Council Postpones Action On Israel Sanctions

REPORT INTERVENTION BY TRUMAN HALTS TALKS UNTIL AFTER ELECTION

By United Press

The United Nations Security Council today put off action on possible sanctions against Israel, at least until the U. S. presidential elections Tuesday, reportedly as a result of intervention by President Truman.

The Council set up a five-nation subcommittee in Paris to try to work out a compromise on the disputed Anglo-Chinese proposal for economic and diplomatic sanctions against Israel unless she quits Heersheba and other territory taken from Egypt in recent fighting.

It then adjourned indefinitely, probably until Tuesday, to give the subcommittee time to work.

The United States indicated yesterday it would support the Anglo-Chinese proposal. But responsible diplomatic sources said overnight intervention by President Truman led to the decision to appoint a subcommittee and put off any definitive action until too late to influence the American elections.

The American delegation would neither confirm nor deny the report. The political committee already has postponed debate on the over-all Palestine dispute until after the American elections.

Other foreign news: PARIS — Western delegates to the United Nations expressed fears that Soviet premier Josef Stalin's denunciation of the West might herald Soviet intensification of the East-West cold war. They were concerned that the Soviet not only will increase his denunciation of the West in the UN, but step up Communist pressure throughout the world.

Officers Named In College Club

The International Relations Club of Ranger Junior College met Wednesday evening with President Calvin King, in charge of the proceedings.

Program and social committees were appointed for the coming year. Gloria Rogers was appointed on the program committee and Bill Spivey was appointed as chairman of the social committee.

Club sponsor, Mrs. Willis discussed the future plans of the club. Meetings will be held the first and third Thursday of each month.

J. F. Jeffries Critically Ill

It was reported from the West Texas Hospital today that the condition of J. F. Jeffries is very critical and little hope is felt for his recovery.

Mr. Jeffries was stricken about two weeks ago but had recovered to some extent and had been up about his home. On being stricken again he was taken to the West Texas Hospital.

Barrymore To Walk

Screen star Lionel Barrymore, right, who has been confined to a wheel chair for the past ten years, will be walking again in the next few months, even without crutches if he reduces another twenty pounds. Director of Barrymore's current film, Henry Hathaway, left, assists him to his feet for his first film in ten years minus his wheel chair. (NEA Telephoto).

Plant Destroyed By Fire To Be Re-Opened Mon.

Exactly six weeks to the day after their Ranger Dry Cleaning plant was gutted by fire, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Culpepper will reopen that plant for business.

The plant will open for business Monday, Nov. 1 but will hold an open house Saturday afternoon to give their customers an opportunity to inspect it. However, the owners stated that they will accept clothes Saturday afternoon but that no actual cleaning work will begin until Monday.

The Culpeppers expressed their appreciation to the people of Ranger for their cooperation following their loss and for the aid that had been given them in rebuilding the plant. They were especially appreciative of the cooperation given them and the claim agent in settling claims for losses in the fire. They stated that the agent made the statement that he had never worked with more cooperative people in settling claims.

They also pointed out that the re-opening of the plant so soon after the fire had been made possible through voluntary help from friends.

Foreign Surplus Disposed Abroad Reports Lovett

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (UP) — Acting secretary of state Robert A. Lovett reported today that the United States has sold to foreign nations virtually all of the $10,261,979,000 in war surplus property left abroad.

The sales began three years ago and brought a return to the U. S. 19.2 cents on the original dollar of investment. Lovett told congress in a quarterly report that less than one-half of one per cent of the original stockpile still is "available and saleable."

The report confirmed that this government has no surplus stockpile from which it can dish out arms for western Europe. Under the proposed North Atlantic Security Pact the U. S. probably will be asked to provide some sort of military "lend-lease" to the five "western" nations.

The five nations are Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Lovett reported that the government is about ready to wind up the surplus sales program.

The Army, Navy, and Air Force in most parts of the world will stop declaring property to be surplus after next Sunday. Lovett said this cut-off date would apply to all areas but the Far East, where the program will drag on a few months longer.

BABSON PREDICTS ANOTHER DEPRESSION, PROBABLE WAR

Editor's Note—Roger Babson, the economist who forecast the 1929 stock market crash, says there's going to be another depression and probably another war too but not this year or next.

In an interview on the occasion of the anniversary of the crash Babson said depressions are inevitable and war will come unless a world government with authority is developed.

United Press Staff Correspondent WELLESLEY, Mass., Oct. 29 — (UP) — Nineteen years ago today, Oct. 29, 1929, the stock market crashed.

It was "black Tuesday." The glass-domed tickers ran hours behind transactions in Wall Street brokerage offices in New York. In the ensuing days of panic and confusion, men who had been millionaires a week before became paupers.

Filling station attendants, bookkeepers, housewives, all "experts" on the stock market saw their small investments wiped out overnight.

One of the few men who foresaw the market break was Economist Roger Babson. He predicted in September 1929 that the crash was coming.

Today, Babson took a gloomy look at the world and predicted that another depression and probably another war are on the way.

However, they won't arrive this year or next, the 73-year-old former prohibition party presidential candidate said in an interview.

"Depression's inevitable," said Babson. "War isn't—but it surely will come unless the nations can develop a world government with authority to regulate such things as tariffs and immigration."

Babson said he's preparing for war because he doesn't think such an international organization can be created until the world's businessmen "stop worrying about profits, the working men about wages, and the politicians about votes."

"In other words," he said, "A spiritual awakening is the only solution to the problem."

Convinced that nearby Boston would be a primary target in World War III, Babson is preparing atomic bomb havens at Remote Eureka, Kans., and New Boston, N. H.

He said he isn't pessimistic about war because he figures it's coming but doesn't think it will end civilization or even stop the economic development of the United States.

Ranger Future Homemakers To Observe Week

The week of Oct. 31 through Nov. 6 has been designated Future Homemakers' Week in the nation, the state and in Ranger.

The Future Homemakers of Ranger High School under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Eastland are following the prescribed program to the letter and in order to carry out their activities are making efforts to raise money for them.

Currently they have for sale a very tempting looking cook book "Here's What's Looking in Texas" and a quick glance through it convinced us that it's thoroughly Texas. In fact, we practically took out from the office with it to go home and try some of 'em.

The chapter makes a small percentage on each book sold and they'd sure like to sell you one. Elsewhere in this paper you will find directions about how to get one. Give the Homemakers a helping hand.

Incidentally, the principles on which the FHA operates and the objectives toward which it strives is convincing enough of the fine work being done in their field. Better homemakers for America should have the intense interest of all.

Football—who said anything about football? If you can get a willing ear for any other subject you're better than we are.

This morning it was football last night, football tonight, football tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night and football forever more, we began to think.

During the last few minutes of last night's game we were frozen to the seat and only the thawing effect of that timely whistle saved us. Whew! That last half was a battle for the grandstand as well as the boys on the field.

But anyway, we won.

Marshall To London

PARIS, Oct. 29, (UP) — Secretary of State George C. Marshall left for London by plane at 3:30 P. M. (9:30 A. M. EST) today.

The United States delegation to the United Nations was not authorized to report Marshall's departure for an hour after the takeoff.

Exceptional security precautions prevented any earlier hint of the trip. His press officers said at noon that so far as they knew Marshall had no week-end plans.

President Visits Archbishop

As his first call in Boston, President Truman visited with Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, spiritual leader of New England Catholics, who Vatican circles, say may soon be named by Pope Pius to the Cardinalate. — (NEA Telephoto).

Well... I Dunno, But...

Occasionally through this column an appeal is made for some local cause and we're always glad to lend a helping hand, if such it is.

And there came to our attention yesterday a cause that we've never mentioned before but one that certainly deserves it. The Future Homemakers of Ranger are trying to raise some funds for their activities this year. They aren't taking an easy route but are working at it. They have for sale a very tempting looking cook-book known as "Here's What's Looking in Texas" and a quick glance through it convinced us that it's thoroughly Texas. In fact, we practically took out from the office with it to go home and try some of 'em.

The chapter makes a small percentage on each book sold and they'd sure like to sell you one. Elsewhere in this paper you will find directions about how to get one. Give the Homemakers a helping hand.

Incidentally, the principles on which the FHA operates and the objectives toward which it strives is convincing enough of the fine work being done in their field. Better homemakers for America should have the intense interest of all.

Football—who said anything about football? If you can get a willing ear for any other subject you're better than we are.

This morning it was football last night, football tonight, football tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night and football forever more, we began to think.

During the last few minutes of last night's game we were frozen to the seat and only the thawing effect of that timely whistle saved us. Whew! That last half was a battle for the grandstand as well as the boys on the field.

But anyway, we won.

And we double-dog dare those Bulldozers to put us through such a strain tonight. But after hearing tales of the Bulldog feat at Comanche, we guess we'd hold out hopefully through even such a second half as last night.

We understand that there will be another grand exodus from Ranger for football games tomorrow—that is an exodus of those that were lucky enough to get tickets.

Joe Nuesse tells the best fairy tale that we've heard. For months, or maybe it's weeks, he'd been trying to get tickets to the Texas-SMU game Saturday. Hope had banished when day before yesterday came a wire saying he had a couple of tickets. Don't ask us how he did it. We don't know.

Then, heard of the mama and papa going down for the game and a visit with daughter and husband in Austin and the mama spent all day Friday baking cakes, dressing turkey or maybe 'twas chickens, to be sure that the larder was filled for the weekend and that ever crowded cafes in Austin wouldn't have to turn them away.

The same couple, after weeks of trying for room reservations in Austin, gave up and accepted floor space with a sheltering quilt at the apartment home of their daughter.

Yes, yes, I know. But then everybody else was talking about football and we did want somebody to read this column. Darn sure thing they'd not be interested in anything else.

In fact, we've talked ourselves into trying to bum a ride to one of those games.

Oh well, there'll come the season when there'll be only the weather to write about.

Oh, we nearly forgot the rain, what with all the football talk. We got 10 of an inch which makes a total of 1.30 inches for October as compared with 3.57 inches last year.

Marshall Plan's Loan Feature Brings Complicated Problems

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Marshall Plan Administrator Paul Hoffman's reconstruction loan program for Europe isn't working out quite as expected. This part of the Economic Co-operation Administration job is directly under Wayne C. Taylor. He was formerly undersecretary of Commerce and a member of the Export-Import Bank board.

The original plan was for all ECA loans to be made for specific reconstruction projects by the usual Export-Import Bank procedure. Only loans that had good chances of paying out were to be approved, project by project.

Out of ECA's first year $5,000,000,000 appropriation, $1,000,000,000 was set aside for repayable loans, $4,000,000,000 for free grants. But it was soon discovered that this 80 per cent grant-20 per cent loan ratio could not be applied right down the line for each of the 16 co-operating countries.

Countries like Sweden and Iceland needed only loans. Austria, Western Germany and Trieste could take only grants. Switzerland and Portugal were on a cash basis. Most of the countries, like Britain and France, needed both loans and grants. So mixed formulas had to be worked out, country by country.

SOME of the countries have done excellent jobs in submitting estimates on their required reconstruction loans. Iceland knew just what she wanted in the way of a factory ship to modernize her fishing industry. Iceland got the first loan, and so far the only one, for $2,500,000.

Turkey has submitted good estimates on requirements for her mining, power, agriculture and transport industries. Italy likewise has turned in specific plans in what she needs to rebuild power, textile, transport, chemical and shipping industries. Italy had many plants completely destroyed by the war. Rebuilding these plants and putting in modern American machinery make ideal projects for ECA loans.

Most of the European governments, however, made little effort to separate projects on which they wanted grants from those which should be handled by repayable loans. They just listed everything they wanted or needed, apparently hoping that the money might be handed out for free instead of for repayment. This has made it necessary for ECA to decide what should be financed by loan and what by grant.

There were complications in that too much detail was involved in handling separately all the small reconstruction projects which might be financed as loans.

To meet this situation, the idea was developed to make what might be called lump-sum loans covering a number of individual reconstruction projects. Technically, they are international trade balance payments loans. Many of the ECA-Export-Import Bank loans will be negotiated on this basis in the future.

SEPARATE grant-loan ratios are being worked out for each country. Many factors have to be taken into consideration. What is each country's existing debt structure? At what dates must it repay other loans? How good a risk is the country? How long should its future loans run? When should repayments begin?

It has been decided that all loans must be repayable within 35 years, at 2 1/2 per cent interest, interest-free for the first 10 years. No repayments in principal or interest are to begin until 1958—end of the present ECA program. Some principal payments will be deferred until 1960, some repayments will be on a regular semi-annual schedule. Others will be on tapered schedules, to fit in with the country's other obligations. Admittedly, this gives some countries better breaks than others. ECA says it can't be helped.

THE STORY: Hilary Straton, British secret agent, recalls living in a cracked stone, after completing a dangerous mission. He is returning to England and his home. (He doesn't know that his home has been let and that Hilary is aware of, he is back in London sleeping in at his club, but he has no serious conviction of his presence. Hilary learns that his mother, George, has been visiting with Alice, Hilary's fiancee. At first, he thinks it's all a dream. Then, with dismay, he overcomes the sense of his own death. Shocked at first, he later decides to change the situation. Next day he visits his mother's town house. George and his mother are awaiting Alice for lunch. They, too, are unaware of his presence. His mother tells George that she has had another letter from the people at Nuns Farthing. "What people?" asks Hilary.

"THE Archers again?" George sighed with resignation. "Well, what do they want now?" "They want that tree down at the end of the drive where it joins the road," replied his mother. "They say it's dangerous—in the way, you know."

"That tree has been there a good many years and nobody has run aul of it yet," said George.

"Well, apparently the butcher's boy did smash himself up, on his bicycle. There was a car coming from the left, and in avoiding it the boy hit the tree and broke his collar-bone."

"They're a sticky nuisance, those people. I almost wish we'd never let the place!"

"Let Nuns Farthing!" cried Hilary in surprise.

"If they only buy it—" she began, and hesitated.

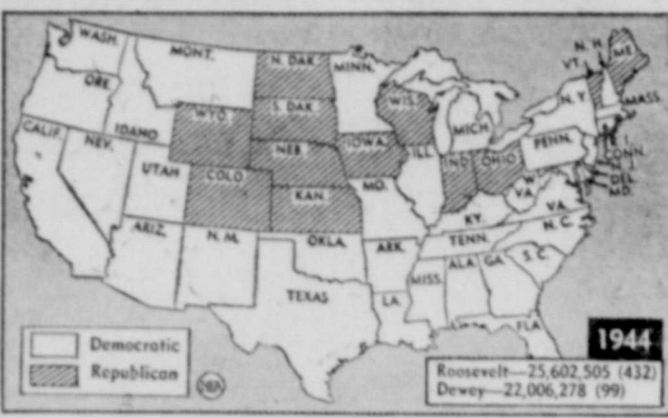

"You can't sell a place like that nowadays, mater. The market is still with them. It's too big and too far from town—and too expensive to keep up!"

"Your father was fond of it,"

FRANK STRANAHAN

"You'll find out if you're not careful," Hilary told him. "I suppose it's worth it," reflected George gloomily, and sampled the White Lady.

THEIR mother laid down the letter and sat watching George with her chin in her hand.

"George," she said suddenly, as though making up her mind, "you needn't think I haven't noticed."

"Noticed what, old lady?" said George, blushing.

"You're in love with Alice. I'm your mother and I can tell."

"Ah, here we go," said Hilary with satisfaction. "How about it, George?"

"You're much too clever, aren't you, mum? Besides, she's always run after Hilary, ever since they were kids."

"I know," she agreed gravely. "I never could understand it."

"Couldn't you, dear?" said Hilary, with rueful laughter.

George was looking self-conscious and pleased.

"Hilary, you, mum, you are partial, aren't you?"

"Oh, George, you ought to know by now that you're my favorite son."

"There you are, George, that's plain enough!" The private view had taken a slightly unexpected turn, but Hilary was still an interested spectator. It was not really news to him that George was the favorite. But all the same, it was odd to hear her say it, so shamelessly.

"You may think I don't think of these things, but I do," his mother went on to assure George seriously. "And that's why I know Hilary isn't the marrying kind, and the sooner Alice finds that out the better!"

"Yes, but in the meantime—until she does find out—I can't very well interfere, you know," George reminded her virtuously.

"Oh, you men!" she cried in exasperation. "When will you understand that a woman wants to be won?"

"Uh—I see," said George, and was visibly turning things over in his mind.

"Careful, mother, you're giving him ideas," Hilary cautioned her. (To Be Continued)

THE STORY: Hilary Sheatone, British secret agent, recalls lying wounded in the Indian desert beside a cracked glass, awaiting completion of a dangerous mission. He remembers feeling a desperate need to return to England and home. He doesn't know that the house has been let and that dreamy, 37-year-old Sabrina, whom he has never met, has adopted his old room and eagerly awaits his return. Hilary's mother, Hilary's sister, Hilary's fiancée. At last, he thinks it's all a dream. Then with a gasp, he remembers the report of his own death. Shookled at first, he later decides to enjoy the situation. After spending the night in a room at the club, he makes up his mind to look into the matter of George and Alice.

XII

TOWARDS lunch time he mounded the steps of his mother's little house in Park Street. It was one of the green Rolls-Royce four-wheelers, he supposed, which stood at the curb. A noisy brute of a car, and just what George would drive. Automatically he searched his pockets—darn—no keys—Dalton had his keys, in Peshawar.

Round the corner came two quite correct little boys, brothers, dressed alike in gray suits with bare knees and white collars. With them was a lively spaniel, off his lead, which dangled from the younger boy's hand. Eminently well-behaved, they came level with the bottom of the steps where he stood—they were moving briskly, absorbed in the dog. Hilary pressed the bell.

The little boys broke into a brief run in an effort to restrain the lead to the frisky dog's collar. They were still chasing him busily, several houses further away when Hilary, the maid, opened the door to an empty doorman. Hilary slipped past her into the hall. With a dark look after the innocent pair with the spaniel, Hilary think it was a ghost!"

"Well, Ponsonby says he was in bed reading, when the door suddenly swung open as though someone had turned the knob from the passage."

"Yes—and hadn't someone?"

"Not a soul. There was nobody there. That is, nobody he could see. He was frightfully upset!"

"I said I was sorry," said Hilary in his own defense.

"Men's clubs are full of practical jokers," asserted their mother.

"Ah, but Ponsonby swears he pulled himself together at once and jumped out of bed to close the door. The passage was empty. But he's positive that something had opened that door and was surprised to see him there, and went away, leaving it open."

"I never heard of anything so absurd!" she cried. "The latch gave in a draught, of course."

"I know. We all said that. But there's another thing."

"Well, what?"

"Last night somebody slept in a room that was supposed to be empty."

"Oh, George, really?"

"I'm only telling you what they said! A room that hadn't been booked for several nights had its bed slept in last night. But there's no trace of the occupant.—Hinton, if you'll bring up the makings," added George, "I'll shake up a White Lady before lunch."

"Yes, sir," said Hinton, and withdrew again.

"And that's not all," George continued impressively, and produced the ultimate manifestation. "The fellow in the next room heard the bath water being run by the fellow in the empty room."

"Now, George, you're not trying to tell me their ghost took a bath!"

"That's the story! Ponsonby is going to write to the Society for Physical Research!"

"Men are so silly! He was probably scaring himself to death with a detective story when it happened. George, I've had another letter from those people down at Nuns Farming."

"What people?" demanded Hilary, astonished.

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Oct. 29 (UP)—Two 19-year-old convicts were back in their cells at State Prison today, weary from a 15-hour chase by bloodhounds, sheriffs and state highway patrolmen.

Court Rules Out Diverge Dispute

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 29 (UP)—A state law requiring a divorced husband to financially aid his wife until they reach the age of 18, even though they may be in the custody of their mother, was involved in court litigation here today.

A suit over the statute was ruled out of court here yesterday by District Judge William M. Holland, but attorneys for Mrs. Chloe Morgan served notice they would appeal to the state court of appeals. Mrs. Morgan brought suit against Cliff E. Drescher, a 34-year-old music teacher, requiring him to pay $1,394 to support and educate his 18-year-old daughter.

Defense attorneys claimed the suit did not merit a court hearing, and Judge Holland's action followed.

The old state Democratic party of South Carolina, along with those in Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi, have accepted Gov. J. Strom Thurmond as their state party's presidential nominee.

McGrath wired Ashton H. Williams, newly-named National Democratic committee chairman replacing Thurmond: "We have been informed of the organization of your group and you have met the requirements of properly organizing yourselves."

McDonald said he had supported Lyndon Johnson in the first Democratic senatorial primary. McDonald has supported Republican candidates before, on the national level. He has endorsed the Dewey-Warren ticket for president and vice-president.

Galveston Crime Is Under Fire

BY JACK GALE

A full-scale investigation of crime in this resort town was under way today by a Galveston county grand jury originally impaneled to study alleged election fraud.

The decision to expand its activities was made by the Grand jury yesterday, following the shooting from ambush of one of the jury's officers.

The grand jury asked that Texas Rangers take over the investigation of these early morning shooting of C. H. Jackson, 25, police patrolman who was commissioned Wednesday as a bailiff for the grand jury.

The investigation will include a look into gambling, prostitution and dissention in law enforcement agencies as well as the alleged election irregularities.

Jackson said he was shot when his automobile was ambushed by five men in a "strange" car, touching off a running gun battle that ended when he outraced them and found sanctuary in John Sealy Hospital.

Jackson and three other officers — Detective W. E. Taber and Patrolmen C. E. Timm and C. H. Kirby — were appointed special grand jury bailiffs Wednesday. Their duties were to assist in the grand jury's investigation of voting irregularities, which allegedly are linked with the Galveston "underworld."

OUTWEIGHED BULLDOGS MEET STRONG HAMILTON TEAM TONITE

The Bulldogs get a chance to play the spoiler role tonight when they face the Hamilton Bulldogs, co-leaders in the 8A conference, at Bulldog stadium.

Technically not eligible for conference honors themselves, the Ranger High Bulldogs with a victory over their opposing Bulldogs can just about knock Hamilton from the title contention in the conference chase. Hamilton is currently tied with the Eastland Mavericks for the lead.

The so-called weak sisters have been the meat of the Hamilton team in conference play thus far. Pete Roach's eleven has successfully throttled Comanche, DeLeon, and Gorman but none of these teams rates as the big boys of the circuit.

Hamilton has and will probably make full use of a huge weight advantage over the Bulldogs. The starting line-up will be some 20 pounds heavier than the home team. And the opposition features a bruising, power game, stemming from a single-wing formation.

A 200-pound fullback McCollum has provided Hamilton with the basis of their power attack. This line-smacking behemoth not only hits with stunning force but is often called upon to skirt the flanks. For most of the outside running assignments Roach will call on halfback Leeth who is the break-away runner.

Coach Warden is not looking for a repetition of last week's story book game with Comanche. At least he's hoping his team won't roll over and play dead for an entire half.

Buddy Hamrick will start his first ball game of the season from the quarterback spot, replacing R. C. Smith. Hamrick has been used as a defensive line backer in previous games. But on the basis of his near perfect job in the Comanche victory he rates the starting assignment.

Another change will find Billy Wayne McKinney entrusted with the punting job. Raymond Comacho who has done the booting thus far hasn't been up to par lately and Warden feels the left-footed kicker can improve the Bulldog's lackluster punting game.

Tackle Marvin Wilson is still troubled by knee miseries and for the second straight game will occupy a seat on the bench. Little Charles Wheat will again take over and the tiny fireball has sparkled in his emergency role.

The remainder of the starting line-up remains intact. Captain Keith Munnerlyn and Jimmy Ice will start at ends. Jimmy Paterson and Dean Elder, the dependable guards get the call again with E. P. Robinson at center. Frog Langley will team with Wheat at the tackle slots.

Surrounding Hamrick in the backfield will be Raymond Com-

GROSS UNDERSTATEMENTS

BY MARVIN GROSS

Memorial Stadium in Austin will swell with about half the people in the state of Texas tomorrow to see 22 boys roll around the grass. But those 22 boys are going to put on "wan fine show," you betcha. And their winner—well, let's mull this around for awhile.

The Longhorns have failed in every major test thrust their way since the Arkansas game—and it took a last ditch spurt to beat a so-so Rice team. While the Mustangs took it on the chops from Missouri and came back a much better club to gobble up Rice and Santa Clara. Doak Walker and Gil Johnson will probably give Austinians (if that's how to put it) a melancholy afternoon if they came expecting to cheer a Texas victory.

Vying for the top game in the Southwest Conference will be Baylor, that's undefeated Baylor and the always tough Lindy Berry-led T.C.U. Frogs. The Bears have been creaking lately sneaking past Texas Tech and the Aggies while the Frogs played a whirlwind 60 minutes against Oklahoma. Adding up the pros and cons we still say Baylor by a little but enough to win.

Remaining conference engagements pits the luckless Aggies against Arkansas, idle last week. Of course the Razorbacks have Clyde Scott and of course the Aggies have been up-ended every start this year—and of course they're due to win one but they won't. The Arkansas lads will score twice and the Aggies will come up with their customary two touchdowns.

Rice has a ball game with Texas Tech in a little thing no one is getting bothered about. The Owls have some working room in this one and should win if they're ever going to win.

A quartet of the unbeaten powerhouses have little more than breathers for their Saturday's chores. Michigan might have their hair ruffled for a few moments but the Wolverines are going to be unbeaten for at least a few more weeks. Notre Dame plays a Navy team that merits something for sheer courage. If the Middles ever win one, a national holiday is in order. Penn should hang their heads for picking on Washington and Lee although they've two hang-up generals and Army will get tried playing Virginia Tech.

acho at full. Comacho has been the wheelhorse of the attack in the past four games and the 150-pound boy runs with the power of a 200-pounder. Jimmy Comacho and Kenneth Williams will start at the half back spots.

The Eastland Mavericks, also a top of the conference, play the Comanche Indians in another important league tussle. A Hamilton loss coupled with a Maverick victory would put the surprising Eastland boys as rulers of the roost as the only undefeated conference team.

RANGERS WIN OVER NAVARRO, 20-18 AFTER BULLDOG RALLY MISSES FIRE

BY MARVIN GROSS

A crest-riding Ranger team that had seemingly sailed away a 20-6 verdict over Navarro Junior College almost saw the victory stolen away from them in the final period but held tight to escape with a 20-18 win.

Emerging from a six-six halftime deadlock the Rangers gobbled up two Bulldog fumbles in the third period to zoom into a two touchdown lead. And when Johnny McClelland booted two perfect conversions Coach Boone Yarbrough's team had just about clinched its fourth consecutive victory.

Then the 134-pound Bulldog quarterback, Bill Reed started that magic left arm into activity and Navarro strolled back into the ball game. Reed who had 16 completions for 27 attempts throughout the evening centered his attention mainly on halfback Bill Davis and the combination almost did it.

Early in the final quarter Navarro moved 85 yards and climaxed the surge when Reed hit Davis in the end zone corner with a 10 yard aerial. With three minutes remaining the Bulldogs moved 86 yards—a Reed pass to Davis again notching the touchdown. But missing both conversions the Bulldogs were two points down.

Bill Reed got his hands on the ball again with less than a minute to go. However the party was over for Bobby Gene Williams, the game's defensive standout, leaped up and plucked off Reed's pass on the 30 and wrapped up the ball game.

It was midway in the first period that the Rangers moved 47 yards for the opening score. Frankie Ford snatched Reed's opening pass and returned to the Bulldogs 47. Crawley and Bailey Woods tore off consistent yardage to grind out a first down on the 12. After Woods picked up another first—the two, Bobby Gene Williams plunged over center for a six point lead. McClelland's conversion was wide.

The Bulldogs knotted the count in the second period when Bill Davis returned Williams' punt to the Ranger's 33. Reed rifled two shots to Lengino and the Bulldogs were on the six. Then Davis hit off tackle for six and the deadlock. Holland was no good with the extra point try.

An exchange of fumbles gave Ranger possession on the Bulldogs 46 early in the final half. On the first play Junior Arterburn faded, hit Howard Frazier on the 29 and Frazier was set for a solo jaunt. He went over standing up and McClelland's conversion put Ranger ahead 12-6.

Poor luck dogged Navarro as Hopson fumbled immediately after the next kick-off. Williams recovered and the Rangers were

An Ivy League classic will find Cornell skimming past Columbia—Harried Harry of Wisconsin faces more woes against Iowa, but we doubt if Harry will be forced to pack his bags. And the potential Rose Bowl hope, Northwestern plays Ohio State in what should prove a close one with the Wildcats on top.

Yarbrough now can join Stubby Warden in "the old before their time" coaching club. A little man with a big arm almost stole one from right under the noses of the Rangers. But it was an impressive victory for the home boys and should give them the "confidence to snare the conference."

It remains for the Bulldogs to make it a clean sweep for Ranger football teams this week. Tuesday the Junior High gang took Cisco, Wednesday the B string Hound Dogs wallowed in Weatherford and then last night it was another win. A Bulldog win tonight will make Ranger the football capitol of West Texas.

knocking again from the 29. Ford ate up a first down in two tries on the 19. Bailey Woods powered to the 13 and Jimmy Crawley hit to the 10. On last down Arterburn faded to the right and threw on the run to Dale Jones in the end zone. Jones, surrounded by defenders clutched the ball for what turned out to be the clinching marker. McClelland again split the uprights.

It was time for the Bulldogs to fade but pushed back to their own 15 they switched to a semi-passing formation and Reed couldn't miss. A Reed pass to Davis chalked up one score and after stopping the Ranger ground game they started another assault from their own 14.

Reed doled out his shots to Davis, Carter and Vinson to carry on down to the four. And three minutes from whistle time the Bulldogs had their third score—via Reed to Davis by the flag markers.

Stopped after the next kick-off on their own 24 the Rangers punted out to the 41. But it wasn't the night for a Merrwell finish and Williams stepped in to kill off the last Bulldog hope.

Houston Leads Hockey Circuit

By United Press

It was the Houston Huskies out in front of the southern division of the United States hockey league today.

Trailing 3-2 going into the final period against the Dallas Texans last night, the huskies turned on the heat with Joe McArthur scoring three goals in that period and won going away 6-2.

The victory gave the Huskies eight points and made them the highest scoring club in the circuit with 29 goals in seven games.

All other clubs were idle and only other contests scheduled this week will find Omaha at Dallas and Tulsa at Minneapolis tomorrow night.

Manchurian Army Retreating

PEIPING, Oct. 29 (UP)—The Manchurian Army of Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek is in full retreat before Communist forces driving it south toward a Dunkerque at the Yellow Sea port of Yingkou, front dispatches said today.

Nationalist forces have started pulling out of Mukden for a retreat along a 100-mile "hairline corridor" to Yingkou and responsible sources said the government had rushed transports to the port to haul them out.

Chinese officials and foreign diplomats, who swarmed into this north China stronghold of the government by air, said Gen. Wei Li Huang apparently had no intention of leaving any defenders behind for a rear guard action or "last stand at Mukden.

One scheduled execution, that of Hermann Dammann, was stayed at the last moment on an appeal "of sufficient merit to warrant further investigation and study," according to the army judge advocate's office.

Today's executions carried out sentences handed down by the U.S. war crimes tribunal that sat at Dachau last year. They began at nine A. M. GMT (4 A. M. EST) and were completed in 90 minutes.

Dammann, 54, was a home guard soldier at Neu Wulmstorf. He was convicted of clubbing to death an American flyer who was forced to land there during the war.

SAYS STALIN TRYING TO UNLOAD BLAME OF CRISIS

Editor's Note—The following analysis of Josef Stalin's statement on the Berlin crisis is by a United Press correspondent now on leave in the United States after serving two years as head of the United Press Moscow bureau.

By Walter Cronkite
United Press Staff Correspondent
KANSAS CITY, Mo. Oct. 29 (UP)—The speech Andrei Y. Vishinsky might have made in the United Nations Security Council has been made for him inside the walls of the Kremlin.

Premier Josef Stalin in his answers to questions put by Pravda has admitted the Western Allies have won the diplomatic battle for the support of world opinion in the Berlin crisis. He has indicated the Kremlin wants to unload the blame for the failure of Berlin negotiations.

The statement probably was intended to serve four purposes:

1. To try to put the blame on western nations for the present crisis and the failure to reach a compromise.

2. To spread war fear, and resulting confusion, by making the division between east and west appear almost insoluble.

3. To confuse world public opinion by imputing to western countries the very motives which are behind Russian policy.

4. Possibly to lend last-minute help to the Third Party of Henry Wallace.

Stalin's propaganda advisers, it seems to me on the basis of my Moscow observations, must have had the American presidential election in mind in helping him frame his answers. The Kremlin, knowing Wallace does not have a chance for the White House, wants to turn out a big Third Party vote in the hope the party may eventually become a real political power.

By blaming western leaders for the Berlin crisis and implying that men more sympathetic to Russia might solve such problems, Stalin seems to have made a last minute plea, however indirectly, for Third Party votes.

Stalin, in arguing that the western countries repudiated the Moscow basis of agreement on Berlin, did not mention that the agreement failed because the Russian commander in chief made completely new demands when negotiations were taken to Berlin.

This is the first time that Stalin himself has put so bluntly the charge that western leaders are seeking a war. But Soviet newspapers have taken that line almost daily for nearly two years.

To one who has lived in Moscow, their opinions can hardly be separated from Stalin's.

Porter Pressing For Demo Vote

FORT WORTH, Oct. 29 (UP)—Jack Porter, Republican nominee for the U. S. Senate, was scheduled today to continue his campaign for traditionally Democratic votes at a noon luncheon here. Tonight, he will make a statewide radio address from Waco.

The Houston oil man made several speeches yesterday in a tour of six north Texas towns, including Texarkana.

He predicted that he would defeat Lyndon Johnson, his Democratic opponent, by a good majority—perhaps by a landslide. He said he was encouraged through the day by the interest in his candidacy.

"You can push some Texans just so far, but they will rebel at dishonesty and fraud," Porter said. "The expressions I have heard today have only added to my confidence that I will be your next senator."

Porter said he was a Democrat until 1940. "When I saw left wing leaders abandoning the grand old principles of the party—I think I am a better Democrat than many who are still following what the present Democratic leadership has to offer."

Slow Demand For Peanuts Weakens The Market

Peanuts found very little demand anywhere in the country this week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports through the southwest area offices of its Production and Marketing Administration.

Prices of shelled goods averaged a shade lower this week than last, but not many sales were made. Most of the production of shelling plants went to the Commodity Credit Corporation in both the southeastern states and the southwest.

Farmers' stock peanuts sold at government support levels in all sections. The only exception was in Virginia, where an occasional bright lot of Jumbo's brought a slight premium.

Good picking rather made for rapid harvest in nearly all sections. Trade estimates indicate two thirds of the crop has gone to market in the southwestern states and more than half in the southeast.

Quality held up well in the southeast and in Oklahoma, but current Texas diggings dropped to lower grades. Percentages of sound meats ranged from a low of 56 in some Texas localities to as high for some Oklahoma fields.

Southwestern mills had crushed very few peanuts and reported no peanut oil for sale. Small lots of peanut meal carried quotations of $67 to $70 a ton.

American women outrank men as movie patrons, 49 per cent against 41 per cent for men, once a week attendance, a nationwide survey among readers of The American Magazine reveals. Single people go to the movies more than married, 56 per cent compared with 44 per cent.

Was There Fraud In The Stevenson-Johnson Campaign?

Here is what Judge Whitfield Davidson, U. S. District Court, Northern District, Fort Worth, found to be the facts:

FINDINGS OF FACT

- "1. The Court finds that the names and residences of all parties hereto, both plaintiff, defenders and interveners, are as alleged in the pleadings.
- "2. The Court finds that the evidence makes a prima facie showing of fraud in the election returns certified to the State Democratic Executive Committee from Precinct No. 13 in Jim Wells County, from Zapata County and from Duval County in the Democratic Primary Election held August 28, 1948, in the race for nominee for United States Senator from Texas.
- "3. THE COURT FINDS THAT THE EVIDENCE THAT SUCH FRAUD IN THE COUNTIES AND PRECINCTS NAMED IS PRIMA FACIE SUFFICIENT TO CHANGE THE RESULT OF SAID PRIMARY ELECTION IN THE RACE BETWEEN THE COMPLAINANT, COKE R. STEVENSON, AND THE RESPONDENT, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, FOR DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR FROM TEXAS.
- "4. The Court finds that the giving of effect to the fraudulent returns, heretofore mentioned, will result in depriving the complainant, Coke R. Stevenson, and interveners, H. L. Poole, A. G. Johnson and F. A. Harkrider, of their civil rights, in violation of the Constitution and laws of the United States.
- "5. The Court finds that each material allegation of the amended complaint and the trial amendment is sustained by the evidence.

Justice Hugo Black of the U. S. Supreme Court said Judge Davidson had no right to pass on this matter. NO COURT HAS EVER SAID THAT JUDGE DAVIDSON'S FINDINGS OF FACT WERE INCORRECT.

These findings are a matter of record and have never been set aside. You can find them in Civil Action No. 1640, filed Sept. 25, 1948, in the U. S. District Court at Fort Worth.
