WIDESPREAD ACCIDENTS TAKE LIVES OF 246

By United Press. At least 246 persons were counted dead or missing today in Holy Week Train, Ferryboat, bus and food disasters in Europe and South America.

The biggest disaster was in Brazil where a passenger train crowded with Easter Holiday vacationers plunged from a broken bridge into the Indica River. Thirty-eight bodies were recovered and 70 more persons were feared dead. At least 60 persons were believed drowned in Portugal when a ferryboat capsized. Another 50 persons were reported dead or missing in a flood in Southern Ecuador.

In Spain, 19 persons died when a train broke in two while rounding a curve and three cars plunged into a 20-foot gorge.

A series of five violent earthquakes panicked the 125,000 citizens of Leghorn, Italy today but no damage or injuries were reported.

The Brazilian wreck occurred yesterday when a 22-car train started to cross the rain-weakened bridge over the river 55 miles north of Rio de Janeiro. The locomotive, two baggage cars, and three coaches carrying an estimated 200 sleeping passengers, plunged into the stream.

Rescue workers recovered 38 bodies but it was feared the bodies of at least 70 more were trapped in the submerged cars or had washed downstream. Thirty three other passengers were seriously injured.

In Ecuador, the Tomebamba River spread death and destruction over a wide area, causing damage estimated at more than $2,000,000.

FARMER AND WIFE GIVEN DONATIONS FROM TEXANS

By O. B. Lloyd, Jr. United Press Staff Correspondent LOCKHART, Tex., April 7 (UP)—An aged German immigrant farmer who lost his life savings in a damage suit involving a mule he did not own had so much money today he decided to give half of it to his church.

Two weeks ago William Hagedorn was "broke" because he was ignorant of the law. All the money he and his hard working wife had saved over a 32-year period of dirt farming was awarded to an Austin, Tex., couple to help pay for hospital bills that followed an accident in front of the Hagedorn home when a mule would not get off the highway.

Hagedorn, 77, could not understand why the Supreme Court of Texas ruled that he had to pay the money since it admitted the mule did not belong to him. But District Judge J. R. Fuchs, the trial judge who first ruled against Hagedorn but later set aside the judgment, explained that the court found him guilty on a legal technicality because he did not use due diligence in protecting his rights by denying ownership of the mule.

While Texans heard about Hagedorn's plight through a series of articles published in the Dallas Morning News they reached into their pockets. Although the newspaper did not ask for funds, the reaction was spontaneous, and within a week sympathetic Texans had contributed twice the amount Hagedorn had lost, or $4,883.76.

The money was presented to the white-haired old farmer yesterday at the luncheon of the Lockhart Business Men's Club.

Fred Brown Of Mineral Wells Speaks To Lions

Fred Brown of Mineral Wells, formerly of Eastland, was the guest speaker at the Lions Club meeting at noon Thursday in the dining room of the Gholson Coffee Shop.

Brown spoke on the welfare state and pointed out that the United States is the greatest welfare state in the world. He based his contention on four facts: first that Americans can "dream dreams" and carry them out; men can compete; America has the equipment with which to work and the management to direct it.

Brown was introduced by Bruce Harris who arranged the program and who also had as his guest his brother, Truett Harris of Tucumcari, New Mexico.

Joe Graham, chairman of the nominating committee, reported for the committee which was composed of Graham, Pat Thomas and Ralph Wagner. Those nominated for office are Wilson Guest, president; Thomas, vice-president; C. E. May, second vice-president; Morris George, Lion tamer; Bruce Maddox, tall twister and directors Bruce Harris and Pete Brashier. Hold-over directors are Dr. Calvin Harris and Graham.

Colder Weather Due Tomorrow

By United Press. Typical "Easter spell" weather seemed to be in the making today for most of Texas by the middle of the week end.

Colder temperatures were forecast for much of West Texas by tomorrow, while cooler temperatures were predicted for the northwest portion of East Texas.

By "colder" the U. S. Weather Bureau explained it didn't mean anything severe, but that the temperatures probably would not be conducive to light weight finery.

Only moisture predicted was in the extreme northeast corner of East Texas where a few showers were on the menu by tomorrow.

While no actual minimums were forecast, the bureau's wording indicated freezing or below readings for the Panhandle, where Daltort reported today's minimum reading of 37 degrees.

Most of the state had readings in the 40's early today, graduating in to the 50's in South Texas except for the extreme lower coast and the Rio Grande Valley where Brownsville's 66 was high. Yesterday was generally cool throughout the state, ranging from a low of 60 degrees at Texarkana to 82 at Presidio. Again there was no rainfall during the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a. m.

Skies were clear or marred only by high thin clouds over two-thirds of the state this morning.

Cloudy, but apparently not rain-producing clouds, covered an area extending from Brownsville to Palacios along the coast and northward to the San Antonio-Austin area.

Bandit Faces Murder Charge

GUTHRIE, Okla., April 7 (UP)—Jim Robinson, Oklahoma's flying bank-robbler, today faced a charge of murder for killing a man in a holdup at Enid, Okla.

Robinson robbed a bank of $3,780 at Okarche, Oklahoma, Tuesday and escaped in a plane which he crashed on a relative's farm. He was injured and captured in the crash. He pleaded guilty to a bank robbery charge yesterday.

Meanwhile, Garfield County Sheriff Leon Coyle filed a charge that Robinson bludgeoned Carl Goldsberry, 66, to death when he allegedly robbed Goldsberry's appliance store at Enid last February 28. The charge was filed after authorities questioned Orville Butts, 24, Robinson's accomplice in the bank robbery.

Dallas Jewelry Bandit Arrested

SEATTLE, Wash., April 7 (UP)—A week-long search of bars and taverns by police resulted in the arrest early today of Lester Bennett, 45, who admitted taking part in the $40,000 jewel robbery of a wealthy Dallas doctor.

Detectives said they were searching for two other persons involved in the gem robbery but refused to give further details. Acting on a tip from Houston, Tex., authorities, two Seattle detectives spotted Bennett in a tavern late last night. They followed him to the washroom and made the arrest.

Houston officers said they had found a Seattle postmark on a letter from Bennett to a model in Houston he had been going with. The Houston officers tipped Seattle police who started the week-long tour of bars and taverns.

Detectives said Bennett, being held for Texas authorities, admitted taking part in the robbery which netted $40,000 in jewels from Dr. W. J. Shortall of Dallas, Texas.

Detectives said Bennett, listing himself as a salesman, claimed he did not get any share of the loot from the Texas theft. It was not immediately known whether the other persons being sought here were the other members of the robbery gang.

Special Music At Service Tonight

Special music will feature the services at the First Christian Church tonight, according to an announcement made today.

The Rev. R. C. McCord, pastor of the church, will deliver the message and will speak on the subject "What Must I Do To Be Saved?"

MANY QUESTIONED IN KANSAS CITY SLAYINGS

By Sam Smith. Unless the gunmen were found quickly, Kansas City might be in for a political and gang war in which many others would be killed.

No arrests had been made. But known police characters were rounded up by the dozen for questioning. Politicians were "invited" into headquarters to be queried for possible leads to the slayers.

About 30 men and women had been questioned early today. One of the first was Henry McKissick, 2nd ward boss who with Binaggio and former Jackson County Assessor George Clark ruled the North side area as an iron hand triumvirate.

Clark also was expected to be questioned. Blanche Howard, who said she was a "close friend" of Gargotta, was queried by officers 1 a 1 night. She is a county employee who was sponsored by the hoodlum.

What they told officers was not disclosed. Tano Lacoce, a Northside character reputed to have been an "enforcement man" for Binaggio and his political predecessor, Johnny Lazia, was hauled into headquarters for grilling also.

Others questioned and released were ex-convict Johnny (the mag) Mangiaracina; Philip Tom Lacuolo, sometimes known as Pooey Babe School, and Eddie Spitz, who acted as front for Binaggio in many operations, particularly saloons.

Mrs. Howard, it was reported, told authorities that she saw Gargotta at 6 P. M. Wednesday, just two hours before he and Binaggio were killed in the latter's first district Democratic headquarters clubhouse.

Red Cross Drive Goes Over Top

Mrs. Jack Frost of Eastland, county chairman for the recent Red Cross funds drive, reported today that the drive has gone over the top and that there are still some funds to be turned into the county chairman.

A total of $6,624.64 has already been placed in the bank. This is better than $1,000 over the county quota which was $5,112.

Mrs. Frost has expressed her appreciation to the entire county for the cooperation given the drive and for the splendid way in which the people responded to the appeal.

Sunrise Service To Be At 6:15

It was announced today that the Sunrise Easter Service Sunday morning will be held at 6:15 o'clock instead of 6 o'clock as previously announced.

The service will be held at the football stadium and ministers of participating churches will be in charge. Music will be furnished by a combined choir under the direction of Fred Baumgardner.

Speakers at the meeting emphasized the necessity of all welfare and youth programs agencies cooperating in the effort to make it a success. It was pointed out that the executive board of a Community Chest is made up of the participating agencies and decisions for the Chest rest with this board.

H. A. Shockey, representing the Boy Scouts, stated that he had resided in a town where the Scout funds were derived from a Community Chest and that the arrangement had been most satisfactory. Mrs. J. A. Bates, representing the Girl Scouts, urged the adoption of the plan as being by far the most satisfactory. Mrs. Bates also spoke from experience with Girl Scout work receiving funds from a Community Chest, having worked with Girl Scouts in Breckenridge where a Chest is maintained.

Others with experience with the Community Chest plan who urged its adoption here were the Rev. R. C. McCord, president of the Ministerial Alliance, J. A. Bates, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. D. B. Holmes of the New Era Club. All said that more money could be raised with less effort for the programs than under the present plan of separate drives.

In a round table discussion it was brought out that there are no paid employes in the Community Chest setup and that "payments of pledges may be arranged to suit the convenience of the donor and not exacted in one payment.

Harry Taylor of Eastland, representing the Red Cross, stated that his organization could not be a part of a Community Chest since it was a county wide and national organization. He explained that so far as he knew there were no conflicts in communities where both the Red Cross and Community Chest operate.

Most of the welfare and youth programs were represented at the meeting and favored the organization but Wagner stated that those who were unable to attend the meeting would be contacted and their reactions on the matter sought.

Besides those mentioned above, persons attending the meeting Thursday and the organizations they represented were George Murphy, Salvation Army; Dr. Calvin Harris, Lions Club; R. V. Gallo-way, Chamber of Commerce; B. A. Tunnell, Rotary Club; Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall, Child Welfare Club; Mrs. J. L. Furner, New Era Club; the Rev. Cecil Ellis, pastor of the First Methodist Church; Mrs. John Ducker, Ranger Times; Morris Newham, Retail Merchants Association; and D. B. Holmes, American Legion.

Approval Voted at Meeting of Citizens Thursday Afternoon

Representatives of 17 welfare and civic and religious organizations in a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon unanimously favored the organization of a Community Chest in Ranger.

The vote of the group was taken after a detailed explanation of the Community Chest was given by Ralph Wagner, chairman of a committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to investigate the possibility of such an organization for Ranger.

Wagner who presided at the meeting explained that a Community Chest would concentrate money raising efforts for welfare and youth programs in the town into one major drive and that the participating agencies would receive their allotted funds from this drive. He also explained that the Community Chest is merely a fund raising organization and not a disbursing agency. He stated that welfare and youth programs would continue to be operated as in the past by officials of the various programs and that no interference in these programs would come from a Community Chest if organized here.

SPORTS

PLUG 'N TRIGGER

By J. Fred Eder
United Press Outdoors Consultant
A primer on the proper equipment and methods of catching bass was written last year by your outdoors consultant. There have been several requests to repeat the series. Here goes:

There is one item of equipment that all anglers acquire sooner or later, some by bitter experience, others by the determined and sincere desire to learn the art of angling, and that's plain common sense.

As a general rule, the average amateur angler, if he runs true to form, discovers that Mr. bass is not quite the educated fellow he has been led to believe. If we will be honest with ourselves we can recall incidents in our early days of fishing in which we, as well as Mr. bass, violated every rule in the book . . . and yet, to our utter dismay and confusion of improper lures, backlashes, sloppy casting and what have you, we caught a few fish!

Invariably the angler that uses carefully selected lures, proper line and leader, and who presents said lure to Mr. bass according to Isaak Walton will in the long run out-fish and have more enjoyment and respect for the sport than the angler who uses the cruder hit and miss tactics. This is to illustrate the point that good common sense is a most essential part of your equipment.

With the many clever gadgets and accessories available in tackle today, it is possible for the amateur to master the fundamental of casting or fishing much easier, and in a fraction of the time and with half the effort, than grandpa did.

Many old timers recalling their months and months of practice will probably be startled at such a statement. Nevertheless, the remarkable development of unique bait casting equipment in the last few years makes matters easy and simple for the beginner.

Our first consideration is of course the proper rod. This will be governed entirely on the type of fishing in your locality and species of game fish you are going after. However, as we selected the bass as our intended victim, a light or medium action rod is most desirable.

For the ultimate in fishing thrills, choose a light action rod. Rod material can be of the solid steel or tubular steel type but here again is my recommendation would be split bamboo or the new fiber glass rods. Because of the lightness, sensitive action and other qualities, it is preferred by veteran and professional casters. With either of these two rods you will learn to cast with the least effort.

It is a recognized fact that rods of five and one-half to six feet in length will contribute greatly to casting with ease and accuracy. Whether you choose solid or tubular steel, split bamboo, or the new glass rods, select one five or one-half feet long, light and of good quality.

This will automatically place you in a price range of from $12.00 to $30.00. Remember this—the best is the cheapest in the long run. You're going into this for fun and entertainment, so don't buy a cheap stiff rod. If you can't afford a good rod now, wait until you can.

Don't hesitate to explain to your sporting goods store that you are a beginner and that you want their help in selecting a light, light action rod, in the price class which your pocket-book will permit. Try the rod for personal fit, balance and natural

Suspects In Waco Woman's Death Held

ALEXANDER CITY, Ala., April 7 (AP)—Alabama officers were expected to return here today with two suspects arrested in Memphis, Tenn., in connection with the murder of a traveling woman church worker.

Memphis homicide chief inspect or Pete Wiebenga said James Lee McGraw, 29, of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Catherine Bystrom, 39, of Fairbanks, Alaska, had signed waivers of extradition to Alabama.

Detective W. J. Haley will bring the couple here for questioning about the slaying of Mrs. Lillian Euphemia Schliefer, 70, a traveling missionary for the Seventh Day Adventist Church. Mrs. Schliefer left Waco, Tex., about February 20 en route to Jamaica, B. W. L., where she was born. About a month ago her nude body was found floating in Lake Martin near here. She had been shot three times and her body trussed with ropes and her underclothing.

This takes care of the rod. Remember the length—five and one-half feet—light action and good quality; recommended material—split bamboo or glass. We go into the matter further next week and take up the reel.

After thousands of persons had viewed the body, Police finally identified it last Wednesday when a routine missing person circular arrived here from Waco.

It had been established that Mrs. Schliefer, who commuted between Pasadena, California, and Jamaica in her Missionary work, left Texas with a blonde companion who had telephoned a Birmingham man from here. Mrs. Bystrom, who was a beauty operator in Alaska, is a blonde.

Police, however, refused to comment on their connection with the case.

Man, 39, Admits Killing Woman

HOUSTON, Tex., April 7 (UP)—Lupo Vasquez, 39, confessed he burned a young woman to death after she lured him to a secluded spot and then repulsed his advances, police said today.

Vasquez' arrest yesterday ended a 24-hour search for the torch slayer of Mrs. Josephine Hernandez Cavazos.

Vasquez signed a statement that he picked up Mrs. Cavazos Monday.

"She insisted on going to some out-of-the-way spot and then, when I parked, she tried to bite and scratch me," Vasquez' statement said.

"I kicked her in the stomach and threw her out of the car," he said. She kept moving, so I took my cigaret lighter and set fire to her dress. I saw some old rubber insert tubes and threw them on her to make the fire burn."
