Final Draft Of Western Pact Being Made

Economic Survey Of Area Begun By T&P Railway

Field work portions of the Texas and Pacific Railway Economic Survey for Ranger began last week with the visit of H. G. Jordan, Research Assistant in charge of the survey conducted by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

The local Chamber of Commerce will aid Mr. Jordan in gathering material for the study by sending out schedules to various people in the community. Local businessmen and government agencies will be contacted in collecting data on all factors affecting agriculture, industry, and commerce.

Due to the fact that this analysis is the first of its type on Ranger Mr. Jordan stressed the importance of cooperation on the part of businessmen and agencies in supplying information when contacted. According to Mr. Jordan, "Some of the material vital to the study to be completed can be obtained only directly from the people in each locality covered by the study."

The study is part of an economic survey program sponsored by the Texas and Pacific Railway. Covering 62 Texas counties along the route of the Texas and Pacific, the study will afford a complete inventory of natural, human, and capital resources in each territory.

Data will be compiled over several years as well as the postwar years in order to chart trends in economic activity of the county over a period of years. Designed to open up the possibilities and conditions which would be of interest to industries contemplating a location along the railway line, the study is of primary concern to each locality.

Mr. Jordan was formerly in charge of an industrial survey of the Bastrop area prepared by the Bureau for the Bastrop Chamber of Commerce.

French Planning Demonstrations

PARIS — French Communists planned new demonstrations today in the wake of a speech by Gen. Charles De Gaulle in which he called upon the United States to arm a Western European union against the spread of Communism.

Such a union, De Gaulle said in a speech at Compiègne yesterday, should include Germany and Austria, France's traditional enemies. De Gaulle said that France should be the moving spirit in such a union to counter Russia's "bid for domination." He said he was prepared to lead France into such a project "as soon as conditions permit carrying out the necessary responsibilities."

With him at the hearing is Chairman Charles Eaton. (NEA Telephoto).

Finland Will Negotiate Pact With Russia

HELSINKI—President Juho K. Paasikivi announced today that the government has agreed to Marshal Josef Stalin's proposal to negotiate a Russo-Finnish friendship and military pact.

Paasikivi said he had recommended negotiations begin in Moscow.

It was understood the majority of Finnish parties, who did not want to negotiate a military alliance, proposed the Moscow site for Communist demonstrations might be touched off during any conference here.

Paasikivi and the cabinet reached the decision to negotiate with Russia at a meeting this afternoon, a member of the government reported after the momentous session.

The first violence of the Russian treaty crisis occurred yesterday when Communists broke up a meeting at which Ernesti Hentunen, leader of the small radical party with 3,000 members, spoke against the treaty.

CIO Opposes Tax Reduction Bill

WASHINGTON—The CIO today denounced the house-approved $6,500,000,000 income tax reduction bill as a "tax steal for the wealthy and a stab in the back for the poor."

Stanley H. Ruttenberg, the unions assistant research director, outlined CIO opposition to the Republican-sponsored bill in a statement prepared for delivery to the Senate finance committee.

Ruttenberg proposed a substitute program that would reduce taxes by the same amount annually as the House bill—$6,500,000,000—but limit the benefits to those earning under $5,000 a year. He said this should be done by giving individuals a personal exemption of $1,500 plus $500 for each dependent. The present system allows $500 for each. Under the House bill, it would be raised to $600.

TO BE 50-YEAR ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL ALLIANCE

BRUSSELS—A drafting committee today began putting into final form a five-nation treaty upon which a union of Western Europe is expected to be formed eventually.

Diplomatic quarters said a 50-year economic and political alliance of Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg would be ready for signature Wednesday night.

Seven of the 12 articles which will comprise the alliance were being dispatched to the drafting committee to be put into definite form.

Today's meeting of the main delegations was devoted largely to economic portions of the treaty. The question of extending defense clauses to the colonies was not raised.

British and French diplomats said the military aspects of the treaty would not provide a military alliance in the technical sense.

Clauses would be so worded, they said, as to leave room for specific military details to be inserted.

Chip In Lung 35 Years Yields To Operation

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UP) — Ray Brown, Antwerp farmer, is doing his chores these days without the wood chip which he apparently carried around in his left lung for 35 years.

Now in his fifties, Brown recently was bothered by coughing attacks. He entered a Syracuse hospital, where a surgeon removed a piece of petrified wood, the size of a pea, from his lung.

Brown recalled that a chip flew into his mouth when he was chopping wood one day at the age of 16. He told his parents, but since

This Is "Stormy"

Stormy Lawrence, 21-year-old New Orleans night club dancer, goes through her strip-tease routine on the campus of Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge, in support of her candidate, Pat McIntyre, running for President of the student body. Act ended in a riot shortly after this picture was made when students raided the truck on which she was dancing, demolished the musical instruments and tossed "Stormy" into a nearby campus lake. (NEA Telephoto).

It didn't bother him, nothing was done about it. It was believed to be a piece of red maple.

Steel-Enameld Homes Projected To Solve U. S. Housing Shortage

COLUMBUS, O. (UP) —Lustron Corp., modified from a war baby to build enameled steel homes, is working now to put a dent of 17,500 homes in the nation's housing shortage before the year is over.

Officials of the pre-fabrication plant hope to reach a production level of 150 homes a day by mid-summer on a minimum of private capital and a $15,500,000 government loan. The company will employ about 7,500 persons at top production.

Walls, ceilings and roofs of the mass production homes are made of porcelain enameled steel. Lustron will also make its own plumbing fixtures of porcelain.

Carl G. Strandlund, an immigrant who came to this country from Sweden at the age of three, is the spark behind the post-war corporation. He is president, general manager and controlling stockholder, although he invested only $1,000 cash in the outfit.

Strandlund, who learned mechanical engineering in the farm implement industry at Moline, Ill., hopes to build production up to a 45,000-homes-a-year level. If he does, Lustron will produce almost double the number of homes pre-fabricated by the 300 other housing factories in the country last year.

The corporation president is setting up his home-building organization in one of the war-time Curtiss-Wright buildings on the outskirts of Columbus.

The porcelain-enameled steel house was developed while Strandlund was vice president of the Chicago Vitreous Enamel Co. during the war. He was awarded a diamond medal a few weeks after the war for what the armed forces said was an outstanding job.

Engineer, organizer and operator, Strandlund has this to say about the $1,000 investment made jointly with his wife in obtaining such a big government loan that it prompted a congressional inquiry:

"It actually isn't as simple as that. That's all the cash I invested directly, but it cost me a lot to develop the Lustron house and get control of it. The stockholders gave me 51 per cent of the stock, or about $860,000 worth, because of my development work and know-how.

"All my personal wealth is staked as collateral for the loan. If Lustron is unable to repay the loan, I am the first person to lose. Obviously, I'm going to make certain that the loan payments are made when due."

The official is confident that Lustron will be successful. Many of his engineers were recruited from the automobile industry, where mass production is an important factor. Key men from industries which will contribute material to the house are on his board of directors.

Strandlund is 48 years old.

Vacation Exodus Poses Problems This Summer

By Leo Turner
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Most people remember those pre-war summers when they piled into the family sedan loaded with luggage and fishing rods, drove all day and maybe an hour or so after dinner, and then found a room waiting for them to spend the night.

It's about time to start thinking about this year's vacation, but it might be well to think twice.

Tourist agencies and automobile clubs predict there will be more people going places this summer than ever before. The chief interest is in a "cheap" vacation. Those who have the money to roll in luxury will find plenty of room.

But if you're just an average American vacationist, you had better reduce your estimate of how many miles you can drive the car in one day, and figure on stopping around 4 or 5 p. m. to look for a place to spend the night.

There will be 7,000,000 more automobiles on American highways this summer than during the war. The total registration for 1944 was 30,379,450 vehicles. On Jan. 1, 1948, it had reached 37,164,450. There'll be more people getting a new car for this year's vacation than any year since the war.

The petroleum industry is wondering if it can meet the vacation demand. Not only are there more automobiles, but the consumption per car is up 300 gallons a year because the bulk of the nation's privately-owned vehicles are pre-war models. The industry also points to the competition for summer fuel from farm tractors, now twice the number as in the last year before the war.

If you are considering indulging in the old American custom of taking a look at the scenic beauty of some national park, the Forest service expects 20,000,000 other people to have the same idea.

The severe winter which extended the farthest south in 27 years made a bad dent in winter resort trade—estimates range from 18 to 30 per cent fewer customers than a year ago—but the hotter the summer, the more people are expected to take to the road.

If you've really got an itch to travel, the overseas tourist agencies are pointing to the devaluation of the franc as a money saver and are touting the "return to normalcy" of Belgium, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Holland, Sweden and Switzerland.

The American Express Company already has announced 31 escorted tours for Europe this summer, ranging from 19 to 46 days, with departure dates from May 14 to Aug. 14.

THE NIGHT

"Night lays here perfumed palms upon my eyes,
Her raven tresses trailing from the skies.
Her black gown sprinkled with the stars,
Folds down about my stillness and I drop my head upon her breast.
I love the healing fingers of the night: dark, warm, kindly night!
I surrender to her sweet entreaty,
Lose myself and all my fears as her gentle fingers touch my eyelids that had burned with unshed tears.
I don't know whether, or not you like poetry, but I do.
"The healing fingers of the night."

To me, that is the loveliest phrase in the above poem. For the night, I think, was meant to be healing. There is nothing of the garishness of the bright day about the blackness of the night; somehow human beings come into their own during the night time . . . when it is that we cast away the haunting cloak of daylight hours . . . the kindly lady of the night takes out her sewing kit and quickly, painlessly stitches up the torn places round the heart.
There is gentle comfort in the night.
"Surrender to her sweet entreaty . . . lose yourself and all your fears . . . as her gentle fingers touch your eyelids that had burned with unshed tears . . ."

Because deep within us, the human soul is always ready to acknowledge the unshed tears . . . There is a time for weeping and a time for rejoicing . . . Find the comfort in the dark velvety night sky . . . try to read

Pup Goes Up

All the cats around Parsons, Kan., would spit in Nickie's eye and then leap into a tree and jeer at him. Nickie took it for a while, and then the 1 1/2-year-old fox terrier had enough. He learned to leap after them. He flies through the air, digs his claws into the bark, and then scoots up to the crotch of the tree.

Married Saturday

Miss May Becomes Bride Of Mr. Hay In Ceremony Sat.

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock Miss Doris May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. May, became the bride of Mr. James Black Hay of Dallas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hay of Waterloo, Iowa.

The ceremony took place in the home of the bride's parents with Dr. G. Alfred Brown of Ft. Worth formerly of Ranger, officiating. The altar was arranged in one end of the living room and was backed by large mirror surrounded by smilax and fern. On each side of the mirror stood seven branch candelabra holding white candles and two tall floor baskets filled with white gladioluses, calla lilies and white snapdragons. The prayer bench was covered in white satin.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. M. R. Newnam of Longview, pianist, and Mrs. David D. Pickrell, violinist played Schubert's "Serenade," "Because," "I Love You Truly" and Mrs. Newnam played Tannhauser's "Evening Star." As the candles were lighted by Mr. Carl Hill of Dallas, groomsmen, the two musicians played "Through the Years," and for the wedding played the traditional processional and recessional marches.

Mrs. J. K. Neal of Dallas attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a pale green nylon marquisette gown with matching sheer braided wide brimmed hat with yellow streamers and carried a bouquet of yellow ranuncula and shredded carnations.

The groom was attended by Mr. C. E. May Jr., brother of the bride, as best man and Mr. Carl Hill of Dallas as groomsman.

The bride's mother wore a soft green dinner gown with a corsage of orchid vanda orchids.

The reception followed immediately after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with an imported linen cutwork and lace cloth and appointed with silver. At one side was a silver bowl filled with calla lilies and candytuft, flanked by three branch silver candelabra holding white candles. The wedding cake was three tiered decorated with raised hearts and flowers and topped by a miniature bride and groom beneath an arch of white flowers. On the buffet was a silver bowl filled with white snapdragons and candytuft and two three branch silver candelabra with white candles.

In the house party at the reception were Mrs. A. B. Conway of Mineral Wells, M. H. Smith of Dallas, John Thurman, M. H. Hagaman, J. E. Matthews, Ross Hodges, B. A. Tunnell, Carl Hill of Dallas, George Davenport of Eastland, Deane Crawley, James Ratliff, James Sanders, Leslie Hagaman and John M. Gholson. When the couple left for a short wedding trip the bride wore a navy blue suit with navy accessories and a white orchid corsage. On returning from the trip they will make their home at 3720 Inwood Road, Dallas.

Mrs. Hay is a graduate of Ranger High School and the University of Texas and until recently had been a member of the office staff of the American Airlines in Dallas. Mr. Hay is a graduate of the University of Iowa where he was a member of Phi Sigma fraternity. He is associated with the American Airlines in Dallas.

Out-of-town guests here to attend the wedding were, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Jeter, Shreveport, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Burkett, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bedell, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Brin, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Harrison, Miss Dorothy Jean Harrison, Jimmie Harrison, Mrs. M. H. Smith, all of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Williams, Dr. and Mrs. S. D. Terrell, Dr. & Mrs. G. Alfred Brown, Mrs. Estell Davenport, Mrs. C. E. Terrell, all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Newnam, Longview; Mrs. A. B. Conway, Mineral Wells; Judge and Mrs. George L. Davenport, Mrs. Clem Ratliff, all of Eastland.

number of comics which appeal either directly to adult minds, or use a broad brush in daubing the strip's continuity with social satire.

The final listing Dr. Sones gives is the purely educational, or religious comic strip.

Drawing the outlines of a comic reader's personality from his preferences is no cinch, Dr. Sones says. But knowledge of such preferences is a helpful guide.

For instance, an adult who regularly reads none but the adventure and danger strips is often a man or woman who nurses a feeling of persecution, or a grudge against a superior, or perhaps simply dissatisfaction with the existing social order.

Dr. Sones believes comics have only begun to progress. He predicts more adequate use of comic strips in education.

For example, he believes that a text book story duplicating one of the four black sequence of "Prince Valiant" would run at least 2,500 words long and have less effect on the memory than the pictures which can be read in a minutes' time.

PITTSBURGH, (UP)—Modern comic strips, many of which long ago forsook comedy for adventure, love, and satire, now give psychologists a new means of testing personality.

Dr. Warren W. Sones, professor of education at the University of Pittsburgh, believes, comic strip preference offers more reliable study material than the test of tea leaves or the trustiest of palms.

For instance, the reader who ed to her home in Mineral Wells after a week-end visit with Mrs. Fete Jensen. Mrs. Conway was here to attend the May-Hay wedding Saturday night.

fighters for each installment of high adventure, mass homicide, glamor and love comics is an "ego enhancement" type—a person who nurses ambitions for heroism, swash-buckling adventure and glamor.

Readers who follow the "domestic" comic strips usually are members of happy families.

The strips Dr. Sones refers to as "hate art" include those in which the unscrupulous villain is foiled. Often the villain is a commonly respected type of citizen for whom a particular class or type of individual reserves a special dislike.

Dr. Sones says the frustration of the villains serves to give the "hate art" readers vicarious pleasure.
