Lookout On Mary Luckenbach Tells Of Actions Just Before Ship Crash

By Walter Brakdill
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26 (UP)—The lookout on board the freighter Mary Luckenbach said today the hospital ship Benevolence was sailing at "about 18 knots" when the two ships collided in a pea-soup fog off the Golden Gate.

The Luckenbach, according to estimates from the company officials, was sailing at about half speed, "between seven and eight miles an hour."

The lookout, who declined to give his name, said the Benevolence sounded "no whistles and no sirens."

"I first saw it about 200 feet away," he said. "I couldn't do anything about it. The seaman with me yelled and we both jumped back."

Neither man was injured. While the lookout was discussing the collisions, several other crewmembers told him to "stop talking to reporters." The lookout then refused to tell any more about the accident.

The Luckenbach docked here early today with eight survivors from the Benevolence. Four were able to walk. They smiled a nod waved to persons standing on the dock as they climbed into waiting ambulances.

The Luckenbach picked up about 40 survivors from the Benevolence, and most of them were transferred to an Army tug and brought ashore last night.

AUSTIN (Special)—City fathers in three Texas cities, by artificially adding fluoride salts to

W. G. Perow, marine superintendent of the Luckenbach Steamship Company, Inc., estimated the damage to the freighter as at least $60,000 to $70,000, and "possibly as high as $100,000."

The bow of the ship was smashed and part of the railing on the deck was sheared off. One of the anchors was torn away.

Perow said the captain, L. C. Smith, formerly of Boston, Mass., was not using his radar equipment at the time of the collision with the Benevolence.

their municipal water supplies, are making the dream of fewer tooth cavities come true.

Corpus Christi and Marshall have fluoridation systems working now. Austin has one in the installation process.

If things go according to plan, children in these towns will be spared easily half the visits they now have to make to their family dentists, because they'll have fewer cavities.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox describes the fluoridation process as a "tremendous step forward in the fight against dental diseases. It's simple and inexpensive, as well as effective."

"It won't be a cure-all," cautions Dr. Edward Taylor, director of dental health at the State Health Department. "It won't give children complete protection against tooth decay, but it will reduce decay from 23 to 47 per cent." He said that range of reduction percentage has been established in departmental experiments with artificial fluoridation in Marshall.

The addition of the chemical to drinking water in the ratio of 1 to 1.5 parts per million parts of water now has been recommended as a decay control measure by the United States Public Health Service, the American Water Works Association, and the Association of State and Territorial Dental Health Directors.

Recommendations are subject to approval of state and local health departments, which has been granted in the case of the three Texas cities.

Marshall began artificial fluoridation in 1946 in a controlled experiment, and was a leader in the field both nationally and locally.

BOYCE HOUSE SAYS

A friend dropped into a business man's office, looked around and asked, "Where is that 'do it now' sign you had on the wall the last time I was here?"

The business man said, "It worked too well. My secretary read it and eloped; the office boy read it and resigned to go to Hollywood to try to get into the movies and the cashier read it and skipped out to Canada with $40,000. Yes, that sign worked too well."

Of an impecunious musician, a friend asked, "Have you ever felt the subtle touch of his genius?" "No," said another, "but I have felt the subtle genius of his touch!"

Fraleley Says

Detroit Tigers Do Better Away From Home—No Home Run Hits

By Oscar Fraley
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (UP)—Fearless Fraley's facts and figures: Most major league teams have their greatest success at home but Red Rolfe, manager of the Detroit Tigers, would rather see his Bengals play on the road.

"We aren't a home run hitting club," the blue-eyed red-head explained. "We are fifth in the American league in homers and in Briggs stadium the visitors hit more homers than we do. We have a club which hits a lot of line drives, so we like the bigger parks."

Red would not mind, however, playing a World Series in a comparatively small National league park.

Louise Brough, the betting blonde from Beverly Hills, Calif., who won the national tennis title in 1947 and has held the Wimbledon crown the past three years, was ready to turn professional this year but Bobby Riggs went for Gertrude (Gussie) Moran and her gallery glamor. Gussie, supposed to have signed for $75,000, actually is receiving one-third of that, which still isn't hay. Brough may have her bust in Madame Tussaud's London waxworks, but Bobby figured there was more money in a sweater.

Happy Birthday: Today, Alex Kellner, 26, and Len Eshmont, 33; Sunday, Emil Verban, 33; Peanut Lowrey, 32, and Frank Leahy, 42; Monday, Charlie Grimm 51; Tuesday, Mickey McDermott, 22, and Clyde Scott, 26; Wednesday, Billy Johnson, 32; Johnny Lindell, 34; Bing Miller, 56, and Vic Seixas, 27; Thursday, Danny Litwhiler, 34, and Pete Newell, 35; Friday, Cloyd Boyer, 23.

The U. S. Lawn Tennis association is rightfully on the pan for its dictatorial and unreasonable manner of selecting the Davis Cup team, currently in the process of losing the mug to Australia. Instead of Tom Brown, Jr., the wisper at Forest Hills, the second singles berth should have gone to either Arthur Larsen of San Francisco or Earl Cochell of Los Angeles. But Larsen is persona non grata with the brass hats because of extra curricular activities and Cochell is too aggressive and outspoken. You ain't supposed to growl in this game, old chap.

Eddie Sawyer, pilot of the front-running Philadelphia Phil-ies, credits much of the team's success this year to new uniforms. The old flannels, a blue and gray symbol of annual defeat, were replaced with red and white outfits which look like a peppermint stick, and have been just about as sweet.

"American Leaguers have always said that when you put on a Yankee uniform you play like a champion," Eddie explained. "Well, it's something like that with us."

Conservation Corner: The Pan-golin, A Samatra anti-eater, has armor strong enough to resist a bullet. (Sounds like a fashion note for umpires.)

7TH INFANTRY DIVISION

SOLDIERS OF THE 7TH INFANTRY DIVISION in the defense of Korea are now stationed in Japan. After their campaigns in the Aleutians, Kwajalein, Eniwetok, the Philippines and Okinawa they served as occupation troops until their withdrawal to Japan upon the establishment of the Southern Korean government. The 7th was organized in December, 1917, its personnel being drafted from Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Missouri and Pennsylvania. It served on the line in France in October, 1918, and was demobilized in 1921.

MAJ. GEN. BARR

The division was reactivated in July, 1940, and departed for duty in Alaska in April, 1943. It entered combat the following month in the assault on Attu. The bitter fighting for the recapture of this first American soil from the Japanese lasted 19 days. The division then proceeded to Kiska where it was found that the Japs had departed in haste only a few days before.

With the Aleutians now secure the 7th embarked for Hawaii for further intensive training in amphibious landing technique and jungle fighting. The first test of this training was in January, 1944, when the division with the 4th Marine division spearheaded the assault on Kwajalein atoll. Following the bloody fighting here the 7th again teamed up with the Marines and the 27th Infantry division in the attack on Eniwetok.

After another brief rest at Hawaii they participated in the campaigns in the Philippines, landing on Leyte in October, 1944. For six months elements of the 7th battled with the Japanese and struggled slowly forward, through swamps, jungles and rugged mountains. During the operations on Leyte the division killed a total of more than 16,500 Japs and captured 230 prisoners. Easter Sunday, 1945, saw the 7th beginning its fourth major campaign in the drive against Okinawa, fighting Japs armed with every weapon from spears to tanks. The battles on Okinawa were costly and savage, but again it was the Japanese who went down in defeat.

Distinguished unit citations were awarded to nine components of the 7th division. The Congressional Medal of Honor to three enlisted men.

Commander of the 7th is Major General David G. Barr, of Nannafalia, Alabama, who served in World War I in the 18th Infantry Regiment, 1st Division, and was commissioned in the Regular Army in 1929. In 1944 he was named chief of staff of the North Africa theater of operations, later serving as chief of staff of the Sixth Army group in France. He took command of the 7th division in May, 1945.

The shoulder patch is a red circle bearing an hour glass which is formed by an inverted "7" and a superimposed "7."

Major Mike Donovan, of Ronceverte, W. Va., said he believed the enemy is so badly crippled after the pounding from American artillery and tanks along the "howling alley" road leading to the former provisional capital that it would take a week or 10 days to reorganize.

Donovan, who is the American advisor to the South Korean 1st Division, was joined in his theory by U. S. Army Commander Lt. Col. J. H. ...

It Was An Error In Judgment—
 ... when the rejected candidate was led to believe that he had his race in the bag because every voter he met told him so. And about as disillusioned is the person who is convinced that an abstract is a lot of extra expense, and unnecessary, in a real estate transaction. There's another error in judgment. He stands to lose more, perhaps, than the candidate who lost the election. A winner always insists on an abstract when he buys real estate, and you can't beat that for good judgment.

Officers Say UN Forces Win Round

By Robert Vermillion
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 ON THE NORTHERN TAEGU FRONT, Korea, Aug. 26 (UP)—American and South Korean officers agreed today that the United Nations forces have won the first round in the battle for Taegu.

Staff officers reviewing the last 10 days of war on this front said the Reds are withdrawing their heavy forces beyond American artillery range along the Taegu-Kunwi road.

Col. Paul Freeman, Roanoke, Va., said the three Communist divisions and one armored brigade that unsuccessfully struck American and South Korean lines 15 miles north of Taegu "have been cut up so badly that they are at less than one-half combat efficiency."

Major Mike Donovan, of Ronceverte, W. Va., said he believed the enemy is so badly crippled after the pounding from American artillery and tanks along the "howling alley" road leading to the former provisional capital that it would take a week or 10 days to reorganize.

Donovan, who is the American advisor to the South Korean 1st Division, was joined in his theory by U. S. Army Commander Lt. Col. J. H. ...

THIS CHURCH PAGE IS PUBLISHED WEEKLY WITH THE HOPE THAT MORE PEOPLE WILL GO TO CHURCH. IT IS SPONSORED BY LOCAL BUSINESS FIRMS WHO BELIEVE WE SHOULD ATTEND RELIGIOUS SERVICES REGULARLY.

What fortunate people we are, in these United States of America! Our fathers purchased for us at great cost the priceless privileges of Democracy; the right of a people to make decisions as to their speech, their government and their religion. This means, as William Jennings Bryan used to say, the right to make our own mistakes, and then the responsibility to correct them. In other words we have accepted responsibility to live together for the common good and in mutual goodwill. We must do two things to be worthy at all of this magnificent inheritance: (1) We must seek to understand and to appreciate what Democracy means, and (2) We must see that Democracy works.

The right to vote carries the responsibility to vote. The right to think for one's self requires that we read and discuss and become responsible and well informed thinkers. The right to free speech calls for the self-control and the wisdom which will make our speech of good temper and of helpful counsel to others, who likewise have the same freedom of speech. The right to worship according to the dictates of our consciences summons us to train our consciences so that we shall choose well, surely that we shall worship somewhere. Democracy is the most elevated of systems of economic, of civil, and of religious living, but it is also the most difficult. For it requires so much of those who assume responsibility to govern themselves. There must be self-discipline; there must be the training of youth in disciplined living; there must be high dedication to the common good, as over against selfish behaviour. A man who lives only for himself is an autocrat and not a democrat.

Democracy challenges each of us to think of every other person as a sister or a brother in the universal family of God; every man is a child of God, who merits respect and concern from us.

GI GIVES DYING KOREAN DRINK FROM CANTEN—An American soldier offers drink from his canteen to dying elderly South Korean refugee who was found beside the road leading into a village just recaptured. The village was taken by 27th Infantry Regiment in coordination with the 1st Division South Koreans. After offering the old man water, several GIs carried him out of the sun to a shadier, safer spot. (Exclusive NEA Telephoto by Staff Photographer Stanley Tretick).

on the heights of Sobuksan. The Communists struck to the left rear but the GIs on the side of the mountain refused to retreat although the enemy had driven a wedge through the middle of their positions. The wedge finally was cleaned out and the Reds withdrew at 8:45 a. m. The battle took place over an area of a few hundred square yards and at one time two enemy positions managed to get within striking distance of the battalion command post. The enemy threw more than 25 shells into an American observation post and knocked it out. "That's the most I've ever seen them throw at one observation post," Sgt. Jean La Barre, Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, said. After the attack, several villages to the rear of the American lines were purposely burned to prevent their use by the enemy infiltrators. Three ammunition dumps exploded from the heat of the flames.

Crumpled Black Sock Tells How Tug Did Work

By James C. Grant, Jr. United Press Staff Correspondent ABOARD RESCUE SHIP LT 367, Aug. 26 (UP)—A soggy, crumpled black sock lying on the engine room deck of the LT 367 told a mute story today of the part a tug played in rescuing survivors of the crash between the USS Benevolence and the freighter Mary Luckenbach. Third Engineer George Grimm, on duty since his ship was first called at 5:25 p. m. yesterday, glanced wearily at the sock. "I guess we must have had 125 people jammed in down here," he said. He looked around the small compartment which didn't seem large enough to hold 25 people, let alone

125. "When we first started picking up the survivors, we had the engine room at a comfortable temperature. But when we saw those shivering sailors and nurses come below, we shut off all the blowers and sent the thermometer up to 95." Oiler Ralph Olsen, watching the bridge telegraph, chimed in. "Yeah, and it still took some of them two hours to stop shivering." Olsen said the men appeared calm and in good spirits, even the ones who were hurt seriously. One fellow had a broken hip and another a broken back. Three bodies also came back to the Port Mason dock in the tug's engine room. Grimm told how he and others tried to save one of the three, Glenn Havens who was the pilot aboard the Benevolence. "When they brought him below, he was blue. We tried for 20, maybe 30 minutes to revive him. One of the docs pulled out of the water came over, looked at Havens, and told us it was no use." When the tug pulled back to the dock, most of the survivors walked ashore. Some litter cases were taken up by a crane. Three of those litters were entirely covered by olive drab blankets. As soon as the ship was cleared, it shoved off again for a return to the crash zone. There, radar sweeps and a pinpointing searchlight failed to turn up more than an empty life-raft and debris. Texas Should Have Turkey AUSTIN, Aug. 26 (UP)—Texans should have plenty of turkey for Thanksgiving and Christmas, the United States Department of Agriculture predicted today. Fighting 25th Division Makes One Of World's Top Defensive Actions

By Gene Symonds United Press Staff Correspondent ON THE SOUTHERN FRONT, Korea, Aug. 26 (UP)—The North Korean invaders tried to drive the tough 25th Division from the heights of bloody Sobuksan mountain again today but the Americans managed to "hang on by their toenails." It was the sixth straight day the Communists assaulted the mountain, 15 miles west of Masan. So far, the doughboys have not budged an inch from their foxholes. Lt. Col. Thomas B. Roelofs, Corry, Pa., their commander, said his "boys are doing a magnificent job." He described a company that has faced the brunt of the Communist attacks for six days as "absolutely terrific." "Any company that sits there 24 hours a day taking small arms, machinegun and mortar fire constantly is good," Roelofs said. "Under that kind of fire, you just don't get out of your holes." "The boys have dug little trenches between their foxholes and pass food and water that way," he said. "They're doing one of the most dogged jobs I've seen. They're hanging on by their toenails." Today's attack started at 1 a. m. (11 a. m. EDT Friday) following a heavy artillery and mortar barrage. The attack was aimed at cutting off the Americans dug in

Ferguson Says Millions Of Neutrals Who Don't Care Who Wins Current Cold War

By Harry Ferguson
United Press Foreign News Editor
In the great war of words and ideas that make up the Communist and non-Communist propaganda campaign there are millions of neutrals. They are indifferent to the Moscow radio and the Voice of America. They don't know much about Korea and care less.

Like Mustafa, who is a handy man in a hotel at Tehran, the capital of Iran, Mustafa lives on the brink of disaster. Any day his nation may get into trouble with the Russians and a war may break out. Iran is rich in oil and Russia needs oil for the great war machine she is building day and night. Iran is a danger spot in the cold war.

Mustafa had a chat the other day with United Press Correspondent Edgar Clark in Tehran. They were talking about international affairs, and their conversation illustrated how easy it is for an aggressive nation like Russia to move in on a docile population and seize power.

Mustafa dislikes Russia in a vague sort of way. But he also distrusts the United States and thinks this nation has some sinister motive in trying to help Iran.

"It makes no difference to me who wins or who comes here," he said, "just so long as conditions improve for us. When the belly is full we don't care what country is trying to tell us what to do. Some say, yes, there will be war and some say, no, there will not. What I am afraid of is that if there is a war here it will make things worse for me."

When he was pressed to tell what it was he didn't like about Communism, Mustafa finally hit upon their anti-religious program. He is a devout Moslem. But he never gave any indication that he planned to do anything to oppose either Communism or the American way of life. Nor does he plan to do anything to help either one. He works 108 hours a week and receives a dollar a day plus tips. He supports his wife, his daughter and his mother. He hasn't the time or inclination to ask questions about the great war that is being waged around the world for men's minds.

The big advantage that the Russians hold over the Western Democracies is that they are unscrupulous in the way they handle people like Mustafa. The end justifies the means, Lenin once said, and it is perfectly all right to promise Mustafa the moon when what you really are going to give him is a modern form of serfdom. If a Communist sound truck stopped on a Tehran corner, Mustafa could be sold a bill of goods quickly and he would be lost to the non-Communist world.

That is one reason the non-Communists in the United Nations Security Council have started using plain, tough words. They are trying to get across a message to the millions of indifferent persons, like Mustafa, they are trying to tell those persons that their liberties are in deadly danger and that the time to act is now.

DEAR PATRONS:

As manager of the Arcadia Theatre, it gives me great pleasure to tell you that our city has been honored by being chosen for a special advance showing of the M-G-M production "Stars In My Crown".

This city was selected over hundreds of others because it most nearly represented the community life and spirit that is portrayed in the picture. "Stars In My Crown" tells the stirring story of a typical American town and its people and its fighting parson. "Two-Gun" Parson Gray was a man whose words were loaded as well as his guns. You'll admire and understand him.

"Stars In My Crown", starring Joel McCrea, Ellen Drew and Dean Stockwell, is already being hailed as one of the finest family pictures of 1950. It has just been awarded the Parent's Magazine medal for outstanding merit. It is based on a series of Saturday Evening Post stories and the book by Joe David Brown that thrilled countless readers.

I personally consider "Stars In My Crown" an exceptional entertainment and I urge you all to see it.

Sincerely,

T. E. James

M-G-M brings to the screen the Saturday Evening Post story of "Two-Gun" Parson Gray, the stranger who fought sin where he found it! He laid aside his pistols and tamed a town single handed!

His whisper spoke louder than his six guns! His words were like the lash of a bull-whip!

IT'S ONE OF THE FINE FAMILY PICTURES OF 1950!
