

RHS Pass Defence Leaks; RJC Ready

The Bulldogs pass defensive leaked like a sieve in yesterday's practice. Receivers were getting around, over and under the backs and line-backers. Coach Warden ran Eastland's offensive plays, stressing the passing that he expects the Mavericks to use in Saturday's game here.

The second string also worked off the Eastland spread, another formation which Coach Warden fears will be in plenty evidence on Bulldog field Saturday night. Although the Bulldogs showed poorly on pass defense, they didn't fool around when running their own plays.

Woods came up with some driving line plunges that clipped off good yardage. Passers were connecting with pleasing regularity and Cunningham worked smoothly in the slot with his hand-offs and pitch-outs to Comacho, Cole and Masseege.

Masseege was showing improvement in his runs, getting off some good sprints. Coach Warden sent the boys in around 5:30.

Passing and more passing was stressed during the Rangers scrimmage session yesterday. The Junior College team is two days away from their second conference game when they will meet the Decatur Indians there.

The aerial route was not the only scrimmage the Rangers went through, however. Hard, contact work was run through as the squad was paired off into offensive and defensive teams.

A slightly wet field caused by sprinklers damped the ground made footwork slippery for the running backs. First part of the practice was spent going through some stiff calisthenics. Coach Henderson paced the players through body pounding exercises and grueling push-ups. Conditioning exercises were topped off with a lap around the field.

Pups Chalk Up 7th Straight With 7-0 Win

The Pups did it again. Cisco was the latest victim to fall before the undefeated, untied, and unscored on junior high team. The Pups went to Cisco Tuesday night and beat them 7-0.

It was the second win over the Cisco team, the Pups having previously defeated them 13-0 in Ranger. Wallace scored the game's only touchdown from the two-yard line after the Pups had marched 65 yards, with Dorsey, Scott and Wallace carrying the ball. Browning kicked the extra point.

The score came in the third quarter. Cisco offered no serious threat during the game. They got as far as Ranger's 20-yard line once. Rush and Patterson played heads-up football on the line.

The Pups have one more game. The rest a week before meeting Mineral Wells again, Nov. 21. The starting line-up for the Cisco game was: Rush, center; Patterson, Gets, guards; Black, Simmons, tackles; Gentry, Carver, ends; Dorsey, Scott, Wallace, Littlefield, backs. Substitutes were Bush, Herrington and Basham.

Gen. Ike Begins Tour Of Texas

FORT WORTH, Nov. 8 (UP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower arrives here today to begin a four-day visit in Texas—including stops at College Station, Houston and Dallas.

Eisenhower, Columbia University president, had scheduled no public appearances in Fort Worth, but was to be guest of oilman Sid Richardson and publisher Amon Carter.

The general, chief of allied forces in World War II, was expected to leave at 8 p. m. for College Station, where he will review the Texas A&M Cadet Corps tomorrow and speak at the inauguration of Dr. M. T. Harrington as president of the college.

Eisenhower will address officials of the University of Houston and Rice Institute Friday. He will talk before the City Club in Dallas before leaving for Oklahoma City Saturday.

Store Has Wide Toy Selection

A wide selection of toys and wheel goods, and good values, highlight the picture of Christmas merchandise projected by Joe Fraley, owner of the Western Auto Associate store at 119 Main St.

"Quality is excellent, and selection a lot wider, in most gift items this year," Mr. Fraley said. "We're showing a big line of gift merchandise, and I believe the early shopper will have an easy, pleasant experience in making his selections."

"Among our large variety of toys, a large number of entirely new items will be found this year, the result of constant research and amazing ingenuity of the American toy industry. The toy makers are interested not only in providing products with high entertainment value, but are placing more and more emphasis on the educational aspect of toys. Teaming abilities with the psychologists and educators, the manufacturers are stepping up the play value, safety, and durability of toys."

Eng. Asks North Korea Buffer Strip For Reds

LONDON, Nov. 8 (UP)—Britain will ask the United States to let the Chinese-Communists occupy a "buffer strip" of North Korea across from the Manchurian border, it was learned today.

The British government believes plans drafted by the United States for submission to the United Nations to meet Chinese intervention in the Korean war are dangerous. Washington sent copies of the draft to London.

Britain intends to state its position in a reply in the next day or so. It will urge acceptance of the British "buffer" compromise. Britain also will press its course in United Nations meeting in Lake Success.

British military men and diplomats already have urged the compromise on their American counterparts.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, The organizers of the Ranger Community Chest have asked that Thursday, November 9, 1950, be designated as "Community Chest Day"; and

WHEREAS, The Community Chest is designed to fill a much needed, and long felt need in Ranger, and will at the same time eliminate numerous bothersome and annoying drives for funds; and

WHEREAS, The workers who will ask you to contribute to the Chest have donated much of their time and energies to the organization and successful conclusion of the 1950 Community Chest drive, and theirs is an unpleasant and thankless duty that must be performed by someone; and

WHEREAS, It is our civic and moral duty to contribute to the worthy causes that will benefit by your financial support of the Community Chest.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Price Crawley, Mayor of the City of Ranger, do hereby call upon our citizens to receive these workers in the same unselfish spirit they have displayed, and support this civic enterprise to the extent that you feel able.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND SEAL THIS EIGHTH DAY OF NOVEMBER A. D. 1950.

Walter Rogers Defeats Guill In Panhandle

AMARILLO, Nov. 8 (UP)—Ben Guill, lone Republican in the 21-man Texas Congressional delegation, was defeated in yesterday's election.

Walter Rogers, a Democrat, eliminated Guill, who had held the 18th district congressional job only since last May when he defeated 10 Democrats in a special election to replace Democrat Eugene Worley, resigned.

Rogers and Guill are neighbors living less than a block apart in the Panhandle town of Pampa. They waged one of the hottest congressional campaigns of Texas history.

Rogers' previous political experience consisted of two terms as district attorney. Before he went to Congress in May, Guill had never held political office.

All other Texas congressmen were returned, 16 of them—including speaker Sam Rayburn—without opposition.

Unofficial returns, with probably no more than 1,000 votes still uncounted in the 28-county 18th district gave: Rogers 22,960; Guill 21,193.

SHERMAN, Nov. 8 (UP)—If there was any spark of romance left between Mevin R. Holmes of San Antonio and Miss Julia Bell Ratliff of Sherman, it was snuffed out yesterday by a 15th District court jury.

The jury ruled that Miss Ratliff should return $5,000 worth of rings to Holmes, who once was her fiance.

Houston Vote Of GOP Will Be Counted

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 8 (UP)—The Secretary of State's office said today that the votes gained by B. F. Hanna, Republican candidate for Congress at Houston, will be counted after all.

Hanna, a spokesman said, had filed as a GOP candidate for Congress against Democratic incumbent Albert Thomas but was not certified by the Secretary of State's office due to a "clerical error."

However, officials at Harris County placed him on the ballot anyway.

The Secretary of State's office said it had appeared Hanna's votes could not be counted, but on investigation this morning it was found that he had complied with the filing deadline and his papers were in order. The omission of his name, the Secretary of State's office said, was "purely a clerical error."

Ranger Releases Five Policemen

CITY DADS PASS RESOLUTION AT TUESDAY NIGHT SESSION

Five patrolmen of the Ranger police department have been released, effective at 8 a.m. November 8, according to an announcement from the City Commission.

Before a meeting of the City Commission this morning this reporter was told about the releases passed upon at the City Commissioner's meeting Tuesday night.

After a thorough investigation by the City Commission, it was decided in order to best promote the interests of the City and the public welfare, that five members of the City Police force be released because of dissension and dissatisfaction within the department, the commission said.

The released men's salaries will be paid to November 15, 1950. The commission pointed out that no single individual patrolman was criticized. It was the dissatisfaction and dissension within the group as a whole that brought about the releases.

This left only Chief W. G. Pounds from the old force still working for the city. The Commission said that provisions have been made to furnish ample police protection until the vacancies can be permanently filled.

Moms, Dads Go Back To School Monday, Nov. 13

Don't blame the kids who wear a satisfied smirk on their face next Monday. A little revenge is in the making.

On Nov. 13 Ranger parents will go "back to school" at 7:30 p.m. Mom who's been busy preparing school lunches and washing school clothes, and dad, who's had some embarrassing moments with junior's homework, will follow the schedule of their boy or girl for periods of five minutes each at the high school.

Parents will have to "stay in after school" to receive refreshments. A good time and a lot of fun is expected when the students of the three "R's" get together again.

The band, which is strictly not a part of the regular class sessions, will help welcome the fathers and mothers. A big crowd of "exes" is expected and all parents are urged to attend the special night set aside for them.

New Oil Activity Stirring Ranger

The thrill of renewed oil activity is stirring Ranger. No less than nine producers have been drilled in the Jackson Straws sand pool, a dozen miles north of Ranger and six wells are drilling.

Acroages has sold for as high as $125 an acre with as much as a one-eight over-ride. This is under-developed leases.

Don Choate of Cisco discovered the pool with a well on the Glasscock. Then he secured with a 400-barrel well on the Jackson, an almost phenomenal output considering the shallow depth. All the wells have been given the hydraulic treatment. The newest producer is Herman Rathke's Jackson No. 1, rated as good for 150 barrels a day.

The Willbarger County sheriff's office reported two game wardens searched the area until almost midnight and found no trace of any crashed plane.

The CCA said a four-engined National Airlines plane passed over the area about 4:30 p.m., and authorities felt the farmer might have seen that plane at it circled the scene of an earlier crash.

A small plane had crashed at Lake Diversion near here, killing two men.

County To Get 12 Miles Road

Eastland County will receive approximately $100,000 for farm to market highways for the next two years, 1951 and 1952, the State Highway Department announced.

This will mean the building of approximately 12 miles of roads during the next two years, or five or six miles per year for the next two years.

ELECTION AFTERMATH BRINGS REPUBLICAN DEMANDS FOR DISMISSAL OF ACHESON ON BASIS OF 'MANDATE FROM VOTERS'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (UP)—Republicans demanded today the dismissal of Secretary of State Dean Acheson on the basis of a "mandate" from the voters.

GOP presidential aspirant Harold Stassen interpreted the election results as "a significant repudiation of administration Far Eastern policy."

"I would assume," Stassen said, "with these election results that Secretary Acheson would resign."

Acheson will be given an opportunity to reply to the ouster demands at a news conference today.

Many Republican candidates had campaigned on the Acheson-foreign policy issue.

Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania and a leading Republican spokesman in the recent election campaign, refused to suggest a possible successor to Acheson. However, he

CAA Reveals No Plane Missing After Report

VERNON, Tex., Nov. 8 (UP)—Search for a four-engined airplane a farmer reported he saw going down southwest of here was called off today "until we have something definite to go on."

A check with Civil Aeronautics Administration and Air Force officials at Wichita Falls and Dallas revealed no four-engined plane was reported missing.

Budd Judd, farmer, had notified Vernon police he saw a big plane, its four engines stopped, gliding westward at a low altitude some 20 miles southwest of here.

The Willbarger County sheriff's office reported two game wardens searched the area until almost midnight and found no trace of any crashed plane.

The CCA said a four-engined National Airlines plane passed over the area about 4:30 p.m., and authorities felt the farmer might have seen that plane at it circled the scene of an earlier crash.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Fast European Air Tour Offers Refresher Course for Newsmen

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

IT is now possible to "see Europe" in two weeks. Trans-World Airlines carried a party of 50 U. S. newsmen on such a trip, to inaugurate its new service to London and Frankfurt.

In 10,000 miles of flying over a period of 17 days they hit 10 major cities in six countries, not counting fuel stops at Shannon, Ireland, and Gander, Newfoundland. The schedule was tight and the pace terrific. But there was time for interviewing, sightseeing and some fun in London, Frankfurt, Heidelberg, Berlin, Zurich, Bern, Geneva, Athens, Rome and Paris.

This is the fastest way to get a quick refresher course on postwar Europe and how it's getting along. Fuller dispatches from various of the cities mentioned above have been printed previously in this space. From the notebook, here are other highlights:

ATHENS—Abandoned silver mines that helped finance the Trojan wars of ancient Greece may play an important part in solving the difficulties of modern Greece. With Marshall Plan aid, the old Laurium mines are being reopened. From them the ancient Greeks got the silver that paid for building the thousand ships that Helen's beauty launched. But the ancient Greeks could work only the shallow deposits, and did not exhaust the veins of ore. Mediterranean Mining Co., Ltd., a Canadian-American company, has been given a contract to start working the deeper deposits with modern machinery.

GENEVA—Fred Bates, American banker, department store owner and newspaper publisher in this old League of Nations capital, says it isn't just American foreign policy that Europeans worry about, but American domestic policies. U. S. decision to fight in Korea gave Europe a big lift. But uncontrolled increase in prices of cotton, wheat, meat, other foodstuffs, metals and raw materials which Europe imports has European businessmen genuinely alarmed.

Europe still has an inflationary hangover from the war, with terribly depreciated currencies everywhere except in Switzerland. Prices in Switzerland are now back up to 1948 peaks, after a 10 per cent drop in 1949. More inflation in U. S. would only make the European price situation worse. While U. S. fears western Europe may go Communist, European bankers and businessmen fear U. S. may go socialist. Latter prospect seems to frighten them more than the former.

PARIS—French government policy of carrying on the war against the Communists in Viet Nam (Indo-China) is not supported by all officials. There is considerable feeling that Viet Nam warfare is futile—that France can't win, so why not pull out? By so doing, France would be able to build up its home defenses against the Russians. The most embarrassing question this raises for the United States is: If France pulled out of Viet Nam, as Britain did in Greece, would U. S. forces have to assume the full burden of fighting communism there, too?

BERLIN—U. S. information services in this beleaguered German ex-capital have a new gimmick which they are offering to counteract Russian propaganda. It is three minutes of the latest news, delivered over the telephone, any time of the day or night.

All that anyone living in the Berlin area has to do to get this service is dial a certain number. It works just as well as a call from the Russian zone as it does from the American, British or French zones. The hook-up which handles this telephone news service is simple. All in-coming calls are switched to a circuit connected with a transcription machine which plays from a recording tape. The tape recording is changed frequently throughout the day, as new bulletins come in. It operates a good bit like the U. S. telephone companies' weather reporting services.

Caveat Cattle

LITTLE FOCK, Ark. (UP)—Arkansas stock owners are trying to figure out how to make their cows and horses safety conscious. A ruling by the state supreme court holds that a blast of a train whistle is sufficient warning for animals to get off the track. An engineer who has blown his whistle cannot be held negligent if his train kills an animal on the tracks, the court ruled.

The FORMER MISS FREY

By Edwin Ruff

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Edie Flood, the former Edie Frey, has inherited 51 per cent of her father's advertising agency with her two brothers, Jeff and Milton, owning the remainder of the stock. Edie's husband, Peter Flood, is in Reno, getting a divorce, and Miss Frey, Edie's executive, has asked Edie to be his wife, but Edie has not given him her final answer. Meanwhile, business troubles beset the firm. Lyont Broad has threatened dire steps because none of the campaigns prepared by Frey & Company suit Mr. Lyont. Edie has just called the bluff by telling him to take his business somewhere else.

XXVII

AFTER Edie Frey spoke, Mr. Lyons began to hedge. "I'll sell you what I'm prepared to do, Miss Frey. I'll give you agency another chance. If you can bring—"

Edie's eyes, like green darts, stopped him. "It isn't a question of another chance. Frankly, we don't feel that our position requires one. And we're not going on setting up straw men for you to knock over. As Mr. Reagan has said, we've brought you some good campaigns lately. They represent our best thinking." She pointed to the ads that were the agency's choice. "Here is one of them. You don't want it and you didn't want the others. I'm sorry, but we can't do any more."

Mr. Lyons almost wriggled in his chair. And Edie knew that she had him licked.

"Well," he said, pulling one of the advertisements toward him. "If you think this is good bread advertising, all right. Mind you, though, I'm not giving it entirely. I'm not enthusiastic about this material. It'll need alteration. A lot of alteration."

Edie let him save face as best he could. "We're perfectly willing to make alterations, Mr. Lyons," she said. "When they're justified and when we know why we're making them."

Lyons fussed on for a few minutes.

"I'll have to keep these ads," he said. "I'll look them over more carefully and send them back. With the—er—revisions indicated."

"Just as you like," Edie said and got suddenly to her feet.

On the pavement outside, while Chuck Stoneham dazedly searched for a taxi, Reagan mopped his face with a handkerchief, then held out his hand.

"Lady," he said, "you win, that was like listening to sweet, sweet music. But you sure took a gamble."

Edie laughed. "Oh, I don't think so. I figured Mr. Lyons hadn't the faintest intention of leaving us. I'm sure that, deep down, he's perfectly satisfied. If he'd really wanted to change agencies, he could have done it any time in the last 20 years. He was bluffing. And I thought it time to call his bluff. But I suppose," she added, "that I did it like a dumb neophyte."

"Uh-huh," said Reagan, "you're dumb, all right. Like a fox."

And in the taxi Pat Vernon said with the grin still on his brown monkeyish face, "Say, would anyone mind if I didn't go back to the office? I've got to celebrate the first and only time I've heard a client told to go chase himself."

SEVERAL days later after the "Lyons affair," as that episode had come to be known at the agency, Jeff Frey went on a short vacation. While he was gone Edie and Reagan received an unexpected invitation from Mr. Northcott to go for a week-end cruise with him.

"Looks as if we might be getting on a better footing with friend Northcott," said Reagan. "He doesn't ask everybody out on the swanky boat of his."

"You don't think he might have a bit of ax-grinding to do?"

Reagan's eyes clouded. "That's possible. But I've been thinking that maybe we've been wrong in suspecting Northcott of being up to something. He seems to be all for us. Of late, anyhow."

"I guess," Edie said, "that I've just got a nasty suspicious nature."

Northcott's cruiser was long, white and commodious, a thing of clean graceful lines, shining metal and decks scrubbed to the color of dried cherry-pits. She was moored in the East River, and Edie and Reagan arrived late Friday afternoon. Northcott greeted them.

For once he did not give an impression of complete grayness. He was attired in a blue jacket and linen slacks. Even in this careless garb, however, he still looked somewhat forbidding.

"I'm glad you could come," he said. "We're thinking of cruising off Montauk. How does that sound?"

"Grand," Edie said, smiling. "Come and meet the rest of our party," said Northcott.

On the afterdeck they were presented to Mrs. Northcott, a tall, red-haired woman, handsome rather than pretty, and to a couple named Winwood.

"We've another member somewhere," Northcott said, "but I don't know where he's gone. Well, I suppose you'd like to freshen up a bit. I'll show you to your cabins."

WHEN Edie came back on deck, she got a pleasant surprise. Sitting in a wicker chair, talking to Mrs. Winwood, was Gil Summerfield.

"Why, Gil," she said. "How nice. You're the last person I expected to find here. I didn't even know you knew Mr. Northcott."

"Known him for years," Gil told her. "He was a few classes ahead of me in college. But I haven't seen him much since then. We've only—sort of renewed our acquaintance lately."

"Well, treat him nicely, Gil," Edie laughed. "He's our best friend."

"I know," said Gil and, for just second, Edie thought that there was seriousness in his voice.

Man Shall Not Live by Bread Alone

In these days of alarming uncertainty it is significant that all America is being reached during November by the "Religion in American Life" program, a non-sectarian movement aimed to strengthen religion in personal and community life. Among the organizations sponsoring this program is the American Bible Society which was founded early in the history of our Republic to strengthen democracy through distribution and reading of the Bible. The Bible has always occupied a prominent place in the life of our country. To encourage Worldwide Bible reading during the period from Thanksgiving to Christmas, selections from the greatest passages in the Bible have been chosen.

President Harry S. Truman is honorary chairman of the national committee for Bible reading. He has commended the plan this year by declaring:

"In this age of doubt it is of helpful significance that the Bible remains the world's best seller. Our days are cast in an age that knows not God and when love does not rule the counsels or the hearts of men.

"I call upon my countrymen once again in the sacred season from Thanksgiving to Christmastide to read and to ponder in their hearts the Book by which our fathers lived—the Book which vindicates the ways of God to man. Though others falter we doubt not through the ages one increasing purpose runs."

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (UP)—Still working on the thankful theory that it's your money—Fralei's Follies and the weekend football "winners."

Game of the Week
California over UCLA—The winner will go to the Rose Bowl, and we'll go with the team nobody believed. The UCLANS are rugged and could do it, but the pick is based on that mauling California line and a newly-discovered passing attack.

The East
Army over New Mexico—Should have been played in Albuquerque.

Dartmouth over Columbia—If Johnny Clayton is available.

Princeton over Harvard—Another Tiger track meet.

Tulane over Navy—Green Wave gaining tidal proportions.

The South
Kentucky over Mississippi State—Colonels still uncollared.

Georgia over Florida—Both bouncing back.

LSU over Vanderbilt—The blueplate special.

Maryland over North Carolina—Too many guns.

Also: Wake Forest over Duke, Tennessee over Tennessee Tech, Mississippi over Chattanooga, Alabama over Mississippi Southern, Miami over Louisville, Virginia over W. & M., South Carolina over Citadel, G. W. over Furman, Georgia Tech over VMI, Richmond over VPI.

The Southwest
Texas over Baylor—On sheer momentum.

SMU over Texas Aggies—Vengeance bound.

Rice over Arkansas—But the Razorbacks are rough.

Also: Temple State over Arizona, North Texas over Houston, Tulsa over Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons over Texas Western.

The Midwest
Ohio State over Wisconsin—Apparently at will.

Illinois over Iowa—By two touchdowns.

Northwestern over Purdue—Unless Purdue regains form.

Michigan State over Minnesota—No contest.

Also: Michigan over Indiana, Notre Dame over Pitt, Nebraska over Kansas State, Holy Cross over Marquette, Cincinnati over CP.

Iowa State over Drake, Oklahoma over Kansas and Colorado over Missouri.

The West
Stanford over Washington State—A whale of a game.

Washington over Oregon—Point hungry Huskies.

Idaho over Oregon State—Going for the underdog.

Wyoming over Brigham Young—Keeping the slate clean.

Also: Colorado Aggies over Utah, Denver over Utah State, Montana over Nevada, and San Francisco over Santa Clara.

SCENES AROUND RANGER

"Tackle-Around" Yung and the defensive team were giving each other fits during the Bulldogs' practice yesterday. Near the end of practice, there developed a little intra-squad rivalry as the offensive team, urged on by Coach Warden, bolted against the defensive eleven, egged on by Coach Aills.

The resulting head-banging would have done credit to any regular game. Yung's gains on the tackle around began to irk the defense after a while until they yelled for more. Coach Warden obliged them and Bulldog fought Bulldog. If they keep that up for three more days, and don't break each other's necks in the meantime, Eastland is in for a bad time.

Comacho was whooping it up—in fact he whooped so loud that end Standridge of the Rangers, who were practicing nearby, chimed in with some pleasantries. What passed between them sounded like a double order for a Mexican dinner.

Standridge would cackle something that sounded like "Hasta La Vista" or "La Vega" or something, and Comacho would chime back with, as near as I could make, "Taco." Now, I'm way behind in my Spanish—in fact, I never got past the "Amigo" stage and a few other words which are unprintable. But I know of a town called La Vega in Central Texas and if I heard Comacho correctly when he said "Taco," he was speaking of a Mexican food.

But this bantering around sounds mysterious to me. So next time when Standridge hollers "Hasta La Vista" and Comacho comes back with "Taco" I'm going to yell out "Enchilada"—and see what happens. If I get a face full of onions and chili, I'll know I should have kept my mouth shut.

The Ft. Worth Press gave the Bulldogs a nice write-up today, "Ranger Bulldog Still Has His Full Quota of Teeth" headlines the story that gives a detailed account of Ranger's team this year.

Except for the leading paragraph, I thought the story was a fair picture of the Bulldogs. But to call Ranger "that shaggy, tired-looking old mongrel over there in the corner" describes a pathetic, decrepit team of wheelchair gridsters. It's an eye-catching phrase but hardly does justice to the Bulldogs who are still quite able to growl, and have looked anything but tired.

But that's the way of sports

Sara Sandrof Plays Piano For Wounded Vets

By Elizabeth Toomey
NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (UP)—Seven years and some 1,000 shows ago Sara Sandrof started playing the piano in wards and auditoriums of Veteran's hospitals.

First she blinked back the tears when boys wounded in World War II asked her to play "I'll Walk Alone." Then she learned different ways to play "Begin the Beguine," the second most frequent request, "So that the tempo of the music suited the mood of the boys."

Now Miss Sandrof, a diminutive redhead who married one of the wounded veterans she met at a ward entertainment at Halloran General Hospital on Staten Island, finds herself playing for young veterans of the Korean war on the three nights a week she goes to Veterans' hospitals.

"Sometimes I have the feeling that this is where I came in," she said.

She appears with volunteer entertainers sent out by the American Theatre wing, the only group which sends out professional entertainers on a volunteer basis at present.

"Even after all these years I never know quite what to expect when we go into a ward," she said. "You have to be able to sense the mood of the boys. Sometimes I make last minute switches in the music I'd planned to play. I'll see a boy who looks Italian in writers. We find it difficult to aptly describe an out-of-town team so we fall back on some catchy phrases. However, Ranger, with the season almost gone, has finally gotten some measure of its just recognition. It was a good story and gave quite a splash to the home team.

Her own husband, Allen Buttrick, has recovered sufficiently from serious wounds he received with the infantry on Saipan to hold down a civil service job.

"We just moved into our first real home, a two-room apartment in Forest Hills," she explained. "And the first thing I've promised myself is a grand piano."

Her husband agrees with this, and with her absence from home

three nights a week too. "He remembers how much music meant to him when he was recovering," she said with a smile. "He insists that when he came out from under the ether after one of his operations there was a Theatre Wing quartet singing beside his bed."

What a big help!

Monday—"Mrs. F. called to volunteer help on our Christmas dolls for the poor baskets. That will be a big help!"

Tuesday—"My neighbor, Wanda, wants me to help at her party this afternoon. Glad she called early!"

Thursday—"Hashed over school problems with Inez. Interested, because I'm still a substitute teacher!"

Friday—"Ed, my husband, called to tell me he'll catch a later bus from the city. Saves me a wait at the bus stop!"

Friday—"Set to go to grocery when Edith called, wants me to drive over for some of their apples. The family loves apple pie."

Friday—"Daughter Mary Ann makes plans for a formal dance. Big event."

THERE'S a pleasant bustle of family life in the home of Mrs. Ida Bianchi, on the outskirts of Oklahoma City. And the telephone is right in the middle of everything.

Mrs. Bianchi proved that by keeping track of all calls, in and out, for five days. She's a substitute school teacher, mother of a teen-age daughter, and does a lot of work for charity, so her telephone runs a variety of errands.

Even she was surprised to see how many there were, and how little they cost—only 13¢ a call!

"The telephone is a BIG help to me," she says. "It's certainly a bargain when you stop to think of the time and steps it saves every day in the week!"

Shower Honors Bride-elect At Gift Tea Mon.

Ann Mitchell Leper of Olden bride-elect of Sam Ailes of Ranger, was honored at a gift shower Monday night from 7 to 9 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Harlan Phillips.

Hostesses, besides Mrs. Phillips, were Misses Boone Yarborough, C. E. Rush, Linda Farney, Raymond Lingle and O. C. Warden.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Charlie Mitchell of Olden, Mrs. Phillips, and Mrs. Forney were in the receiving line.

Nancy Phillips presided at the bride's book, and Carolyn Prost, Betty Penn and Jeanette Kirkpatrick provided the music.

Mrs. Rush presided at the coffee service, and Misses Yarborough, Lingle and Warden assisted at the table.

A color theme of pink and white was used in decorating. The table was covered with an Irish linen cutwork cloth and appointed with silver. The coffee service was placed at one end. An arrangement of pink gladioluses flanked by pink candles in silver candelabra was at the other end. Arrangements of chrysanthemums were used throughout the house.

The honoree and her mother wore corsages of pink carnations.

OFFICER INVESTIGATING ATROCITY SLAYINGS BECOMES CUSTODIAN OF TWO GLOWING PILES OF WAR HORROR

By H. D. Quigg
WITH THE 1ST CAVALRY DIVISION, Korea, Nov. 8 (UP)—A quiet Army major who once was an eminent court prosecutor in Indianapolis has become the custodian of two glowing piles of horror.

One of a file of photographs of murdered American soldiers and Korean civilians. The other is a pile of statements of eye-witnesses to these war crimes.

Boyce House Gives You Texas

Major Robert E. Brown, 36, of Indianapolis, who in 1947 was on the staff of the Marion County Indiana prosecutor, has made a career in this war investigating atrocity slayings. As assistant division judge advocate, he has investigated the atrocities reported where the 1st Cavalry Division has been in action.

From August 17 to October 25 he gathered evidence on 25 atrociously slaying incidents, eight involving American prisoners of war and the others civilians. The slain included about 350 American prisoners of war and about 1,200 Korean civilians.

The pictures are damning. They show the peaceful, quaint exterior of Korean cottages—their roof corners turned up in the architectural smile typical of the orient. Then you came to the photographs of the interior.

There lie the sprawled bodies—tied up, shot, hacked, clubbed, bayoneted, stained with blood.

"What is an atrocity slaying?" I asked. "We often think of the term as involving a torture or mutilation of some kind."

"I'd say it's the slaying of someone who has surrendered—or the slaying of civilians without any due process of law," he replied.

Brown handed me one series of pictures growing out of an ambush of an American service company which had been en route to pick up food for fighting units. That was on October 13, two miles north of the 38th Parallel. Twelve captured Americans were put in a room.

When the American fighting troops neared the house the 12, sitting on the floor, were shot. Seven died. Five played dead and escaped the next morning after the North Koreans had withdrawn from the area. The five who escaped each had two or more gunshot wounds, and some of them were carried or dragged by the others to a road.

Another picture showed what Brown termed "a typical Korean" in a police station. Twenty-four civilians, their hands tied, had been hacked to death with an ax or bludgeoned to death. Some had their heads blown off.

"Some had simply refused to go in the Red army," Brown said. "Others had not cooperated with the government. All these atrocities occurred in areas which the American forces were about to enter."

At Chinnampo Brown investigated three cell blocks in a building which was headquarters for North Korean "Chiande" (secret police) or the "Chong Chi Boo Wui" (thought control police) prisoners there had been hacked about the head with an ax. Some survived.

One statement tells of 500 persons in the peoples army stockade at Chongju on September 24. The Communists set fire to the stockade and few as Americans advanced. The reports says 150 prisoners survived. The rest were burned to death.

There was more than one report of the burning of prisoners, with the civilian prisoners dying in their cells at windows where they tried to escape the flames.

"So far," Brown said, "out of all these cases, I have got only two persons who could be described as being connected with committing war crimes. Finding the criminals is quite a job."

At Chinnampo Brown investigated three cell blocks in a building which was headquarters for North Korean "Chiande" (secret police) or the "Chong Chi Boo Wui" (thought control police) prisoners there had been hacked about the head with an ax. Some survived.

One statement tells of 500 persons in the peoples army stockade at Chongju on September 24. The Communists set fire to the stockade and few as Americans advanced. The reports says 150 prisoners survived. The rest were burned to death.

There was more than one report of the burning of prisoners, with the civilian prisoners dying in their cells at windows where they tried to escape the flames.
