Two Of Three Injured Bulldog Players Expected To Be Ready For First Conference Game

Weldon Cunningham, who had his jaw dislocated in the Brady game last Friday, is expected to be ready for the Cisco game, Coach Warden said. Of two other injured players, one will be ready to play while the other's condition is doubtful.

Donald Varner's banged up knee is coming around and the center will probably see service Friday.

Bill Simpson reinjured an old knee ailment in the first play of the game last Friday. Coach Warden was doubtful the back would start Friday.

Cisco will come to Ranger for the local team's first conference game. Cisco has a three win and one loss record to date. Brady, who took the measure of the Bulldogs last Friday, 62-20, also beat Cisco, 18-12. Cisco victims were Graham, a class AA school, 19-0; De Leon, a conference game, 19-6 and Nacona, 26-6.

The Lobos are regarded as a hard team to beat by Coach Warden. Doug Johnson, 160-pound quarterback is the punting, passing, and running star. Another good Lobo back is Robert Jackson, 150-pound fullback.

Junior High Band Grows To 18 Members

The Junior High Band is definitely growing. Starting out with only four, they now number 18, with the possibility of three or four more to sign up.

Members include: Sherry King, Mary Lou Wright, Elpidia Gonzales, Carolina Flores, John Warren, Stanley McAnally, David Wesley, Jerry Stiffler, John Fuller, Mary Ellen Deffebach, Acker Everette, Ted Williams, John Parkes, Rex Hill and Barbara Gaily.

Although they will not be presented to the public for some time, they show real promise. They rehearse for two hours each school day, and share the Band Hall with the Senior Band.

Eliminations for Junior High twirlers were held Saturday at the Band Hall, and the lucky ones will have their names posted on the school bulletin board sometime this week. The band director wishes to express his gratitude to all those who participated. The interest shown by the Puppie Band was most gratifying.

TES Launches Campaign For Better Lighting

A campaign to improve the lighting in the home has been launched by the Texas Electric Service Company, in co-operation with local stores that sell lamp bulbs, A. N. Larson electric company manager, announced.

Feature of the month-long campaign is a "bonus bulb" coupon that has been mailed to all customers of the electric company. This coupon may be exchanged during October at any store that sells lamp bulbs for a 150-watt inside frosted bulb after the customer has purchased six other bulbs of 60-watt size or larger.

Practically every lamp bulb dealer is co-operating in the program and will redeem the bonus bulb coupons, Mr. Larson said.

The first advertisement announcing this bonus bulb campaign was printed in yesterday's paper, and will be followed by other ads during the month. Stores that sell lamp bulbs are notifying their customers in their ads and in store displays that they redeem the bonus coupons as provided in the bonus bulb offer.

Surveys made by the electric company reveal that many women work in poorly lighted kitchens, standing in their own shadows with far too little light to work comfortably and quickly. They suggest that the 150-watt night-saving bulb offered in the campaign be tried in the kitchen, or in other places around the home where good light is needed for easier seeing.

Echols Brings In First Cotton Bale

L. S. Echols of the Staff Community received $82.40 for bringing in the first bale of cotton to the Ranger gin.

Fifty dollars was given as premium prize by the Ranger Chamber of Commerce for the first cotton bale ginned. The gin paid $32.40 for the seed. The bale weighed 493 pounds ginned from 1780 pounds of cotton seed.

Echols who brought the bale in September 28 has a 20-acre farm. In addition to cotton he grows wheat, oats, rye and vetch. He estimates that he has several thousand pounds of vetch on hand.

The Ranger Chamber of Commerce through its agriculture committee offers a premium each year for the first cotton bale ginned and the first peanuts brought in.

Lauderdale expects about 300 bales to be ginned this year. At the present, there is no local market for the cotton and Echols expects to ship his bale to Abilene, Lauderdale said.

T. D. Lauderdale, gin operator, said that the first bale last year weighed 600 pounds. The lighter weight this year is due to wet weather, insects, lack of spraying and the governments cutting down of cotton acreage, he said.

Youth Safety Conference To Begin Oct. 7

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (Special)—The safety and well being of school children will be the topic of the day Saturday, Oct. 7, when a one-day Youth Safety Conference will be held highlighting the School Safety Educational Movement in Texas. A giant safety parade in the downtown area will be held at 10:00 a. m. and will be followed by a meeting at the San Jacinto High School Auditorium in the afternoon, beginning at 1:15 p. m.

Mid-Century free fireworks fiestas will be presented in the Cotton Bowl nightly on Oct. 12, 13, 17, 18, 21 and 22.

Gloria Rogers Has TSCW Chief Announcer Job

Gloria Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Rogers, 309 S. Marston, has assumed chief announcer duties for WCST, Texas State College for Women's own radio station.

Miss Rogers' appointment as chief announcer was made last spring. The station will open its studios for the 1950-51 season on Oct. 2 with a new broadcasting time set from 4:30 to 7 p. m.

Mrs. Rogers said her daughter is interested in working with and doing radio programs about spastics. Her daughter believes that by working closely with spastics, they can be greatly helped. And through radio programs, the public can be better informed about them, Mrs. Rogers said.

Ann Dorris Gets Majorette Job At Senior Hi

Ann Dorris, Sopomore student was chosen to lead the Bulldog Band next year, after Janice Page graduates. Her assistant for the coming year will be Joyce Garvin, an ace horn player.

The band also voted to add one more twirler to their ranks, and gave the much coveted position to Barbara Long, Sopomore clarinet player. This will make a total of five twirlers for the high stepping Bulldog band.

Two handmen took and passed their first class musicians' test. Donny Dooley was awarded his Tech. Sgt. stripes and was made section head of the Saxophone section. Frank Johnson was awarded Sgt. stripes after passing a stiff percussion test. These stripes represent many hours of concentrated study on the part of these handmen, and the stripes they earn mean that they are right up to snuff as far as their musicianship is concerned.

Other members of the band are studying hard, and are waiting for the opportunity to take their tests. You will have no trouble noticing those who passed the test—those stripes do stand out on their uniforms.

After a weeks rest, (the band didn't go to Brady) the band is ready for another round of good band music and football stunts. Watch them this week at the Cisco game. They have quite a stunt worked out.

Hurricanes Build Up Gulf Steam

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 2 (UP)—Two tropical storms—one a full-blown hurricane—marked time over the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico during the night and were expected to grow in power today.

The weather bureau here and in New Orleans reported early today that little if any movement had been noted during the night. The hurricane with 100 mph winds was 180 miles south of Bermuda, and a lesser storm was 320 miles south-southeast of New Orleans.

Bermuda was put on the alert as gales reached out 200 miles from the area of hurricane winds. The weather bureau here warned that "slight intensification is expected during the next 12 hours" but there was little forward movement expected.

BULLETIN
KOREA, Sept. 2 (UP)—The entire South Korean Third Division and one or two regiments of the Capital Division now were across the border.

Capital Division units entered Yangyang, eight miles north of the line, only 15 minutes behind the Third Division. While the third rolled on north, the capital forces struck out northwest and were reported to have advanced several miles against light opposition.

By Earnest Hoberacht
United Press Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Oct. 2 (UP)—The free-wheeling South Korean Third Division was reported today to have advanced 33 to 35 miles across the border of North Korea and to be fighting Communist rear-guard elements fleeing toward the big east coast city of Wonsan.

Wonsan is approximately 100 miles above the 38th parallel border line and is regarded as the key to all North Korean communications from the east. It is the biggest North Korean city on the coast.

The third division—one of two South Korean divisions across the line—was rolling northward as fast as its trucks could carry it.

The division was under blanket orders to go as far and as fast as it could, traveling by day over the same roads the Communists traveled by night.

At the opposite end of the front, U. S. Marines still were running into stout Communist resistance below Uijongbu 18 miles south of the 38th parallel.

At 4 p. m. the Marines had only about a 300 yard advance to show for the day's fighting. However, they were playing it safe, depending on artillery and planes to break up the Communist rear guard stand.

A small band of Reds attacked on the eastern outskirts of Seoul at 10 p. m. Sunday, but South Koreans killed two and took 57 prisoners.

A Seventh Division patrol engaged a small group of Reds at attempting to cross the Han River this morning.

Thirteen miles to the west, the 8th Marine Regiment advancing up the main Seoul-Pyongyang highway sent patrols into Munsan, 10 miles south of the 38th parallel.

The Communists still had not replied to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's broadcast surrender demands.

As the South Koreans sweep deeper into Communist territory, American commanders were taking care that the northward advance gave no opportunity for incidents involving Communist China.

Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai warned yesterday that his country would not stand by if North Korea were invaded.

Allied commanders believed he was bluffing, but nevertheless they ordered B-29 superfortresses to keep a "comfortable distance"—generally 20 to 30 miles—from the Manchurian border.

The Chinese Communists have charged twice that American bombers had attacked Chinese territory.

Both the B-29's and American carrier planes were attacking the Korean Communist capital of Pyongyang and its environs.

Band Boosters To Hold Meet Tue.

The Band Boosters Club will meet Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 8 p. m. in the Band Hall.

One of the best prospects for a good year for the high school band is expected. Parents are urged to be present for this important meeting.

McRae was picked up in Sarnia, Ont., yesterday, after running away from his suburban St. Clair Shore home Friday to avoid taking a state police lie detector test. Police said he stole a motor boat and crossed Lake St. Clair to Canada, where he was found at the home of relatives.

The weather bureau here and in New Orleans reported early today that little if any movement had been noted during the night. The hurricane with 100 mph winds was 180 miles south of Bermuda, and a lesser storm was 320 miles south-southeast of New Orleans.

Bermuda was put on the alert as gales reached out 200 miles from the area of hurricane winds. The weather bureau here warned that "slight intensification is expected during the next 12 hours" but there was little forward movement expected.

The tanks destroyed contained gasoline, charged stock and light oil.

The fire was brought under control by Texaco fire fighters who were trained for this type of work. The Shell Oil Company in Houston sent "some aid."

Company officials said it had not been determined how the fire started, but it was believed that it was caused by an overflowing tank.

Big Splash
EVERYTHING FROM SALLY RAND TO MOON MULLICAN WILL BE OFFERED BY STATE FAIR IN DALLAS BEGINNING OCTOBER 7

Ready to open its gates in Dallas Saturday, October 7, unveiling its long-heralded Mid-Century Exposition, the 1950 State Fair of Texas appears destined to produce the biggest splash in its 65-year history and topple all its own previous world's records for state fair attendance.

More than 2,225,000 visitors are expected to throng the 187-acre, $35,000,000 showgrounds during the fair's 16-day run, Oct. 7-22.

The strong appeal of this edition, officials point out, is due to the most exciting lineup of special events, entertainment and educational attractions ever offered by a state fair, and to the Mid-Century staging which offers "a nostalgic salute to the first half-century and a fascinating preview of the second."

Heading the field of entertainment is "South Pacific," the musical hit of the mid-century, with Janet Blair and Richard Eastham, playing 24 performances in the Auditorium. Sharing the spotlight, glamour-wise, is the world premier of the 1951 version of Ice Circles.

Topped by Sally Rand and her all-time musical revue, Midway shows will include Moon Mullican, top hillbilly recording artist and composer of "Jole Blon," and eleven other Western stars in the State Fair Hillbilly Jamboree. Diane Ross and her sarong-stealing monkey, with Tirza in her wine bath, will appear in "Peep Show." Betty Lou Williams, 14-year-old "four legged girl," is lead-off attraction in an unparalleled circus of oddities.

The fabulous "Sky Wheels," 90-foot-high double ferris wheel, has been set up at the entrance to the Midway. At the Diamond Garter, new Midway refreshment center seating 1600, "The Drunkard's Daughter," hilarious preaching against sin and gin, has been in rehearsal for days.

Final tabulation of entries in the Mid-Century Livestock Exposition reveal a grand total of 4424 head of livestock, 1262 more than last year, making this the largest show in the fair's history. There are 593 head of beef cattle entered, 620 dairy cattle, 680 swine, 303 sheep, 90 Angora goats, 100 Quarter horses, 60 Palominos, 122 American saddle horses.

Peacetime possibilities of atomic energy will be depicted in the free Science Show by the American Museum of Atomic Energy. Included will be a "working" 20-foot-high model of the atom pile at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and displays from leading industrial research laboratories.

With entries closed in the five classifications of the Women's Division, hundreds of articles ranging from delicate lace and crochet work to canned goods are on display ready for Saturday.

Other free shows inside the grounds, which help make the Fair the biggest educational and entertainment bargain in the world, include amazing high acts twice daily on the Magnolia Stage, the nation's largest display of farm machinery, the South's largest automobile show, and thousands of things to see in the big General Exhibits, Foods, Agriculture and Poultry buildings, Aquarium, Health and Natural History museums, and Hall of State.

All-College Day, featuring college football games between Texas and Oklahoma, and SMU and Oklahoma A&M, will be on Oct. 14.

Mid-Century free fireworks fiestas will be presented in the Cotton Bowl nightly on Oct. 12, 13, 17, 18, 21 and 22.

The FORMER MISS FREY

By Edwin Ruff

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Ede Flood, the former Miss Frey, has never been forgiven by her father, Cornelius Frey, for eloping with a fortune hunter. Now living in Pasadena, she returns home from a party late one night and finds a telegram waiting for her. It states that her father is critically ill and she is to return home at once.

EDITH FLOOD sat straight, almost tensed, in her seat on the plane, paying little attention to the sea and none at all to the other passengers. She was thinking, just now, that Peter had been surprisingly considerate. He should have been. But normally he sulked when anything interrupted what he was pleased to call his routine. Now he had accepted Ede's departure almost gracefully, even though it meant that he'd more or less have to shift for himself.

Ede feared that things would be in a mess until she returned and pointed this out to Peter. But Peter asserted, cheerfully enough, that he could manage. There was, naturally, no question of his accompanying her. Aside from the fact that he could be of no help, he occupied a prominent place in old Cornelius Frey's Black Book.

Ede's thoughts swung to the things that might lie ahead. Now that the first shock of the news had worn off, she found herself not inclined to worry too much. It was serious, of course, or even her brother Jeffrey, nervous and somewhat hysterical, wouldn't have wired. But there was a chance that it wasn't terribly serious. When anything went wrong, Jeff Frey was always quite likely to go off the deep end. It could be that he had sent the telegram without consulting anyone, fearing things that were never destined to happen.

For her mind rejected the possibility of Cornelius Frey's dying. Hard, wiry, implacable, he would fight death as he had fought life, with a kind of cold reasoned fury.

be," said Jeff. "Come on. The car's this way." He bundled her into it and they started for the city. "Now then, Jeff," Ede said, "let's have it."

Jeffrey's tired face tightened. "He simply cracked up, Ede. It seemed to happen all at once. The doctors say complications. But his heart's the worst. He—Jeff shook his head—"he can't possibly pull through."

"Does he," she asked hesitantly, "know that I'm coming?" Jeff flashed her a quick look, then turned his eyes to the road again. "He asked me to send you that wire."

"Oh," said Ede, a little weakly. Even in the shadow of the grave, it would not be in Cornelius Frey's nature to forgive.

The Frey house on upper Fifth Avenue was just as Ede remembered it. Gray and forbidding from without; high-ceilinged, cool and dark within.

MYRON had not changed. He was as vague and offhand as ever. He greeted Ede casually, almost as if she had never been away. But Jennifer came forward quickly, threw strong sun-browned arms around her sister.

"Oh, darling," she said, "I'm so glad you've come." My little sister, Ede thought, seems to have the makings of a nice kid. She held Jennifer off and looked at her. The angular figure she remembered had resolved itself into slim willowy lines. Jenn was tall and straight, copper-haired, and with vivid blue eyes. But the eager look was still there though, obviously, Jenn tried to conceal it beneath a thin veil of sophistication. And Jenn's mouth was still small and determined.

"You've grown up, baby," Ede said. "And you're very beautiful." And Jenn's smile was like a light, turned on suddenly. "You'd better go right up, Ede," said Jeff. "He's been asking for you constantly."

Ede went up the wide circular staircase slowly. A pleasant-faced nurse in a starched white uniform met her at the top.

Marines Pick Up 2-Ton Truck As Souvenir

By H. D. Quigg

United Press Staff Correspondent WITH THE MARINES IN KOREA, Oct. 2 (UP)—We have with us today Sgt. Allen G. Mainard, 35, a wiry Marine with rumpled hair, steel rimmed glasses, pale green fatigues faded from many washings, small black mustache and a miniature goatee.

He comes from Decatur, Ala., and he's a Marine combat correspondent. His job is to travel with an assault battalion of the 1st Marine Division and report their doings. He has been knocked flat by explosions and mortar fire has landed so close to him many times that the bursts made his nose bleed.

The following items was gathered by Sgt. Mainard.

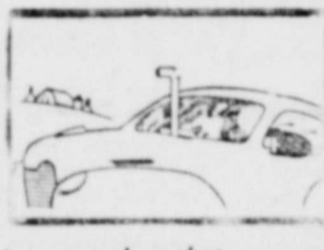

Three Marine mortar men rolled down the road to Seoul by courtesy of the Soviet Union. Usually Marine souvenirs are things they can put in their pockets. These three picked up as a souvenir a Soviet produced two ton truck, captured by Leatherneck riflemen after a fight with North Korean troops.

PLUG 'N TRIGGER

By J. Fred Eder
United Press Outdoors Consultant tells you that fish can't distinguish between colors.

Here's proof.
On a recent fishing trip for tuna, one member of the party rigged up a bright red feather lure, and just as the feather hit the water a 50-pounder took it. Two more anglers switched to red feather rigs and got the same gratifying results.

Altogether, the party took 39 tuna with the red feather rigs. They weren't little ones either. They ranged from 45 to 75 pounds. And here's the clincher.

Other fishermen in the same area came in empty handed because they had no red feather lures aboard.

The tuna weren't interested in anything but red feathers. White feather lures didn't get a single strike.

Cool weather and rising waters on lake Texoma have produced nice black bass catches recently, with some of the fish weighing five to six pounds.

The black bass are being found in newly-flooded areas of weeds, willows and anywhere there is foliage or water plants. Black top-water lures have been most effective.

Sand bass are lurking in water 30 feet deep or more, and are being caught with small deep-running, light colored plugs and spoons.

Crappie in the huge lake are being taken on minnows and occasionally on casts of small plugs.

Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster commission, announces the fall session of the marine laboratory seminar at field study of marine sciences. It will be held Oct. 27-29 at the marine laboratory in Rockport, Tex.

All arrangements of the program are under the direction of the chief marine biologist.

The seminar is designed to give colleges and universities an opportunity to acquaint their students with the marine sciences.

While the session is basically planned for biological and closely allied subjects, it should be of value to representatives of many industries, particularly along the Gulf coast.

Sixteen lectures have been tentatively scheduled.

Fishing prospects in North Texas continue good for anglers using artificial lures.

Epidemic Of Russ Roulette Causes Worries
HOUSTON, Oct. 2 (UP)—Nervous parents wondered today how they could stop an apparent epidemic of "Russian Roulette" which has taken the lives of three youth within the past month.

Billy McWhorter, 15-year-old high school student, became the latest victim Wednesday night when he borrowed a friend's .22 caliber pistol, gave the cylinder a spin and fired one shot into his brain. He died two hours later.

Russian roulette is played by inserting one cartridge into a revolver, twirling the cylinder—and pulling the trigger on 5 to 1 odds that an empty cylinder will stop opposite the firing pin.

Causes Worries

HOUSTON, Oct. 2 (UP) — Nervous parents, worried today how they could stop an apparent epidemic of "Russian Roulette" which has taken the lives of three youth within the past month.

Billy McWhorter, 15-year-old high school student, became the latest victim Wednesday night when he borrowed a friend's .22 caliber pistol, gave the cylinder a spin and fired one shot into his brain. He died two hours later.

Russian roulette is played by inserting one cartridge into a revolver, turning the cylinder and pulling the trigger on the 1 odds that an empty cylinder will stop opposite the firing pin.

Last Tuesday, 15-year-old Henry Alpha played the same game—and lost. He was proving his courage to five young companions, one of whom had accused him of "peeping" in an earlier spin of the cylinder.

Another youth, 17-year-old Warren Snyder, shot himself to death Aug. 28 when he tried to impress his girl friend.

Monroe Fairchild, instructor in psychology at the University of Houston, was baffled by the flurry of deaths from the weird pastime. He said youths apparently play the game to gain "social prestige" or to satisfy a "perverted" form of social standard.

The latest device that should bring joy to amateur gardeners, reports The American Magazine, is a seed-sowing gadget that keeps seeds from sliding and bunching, and bounces the seeds out so that they're distributed uniformly, minimizing the need for thinning a garden later. The device is a small plastic tube that handles anything from peas to petunias, and is easily operated by hand.

Governor Names
Oct. 1-7 As Handicap Week

Employers from the largest cities to the smallest hamlets will join hands this week to observe National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week in accordance with a proclamation issued by Gov. Allan Shivers in Austin Wednesday.

The Governor has set aside Oct. 1-7, 1950, as a week in which all-out efforts will be made to place in gainful employment a major portion of Texas' disabled workers.

"NEPH Week will see Federal, State and local agencies of government collaborating with many private ones, and with business and industry, in organized and directed effort to develop for greater contribution to the national welfare and security, a large segment of the most precious of our country's resources—a human work potential heretofore largely neglected or entirely wasted," Governor Shivers said.

The Texas Employment Commission along with the State Board for Vocational Rehabilitation, Veterans Employment Service, and many other agencies, public and private alike, pushed Texas ahead of all other states last year in finding jobs for veteran and non-veteran disabled people.

By Patricia Clary
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Movie star Kathryn Grayson has what's called a "modern" marriage, but the trouble is that she's an old-fashioned wife.

Miss Grayson and her husband, crooner Johnny Johnston, are living 3,000 miles apart, and she said today she doesn't like it one bit.

"But there are some things that are more important," she said. "Johnny has to have a career of his own, just as I have mine. He could keep on staying here, living off me, but then we wouldn't have any respect for each other. He has to establish himself as an individual."

So Johnson has gone to New York where he has a long-term television contract. And Miss Grayson stays behind with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"We're prepared for trouble," she said, "but there's no marriage that doesn't have troubles. We knew we would be a target for gossip. I had hardly gotten back from New York when I read in one gossip column that we were happy about the distance between us."

"I was so mad I spent the morning on the telephone canceling all my engagements. I'll be darned if I'll be happy!"

Hard on Press Agents
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer claims that Katie blossoms out as their new sex queen in her first modern picture, "Grounds for Marriage." But Katie isn't a girl to let her press agent convince her of anything.

"I'm not glamorous. I'm going to have a dozen children," she said flatly. "Suppose I could be like Lana Turner or Jane Russell. Do I have to be? If anybody whistles at me, I'll slap his face."

Miss Grayson's press agent paled and turned gray. If she didn't shut up, he said, he'd lose his job.

Miss Grayson replied that press agents had been losing jobs ever since she made her first movie at age 17.

"I was having an interview and the press agent said I was 13. I said I was 17," she said. "The press agent kicked me under the table and said, 'Isn't that cute, she likes to pretend she's grown-up.'"

"They asked me if I like movies and I said, 'No, I hate movies and I hate acting. I only signed a contract because I would have to go to school just three hours instead of all day.'"

"I was black and blue from kicks after that interview."

SCENES AROUND RANGER

Sitting in on my first city commissioner's meeting last Tuesday, I was glad to find that the informality of the gathering put me completely at ease.

The Mayor even offered to let me buy coffee after the meeting. But it was too late when we left and I saved half a dollar or so—I figured the commissioners would want doughnuts, too.

The city employee retirement plan that the commission will take up again tomorrow sounds like a good thing. From the state representative's description of the plan, it's as good as any pension plan.

O. G. Lanier presented the program at last Wednesday's Rotary Club session. He gave some important pointers on the new tax that went into effect Oct. 1.

Included in the program was some fine singing by a quartet from RJC, consisting of John Slaughter, Harold Stone, Jack Hull and Kenneth Wright. "Poor Old Slave" and "Working on the Railroad" were two novelty tunes that were especially good—some real close harmonizing.

Mrs. Margaret Blair, 1057 D. East Oregon St., Evansville, Ind., says her husband and three children keep her busy from morning 'til night. It wasn't too long ago that Mrs. Blair thought she had more work than she could handle—all the time but today, thanks to HADACOL, her housework is like a breeze because her system was deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron.

Here is Mrs. Blair's statement: "Before I started taking HADACOL I was nervous, underweight and had trouble sleeping. My food did not agree with me. Seemed like I was jumpy and irritable all the time. My back bothered me a lot and I couldn't sleep, and when I did doze off at night, I would wake up in the morning feeling like I hadn't had a drop of rest. My mother noticed how bad I looked and she suggested I take HADACOL. After I started taking HADACOL I began to notice a difference right away. Now I sleep well—my nerves are steady, my disposition is 100% better and I actually enjoy my food. Life certainly is wonderful—now that I am taking HADACOL. Get the Wonderful HADACOL Feeling."

Yes, do as thousands of other folks have done who have had trouble with indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings") after meals, as well as that general run-down condition, if your system lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin.

HADACOL is being recommended by many doctors. HADACOL is so amazingly successful because it acts directly to relieve the cause of your trouble when due to such deficiencies. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—I want you should start taking immediately.

There is Only One HADACOL. Don't go through life suffering such fiendish torture from your stomach, when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drugstore. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes. There is only one true and genuine HADACOL—(ADV).
