

PUERTO RICAN POLICE ROUND UP COMMUNISTS—Puerto Rican Nationalists and suspected Communist sympathizers are lined up and kept under constant guard in San Juan, Puerto Rico, at an interrogation center. Scenes such as this marked the collapse of the fanatic revolt which was marked by heavy fighting between Nationalists and National Guard troops. Revolt fizzled out with capture and surrender of more than 400 persons after nearly 30 died in fighting. Uprising has spurred mass registration by women for the June 4 election which will choose a constitution. (NEA Telephoto).

Texas Eyes Panhandle GOP-Democrat Race

Several Races Hold Special Public Interest

By United Press
Every election contest from constable to congressman is important today. But here are some of the races in which the public will have special interest:

Governors:

California: Gov. Earl Warren, R., against James Roosevelt, D. Best chance since 1920 to win a bet against a Roosevelt.

New York: Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, R., against Rep. Walter A. Lynch, D. Dewey is throwing every punch he didn't throw in 1948.

Pennsylvania: Judge John S. Fine, R., against Richardson Dilworth, D. Old Guard can't win this one; both Fine and Dilworth are tagged as Liberals.

U. S. Senator:

California: Rep. Richard M. Nixon, R., against Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas, D. The odds seem to six Helen this time.

Illinois: Everett M. Dirksen, R., against Sen. Scott W. Lucas, D. Best bet for photo finish.

Maryland: John Marshall Butler, R., against Sen. Millard E. Tydings, D. Next to best.

Ohio: Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., against State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, D. Taft half a jump ahead of "Jumping Joe."

Oklahoma: The Rev. W. H. Alexander, R., against Rep. A. S. Mike Monroney, D. Mike and his budget book over the Rev. and his Bible.

Pennsylvania: Gov. James H. Duff, R., against Sen. Francis G. Myers, D. Myers has plenty of early foot but will be hurt by the distance.

House:

New York: Rep. Vito Marcantonio, ALR, against James G. Donovan running as a Democrat but with all other major party support. Bye, bye, Vito.

Firemen Battle Carousel Fire As Kids Cheer

DALLAS, Nov. 7 (UP)—Firemen had a hot tip on the horses last night—a report of a three-alarm blaze in a merry-go-round. The fire in the glittering carousel at the State Fair grounds was discovered by a passerby, who promptly turned in an alarm.

Firemen, cheered on by hordes of small boys, fought their hardest to save the gaily-painted horses and the shrill calliope. But their efforts were in vain—the merry-go-round burned down, in 10 minutes.

Damage was estimated at $10,000 by fire officials. The cause was not known.

SILENT MACARTHUR AND ACHESON ARE MAJOR FACTORS IN DETERMINING HOW US WILL VOTE IN ELECTIONS TODAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (UP)—Two politically silent men, Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Secretary of State Dean Acheson, were major factors in determining how Americans voted today.

Neither MacArthur nor Acheson said a partisan word publicly during the campaign. But their names have been on the lips of candidates for months.

Republicans have charged that Acheson was largely responsible for Communist successes in China and that his policies made the Korean war inevitable. They also have echoed GOP Sen. Joseph McCarthy's claims that Acheson "coddled" Reds in the State Department and cried that "Acheson must go."

Democrats have called the charges a "hoax," not backed up by the facts of foreign policy or by

Lone GOP Man Faces Tough Bid For Re-Election

Editor's Note: A light vote is predicted for Ranger today. Probably not more than a hundred voters will cast their ballots at Young School and City Hall.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 7 (UP)—The Eyes of Texas were upon the Panhandle's 18th Congressional District today as voters chose between Democrats and Republicans in the statewide general election.

Congressman Ben Guill of Pampa, lone Republican member of the Texas Congressional delegation, faced an admittedly tough battle for election to his first full term in office.

Guill took office after outdistancing 10 Democrats in a special election last May following resignation of Eugene Worley to accept a federal judgeship.

The Pampa businessman faced an uphill fight this time, opposing only one Democrat—Walter Rogers of Pampa—instead of a pack.

Gov. Allan Shivers and other nominees of the dominant party had only nominal opposition, with two exceptions.

One was Rogers, opposing Guill in the Panhandle. The other was Walter Reid, Dallas County Democratic nominee for Place 5 in the State Legislature.

Reid, under heavy attack because of his labor sponsorship is opposed by Edward T. Dicker, Dallas Republican who has hit at Reid's "lack of qualifications."

Ralph Currie of Dallas, Republican gubernatorial nominee, made a moderate campaign—but not enough to peeble Gov. Shivers into general election campaign talks.

Crisp and clear weather was predicted, but no more than 300,000 to 500,000 Texans were expected to turn out for the normally light general election voting. Sale of liquor or beer was forbidden from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m.

John C. White of Wichita Falls, Democratic nominee for agricultural commissioner, had no opposition.

Also unopposed were 16 Democratic congressmen, including Speaker Sam Rayburn of Bonham—"good as in" for his 20th consecutive term.

Five Democratic congressmen drew opponents. They were:

2nd District—Rep. Lindley Beckworth vs. R. E. Kennedy; 6th District—Rep. Olin Teague vs. Mose R. Blumgren; 12th District—Rep. Winzate Lucas vs. Harold G. Neely; 18th District—Guill vs. Rogers; 19th District—Rep. George H. Mahon vs. M. D. Temple.

Bulldogs Run Light Practice, 3 Mavericks Nurse Injuries

Latest word from the Maverick camp reports that Eastland's star back, Rodney Stephen, will probably play here Saturday. Stephen, who fractured his jaw last week, is wearing a face protector if he sees action.

Another but less serious injury is hampering a second Maverick player, Doug King, who played against Hamilton with an injured leg, received a bang on the nose if the game and will still be favoring his injured knee this week.

Gerald Davis, Eastland's candidate for all-state tackle, was also injured in the Hamilton tilt. He received a blow on the side of his face which almost closed his left eye.

The Mavericks would appear to be in their poorest condition of the season when they face Ranger this week, with three first stringers nursing injuries. But if Stephen is able to play and Davis in all probability ready to go, Eastland will field a dangerous eleven. The Bulldogs will be in their best shape this season. If nothing happens during this week's practice, Ranger is sure to be ready physically and mentally for their last conference game Saturday

Pups Hunt 7th Straight Win Against Cisco

Hunting their seventh straight victory, the still up and rambling Junior High Pups journey to Cisco tonight. Game time will be at 7:30.

The undefeated, untied and unscathed in Pups already defeated Cisco in Ranger earlier this season, 13-0. Eddie James, Pup line-man who broke his leg in the Mineral Wells game, is still in the hospital but is doing nicely.

Quarter back Perrin will be out the rest of the season because of a broken nose suffered in the Mineral Wells game. Otherwise all the Pups are in game-playing condition.

Parker Named To Hospital Board

Don Parker has been appointed to the county hospital board, effective Nov. 1, County Judge P. L. Crossley has announced.

Parker replaces Dr. J. H. Cason who recently resigned from the board.

The appointment is for a six year term on the board which operates the county hospital. There are five members now on the board.

Parker recently resigned as county auditor to take a position with the Southwest Peanut Growers Association in Gorman.

Eight Priests Die In Burma

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 7 (UP)—Eight Roman Catholic priests were killed or died of privations in Burma since 1949, the Congregation for the propagation of the faith announced today.

Three French missionary priests and three native priests were killed and two French fathers died as result of "privations they were forced to endure."

The announcement said the congregation felt "great anxiety" over the safety of several missionaries and native priests who still are in the danger zones.

In the mission of Rangoon alone, 12 mission churches and stations have been burned and pillaged by Burmese.

Ranger Junior College Chorus Will Give Concert Of Bach Compositions November 9 In First Baptist Church

At the invitation of the Women's Club of Breckenridge, the Ranger Junior College Chorus has prepared a program comprised entirely of compositions by Johann Sebastian Bach. The concert has been prepared in commemoration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the death of the musician.

Schools and musical organizations the world over are presenting at least one such program during the current year, and the School of Fine Arts, at the College, is making this presentation of Bach's works as their portion of the world wide event.

The chorus will present the concert in Ranger, Thursday evening November 9 at eight p. m. in the First Baptist Church. The program is open to the public and will feature the Chorus assisted by Miss Carolyn Pruet, organist, Miss Bette Wilcox and Miss Joyce Matthews, vocal soloists; Mrs. Fred Baumgardner, pianist, and a Clarinet Duet by Bobbie Jean Deen and G. W. McBee.

Miss Pruet and Miss Lida Jane Smith will accompany the chorus in the concluding number "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring," which is sung with organ and piano accompaniment.

The public is cordially invited to attend this program, a public service feature of the Ranger Junior College, and the first of a series planned for this school year.

Miss Joy Hull will make her initial appearance as the accompanist for the chorus. Mr. Baumgardner will conduct the chorus.

An opening feature will be a brief forum discussion of interesting events in the life of Bach. The forum includes June Ann Morton, Bobbie Jean Deen, Beth Garrison, Jack Hull, Kenneth Wright, and John Slaughter.

YANKS DAMAGE 3 MIG-15S IN WAR'S BIGGEST AIR FIGHT

TOKYO, Nov. 7 (UP)—Reinforced Allied divisions smashed forward up to 2 1/2 miles today in their most aggressive action since Chinese and North Korean Communists drove them back from the Manchurian border area.

American airmen broke up a challenge by at least 15 Russian-made jet fighters from Manchurian bases in the biggest series of hit-run dogfights of the war. The Yanks damaged three of the 600-mile-an-hour MIG-15s and shooed the rest back over the border.

The Chinese Communists and their Korean comrades had faded back in several sectors. In others, the Allies had to search them out for a series of local attacks scattered all across the narrow waistline of North Korea.

Two regiments of the U. S. 24th Division and a British brigade lashed out from their Chongchon River bridgehead on the west coast. Advancing on a solid front, they rolled north two and one-half miles and reached all their objectives for the day.

U. S. 2nd Division troops beat off a Chinese Communist attack in the rugged mountains of North central Korea 12 miles southeast of Tokchon. Then they swung over to the counter-attack and were advancing slowly.

The U. S. 5th Air Force reported that U. S. F-51 Mustangs damaged three Russian-built jets in one of five hit-run attacks by Communist fighters just south of the Manchurian border near Shinuiju, the Communist provincial capital.

No American plane was damaged, although the propeller-driver Mustangs were pitted against the speedy jets striking across the border. U. S. F-80 Shooting Star jets zoomed aloft to join the Mustangs in combat, but before they could reach the aerial arena the invaders had fled back across the frontier to the Manchurian sanctuary where Gen. Douglas MacArthur had reminded the United Nations that his forces were unable to pursue.

After four Mustangs had a fight with four Mig-15s and scored hits on three of them to begin the air battle, a 5th Air Force statement said, "four more F-51s from the same fighter bomber group had contact with three enemy jets two different times during the next hour, but neither friendly nor enemy craft were hit."

A second flight of F-51s after two brief skirmishes with enemy craft sighted four more Mig-51 flying along the Manchurian side of the Yalu river, but took no action because of orders not to cross the international boundary. This flight also observed six more Mig-15s taking off from Antung.

"At about 3:30 p. m., four Mustangs from the 18th Fighter Bomber Group were attacked by four enemy jets five miles east of Shinuiju. Four more F-51s of the 18th Group were attacked by four Mig-15s. None of our aircraft were damaged and none of our pilots made any claims in the brief encounter."

The Anglo-American attack on the west coast was the most successful allied venture in that area since the Chinese Communists swarmed down last week and crippled the UN forces in north-west Korea.

Airmen began incendiary attacks on villages in the area after struggles from a 1st Cavalry Regiment attacked near Unsan last week reported seeing Chinese soldiers change from uniforms to civilian garb and lounge about in plain sight all day while fighter planes flew overhead.

Government prosecutors will recommend that Oscar Collazo, Puerto Rican gunman wounded in the battle, be indicted for first degree murder in the slaying of White House guard Leslie Coffelt.

The jury also may bring murder indictments against others involved in the conspiracy, including Collazo's wife and the widow of Griselio Torresola, Collazo's slain confederate.

Federal Judge Edward A. Tamm promised to appoint a lawyer today to defend Collazo after prosecutors and Washington lawyer William E. Leahy, named "officer of the court" to advise Collazo of his legal rights, advised that neither the Puerto Rican nationalist nor his wife had the money to hire one. Tamm's choice was not known.

Government prosecutors hope to begin the Collazo's trial within 30 days.

SCENES AROUND RANGER

It's not enough to have to worry about Ranger's outside chances of getting the district crown—now, I'm having troubles with the Eastland Telegram editor. We are both alumni of Baylor—and I think he is beginning to impose on that fact.
 Anyhow, Everett Taylor, that's the Telegram editor, drove in last night bubbling over with all sorts of optimism. I said he drove over—the first time he didn't have to use the bus or his feet like the rest of us poor folks. He came busting in with a wild rumor that he had gotten a car.

but when Ranger defeats Eastland I expect to be sitting in front of a double order of fried chicken and Taylor had better be figuring up the check.
 Jimmy Comacho again made the Fort Worth Star Telegram's "Schoolboy Football Honor Roll" of the week. Here's what the Cowtown paper had to say: "Comacho, Ranger's little breakaway runner, scored all of the points in the Bulldog's 35-6 victory over DeLeon. His scoring moves went for 10, 4, 2, 10 and 12 yards. He converted on five of six tries.

Southland Life

I was a little sceptical at first—I'm leery of people who live in a town west of Ft. Worth that calls itself Eastland. But sure enough, he had a car—something between a cross of a 29 Chevy and 1903 Moon. It got him over but I still haven't heard if he made it back to Eastland.
 It took Taylor about two hours to brag on his car then he started in on the Eastland-Ranger game. When he finished—poor little Ranger had taken a beating. The Mavericks just plumb ran them out of the park. Only my good manners as a host prevented me from bopping Taylor on the head. Optimism is all right in its place. And so is patriotism to your football team—but the gall of that guy coming all the way over here to rub it in about (1) having a car and (2) telling me some nightmare about Eastland beating Ranger.
 I wouldn't think of making a bet—the law won't permit it—

Bruised And Battered Conference Teams Prepare For Weekend That Could Blow Lid Off SWC Fight

By United Press
Bruised and battered Southwest Conference gridiron warriors returned to the practice field today in preparation for a week end schedule that could blow the lid off the always-explosive loop.

The once-conquered Southern Methodist Mustangs took a day off yesterday, but resumed practice today with the knowledge that a loss to the Texas A&M Aggies Saturday would make them just another football team. A win would leave either club a theoretical shot at the title.

The Ponies suffered only one major casualty in their upset loss to Texas. End Charles Perry may be unable to play against the Aggies because of an injury received early in the contest.

At College Station, the Aggies indicated a lingering respect for the SMU offense by devoting yesterday's drill to defense.

Billy Tidwell was expected to be ready to resume offensive duties for A&M, but substitute Yale Lary, who scored four touchdowns against Arkansas last week end, was putting up a fight for the slot.

A squad of upset-minded Baylor Bears was in top physical shape for Saturday's battle at Waco with the Texas Longhorn powerhouse.

Coach George Sauer's charges listened attentively as Vick Bradford, who scouted Texas' upset over SMU, described the Longhorn's varied offense.

At Austin, a rejuvenated Texas team ran through a light workout yesterday, then watched movies of the SMU game while Coach Blair Cherry pointed out errors. Last night, the sobered Longhorns heard scouting reports on Baylor.

Cherry said Texas came through the SMU game without serious injuries.

The badly crippled Rice Owls, will have no hard scrimmage before its Saturday skirmish with Arkansas, Coach Jess Neely said, to prevent risk of further injuries.

Most of the Owls, who sustained no new injuries while downing Texas Tech last week, held only a limbering-up drill yesterday.

Texas Christian's Horned Frogs began practice today for their Nov. 18th battle with Texas—and Southwest Conference followers know the surprises Coach Dutch Meyer can cook up in two weeks.

TCU was idle Monday. They have no game scheduled Saturday.

THIS IS THE PICTURE NOW—Newchart above shows areas where Republicans and Democrats won seats in the House of Representatives in 1948. On election eve, Dems hold 261 seats, Republicans hold 172. Political dopesters say Republicans stand to gain up to 30 seats in "see-saw" districts, which would make the map look a little darker. However, appearances can be deceiving: Michigan, for instance, looks to be solid GOP at first glance. But Michigan sent five congressmen to Washington in '48, all from the relatively small but crowded Detroit area.

Platoon Of Pencil Pushers Plan Promotion Pitch; Paperworker GIs Transfer Into Combat Outfit

By H. D. Quigg
WITH 1ST CAVALRY DIVISION, Korea, Nov. 7 (UP)—Once a platoon of pencil pushers planned a promotion pitch.

If you can say that in a hurry, you're pretty good. If you say it at all, you've latched on to the theme of this item.

Maybe promotion wasn't the big urge behind the transfer of a bunch of paperwork soldiers from division headquarters to a combat outfit. Maybe they just got tired of paper shuffling and wanted to see some fighting.

But—as one of them said in scholarly tones—"promotion was definitely part of the motivation."

Thirteen headquarters G.I.'s, many of whom had been in the last war and knew what they were getting into, transferred into a weapons company in August. Their ranks ranged from Platoon Sergeant. They knew there was little chance of getting promoted if they hung around division headquarters. They knew that if they went to an outfit in battle and produced, there would be a payoff.

Twelve of them got promoted fast. The 13th couldn't. He was a

"It's the old story of 'you can't beat City Hall,'" Buckley said. "Division headquarters is the best thing during garrison duty. You don't have to go hikes and things like that. You work more like a civilian."

Buckley already is back with headquarters, after two months with Dog Company. He was with the 2nd Marine Division throughout its Pacific Campaign in the last war. He knew plenty about combat—and it was a good thing he did.

"The 7th Cavalry got red hot after we joined them," he said. "We went up on Hill 518, got part of the way up, tried eight days and had to give up. We fought at Tabudang and the breakthrough. We were always

Mrs. Rebecca Peckinpaugh, 1907 West Penn St., Evansville, Ind., says her favorite pastime these days is going fishing with her husband—that is, of course, since she has been relieved of aches and pains in the shoulders, arms, legs and back by taking HADACOL because she found she had a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. She now has the vitality and energy to do many things that, before HADACOL gave her these necessary elements, she was unable to do.

Here is Mrs. Peckinpaugh's own statement: "I was sure in an awful fix for a while. My arms, legs, hips and back were sure in a sorry condition. My appetite was awful bad—couldn't hardly eat anything. Didn't know what I was going to do—I really felt bad. Then one day I heard how other folks were being helped by HADACOL and I sure feel fine. My arms, legs, back and hips don't ache a bit. I have never heard of anything so wonderful as HADACOL. I even have a wonderful appetite. For sick folks who really want to know what to do—I say try HADACOL."

Yes, You Should Try HADACOL. Yes, as have thousands of others whose systems lacked Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. The HADACOL formula is so effective for aches and pains in shoulders, legs and arms, and a general run-down condition due to such deficiencies in your system.

Make up your mind to give remarkable HADACOL a chance to help you as it has helped thousands of others whose systems lacked Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. Remember, there are no substitutes for HADACOL. Always insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk involved. Buy a bottle of HADACOL, either the trial size, $1.25, or the large family size or hospital size, $3.50, and if HADACOL does not help you, your money will be refunded. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.—(Adv.)

"STELLA" AT ARCADIA TODAY

VICTOR MATURE and ANN SHERIDAN give their happy smiles for the camera in 20th Century-Fox's comedy hit, "STELLA."

Hollywood Film Shop

By Patricia Clary
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Arthur Kennedy has the entire company on his current movie in a constant tizzy. Kennedy keeps losing his eyes.

"Hold it where you are, everybody," the makeup man cries each time, and the entire company freezes like a pack of bird dogs until Kennedy finds his eyes again.

The "eyes" are a pair of plastic contact lenses which Kennedy wears over the corneas of his eyes. They make him completely blind while he is acting in Universal-International's "Lights Out." The lenses, dyed black, are part of director Mark Robson's program of absolute realism in filming the story of the rehabilitation of a blinded war veteran.

Kennedy is a man preoccupied with acting and acting alone. He lost his eyes a dozen times in the first month of work.

Makeup Man Frantic
On the latest occasion the makeup man, Jack Kevan, found the lenses between the pancake foundation and an eyebrow pencil in Kennedy's personal makeup box. He returned them with a pair of tweezers.

"I've got a wife and kids at home," he complained to Kennedy. "You wouldn't want me to go home and beat them because you're making me a nervous wreck. I want to live to get my pension from the guild."

Kennedy promised he'd be careful hereout. But he promised that before.

There was the time the company was on location in the Broad Street railroad station of Philadelphia. There, amid the confusion of departing trains and rush of morning commuters, Kennedy announced that he had "misaid" his eyes somewhere between the stationmaster's office and gate two to New York.

Kevan couldn't freeze a station full of commuters, but he did announce the loss over the public address system. Fifteen frantic minutes later a redcap found the lenses on the station lunch counter.

Milestone in a Career!

We see it happen over and over again—and it's one of the greatest satisfactions we enjoy in this happy business of selling Cadillac cars.

It's when a man comes into possession of his first Cadillac—and we see the wonderful things it does for him.

We see his happiness as he places his order—not as the result of a sudden inspiration, but because he has gradually reached the conclusion that he has earned the right to enjoy the unquestioned best.

And then we see him on that happy day when his car is available for delivery—and he settles himself so proudly behind the wheel.

He's a little quizzical, we sometimes note. Could it be, he wonders, that he has been anticipating a bit too much?

And then he's out in the street—headed for home the long way 'round.

Those are thrilling days that follow.

There's the first long ride with the family... the first trip to the office... and the time he learns, in an emergency, that his car is worth its whole price in safety alone.

And then, almost before he knows it, the odometer registers a thousand miles—and he's back to tell us all about it. And, perhaps, to grumble a little bit at giving it up—even for a little while!

Yes, it's a priceless privilege to watch all this. Makes a man feel that he's doing good.
