Korean Reds Launch Major Attack

6,000 Attend Ranger Rodeo Wednesday P. M.; Second Act To Come

Six thousand people packed the Ranger Jaycee rodeo arena Wednesday night for the opening show of the big four day celebration.

Some of the greatest cowboys in the rodeo game registered for the Ranger rodeo, a top rated RCA show.

Dub Phillips, 1948 world champion steer wrestler; Roy Sewall, 1947 world champion calf roper; Charlie Colbert, vice president of RCA and former world champion steer wrestler; Amy McGribery, 1949 world champion barrel racer and Paul Gould, Ranger's 1949 all around cowboy champion.

The Grand Entry and quadrille filled the arena ground from fence to fence, chute to chute.

The stock showed plenty of spirit, handled easily and quickly but the Brahma bulls were some of the biggest and toughest in the business for their riders.

The barback bronc riding possibly starred Earnest Davis of Fort Worth. His draw, P-38, put up the toughest fight among the 10 horses rode by 10 cowboys. Trailing Earnest closely were Paul Gould of Sweetwater on Rag Mop and Bob McCargo of Plains on Detour.

Parade Gets Crowd Guessed At 5,000

A crowd, optimistically estimated at 5,000 turned out Wednesday afternoon in Ranger to see three high school bands, twirlers, 219 horses, 21 cars, and at least 191 men not counting those on the 219 horses.

A Ranger Daily Times reporter counted 13 Jaycees, 36 twirlers, and 13 in the Gorman band; 50 in the Stephenville band; and 25 in the Ranger high school band.

There were 27 riders in the Parker county sheriff's posse; 24 riders in the Palo Pinto posse. At Tuesday night's close of registration 131 rodeo performers had signed up. Families and friends swelled their ranks to a 155 riding in the parade.

The line-up of the parade follows:

Ranger police; county sheriff's office; color bearers—Mrs. Helen Bradford and Betty Underwood; Jaycees, Ranger band; twirlers; floats, Gorman band; Parker county; Palo Pinto county; floats; rodeo performers.

None of the horses managed to throw their riders. Day money in this event will not be awarded until after judging of other cowboys tonight.

Leon Brannon of Waco with a time of 13.2 in the calf roping stepped into some of the fastest roping time of rodeos anywhere. A close second was the time of Mike Ward of Fort Worth with a 13.9. In third place was Jack Strickland with a time of 14.2.

The judges will have to pick the winner in the saddle bronc riding. Guy Weeks of Abilene, riding Tar Baby; Alfred Cox of Spicewood, riding San Joaquin; Wart Baughman of Archer City, riding He'll Do; Cotton Proctor of Belton, riding Fluid Drive; L. E. Weeks of Abilene, riding Ole Crow; Harold Watson of Belton riding Hy-dramatic all turned in finished rides. Hood Abercrombie of Lubbock was thrown by Lonesome Polecat.

June Probst of San Angelo set the time in the Ladies Barrel Race with a 14.4.

June Harris of Fort Worth and Ann Young of San Angelo tied in the event for second place, clocking a time of 15.2.

Helen Carter of Fort Worth and Sisay Allen of Coleman tied for third place with a 15.3.

L. G. Gibbs of Killeen must have set one of the world's fastest steer wrestling times when he threw his dogie in 4.7 seconds. In second place, not far behind, was Charles Colbert of Wilson, Oklahoma with a time of 6 seconds. Bill Love of Crane hit third place with an 8.2.

Hood Abercrombie of Lubbock was injured slightly when he went over the head of his steer for no time.

Only three cowboys out of twelve entries stayed on the Brahma bulls Wednesday night. Bob Ferguson probably turned in the best ride. He was followed by Wart Baughman of Archer City and Red Walker of Belton, who both gave top-notch rides.

The Gulf products distributing company, represented by Morris George locally, is furnishing the sound equipment for the rodeo.

One of last year's winners in the calf scramble held in conjunction with the Ranger Jaycee rodeo was Weldon Cunningham. He is pictured with last year's agriculture teacher, R. B. Thomas, jr. Beverly Dudley is Ranger's present agriculture teacher and has been in charge of the scramble, which will be held at the arena tonight.

New World To Come TWO ARMED CAMPS MAY MEAN NEW WAY OF LIFE FOR AMERICANS FOR GENERATION

By Harry Ferguson
United Press Foreign News Editor

Wendell Wilkie, "one world" man, has made it clear that he fears the Communist adventure in Korea may not be the last thing Moscow will take in its grim gamble to dominate the world.

"The attack upon the Republic of Korea," he said, "makes it plain beyond all doubt that the International Communist movement is prepared to use armed invasion to conquer independent nations. We must therefore recognize the possibility that armed aggression may take place in other areas."

Those words drew a line around the globe. On one side is Moscow and her satellites; on the other the United States and her friends. Sooner or later all the nations of the world probably will choose one side or the other.

Wilkie took a trip around the globe. He came back with his concept of "one world." He preached the doctrine that nations could and should live together. And for a time it seemed that he was the prophet of a new era in history. Millions of peace loving persons took hope from his words and ideas.

But they fell on deaf ears in Moscow. The Communists seized power in Czechoslovakia, they blockaded Berlin, they boycotted the United Nations and, finally, they struck at South Korea. Experience taught the Democratic nations a hard lesson—that the Cominform will resort to any tactics to gain its ends.

It is a historic decision that Truman has made—in implied pledge to defend free men any place and every place, backed up by $10,000,000,000 to provide the weapons to do it. It may mean a new way of life for all Americans for a generation. They will live in a state of tension and alarm, knowing that any day a stray shot somewhere in the world may start a long Atomic war.

What has happened, in effect, is that we have gone back to the "balance of power" concept that has led to wars in the past. In World War I it was the Triple Alliance against the Triple Entente; Germany, Austria-Hungary, and Italy against Britain, France and Russia. Italy pulled out when the shooting started, but the Kaiser went ahead anyway. In World War II it was the Axis against the Western powers.

Today the South Korean government has moved on to a new provisional capital. Advance American headquarters has been set up farther South.

The broad avenue that links the railway station with the municipal building is practically deserted. Down its tree-lined length, there is not the slightest sign of life.

The hot wind swirls a few puffs of dust from a sidewalk and quietly rustles the green leaves of the trees.

Everything that lived and breathed seems to have abandoned Taejon. Thousands of Americans have dug in North, West and South of the city. But they are hidden from view.

Last week soldiers and civilians jammed the sidewalks. Endless streams of honking trucks, cars, jeeps and buses jammed the streets. Shops were open from dawn to dusk. Hucksters cried their wares from foul-smelling alleys.

Twelve Farm Boys Enter Calf Scramble

Boys Will Run After Greasy Pigs Tonight To Get $200 Calf

Twelve qualified 4-H boys and Future Farmers have entered the pig scramble for registered Jersey heifers. The scramble held at the Ranger Jaycee arena tonight.

Those entered from Ranger are Tom Moody, Bryon Galley, Billy Jack Wesley, Jerry Jones, Roddy Carter, Mac Jones, Tommy Harper and J. L. Barnes.

Eastland boys are Guy E. Warden and Jerry Sims; Strawn boys are Marvin Towner and James Pruitt.

The boys will chase six greasy pigs for six calves. Losers and other qualified county boys will race again Friday night for pure-bred hogs.

Each boy who receives one of the registered Jersey heifers must return his first heifer calf to the scramble committee for a next year's prize.

Softball Team Slates Gorman

Heavy KoRed Forces Come And Come Till Americans Run Out Of Bullets And Begin Retreat

By Earnest Hoberecht
United Press Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Friday, July 21 (UP)—A Communist armored assault on Taejon drove out the hard fighting American defense garrison and trapped some of its men today in the shattered and burning city.

In Washington an Army spokesman said Gen. William F. Dean, commander of the 24th division, had been unofficially reported as missing in the fighting at Taejon. When last reported he was in the thick of the fighting and had knocked out one tank personally.

A dispatch from the hills outside Taejon said the Americans were pushed out after battling desperately all day against a tidal wave of North Korean tanks and troops.

But word around midnight from the blazing battlefield said some units which were forced to pull back earlier in the day were trying to relieve an undisclosed number of men still in Taejon.

The tank-led Communist assault forces smashed into Taejon and at the same time threw a column around it, blocking the escape road to the southeast for a time.

But the Americans broke the block and in a caravan of trucks and jeeps ran a gantlet of rifle and machine gun fire through a narrow valley to the Southeast.

They took up new positions South of Taejon, prepared to halt any new Communist push Southward, a front dispatch reported.

Peter Kalischer, United Press correspondent, reported from a post just outside the city that it "still is burning beautifully" near midnight. The fires, apparently set by artillery bursts, were reported to have destroyed most of the Southern part of the town, normally a thriving rail and road junction of 450,000.

A jet fighter pilot who flew over late in the day said the whole city seemed ablaze, and Communist artillery was "beating the hell out of it."

The Americans, left in Taejon when the main force pulled back earlier this week, began running short of ammunition toward evening after a day of violent fighting with Communist tanks and troops.

The caravan of trucks and jeeps was organized, and most of the Americans made a run for it through the valley Southeast of Taejon.

Ghost Town UP REPORTER TELLS TAEJON STORY JUST BEFORE KORED TROOPS OCCUPY CITY

EDITOR'S NOTE: Communist troops broke into Taejon today. They found a city deserted except for its rear-guard American defenses. Here is a description of Taejon from a United Press Staff correspondent who walked through its streets only a few hours before the Red attack began.

By Robert C. Miller
United Press Staff Correspondent

TAEJON, Korea, July 20 (UP)—Taejon, only last week a crowded, bustling military and commercial center, is a ghost city just behind the fighting front today.

Its streets are deserted. Its shops are shuttered and locked. The lonely G.I.'s on guard duty walk softly as if afraid to disturb the silence.

Last week soldiers and civilians jammed the sidewalks. Endless streams of honking trucks, cars, jeeps and buses jammed the streets. Shops were open from dawn to dusk. Hucksters cried their wares from foul-smelling alleys.

It was the provisional capital of South Korea and advance U.

S. military headquarters for Korea.

Today the South Korean government has moved on to a new provisional capital. Advance American headquarters has been set up farther South.

The broad avenue that links the railway station with the municipal building is practically deserted. Down its tree-lined length, there is not the slightest sign of life.

The hot wind swirls a few puffs of dust from a sidewalk and quietly rustles the green leaves of the trees.

Everything that lived and breathed seems to have abandoned Taejon. Thousands of Americans have dug in North, West and South of the city. But they are hidden from view.

The railway station sits massive and still with only a few dusty and quiet Americans lounging about the halls. The thousands of refugees who filled its platforms are miles to the South.

Uptown, the bus depot is a cemetery of rusty, flat-tired vehicles which only a week ago were Today there are more buses than passengers in Taejon and it's hard to believe that these empty vehicles once were black with humanity.

Over on the right is the scaffolding of a half-finished brick building over which swarmed dozens of Korean bricklayers last week. You wonder if it ever will be finished.

Telephone and power lines dangle from the poles. No one tries to repair them.

The sandy-bottomed river which splits the city no longer is the public laundry center and gossip mart for hundreds of women.

The postoffice is closed and its steel doors are barred. Every ramshackle shop is boarded and bolted.

Here and there shuffle a few dazed civilians with packs on their backs, the last to leave Taejon.

Dust has already coated the mirrors of the corner barber shop. On the marble shelf there is still a shaving mug and brush left by some hastily-departing barber. It is the calm before the storm.

Alaska Troops Alerted For Possible War

FORT RICHARDSON, Alaska, July 20 (UP)—Jet fighter planes stood ready for "instant" takeoff on every Alaskan air strip today as territorial military forces manned their posts on a "defensive alert" designed to foil any "Pearl Harbor" of the North.

Every means of detection, from sharp-eyed native spotters in the Arctic seaboard to the latest type of radar, operated continuously with fresh crews rotating at control points.

Military personnel manning Alaska defense were kept constantly alert. A certain percentage of men in every outfit stood by in full battle dress. The others were under instructions to report to their posts the moment a raid warning sounded.

A unit of jet fighter planes was ready for immediate takeoff at every Air Force base. Pilots and mechanics stood by the planes in shifts. Ladders were up to the cockpits and all equipment was aboard each craft. If an air raid warning were to sound, the jets would be roaring down the runways in from 90 to 120 seconds.

A second unit of jets were on a "30 minute alert" at every base. Pilots and mechanics stood by telephones in their quarters, ready to send the remainder of the fighter plane armada aloft as quickly as the raid warning summoned them.

Air and ground defenders were ready around the clock to swing into action if enemy forces were detected approaching the coast of Alaska. The thoroughness of the military planning makes it evident the mistakes of Pearl Harbor will not be repeated in this strategic area.

The constant vigilance did not interfere with training operations. Troops held practice maneuvers, jets tagged mock battles overhead, and huge bombers and patrol craft lumbered up and down the coast on reconnaissance flights.

Texan Elected To Head Lions International For Coming Year

CHICAGO, July 20 (Sp.)—Herbert C. Petry, Jr., Carrizo Springs, Texas, is the new president of the International Association of Lions Clubs, (Lions International). He was elected by unanimous vote at the 33rd annual convention of the Association which closed here at the Chicago Stadium today. Petry succeeds Walter C. Fisher, Queenston, Ontario, Canada.

The convention concluded one of the most successful years in the history of Lions International, according to the report made by Melvin Jones, Chicago, Illinois, Secretary-General and founder of the Association. He reported the addition of 806 new Lions Clubs and 21,415 men to the roster of the Association during the twelve-month period ended June 30, 1950, for a total of 8,055 clubs and 402,841 members. He stated also that during the fiscal year Lions Clubs were established in two additional countries: England and Denmark. Lions International he added, is the largest, strongest and most active service club organization in the world, with Lions Clubs in 28 countries on five continents.

Petry, in accepting the presidency, said: "My home is down near the border of two great nations, and those of us who live so close to the people of another country know that there are no great differences between the people of Mexico and those of the United States. "We learn their language and their customs; they learn our language and our customs, and together we are learning to live with each other. This is equally true of the northern border. The Lions of the northern states are carrying along identical work with the wonderful Canadian Lions across the border, at all times maintaining an aggressive movement to

Women Sharpen Fingernails For Nylon Drive

By H. Smith Johnson
United Press Staff Correspondent
DALLAS, July 20 (UP)—Women in the Southwest battled each other at the nylon counter today.

The ordinary sedateness in the hosiery department at all large department stores had the complexion of bargain counters in sub-basements. Women pushed and tugged. They squirmed and they yelled. They weren't being ladies. Harassed sales girls were calm, but even they were becoming harried. Coffers and hats were disheveled. The war scare was on the effect of Korea had struck at the nylon counter.

President W. J. Brown of a large Dallas department store said thousands of pairs of hose had been sold at his store during the last three days. Still the boom went on. Demand was exceeding supply.

Supplies, said Brown, had become so critical that manufacturers were preparing an allotment program. He said there was no shortage. It was all in the battling ladies' minds.

Back in various hose departments, the drive went on. Buyers ceased to seek correct sizes and shades. They were buying near fits.

A comely blond sales girl paused in the middle of making out a charge sheet and quipped: "People are nuts."

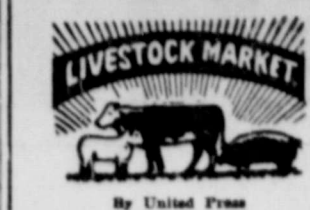

She said it loud enough for half a hundred women to hear. They didn't heed. The tugging and pulling went on.

Commenting on woman's search for beauty, another sales girl said "They don't care if we fit them or not. There'll be many a twisted seam from oversized hose if this keeps on."

Another sales girl looked up and said, "Ha, you mean they'll twist us when they return wrong sizes as soon as this war scare has melted."

Other nylon products were having a minor run, too. Slips and panties were getting big sales, but these didn't compare with the "run" at the hosiery counter.

Back there, the first sales girl was saying over and over, "people sure are nuts."

VOTE FOR P. L. Crossley FOR COUNTY JUDGE

I will greatly appreciate your support in my race for re-election as County Judge, next Saturday at the polls.

I hope you will consider QUALIFICATIONS and the matter of QUALIFICATIONS is important and is reflected in every act of a county judge. In trials of CIVIL and CRIMINAL cases, it is only natural that if you, your relative, or neighbor were being tried or if you were suing some one or being sued, that you would want some one who was to some extent QUALIFIED to sit as judge in the case.

I promise to continue to handle the affairs of the office as I think the people want it handled, bearing in mind that we are handling the people's money, and will endeavor as I have in the past, to be as economical with the peoples money as we should be in our own personal affairs.

I trust you will not be swayed by last minute statements which cannot be substantiated by facts, and that you will weigh all the facts. Do not let anyone tell you that a 60c tax rate is not better than $1.16 tax rate. One does not have to think to figure this out. Check the taxes you are paying and see for yourself.

If I am re-elected, I promise continued low tax rates, low valuations, assistance in every way possible to the needy aged, including hospitalization and very possible help to the indigent of our county and strict, courteous, QUALIFIED attention at all times to all county business coming before me.

Beachhead Troops Confident That They've Got Stuff To Whip KoReds

By Peter Kallscher
United Press Staff Correspondent
WITH FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION, Korea, July 20 (UP)—Advance elements of this American beachhead force moved into the South Korean battle area today confident that they have the men and the stuff to push the Communists North.

The GPs—many of them green kids whisked from occupation duties in Japan—where cocky and high-spirited. Reports of Communist shelling on the Taeyon front brought forth remarks like "when are we getting there?"

The general feeling was that the battered 24th division had done the dirty work of holding 10 times their number of Reds spearheaded by more than 100 tanks. Now the famous First was moving in. The division was first into Manila and first into Tokyo in World War II. "Victory" signs abound the troop trains expressed the sentiment that it would be first into Seoul.

The men got over their "guerrilla jitters," which had set off bursts of machinegun and rifle fire from one nervous jeep when outpost guards 60 miles from the front reported enemy fire in the hills.

The same thing happened on a smaller scale on a blacked-out troop train.

Some of the men cocked their rifles but most of them snored through the firing like the veterans they are not.

The First Cavalry troopers whistled and roared when the trains went through one town which bore a banner reading, "Welcome United States - United Nations Forces. You can have anything you ask for. Signed, the Korean women's Association."

The United detrained in the dark. A veteran of the European war nosed the paddy fields, which reeked with fertilizer.

"This is a hellava country to fight a war in," he said.

Another GI said: "I hope they don't send us home to the United States after this show. I've got me a moose in Japan."

"Moose" is slang for the Japanese word musume, which means girl.

As dawn broke the jumble of men, trucks, jeeps and weapons carriers gradually untangled and dispersed into locations.

The men squatted by the roads, in the fields, and along headquar-

WASHINGTON, July 17 (UP)—Fans, I think, we have some pretty good sports writers coming up. Thanks to the scholastic sports association.

The association allows the kids to punt, punt or sink one and then sit down and write about it. They don't get rich but they get a head start on their seniors who pick up a pack of theory in college journalism school. Right off, many of the youngsters are in the big leagues of newspaper work, radio and even television.

A boy who can't get to first base on a ball club can sit down at a typewriter or in front of a microphone and tell the folks about it.

The SSA is just starting its sixth year. It all began on July 15, 1945, as a sort of a combined effort by radio station WWDC here and the Washington Daily News. The mushroom was inevitable. Now there is a "charter" in Los Angeles and the idea is spreading around the country.

Each Saturday the Daily News has a double page spread devoted to high school sports—written by the boys themselves. Each week-end the young sports experts appear on a 15-minute local radio show.

The boys write their own copy and it is edited by the experts. There is a conference afterward to see where the boys made their mistakes. The boys get mad if they feel it like any club would. They also learn to get over it.

The radio copy is handled by Norman Reed of WWDC who's tough on the toughies. Eddie Cook of the news, who has run a pencil over some of the best sports writers in his time, doesn't pull his punches, either.

Some of the earlier boys in the SSA program have gone on to make good. A couple of the young reporters are legging it up to the press boxes each day to cover sports events. A few others are in radio spots.

The eager beaver of the current crop is our San Felder, a cocky 17. He also is very able. The News runs a weekly column he writes for the Saturday sports page called "Felder's follies."

Like the big shots, Stan is allowed to poke the letter "I" on his typewriter and personalize his stuff. He can even take his coaches apart, if the spirit moves him.

Right now he is writing a series on how the junior police and citizens corps of Washington has cooperated with the cops in combating juvenile delinquency.

He logically starts his pieces off with a heart-tearing anecdote and follows through with good reporting and common sense.

McDonald Gives Farm Plan Views

Veteran Commissioner of Agriculture, J. E. McDonald, has definite views on a national farm program.

He believes in a two-price system for marketing agricultural products—a full parity price for that portion allotted for consumption in the United States, this allotment to be made in units such as bales, bushels or pounds, and not in acres—and the farmer left free to produce in excess of American needs for sale in foreign markets at world market prices.

McDonald believes that each commodity should finance its own program.

Ranger Rambling

Ranger was a different town yesterday.

The excitement of parade and rodeo shot the town with adre-line that must have speeded its pulse beat by 100 per cent.

Copping attention were the floats of the Southern Ice company and Montgomery Ward. The ice company had frozen various foods into blocks of ice; Montgomery Ward advertised itself by loading up a drummer's wagon.

The rodeo performers must have turned out en masse—from the count of 153 that we got.

The parade and the rodeo last night reflected the performers' professional attitude—of there's a job to do. Let's do it. At the rodeo, stock moved quickly into the pens, was quickly saddled and cowboys climbed on and came out to come off in the dispatch of seconds.

From above the chutes the quick and knowing work of all hands was one of the most remarkable things of Wednesday night's show.
Announcer Tom Hatley of Indian-homa, Oklahoma kept the public and the press informed of about what was going on, talked clearly, rapidly and after getting the mike cut down—understandingly.

Mrs. Fannie Mae Cox, the registrar for the rodeo, kept the entries fast, smoothly and explained the rules of the rodeo game to the press.

Watching the parade yesterday afternoon, the grand entry at the rodeo last night, I got to wondering what these Russians had on their mind when they began to lick the glove of combat in our faces.

Six thousand people massed out at the rodeo grounds, standing up to face a flag as the Star Spangle Banner was played; the big hill in the background, the white shirts of Parker county sheriff's posse, the gray shirts of the Palo Pinto boys.

Watching that, I got to thinking about those tough Russians—and wondering if they knew what they'd started. Some of the Joes in the posse are no longer spring chickens but at the same time they were riding their horses at breakneck speed. They walk erect and without too much shortness of breath.

These men and those in the stands, 6,000 of them, turning out for a rodeo.

These people and a 150 million more all over the United States know the meaning of the flag. They love and know these hills, plains, swamps and deserts of America.
Yet even all this isn't the secret of America—the thing that Russia must beat. It's part of the Parker county boys who shouted
—"We got the best rodeo in West Texas."

It's the right to go to a rodeo; the right to stay home. It's being able to cuss the stock; or praise the stock.

And maybe more than that—it's these cowboys—climbing up on

Back in the Early Days—

... this country was surveyed in most part by the railroads into uniform and regular blocks or tracts. Tracts not so surveyed are usually irregular in size and description and are far more difficult to abstract and more expensive. But whether your property be a ranch spreading across the hills or a cottage by the side of the road, we find it by a system of abstracting unexcelled in this area. And by getting the best you also have the cheapest.

Super Bazooka Knocks Out
Korean Tanks

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, July 20 (UP)—Here is the new super bazooka that knocked out all eight enemy tanks trying to capture the vital Taegjon airbase today.

It is a 3.5 inch rocket launcher and resembles the orthodox bazooka that blasted German tanks in Africa and Europe.

But it is about 1 1/4 inches larger in diameter and considerably longer. It has no recoil.

Resembling a piece of stove pipe, the super-bazooka has a handle grip on the underside of the barrel. It is loaded from the rear with a finned projectile which is 23 inches long and weighs eight pounds.

When fired the projectile zooms out with an eerie firespitting
"whoosh."

Truman Urges People Not To Panic To Stop Creating Shortages With Foolish and Selfish Hoarding

WASHINGTON, July 20. (UP)—President Truman told Americans last night that National security and the peace of the world are at stake in Korea.

In a radio and television report to the nation, he called upon all Americans to tighten their belts, to pinch in and "work together" to meet the threat.

He said the Communists "raw aggression" against South Korea was a challenge to the effort by free nations to build a world where men "can live in freedom and peace."

"This challenge has been presented squarely," he said. "We must meet it squarely."

The President's talk was broadcast and televised from a small movie projection room in the east wing of the White House.

Truman stood before a small lectern, and read his address in a calm serious voice, looking up occasionally to drive his points home.

About sixty persons crowded in to the small room to hear and see the President. Those present included members of the cabinet and the White House staff.

Grave and unsmiling throughout, Truman detailed the $10,000,000,000 program for defending the free world against Communism which he had set forth in a message to Congress earlier.

He warned bluntly that substantial increases in taxes would be necessary to finance it.

"We are united in detesting Communist slavery," he said.

"We know that the cost of freedom is high. But we are determined to preserve our freedom—no matter what the cost."

The President said events leading up to World War II had taught the free world the "fateful lesson" that "aggression must be met firmly."

"Appensement," he said, "leads only to further aggression and ultimately to war."

He warned that Moscow's Communist plotters would not stop in Korea if the Red regime in North Korea is victorious.

"The free nations face a world wide threat," he said. "It must be met with a world-wide defense."

Truman urged the people to cooperate in an effort to halt scare buying, hoarding and profiteering which have become apparent since the South Korean invasion.

He was "sorry to hear" that some people had fallen victim to rumors and started buying up commodities they had heard would be scarce.

"This is foolish—and it is selfish," he said. "Because hoarding results in entirely unnecessary local shortages."

Hoarding of food was "especially foolish," he said, since "there is plenty of food in this country."

He added that if he had seen any actual threat of consumer goods shortages he would have asked Congress for price controls and rationing. If excessive buying or speculation force prices up "unduly" he will ask for such controls.

The President had a sober word for businessmen who have raised prices to take advantage of panic buying, and for the hoarders. A "major aim" of the new tax program he will send to Congress later, he said, will be "the elimination of profiteering."

Truman said he knew the American people were "willing to do their part to support our soldiers and sailors and airmen who are fighting in Korea."

He again expressed his conviction of final victory, but acknowledged that a tough struggle lies ahead. He quoted from messages from Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Army Chief of Staff Gen. J. Lawton Collins to support this view.

MacArthur called that the Communist invaders failed to exploit their "great chance" to knock out the American and South Korean defenders.

"We are now in Korea in force," the General said, "and, with God's help, we are there to stay."

Collins told the President the job in Korea is not an easy one but American troops are giving a splendid account of themselves and "I am confident of the outcome."

Truman shared that confidence. "Our country," he said, "stands before the world as an example of how free men, under God, can build a community of neighbors, working together for the good of all."

"That is the goal we seek not only for ourselves, but for all people."

"We believe that freedom and peace are essential if men are to live as our creator intended us to live. It is this faith that has guided us in the past, and it is this faith that will fortify us in the stern days ahead."
