morning.

It was stated that Mr. Martin will be unable to be here before Saturday and the special meeting will be called for that day to hear his plans.

The commission will have a short meeting tonight to transact other business.

J. A. Johnson Jr. Slightly Better

Latest word from J. A. Johnson, Jr., was to the effect that he had rallied from unconsciousness and attending doctors, for the first time, gave his family some encouragement.

Johnson was severely injured in a head-on collision near Modesto, California, a week ago Wednesday. He is in an Oakland, California hospital.

News of his condition came to Mrs. W. M. Brown when she talked with the injured man's mother.

Nebraska ranchers have registered 29,336 cattle brands with the secretary of state.

RANGERS PLAY MCMURRAY B TEAM TONIGHT

Ranger's up and coming junior college Rangers will play their third game of the season in Ranger tonight when they meet the McMurray College B team at 8 o'clock.

Generally favored to win, the Rangers will have their full first string in the starting line-up and a good game is anticipated. So far the team has lost one and won one game but their rating in the junior college conference looks promising. Henderson College that defeated the Rangers in their first game of the season is rated one of the best and last week took Weatherford Junior College for a 19 to 0 defeat. Ranger scored two touchdowns on Henderson, even though they took the little end of the score, losing by 26 to 13.

Following will be the starting line-ups for tonight's game; Kamber, L. E. Blitch; L. T. Rove, L. G. Crum; C. McClendon; R. G. W. Roy; R. T. Hinkson; R. E. Sullivan; Q. B. Arterburn; L. H. Norwood; R. H. Townzen and F. B. Boyd.

McMurray, tackles, Riddell and Payne; guards, Sanders and H. Daniels; ends, Sartain and Morgan; center, Middlebrook and backs, Myatt, Hardin, Dean and Burke.

Club To Back Athletics In All Ranger Schools

Members of the Quarterback Club announced today that the club has voted to back athletic programs in the grade schools, junior high school, high school and Ranger Junior College.

The club is highly in favor of the athletic program as set up in the schools and will devote their efforts to backing it 100 per cent.

First step in this direction was the purchase of 30 uniforms for the grade school and junior high school teams and the uniforms have arrived and been delivered. All of the uniforms have arrived with the exception of the shoes. Nearly $800 was spent on the uniforms.

It was stated today that memberships in the club are coming in slowly and the business people of Ranger are urged to take out their memberships at once.

Mr. and Mrs. John Love of Alameda have been in Galveston this week attending a convention of Home Demonstration club members. Mrs. Love is vice-president of district No. 7 and served as chairman of the Convention.

Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Love to Galveston were Eastland county delegates as follows: Mrs. Josie K. Nix of Morton Valley; Mrs. Cyrus Justice of Flatwoods and Mrs. Bill Tucker of Salem.

The convention was due to run through Thursday, September 26.

Milan Building Bombed

ROME (UP)—The Communist regional headquarters building in Milan was bombed today in the first major outbreak of deliberately planned violence since the party opened an aggressive campaign against the government three weeks ago.

COLLEGE ELECTS OFFICERS

The student body of Ranger Junior College met Wednesday for the annual selection of Student Council Officers. Dean Rush presided over the assembly. The following representatives were chosen: President Michael Ready; vice-president, Charles Sullivan; John L. McKelvin, secretary; Ben Yung, reporter and Sgt. of arms, Bob Herrington.

The student council is promising in spirit and ability. The student activity schedule will be well-rounded and planned. The old school spirit that was enjoyed in the years before the war is gradually returning to the college campus, according to a statement made today.

"The organization of a football team had done much to revive the spirit of the town. Their ability as a team has been shown. The townspeople are urged to attend the games and support the home team. The student body has rallied behind the team. This is their first year as a team so let us do our part and help them to get into the spirit of the thing. Support your college. The citizens of Ranger are urged to attend college assemblies and rallies and to enter into this new year with confident support," the president of the student body said.

Former Ranger Man Found Dead Early Wednesday

Mrs. Allie Faircloth and Mrs. George Beighley left today for Wichita Falls where they were called by the death of Mrs. Faircloth's nephew, Leroy Farabee. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Farabee of Wichita Falls and formerly of Ranger.

Farabee's body was found in a bar ditch early Wednesday near the Wichita - Clay counties line. Officers stated that the 35 year old man had apparently been robbed and beaten. He had just recently returned to Wichita Falls from Iran.

An autopsy, ordered by Justice C. Coit Mock, disclosed that Farabee died of cerebral hemorrhages on both sides of the head.

Mock said the body appeared to have been dragged from an automobile to the ditch. A motorist discovered it.

Farabee had worked for an oil company in Iran.

Plan To Extend Seedling Tree Production

Plans for expansion of seedling production at Indian Mound forest tree nursery near Alto have been announced by the Texas Forest Service at A&M College.

Officials said 16 acres adjacent to the present tract have been leased on a renewable annual lease for 10 years, with option to purchase.

W. E. White, director of the forest service, indicated that the new tract will provide an additional five to seven million seedlings each year and do much to meet the continued growing demand. Major portion of the pine seedlings are slated for use in reforestation in East Texas. A number of hardwood species are being grown for fence posts and wind-break plantings in other sections of the state.

Out Of Season Shooting Costly

LA FERIA, Tex. (UP)—Shooting whitewing out-of-season comes high in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Two business men, J. B. Ashcraft and Peter B. Durham, paid $264 for killing 40-odd birds before the opening of the season.

And they didn't get to keep the birds. The game warden turned the fowl over to a hospital.

DECISION ON COLLEGE BILL IS DEFERRED

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Conflicting Texas statutes and a new suit today threw the status of the state constitutional amendment to set up a $60,000,000 college building fund into such confusion that Dist. Judge Roy Archer here deferred any action until afternoon on either the old or new legislation.

Canvassing the Aug. 23 election at the time specified by one statute the state election board declared the amendment had been adopted by 102,531 favorable votes to 97,218 votes against it. Governor Beauford H. Jester on the same day issued his proclamation declaring the amendment in effect.

But the election contest is alleged failure to make the required official publication of a notice of election in Bexar, El Paso, Galveston, Hill, Moore and Taylor counties.

The contestants say that if the vote in those counties is eliminated the correct result of the election will be 85,516 for and 87,661 against. The petition asserts 16,915 illegal votes were counted for the amendment and 9,657 illegal votes against it.

Find Texas Weed As Good As That Being Imported

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—It's known as "plantago Wrightiana" scientifically but to Texas ranchmen it's just plain "tallow weed" seed.

Yet five and a half million pounds of it are being imported every year for American medicine and the cosmetics trade.

Value of the seed lies in its mucilage content and Dr. C. C. Albers, University of Texas associate professor of pharmacognosy, says he has found the Texas variety equal in quality to those being imported from India and Spain.

Just keep it all down to plain ranch talk, this "pharmacognosy" is the college word for knowing about drugs.

Results of investigations by Instructor David Greenberg of the pharmacognosy staff are being published in the American Pharmaceutical Association Journal and "tallow weed" is being planted in the University of Texas apothecary garden.

Judges To Learn Law

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP)—About 40 traffic court judges and prosecutors plan to go back into the classroom this fall. They will register on Oct. 13 at the Northwestern University law school for a five-day conference. The idea is to make them better acquainted with sound principles of traffic law enforcement and court administration.

CRITICISM OF U. S. IN USSR GROWS

MOSCOW—David Zaslavsky, Soviet political commentator, charged today that President Truman and Secretary of State George C. Marshall headed a ring of "international reaction and criminal aggression," no less dangerous than was that of the Nazis.

The Soviet press stepped up criticism of the United States to a degree of harshness which for a decade had been used only against the Nazis.

Zaslavsky spearheaded the intensified campaign with an article in the periodical "Literary Gazette." He said that Mr. Truman was not satisfied to be merely the ruler of all America and a considerable part of Asia.

"He wants to be the ruler of the universe, and use England as his lackey," Zaslavsky wrote.

Russia May Fight Admission Of Italy To UN

LAKE SUCCESS—Russia today threatened to block Italy's admission to the United Nations unless the Western Powers permit the entrance of Soviet-supported Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania.

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko laid down Russia's terms in the Security Council in the face of plans by the United States and Great Britain to block the three eastern European states while trying to get a UN seat for Italy.

Gromyko said he now was willing to support the Italian membership application, which he vetoed last month because the Allied peace treaty with Italy was not then in effect—but only on condition Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania, and Finland were admitted simultaneously.

Gromyko said it was impossible to admit Italy and then close the UN's door to Finland or the three satellite states of Eastern Europe.

Ill Wind Blows Nobody Good

WACO, Tex. (UP)—There was really an ill wind here the other day blowing nobody no good.

Mrs. J. M. Garrett reported to police that she had lost a package containing $15 worth of clothing. She said she had given it to her maid to mail.

The maid, accompanied by Mrs. Garrett's son, started to the post office and a sudden gust of wind blew off young Garrett's cap. The maid laid the package down and chased the hat. She got the hat back but could not find the package when she returned.

Collapses At Eviction Hearing

Norman Hart, 48, who collapsed in the corridor of Chicago's City Hall September 23, is administered oxygen by a member of the fire departments pulmotor squad. Hart collapsed after attending a hearing on a suit to evict him from his apartment. His landlord, Sylvester Smith, agreed to extend the time limit. (NEA Telephoto).

SEEKS AID IN OTHER WAYS; ASKS AT HOME CONSERVATION

WASHINGTON—President Truman announced today that he will seek stop-gap aid for Europe without a special session of Congress if possible. He called on the American people to begin an immediate program of voluntary food conservation by wasting less.

Mr. Truman told his news conference he had an open mind on the question of a special session of congress. But, he said his present intention was to provide stop-gap aid for Europe without a special session.

This will be one of the focal points of his conference Monday with congressional leaders of both parties.

Mr. Truman today set up a citizens food committee to develop a food conservation program at home. Charles Luckman of Cambridge, Mass., president of Lever Brothers, was named chairman of the committee. Mr. Truman asked him to get his organization working as rapidly as possible.

The President said the food and fuel situation in Europe is so critical that there is no time for a detailed, careful study of the problem.

It was because of the emergency facing Europe and the fact that this country cannot stand by and allow the people of Europe to starve or freeze, the President said, that he had invited the congressional leaders of both parties to consult with him and determine what immediate steps could be taken to provide European aid.

As for the immediate food conservation program at home, the President said he is not asking the American people to eat less but to waste less.

On the question of controls, the President said that was up to Congress.

Asked whether he would recommend a return of rationing, the President said he would have to wait and see after he gets all the facts.

ATTENTION SUBSCRIBERS!

Subscribers to the Ranger Daily Times are urged to cooperate with the carriers in the matter of collecting for the paper weekly.

It was pointed out today that all of the boys are in school and have only Friday afternoon and Saturday to collect. If subscribers are missed at those times, then it necessitates the carriers' waiting until the next week to collect.

A number of them are also in the hands which takes considerable time, thus cutting down the time they have for collecting. It is urged that subscribers make arrangements to see that the boys get the money on the first attempt to collect.

The Art Of Finding Oil

DAN KRALIS
Lone Star Gas Company
(One of a Series)

Much has been said about the conditions under which oil and gas are found in nature. The general public has a rather hazy conception as to just what preliminaries take place before the drilling contractor moves his equipment on a location. The oil geologist is the backbone of the petroleum industry. He uses the latest scientific equipment and research in arriving at his results. Today a geologist's tools will include: ultra-violet light, seismic instruments, radio, microscope, transits, levels, altimeters, alidades, chemicals, and airplane photographs. In addition to this the geologist has had from five to seven years of college training in the reading of surface formations, the ages of various rock strata, the means of identifying them, the conditions under which oil and gas are formed; the past history of ancient ocean beds, mountains, river beds, and lakes now buried thousands of feet beneath the surface.

In studying rock cuttings of drilled wells, by observing rocks exposed at the surface, by electrical means, and by theory the geologist arrives at his conclusions. Fifteen years ago all oil was thought to be found only in fields in the rocks. This has been found to be untrue. Oil and gas can be found along old shore lines, in sandstone and limestone horizons where there is a change in porosity, in buried sand bars, in reefs, in buried sandstone and limestone hills, and in many other geological features.

In finding oil several conditions are absolutely necessary. First, there must be a source for the oil second, there must be a porous reservoir to hold the oil, and third, there must be a tight cover over this reservoir, usually shale. After the geologist has recommended favorable oil land his job is still not finished, he is directly concerned with the drilling operations and field development. Tomorrow—Origin of Oil

Outside Our Windows
You and I own a bit of the universe on which no taxes are required. Very likely no one knows we own it. It has never been surveyed as property; on one is likely to take it away from us. It belongs to us.

The view outside our window. Your property and mine. You own the view outside your window.

I own mine.

It is particularly pleasing to survey one's property after nightfall; preferably after one has gone to bed.

This property of yours and mine never bores one because it is always changing identity; always offering something new.

My property has a wildness to it that I like. On stormy nights, the thunder forms a massive background; the sharp flashes of lightning throw my property into sharp relief. All the trees out there that I own nod and bow to me through the storm, even the grass is greener in the rain. The blackness covers everything and suddenly there is quiet. A quietness to fit in with my mood after the roaring storm. And in the morning, my property is entirely different. The sun shines down, the birds sing in the trees, and

Peanut Yield Quality Low In North Texas

Principal peanut areas of North Texas reported rather low yields and below normal quality on early harvested nuts. Farmers who sold their peanuts received government support prices.

Unfavorable weather delayed digging of early matured fields in Louisiana and Arkansas. Extent of damage from rain and wind of the recent tropical hurricane will depend partly on the turn of the weather from now on. Shelled peanuts found slow demand at 16 1-4 to 16 1-2 cents per pound for No. 1 Spanish, and 15 1-4 for No. 2 grade.

Your property may be the next door fire escape. My property has taken forms like that; yet, it's my property. It doesn't belong to anyone else. And there is always a promise from the view outside the window. A still, definite promise.

Nature stirs constantly... promising. If this view is not the right one for you, plan to change it. Only by planning and trying can we change our views. If it is impossible to change our views, then look harder at your property. Somewhere in your property is compensation. Somewhere is understanding.

Notice it more carefully. See what you can find in your property.

Tonight if you look, you may even find a fairy ring on your property. They come by moonlight and you must be very still. Sometimes they ring a fairy bell. One has to be attune.

Survey your property outside your window tonight. And listen!

MAN WHO PROVIDED BUGSY'S GOLD KEY TELLS ABOUT IT

SANTA PAULA, Cal. (UP)—The man who made the gold key that Bugsy Siegel used to enter Virginia Hill's Beverly Hills home says that every time they had a fight "I had to go to her home and change the combination to the safe."
 Siegel was slain by gangland enemies in June in Miss Hill's home.
 William E. Morin has made keys or opened locks for just about "every star in Hollywood."
 "I thought Siegel was a pretty fair guy," Morin said; "at least he paid his bills promptly. I remember that I made him the gold key Virginia Hill gave him so he could get in the house. He was in Las Vegas at the time and I sent the key off to him."
 The late Lupe Velez was absolutely lock crazy, according to Morin. He installed a master lock system in her home in Beverly Hills.
 "Everything had locks — the windows, doors and everything else. She even had locks on the closets," he said.

 When Red Skelton went into the army, he forgot some of his clothes and Morin had to pick the locks to get into Skelton's house and take them to the airport.

Morin said he did some work for one producer that cost him $1,200. He put in an external lock system that controlled the safe from the outside. "You had to go through four different locking works before you could open the safe."

Elizabeth Short, so-called "black dahlia" murder victim, was a customer of Morin's who did not pay her bill. He made a key for a luggage compartment in her Chrysler.
 "She never came back to get it," Morin said.

MISSOURI REVOLTS ON VALLEY FLOOD CONTROL

By Robert W. Bernick
United Press Staff Correspondent
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UP)—

Ignoring the current trend in other states of the Missouri River valley, Missouri is attempting to work out its own salvation from floods through a co-operative agreement with the federal government.

Misourians seem to want little or no part of a "master" flood control plan which is being backed in neighboring states. That plan, known as the Pick-Sloan program, is sponsored by U. S.

Army engineers and the U. S. Reclamation Bureau. Eighteen "high-level" dams proposed for the state have been held up because of objections of Gov. Phil M. Donnelly and the Missouri legislature.

Neither an "irrigation" state or particularly interested in navigation of the "Big Muddy," which cuts her in half, Missouri wants most of all an answer to the devastating floods which this year cost her $24,186,800 in crop and soil losses in May and June alone. Many Missouri farmers object to the Pick plan because they contend it will prevent their farms from washing away, but merely will benefit flood control and navigation on the Mississippi. The state's population also is divided in allegiance between the proposed Missouri Valley Authority (MVA), embracing widespread hydro-electrical development, and the Pick plan—which is devoted to navigation, irrigation and flood control.

The solution, it is hoped, will be found in an extensive soil conservation program, along with "low level" dams with a limited backlog of water behind them, and a series of smaller dams on the upper reaches of many streams in the state.

In something of a compromise, proponents of the Pick plan have reached an agreement with the state government for an extensive study of flood conditions on the Osage River—a major tributary of the Missouri.

The survey—which will be used as a blue print for future flood control programs in the state in lieu of the Pick plan—is being carried out by the soil conservation agencies of the United States Department of Agriculture, the army engineers and the college of agriculture of the University of Missouri.

Participation of the engineers was seen as a turning point in the entire controversy of navigation versus irrigation and flood control as it affects Missouri.

Copters Patrol Power Lines

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Aerial patrol of transmission lines began today between Boulder Dam and Lorton in a dozen Angeles is being conducted by helicopter in a $10,000 experiment. Notably there is the Westington by the Los Angeles water and power department.

Map Shows Nice Terrain

WASHINGTON GROWING IN HONORS IN FAMILY'S LAND

INDON (UP)—All over this little island there are memorials to a man whose chief claim to fame is that he gave the British the worst beating in all their history.

His name is George Washington and the way things are moving here future generations may wonder whether he led the fish to triumph over the Americans, or vice versa.

With 1776 now apparently only a pleasant memory, the British refer to their Washington memorials as "shrines." They include two London, Sulgrave Manor in Northamptonshire where the Washingtons took residence in 1700.

Washingtons took residence in a manor house of various sorts in a dozen English counties. Notably there is the Westington by the Los Angeles water and power department.

College, Cambridge, from which the American flag is sometimes said to have evolved. The shield was taken from a stained glass window in Durham Cathedral.

Even other branches of the Washington family are being honored and tourist-wise Britons are marking every place on the island where the widely-scattered family crest appears.

For example, there is the church at Brington, Northamptonshire, which has an inscription to Lawrence Washington, great-great-grandfather of America's first president.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

We All Need Fun!

Nobody in Our Town is exactly lazy (even though Pete Swanson's missus claims he sleeps till seven A.M.). But the hardest working man of all is Doc Hollister—on call, morning, noon and night.

Funny thing, Doc's favorite prescription to his patients is: You ought to have fun. The pace of modern living, even on the farm, demands some relaxation.

And as Doc says—fun is a personal thing. For the missus it may mean a movie or a good book; for Dad, a mellow and refreshing glass of beer; and for the kids, parcheesic or the radio. Doesn't mean everybody has to like the same thing—so long as they relax, have fun, together, in the home.

Doc doesn't have much time himself. After a hard day, he'll relax before the fire with a glass of beer—and wait for the phone to ring again. And from where I sit, Doc deserves each well-earned minute of that relaxation.

Guinn Williams, Congressman from Deatur, paid a man to walk by his side and remind him of each approaching pedestrian's name. Guinn Williams remained in Congress until he got too old to see a sufficient distance to make it look real. Now the governor of Texas appoints agency heads that will say, "I don't trust any flight operator" to a representative group of them assembled for the purpose of drawing up a new state aviation program.
