Last Big Battle Of War May Be Near Bulldogs Ready And Willing

By Earnest Hoherecht.

TOKYO, Nov. 22 (UP)—United Nations forces chased fleeing Communists up the northeast coast of Korea today with artillery range of Chongjin, big enemy port only 55 miles south of the Soviet Siberian frontier.

Thundering broadsides from eight-inch guns of the U. S. heavy cruiser St. Paul offshore and a rain of bombs, rockets and bullets from American carrier planes took a heavy toll of the retreating enemy.

The South Korean Capital Division, close on the heels of the Communists, thrust north through Yonghyang, at the mouth of the Churoun river 14 miles south of Chongjin.

Navy pilots reported some Communist units were pulling north out of Chongjin, but it was too early to determine whether the enemy has decided to abandon the port without a fight. Much of the city is in ruins from American bombs.

At the opposite end of the 250-mile front across Northern Korea, seven Allied divisions totaling up to 10,000 men and an equal number of Chinese and Korean Reds were getting set for what may be the last great battle of the Korean war.

Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker's Allied 8th Army will try to break through the Red line to Sinuiju, the temporary North Korean capital, and the Yalu River power dams on the Manchurian frontier.

East side was sending out patrols today all along a front curving some 60 miles inland from the northwest coast. But this was only the preliminary sparring for the battle to come.

The U. S. 1st Cavalry Division reported that one of its patrols in the center of the front advanced six miles before it was halted by an enemy force of 1,500. It lost two jeeps before withdrawing.

On the left flank, troops of the South Korean 1st Division ran into an enemy battalion seven miles north of Pakchon. Another patrol found a Communist company three miles northeast of Pakchon.

Reconnaissance planes reported at least six Communist battalions dug in ahead of the South Korean 6th, 7th and 8th Divisions north of Tokchon in the right flank of the northwest front.

Fifth Air Force planes kept up a round-the-clock bombardment of the enemy build-up. They rocketed and bombed five northwest cities and threw 1,000-pound bombs at one of the bridges across the Yalu River between Sinuiju and the Manchurian city of Antung.

B-29 Superfortresses dropped 70 tons of demolition bombs on military targets southwest of Nusan on the Manchurian border in Northwest Korea. The Communist garrison of Hyesanjin, 77 miles to the southwest, was reported to have fled toward Musan when the U. S. 7th Division approached.

Guessors Pick Coleman To Win Over Bulldogs

By United Press

The grueling five-week grind which leads to the state's Class A schoolboy football championship opens tomorrow with six games on the day and night schedule and without a standout favorite among the 32 teams lined up for bi-district play.

There are so many fine records, that observers hesitate to single out one team as the most likely to succeed. Littlefield in the three-year-old Class A championship.

Five of tomorrow's bi-districters are daylight affairs—the lone nocturnal game sending Spur (3-A) against Levelland (4-A) at Lubbock. Levelland, conqueror of Littlefield in its district, will be favored.

The afternoon games include Colorado City (6A) vs. Kermit (5A) at Odessa, Ranger (8A) at Coleman (7A), Newcastle (11-A) vs. Arlington (12A) at Fort Worth, Athens (13-A) at Mineola (14-A) and Mexia (19-A) at La Vega (20-A).

Kermit, Coleman, Arlington, Athens and La Vega were slight favorites.

Fired up to the point of sleeping, eating and talking of nothing but the bi-district game, the Ranger Bulldogs shook off their leash and braced themselves for the crucial meeting with the Bluecats in Coleman, Thursday.

The Bulldogs are facing a three-year jinx when, after having won or tied for the district championship, they were unable to hurdle the bi-district clash. Last year it was Ballinger and the "fifth down" incident. In 1948, Ranger could claim the co-championship of District 8-A but did not represent it in the play-offs. And, now this year after having seemingly been tumbled out of the race by Hamilton, the Bulldogs once again represent the district in the state play-off.

Their first hurdle is a tough one. Coleman hasn't rolled up many large scores against their opponents but their wins have been impressive in one of the most rugged Class A districts in the state.

The Bluecats have won 8, lost 1 and tied one. The two marks on their record were caused by Class AA eleven. Brownwood defeated the Bluecats by one touchdown, 13-7 and a respected Stephenville team could manage only a 20-20 tie with the Class A team.

Four District 8-A teams went down before the passing Bluecats. Hamilton played them the best game before losing 13-7. Eastland scored twice against the Bluecats but were too far behind to catch up as Coleman beat them, 32-12. Comanche took the count at 20-6 and Cisco failed to score while Coleman was racking up three touchdowns against them to win 20-0.

Coleman's most impressive win as far as Ranger fans are concerned was their district-winning edge over Brady 7-6. Brady is the same team that walloped an early, off-form Bulldog eleven, 62-20.

The tall Coleman team has four standout players. Baker, the quarterback, is the sparkplug of the Bluecats. Their three running backs are Sartain, Stagg and Harnes. Guard Rod Pirtle has been playing the best ball in the line.

Coleman plays from the T and T-wing. It's a tricky ball club that believes in passing the ball fast and often. The Bluecats put play is a short, bullet pass over center or in either flat zone. Coleman's chief strength lies in its balanced ball handling.

Couch Warden, without the assistance of Coach Aills who was getting all ready to be hitched up Wednesday night, paced the Bulldogs through their last contact scrimmage Wednesday afternoon. Their pass defense looked good although it leaked at times but the line was living up to its best reputation. The team ran a few of its own plays but the time was mostly spent on defensive work against the Coleman passing and running attack.

The Bulldogs are both mentally and physically ready for the bi-district tilt. Comacho had a sore toe but it wasn't even noticeable during practice. Cole seems to be better after having a touch of the flu Monday. Hummell is still bandaged up but that has become a habit for the rugged tackle. The knee injury that hampered Yang a couple of weeks ago seems to be okay. None of the Bulldogs are seriously injured and should be at near top strength for the Coleman game.

Front Line GIs Will Get Turkey With Trimmings

WITH 1ST CAVALRY DIVISION, Korea, Nov. 22 (UP)—American front line troops will have Thanksgiving turkey with all trimmings tomorrow although they may have to eat it in the foxholes.

Thanksgiving dinners whose menus list 20 different courses are being carried to the front by refrigerated vans and planes. Some troops will disregard the calendar and celebrate when the dinners arrive today.

The courses include everything—literally—from soup to nuts. Shrimp cocktail, stuffed olives and sweet pickles will be served as appetizers, with roast young tom turkey as the main course. Cranberry sauce, sage dressing and giblet gravy will replace C-rations.

All kinds of vegetables will crowd the mess kits, including candied sweet potatoes, mashed potatoes, green peas and buttered corn.

Fresh baked bread and butter will replace the hard-tack biscuits usually eaten by troops in combat. Dessert will consist of fruit cake, pumpkin and mince-meat pie, hard candies and nuts. Hot coffee will come with the meal.

Mess Sgt. Kenneth E. Phillips, of Whitley City, Ky., plans to decorate a serving line with cornstalks and white paper and have music with the meal over a public address system.

"In the morning we'll serve fresh eggs," he said. "And they'll be cooked according to order."

Students Drop 20,000 Leaflets

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 22 (UP)—Four Princeton students hired a plane yesterday and set out for Hanover, N.H., to bomb the Dartmouth campus with taunting leaflets as a warm-up to Saturday's Princeton-Dartmouth football game.

Weather forced them to turn back, so they dropped the 20,000 leaflets at West Point instead.

"At least," said one, "we got a kick out of the thought of those cadets having to pick up all that paper."

Give Thanks....

We give Thee thanks for all Thy benefits, O Almighty God and for these Thy gifts, which we are about to receive from Thy bounty. Amen.

Planted Bomb Explodes Car Kills Ft. Worth Man, Woman

FORT WORTH, Nov. 22 (UP)—An explosion police said was caused by a bomb planted in an automobile rocked Fort Worth's west side today, killing a man and his wife.

The couple were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Harris. Mrs. Harris was said to be an expectant mother, with her baby due next week.

Harris was reported to be the owner of a Fort Worth night club. His head was blown off and his body mangled. Mrs. Harris died on the way to the hospital.

The blast was heard in downtown Fort Worth, and broke out windows in apartments and houses in the surrounding neighborhood where it took place.

Police Traffic Capt. Cato Hightower, one of the first on the scene, said there was no doubt about a bomb being planted in the car.

Police said Harris' head was blown off and the rest of his body mangled. The car was demolished. Harris was said to be the owner of the Black Hawk night club in Fort Worth.

First arrivals at the scene said Mrs. E. W. Bowman said women of the neighborhood thought at first that a hot water heater had exploded. Many of the women grabbed their children in their arms and ran into the streets, she said.

Homicide detective A. C. Howerton and fire marshal W. H. Dixon both agreed that the explosion was caused by a bomb planted in the car—apparently under the hood. The car was a 1949 model Dodge sedan.

It was parked about 10 yards from the rear door of the Harris apartment. The force of the blast blew off the rear door of the apartment house.

One of the tires on a front wheel that was blown off the car was shredded.

Mrs. J. P. Wishard, living in the same apartment house project, said she had just entered her apartment.

"I was putting my groceries down when I heard a loud explosion," she related.

"I stepped out on the back of the apartment house right away. I thought there had been an airplane crash on the corner.

"Then I saw the car sitting out there all torn up," she added.

Brownies Pick 'Woody Wood Chuckers' Name

Twenty Brownie Girl Scouts finally decided what to call themselves—the "Woody Wood Chuckers." The Wood Chuckers consist of seven-year-olds and joining the Brownies is a new adventure for them.

The girls have finished their "Sat up On's" and are now making plans for a Christmas surprise. Officers for the second six weeks are: Maria Jan Harris, president; Georgia Kaye McCleskey, vice-president; telephone committee, Paula Lingle, Jan Falls and Sue Rogers; Gwendolyn Warden, clean-up chairman; Anna Sue Cantwell, treasurer.

Officers are chosen by drawing names each six weeks and when a girl holds one office her name is left out, in that way giving each girl a fair chance at becoming an officer. Nibbles are furnished once a month by one or two girls. At the last meeting Arlinda Carver was hostess.

Leveille Motor Co. To Show New Fords Fri.

The new 1951 Ford passenger cars, featuring new power combinations, Automatic Ride Control, and many refinements in styling, engineering, comfort and safety will be placed on display tomorrow (Friday, November 24) in the showroom of Leveille Motor Co., it was announced today by Mr. Morris Leveille.

Mr. Leveille said the new Fords offer a choice of six power combinations—Ford's new fully automatic transmission, the Ford overdrive and the standard 3-speed transmission, all available either with the 100 H. P. V-8 or the advanced 95 H. P. Six engines. There are 36 models in the 1951 line.

The new automatic transmission is called "Fordomatic Drive." The result of more than 4 years of research, it is the combination of a hydraulic torque converter and an automatic planetary gear transmission which operate together for maximum performance and efficiency and smooth flow of power.

Another feature of the 1951 car is the new Automatic Ride Control made possible by a combination of advanced type shock absorbers and a new type of spring suspension which combine to compensate for all types of road surfaces.

The new cars also offer the widest range of body colors and upholstery and interior trim combinations in Ford car history.

The chassis frame has been strengthened and a number of important engine changes were made. Both V-8 and Six engines now have autothermic expansion control pistons whose top rings are chrome-plated to prevent scuffing of cylinder walls. All engines now have new water-proof ignition systems and rotating valves.

Formosa Tells Of 1000 Reds Deserting Army

HONG KONG, Nov. 22 (UP)—Mass desertions among Chinese Communist troops ordered to the Korean front were reported today by Chinese Nationalist sources in Formosa.

A Nationalist intelligence report said more than 1,000 soldiers of the Chinese Red 35th Army garrisoned at Tsinan, capital of Shantung Province, deserted after receiving orders to proceed to Manchuria.

The deserters were said to have taken their arms and fled into southern Shantung areas held by Nationalist guerrillas.

Nationalist sources said an entire division also deserted a fortnight ago while en route from Shanghai to Manchuria.

Both defecting units were identified as part of Gen. Chen Yi's 3rd field army in eastern China.

Movie To Be Shown At BS Honor Court

All parents, boys of scout age and the general public have been invited by Scout Master Harmon Shockey to attend the Court of Honor meeting in the First Baptist Church, at 7 p.m. Friday.

A movie taken at Camp Billy Gibbons, where Ranger scouts attended this summer, will be shown.

Hiway 80 Boosters Meet 7 P. M. Thurs.

The Highway Boosters Association will meet Friday night at 7 in the Chamber of Commerce office, Ralph Wagner, president, announced.

A decision is to be made as to whether or not any changes should be made in the wording of the Weatherford traffic sign. The sign will be completely redone by the sign company in the near future.

Ed Freeman Joins City Police Dept.

Ed Freeman of Ranger has been hired by the City Commission to work for the police department. The commission made the announcement at Tuesday night's meeting. Freeman will be in charge of the city's parking meters.

C Of C Hears T&P's Efforts To Promote Safety Measures

An appeal for a continuing safety program and the T & P's effort to join hands with community groups in promoting safer towns was extended by W. T. Alexander, operating superintendent of the Western division of the T & P Railroad, to fifty persons attending the November Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon at the Gholson Coffee Shop, Tuesday.

The subject of Mr. Alexander's talk was "Automobile Accident Prevention," dealing principally with the railroad company's effort to cooperate with all citizens and towns situated on the T & P to eliminate or reduce grade crossing fatalities.

F. P. Brashier, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting. Bill Williams, vice president and general manager of the National Aggregate Co., of San Antonio, who has taken over the local aggregate plant, was introduced by L. R. Pearson.

C. E. May, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce announced that his organization was sponsoring the pre-publication sale of Boyce House's new book about Ranger, "Roaring Ranger." May said that this project would result in a great deal of publicity for Ranger and asked those present to cooperate with Jaycees in their efforts to get the book published.

Rev. Ralph Perkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church, paid tribute to the school board, Dr. G. C. Boswell, president of Ranger Junior College, and faculty and ex-students of the college for the anniversary program held last Saturday.

President Brashier announced that no monthly luncheons would be held during December and January because of the holiday season.

In his speech, Mr. Alexander explained why a railroad man is interested in preventing automobile accidents. He said, "A railroad man has been taught safety, preached it and practiced it in his own business so much that the saving of human lives has become a part of his life. We on the T&P are especially anxious to reduce the number of highway-railway grade crossing accidents all over the country.

"We still have hope on our side. That backed by some intelligent united safety planning, by all segments of every community, in my opinion, can plant some new safe habits in our national conduct which will flower into a safer nation.

"On the T&P we have the enviable record of no train passengers being killed in almost 30 years. But we have our share of grade crossing accidents—24 persons were killed or fatally injured in 1949 at T&P crossings. We of the T&P want to work that 24 down to zero. If we can work together through a civic agency designated by you to spearhead a local continuing safety program, base that program on projects requiring utmost individual participation, then we will have taken a great step forward toward creating an ultra-safe community.

THE WEATHER

By United Press

Texas was promised a bright, mild Thanksgiving Day, if they celebrate the first of the state's two official holidays tomorrow.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said current mild temperatures would prevail under fair skies through tomorrow with a high pressure area bringing slightly cooler weather into the Panhandle and South Plains sometime Thursday.

Ground fog which enveloped the areas east and south of Dallas during the early morning hours burned off rapidly as the sun mounted, leaving a visually the entire state under clear skies.

Early morning temperatures barely missed the freezing point at Ozona, where a low of 34 degrees, was reported, and ranged upward to 61 degrees at Brownsville, Junction and Dalhart reported 35-degree lows, Amarillo 36 and Presidio 39.

Yesterday's maximums fell between 62 at Texasarkana and 80 at Wink, with most points in the high 60's and 70's.

5-Year-Olds Can Get By On 10 Cents Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (UP)—Ten cents a week is the current scale for a five-year-old's allowance in Dr. Luther E. Woodward's household.

Dr. Woodward, a pleasant, white-haired man who serves as consultant for the National Association of Mental Health, would not bring up his family finances, except he has written a pamphlet for the association on the importance of an allowance in helping children develop a sense of responsibility.

"It is important for children to assume growing responsibility in the family circle, and to have a feeling of confidence in their own ability to make decisions and try new things," he explained. "They should learn to know the value of money, and be responsible for the consequences if they spend it haphazardly."

Returning to the problem of an allowance, he suggested that it be expanded as a child grows into teens so that it would include certain clothing.

"Parents can't buy kids off with an allowance. The child still wants to spend time with the father and the mother," he added, "but it does give a child a feeling of taking part in the family."

City parents, he pointed out, have greater difficulty developing a sense of responsibility in children than farm families, where a child learns to work along with the father or mother at an age when the city child is being completely cared for.

whole allowance the first day and have no money the rest of the week.

There are absolutely no strings, he said, on the 10 cents he gives his youngest son each week. "My 12-year-old boy is given enough money to include his Sunday school donation and club dues, but the rest he spends as he chooses," he added.

Dr. Woodward came over from his home in Brooklyn to attend the mental health conference sponsored by the national association. Emotional needs of children, as well as treatment for retarded children both were part of the conference discussion.

"I am not particularly pessimistic over the effects of the present world insecurity on small children," he said. So long as parents can keep their relations with each other on a good basis, the children will survive much insecurity in the outer world.

Navy Turkey Menu Not Like It Was In 1894

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23—Thanksgiving Day has an altogether different meaning for U. S. Navy Bluejackets today than it did 56 years ago, and no better proof is needed than the opinion of reserve enlisted men and officers aboard Navy ships and stations this Thanksgiving.

This fact has a special meaning for other reservists who are pondering whether or not to "take a cruise" as part of the Navy's optional keep-in-trip program.

Hundreds of navy reserve officers and enlisted men are being offered the opportunity to take two-week training cruises early next year aboard district training ships, Capt. J. W. Harper, Jr., USN, Eighth Naval District training director, has announced.

They'll find the chew and living conditions in general very good. For comparison purposes, the Thanksgiving menu aboard present Navy ships, and the menu which "old tars" of the U. S. S. Portsmouth faced when seated around the galleys table on Thanksgiving Day in 1894.

Sailors aboard the Portsmouth on that particular day, according to official records, had for Thanksgiving dinner: plumduff, salt horse, hardtack and coffee.

But things can change a lot in 56 years, as the men of the "New Navy" can well verify.

The FORMER MISS FREY

"NORTHCOTT'S a supreme egoist." Gil Summerfield went on seriously. "He's convinced he can put anything across no matter how ticklish it is. He'd set his heart on owning Frey & Company because he honestly believes in it and he wasn't going to let anything stop him. He knew that Ed known your family for years and he knew the whole situation about—about your father. It was risky, but he thought he could swing us all into line. He believes implicitly in his power to dominate people. That's probably why he told you he controlled Jeff's shares before he actually did. And I guess he thought he could dominate me, too. He can't, but he certainly put me in a tight spot."

"You mean because of—of Jeff?" Ede asked reluctantly.

Gil looked away. "Yes. Because of Jeff. We had a talk. I'm pretty dumb about business, but I gathered that this was supposed to be a cow little set-together between the three of us. And I also gathered that you weren't to know anything about it—yet."

"But you saw me that night?" Ede said almost accusingly. "And you didn't say a word."

He spread his hands. "How could I? Listen, when I found out that it was Frey & Company Northcott had in mind, and that Jeff was involved, I was on the point of getting out of the thing altogether. But then I reconsidered. I— he paused, his face darkening. "This isn't too easy, Ede."

"I'll help you," Ede said. "You knew that Jeff was having pressure put on him to sell us out. You thought he was pretty sure to do it. And you decided to buy his shares, rather than let someone else get them. Wouldn't that about cover it?" She shook his arm slightly.

Gil said embarrassedly. "All right. Not that I'm any thin red here, but I did figure it best for me to appear to play ball. But naturally, I couldn't—couldn't."

"Tell me that same evening that Jeff was a louse?"

Gil nodded. "I didn't want you to know anything about Jeff's part in it unless you absolutely had to. It might have come out you see. Jeff couldn't make up his mind. But 'louse' is way too strong. Jeff's easily led and Northcott obviously had him under his thumb. So I figured that, if Jeff were really going to sell his shares, I'd better buy them. Rather than let some stranger Northcott might dig up cut himself a piece of cake. Or rather, a piece of change."

There was a soft warm light in Ede's eyes.

"The lady," she said, "is getting it at last. Naturally, you didn't want me to find out about all this and think—all the things I did think later on. So you went to a notary and made a statement to the effect that if Jeff's shares came to you, you intended transferring them to me. In other words, you were all set to double-cross Northcott, weren't you? As a favor to me? I've been looking for a word to describe you, Gil Summerfield. I can't be sure, but I think it's 'darling'."

Gil pressed the hand she'd given him gratuitously.

"And then," he continued, "we all got out on Northcott's boat. You've got to remember, Ede, that I was still affecting to play ball with him. Well, before Northcott talked to you, he came to me. Very late that night. He was quite disturbed. He wanted me to use my influence with you, as an old friend of your family's. And then when I balked. And I balked especially because he finally came clean and told me exactly what he was going to do with your agency, if he got it."

"I must have handed him a jolt when I turned down his offer," said Ede. "He thought I wouldn't be able to refuse. But what was he going to do with the agency?"

"It's perfectly simple when you stop to think about it," Gil told her. "Northcott controls a lot of different advertising appropriations in that firm he's with. He's a big shot and he can throw that business anywhere he likes. Well, he gets a magnificent salary as advertising manager. But if he owned an advertising agency, he could gradually shift all the business into his own show. Naturally, he wouldn't own the agency openly. But he could get someone to front for him and be the power behind the throne. You understand, don't you? He'd not only have his big salary, but he'd get the commission on all the money his firm spends for advertising. I'd be like owning a good fat gold mine. Lewis Northcott, Ede, is a very clever man. Not to say, unscrupulous."

Ede shook her head. "I guess I'm rather stupid. I ought to have guessed that myself. Well, what happened next, Gil?"

"We had a fight," Gil said. "I told him that, now I understood how things were, I wanted nothing to do with such a scheme. I said I was through and that he could get someone else to go in with him for this dirty work. It was—Gil laughed shortly—"quite a good fight. And finally Northcott blew up altogether and ordered me off his boat. I was glad to go because . . . I checked myself. "I guess we'll skip that."

"We're not going to skip anything," Ede said firmly.

"Well," Gil said, "do you remember that Winwood woman on the boat? It seems that once when she was dummy during the bridge game, she went on deck and . . . oh, it was just that when she came back, she—she said something that made me think you and Reagan were that way about each other."

US TROOPS REACH MANCHURIAN BORDER—The U. S. 7th Division has reached the Manchurian border town of Hyesanjin (1), to climax a 30-mile advance from east coast. The American troops have thus sliced the Korean front into two parts and virtually isolated Red forces in Korea's northeast corner (dotted area). On east coast, South Koreans reached vicinity of Chuchonjang (2) and Red resistance was reported decreasing. On northwest front, Communists completed new defense line (jagged symbol) on approaches to vital Yalu River power plants (3). Big new battles in that sector loomed as "considerable" enemy armor was reported moving down from the frontier toward the new line. U. S. Marines circling around Chosin Reservoir (4) reported no contact with enemy. In Samin (5) area, east of Pyongyang, Allies were moving in against by-passed guerrillas. (NEA Telephoto).

FOUR PLAYERS ARE UNANIMOUS CHOICES FOR ALL SWC TEAM; SEVEN OF FIRST TEAM WILL BE BACK TO PLAY IN 1951

DALLAS, Nov. 22 (UP)—Champion University of Texas placed three men on the United Press All-Southwest Conference team today and two of the Longhorn choices were among the four unanimous choices of conference coaches.

Bud McFadin and Tackle Ken Jackson on the All-star crew and McFadin and Townsend joined Southern Methodist's halfback Kyle Rote and Texas A&M fullback Robert Smith as unanimous selections.

Jackson and Baylor's great passing tandem of quarterback Larry Isbell and end Harold Riley fell shy by one vote each of making more than half the team unanimous.

Rounding out the first All-Conference eleven were Andy Hillhouse of Texas A&M at end opposite Riley; Rice's Paul Gioski at tackle with Jackson; Arkansas' Dave Hanner at guard with McFadin, and SMU's blond terror, Dick Hightower, at center.

SMU, Baylor and A&M, locked in a struggle with Rice for runner-up honors behind Texas, each placed two men while Rice and Arkansas got one each.

Smith, the conference's leading ground gainer and scorer, was awarded the fullback post, with Townsend shifted to halfback spot, which he occupied as a sophomore last year; Rote, the most versatile back in the conference with his passing, punting, running and blocking, got the other halfback spot.

Isbell, whose passing has accounted for more touchdowns than any other aerial artist in the loop and who has been the key to Baylor's surprising showing, was the class of the quarterbacks.

Riley, top pass receiver, Hillhouse, ranked no. 5, dominated the terminal positions in the line, but Gioski barely nosed out Bob Collier of SMU for Jackson's running mate at tackle.

Hanner got votes for both guard and tackle, to nose out SMU's Herschel Forester out of a guard slot, but Hightower stood out as the peer of the centers with his offensive and defensive play.

Collier and Farrester gained places on the second team along with pint-sized Johnny Champion, the five-foot four-inch demon halfback, to give SMU three places on the runnerup eleven.

The Aggies, Rice and Baylor each got two and TCU and Texas one each on the second team.

Completing the second group backfield with Champion was quarterback Gil Bartosh of TCU, who has starred consistently despite playing as a cripple; A&M's bouncing Billy Tidwell and Baylor's Jim Jeffrey.

At the ends were Ben Proctor of Texas and Bill Howton of Rice, both pass-catching specialists.

Ken Casner, a mainstay in the Baylor line, gained the tackle spot opposite Collier, while A&M's Max Greiner teamed with Forester at guard.

Rice's rugged Lee Stonestreet at center rounded out the second team.

WEEKLY BASKETBALL RATINGS WILL BE PRESENTED BY UP BOARD OF BASKETBALL COACHES FROM 7 SECTIONS OF NATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (UP)—The United Press announced today the formation of a basketball ratings board, made up of 35 of the nation's outstanding basketball coaches, to rate the country's collegiate teams each week.

The board will operate in the same manner as the United Press board of football experts, whose weekly ratings have become generally accepted as the official rankings of the teams.

Five basketball coaches will serve from each of the seven sections of the country—the East, Midlands, Midwest, Pacific Coast, Rockies, South and Southwest.

They will rate the teams in order each week and form their ballots the United Press will compile weekly ratings, based on 10 points for each first place vote, nine for second and so on down to one for 10th. The selections of each coach will be confidential.

Their votes will provide the only basketball rating board based on the opinion of men who know the sport the best. The nature of the board, giving each section of the country equal representation, avoids the section bias and ballot box stuffing for which other basketball polls have been criticized.

The United Press will alternate the release of these ratings weekly. The first of the weekly ratings will be carried for Wednesday AM's and Wednesday PM's of Dec. 6. After that the releases will alternate between Tuesday AM's and Tuesday PM's.

Prior to the first weekly ratings, however, the United Press will have the prediction of the 35 coaches on how the teams will rank at the close of the 1950-51 season. It will be carried for PM newspapers of Wednesday, Nov. 29 and AM newspapers of Thursday, Nov. 30.

These predictions will not be guesswork. The coaches have access to secret scouting reports; they know the material situation at every school and the hundred and one other things which are essential to the intelligent ratings of all teams.

The board's selections will be called the United Press Basketball ratings.

Here are the coaches who make up the board:

Baylor-SMU Game Saturday May Turn Into Passing Show Of Year In Upsettingest SWC Season

By United Press
Southwest Conference eleven returned to the practice field today in preparation for a week end card that should settle the dust from one of the "upsettingest" seasons on record.

The powerful Texas Longhorns have sewed up the conference flag and the accompanying Cotton Bowl bid, but the other clubs are still scrapping for honors in the "also ran" department.

Both the Longhorns and Texas A&M, who clash Nov. 30 in their annual Turkey Day battle, will be idle this weekend.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

Thanksgiving Day services are held each year by the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and its branches throughout the world. The order of service includes the reading of a Lesson-Sermon on the topic of "Thanksgiving," and opportunity is afforded for testimonies of gratitude to be expressed appropriate to the occasion. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

The Golden Text is: "Oh, that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing" (Psalms 107:21, 22).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it" (Malachi 3:10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, today is big with blessings" (Preface VII).

Southern Methodist and Baylor, with two wins two losses each, swung into action in preparation for their headline battle Saturday in Dallas.

SMU Coach Rusty Russell allowed the Mustang varsity to take it easy yesterday, but warned that hard work begins today for what he considers a tough game.

Russell announced the Mustangs must finish the season without the services of tackle Bobby Collier, who hurt his back in the bruising battle with Arkansas on a muddy gridiron last Saturday.

Baylor's Bears warned by scout Jim Crow that SMU "is just as tough as ever," worked until dark yesterday checking defensive assignment and running plays scheduled for use against the Mustangs.

The Bears, who were idle last week end, were reported in good physical shape for the SMU game, which may turn out to be the passing show of the year.

Texas Christian's Horned Frogs, who still haven't pulled their usual "upset" of the year, were reported in fair physical shape as they drilled for their Saturday contest with the Rice Owls.

Coach Dutch Meyer, who sent the TCU squad through a light drill yesterday, said the Frogs came through the Texas game without new injuries.

The Rice Owls, encouraged by their surprise victory over Texas A&M Saturday, were peppy yesterday as they went through limbering up exercises. The Owls

SCENES AROUND RANGER

Well, the football season is still alive in Ranger and it's pointing toward Coleman. It may be Thanksgiving Day but a lot of the turkey dinners will have to be eaten earlier than usual or kept warm in the oven until after the game.

If the football-fever thermometer reads correctly, Ranger should be a dead city for several hours Thursday as a mass exodus takes place. The only persons I've run into so far that won't see the game are the miserable, unfortunate ones who will have to work, or on the verge of death, have died, or are already out of town or are in Korea.

The Bulldogs are shooting for something more than a bi-district victory which is no mean accomplishment in itself. But the Bulldogs have never advanced beyond the bi-district game since they entered Class A football in 1948. In those three years, the Bulldogs have won the championship outright in 1949 and this year and tied for the district crown in 1948. Those three years have seen them lose only two district games—to Dublin in 1948 and Hamilton this year.

Huffard Filed in Coleman seats 5,500 and every spot is expected to be filled. Coleman merchants did an about face on the Thanksgiving date. They had previously announced Nov. 30 as the day until sustained only minor bruises in the Aggie battle.

The Arkansas Razorbacks, who have wound up a dismal conference season with only one win, studied mistakes made in the SMU game. The Hogs close the books Thursday with a contest against Tulsa's Golden Hurricane.

The Porkers re-ran some of the faulty plays and went through a signal drill.

the Bluecats won the district crown. A hurried meeting straightened that out and so it will be Turkey Day Nov. 23 at both cities with the real turkey and trimmings postponed until Thursday night.

Out on the field Tuesday, while watching the Bulldogs put in their last hard scrimmage of the week, I thought something was missing. A quick look-around showed that coach Sam Aills was absent. Good gosh, I thought, I've been worried about the players getting hurt in practice, and now don't tell me that Sam will be out of the game.

I was relieved to learn that he was only getting ready for his marriage to Ann Loper Wednesday night, Nov. 22. Did I say "only" getting married? Man's most fatal step and I pass it off lightly! However, coach Aills will still be with us—he's just gone and got himself a quarterback. I know all Ranger and especially all football fans wish Mr. and Mrs. Aills a long and happy life.

Coach Warden invited me Tuesday night to see the movie of the Coleman-Hamilton game, he was showing the team. The other armchair quarterback at the show was Raymond Lingle, one of the most avid of Bulldog fans. Enjoyed the show a lot and actually learned something from Coach Warden's instructions and blackboard drawings of plays.

That Coleman bunch is a tricky ball-handling team and they seem to have gotten into the habit of passing the ball. The Bluecats have height; the first string averaging around 6 feet. They aren't

But when it comes to outclassing the Bulldogs as I have heard from some who say "they know"—just ain't so. If anything the game looms as strictly a toss-up except from here where I give the edge to the Bulldogs.

Christening Of Barbara Griffith Held In Ceremony

Barbara Jan Griffith, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Griffith, was christened in ceremony, held Sunday morning, Nov. 19, at the First Methodist Church of Strawn, The Rev. C. H. Wilkerson officiated.

The christening was held at Strawn, the former home of the room family and conducted by the minister who has performed marriage ceremonies for all of the room family, and in addition, he has baptized all of their grandchildren.

The members of the family attending for the christening were: the baby's grandmother, Mrs. H. Griffith of Corsicana; Mrs. Bernard Brewer of Martin; Mrs. Mary Smith of Fort Worth, aunt of the baby; Mr. and Mrs. James Croom and Lewis Croom, uncles of the baby; Miss Estella Johnson of Fort Worth; Mrs. Eve Singleton of Dallas, cousins of the baby; and Mr. and Mrs. Wiley C. Tucker of Fort Worth.

Mrs. W. N. Bourdeau and son Bill left Tuesday for San Francisco, California to spend the weekend with her daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reiley and other relatives.

James H. Croom Graduates At Institute Fri.

James H. Croom, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Croom of Ranger was graduated Friday at the Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science.

Exercises were held Friday night at 7:30 p. m. in the Grace Methodist Church in Dallas.

An address by Paul D. McAnley, prominent in the field of Mortuary Science, was delivered to the forty-six graduates.

Mr. Croom has accepted a position with Harris Funeral Home in For. Worth and will assume his duties Monday.

During his course at the school he took an active part in student activities and was assistant photographer for the school year book.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lester have returned from San Diego, Calif., after a two weeks visit with Bill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lester. While here they also visited his sister, Mrs. Carl Page and brother, Bob Lester.

W.S.C.S. Ends Mission Study On Near East

The W.S.C.S. of the Methodist Church opened its Monday session at 3:30 p. m. in the church, with Mrs. W. F. Creager presiding.

Following a hymn, Reverend Woodard of the African Methodist Church told of the work his church is doing and his hopes for its future. He expressed appreciation to the ladies of the church for assistance given them.

Mrs. C. E. May, Mission Study Secretary, introduced the lesson study with a clever question and answer period. Mrs. A. W. Robinson gave a challenging discussion, "Whose Bridges to Build Now?" Those taking part in the answers were Mesdames: M. H. Hagaman, Wolfe, Baker, Willis, Lavender and Mrs. A. J. Ratliff answered questions given by Mrs. Robinson.

Mrs. G. C. Boswell used the 7th chapter of Matthew as her scripture for her Devotional, "Building with God as Our Foundation."

This concluded the Mission Study on the Near East, which proved to be informative and interesting. Mrs. Vernon Deffebach reported on the Annual Conference of the W.S.C.S. held in Waco. She likened her inspiration gained there as "a hilltop experience."

The society gave the Lord's Prayer in unison, as the meeting came to an end.

A report on the past meeting, not reported due to illness: On November 13th, the W.S.C.S. held its fifth study of the Near East.

Informative talks on the Jewish and Mohammedan religions were given by Mrs. B. S. Dudley, Jr., and Mrs. J. P. Morris.

Mrs. Lee Roy Pearson concluded the session using as her subject, "What Christians Believe."

Brownwood Couple Celebrate 70th Wedding Anniversary; Card Game Kept Them From Being Wed Longer

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 22 (UP)—James William Shore and his wife, Lucy, today celebrated the 70th anniversary of their wedding, an event that almost didn't happen because of a card game.

James William, age 93, and Mrs. Shore, 89, guessed "we have done pretty well."

They recalled, however, that they could have been married longer except for that card game. Lucy Jane's father opposed their romance, and delayed their engagement about a year, because he once saw James Williams holding a hand in a card game.

But the young man, like puppy another after him overcame papa's objections. James William even married the boss' daughter, because he didn't get into good graces with her father, the late S. L. Cross, until after he went to work for him.

On their 70th wedding anniversary, both are able to be "up and about the house." But the day was a quiet one, without any elaborate observance.

Most of their married life has been spent in Brown County, dating from the day, Nov. 22, 1880, they said their vows at the Cross family's ranch home near Thrift.

Mrs. Shore was a child of four when her parents brought her to Brown County in a covered wagon. The trip was an eventful one. The little girl was bitten by a rattlesnake at a night camp, one day out of Lampasas.

Indians still roamed the West Central Texas hills, and she recalls several raids by Indians on the family home.

"My earliest faith came from my mother's prayers, when it appeared that we were helpless against attacks by Indians," she says. "I looked upon those prayers as our greatest protection."

Her father and her uncle, Capt. the Mullins, both served in the Texas Rangers, and both killed Indians.

The Shores live in Brownwood now, with a son, Hubert, but they still own a ranch near Thrift. Oil was discovered there in 1926. Hubert came back on that, the couple says it was a Godsend.

"We were thankful that we could pay our debts with this extra income, and for the opportunity to give our children a share of the royalties," Shore says.

Lucy bore him seven children, and six of them are living. Besides Hubert, a Brownwood realtor and insurance man, the children are: Walter Shore and Mrs. Jane Brown, both of New Boston, Tex.; Jess Shore, Port Worth teacher, and Carl and Frank Shore, both employed by an oil firm at Jal. N. M.

The South.

Kentucky over Tennessee — A right rough encounter.

Tulane over Vanderbilt — the green is now a tidal wave.

Miami over Iowa — it's a pick'em contest.

LSU over Villanova — out-classed.

The Southwest.

SMU over Baylor — if Rote's running.

Rice over TCU — with cream and sugar.

Also: West Texas over Corpus Christi, Houston over Midwestern, Texas Tech over New Mexico and Texas Western over West Virginia.

THANKSGIVING 1950

WE OF AMERICA SHOULD BE THANKFUL THE YEAR 'ROUND!

Thankful for our freedom to worship
God . . . to read and write what we please, to say what we will, to live our lives according to our own codes.

With these thoughts in mind we join our friends in saying thank you.

Gov. Proclaims Xmas Seal Month

AUSTIN, Texas (Special)—Stressing that "no home is safe while there is a single case of tuberculosis in the State," Governor Allan T. Shivers today issued a formal memorandum urging all Texans to support the 1950 Christmas Seal Sale, conducted by the Texas Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated county associations from November 20 to December 25.

"Tuberculosis is a communicable disease and therefore a public health problem which should be the concern of every Texas resident," the Governor said in issuing his official memorandum. "The work of the tuberculosis associations toward preventing and controlling tuberculosis in this State has helped to improve the health standards of Texas."

"The tuberculosis associations work tirelessly the year round to free this State from tuberculosis. Yet they make but one appeal a year for funds to finance their twelve-month program, aimed at the protection of all of us against this dread disease. I urge everyone to buy and use as many Christmas Seals as he can and thereby make an investment of health for the coming year."

Following is the text of Governor Shivers' memorandum: "Tuberculosis kills more young adults between 15 and 35 than any other disease. Tuberculosis is spread from person to person and therefore must be recognized as a major public health problem. No home in Texas is safe while a single case of this communicable disease exists."

The Christmas Seal Sale is the sole annual appeal of the Texas Tuberculosis Association and its county affiliates for funds to conduct their year-round programs of tuberculosis prevention and control.

Therefore I, as Governor of Texas, hereby designate the period from November 20 to December 25, 1950 as Christmas Seal Month.

Distinctive new styling of both front and rear of the new 1951 Fords is shown in this photo of the Convertible and the Custom Club Coupe. The dual-spinner grille and longer, wrap-around bumpers give the front end a wider, more massive appearance and additional chrome and wider tail lights add to the rear end appearance. The 1951 models feature Fordomatic Drive, the new automatic transmission, as optional equipment.

H. D. QUIGG CELEBRATES 39TH BIRTHDAY IN TOKYO WITH A LOT OF NONSENSE NOT MEANT FOR INTELLIGENT READERS

By H. D. Quigg
TOKYO, Nov. 22 (UP)—Reverie of man first peeping into the fortieth year of his life.

Thirty nine years ago today—or is it tomorrow?—this correspondent was born in the Missouri state colony for the feeble-minded at Marshall, Mo. He soon left there. Twenty-one years ago he entered the newspaper business.

Still there. Hmmm—mmm.

(Okay, I'll tell you. My father was a superintendent. And kweek off those corny gags you're thinking up).

How can you tell what day is your birthday anniversary when you're out here? If I were in the U. S., I would celebrate my 39th birthday on Wednesday evening, November 22. But when it's Wednesday evening in the U. S., it's Thursday, Thanksgiving Day out here. Maybe the problem could be solved by celebrating both days.

Most fascinating sight I've seen in a long time: Robert Vermillion, a war correspondent who broke his leg jumping with the Paratroopers, getting bathed by two Japanese servant women. One holds his broken leg up above the tub so the cast won't dissolve while the other tries to soap his face, which plunks under water every time the leg is elevated.

Scariest moment in 29 frightful years: Getting set to get my lower right wisdom tooth, impacted, pulled. Runnerup: trying to decide how to arrange my upraised right foot so it wouldn't descend in the wrong place in the middle of a mine field on Bougainville.

Maddest I ever got with friendly forces in my 39th year: At American army jeep and truck drivers who think they are cowboys and try to hit Koreans on the street.

Most historic feat I ever participated in: This is almost comic. Once I went from the year 1947 back into the year 1946. That's a distinction which can be claimed by almost anybody in history.

The feast was courtesy of the international dateline—the 180th meridian, which right now is playing hob with my birthday. If you're just east of the international dateline on Sunday and you step across it to the west, you're immediately in Monday—at exactly the same time of day on Monday as it was on Sunday before you stepped across the dateline, because most of it is in the Pacific Ocean. You travel across by ship, plane, or Mae West.

Well, on the last Eyed expedition, en route to the South Pole, we were traveling south on the east side of the dateline when we entered the floating ice pack on New Year's Eve. To dodge an iceberg, or look for an ice-free lead, or something, my ship turned west and crossed the dateline into New Year's day.

We celebrated. This was New Year's Day, 1947, fresh and innocent. Then—another iceberg, I guess—we veered east again, recrossed the dateline, and skidded back into 1946, into the old frustrations and failures we thought we had left forever.

Nobody thought much about it at the time. The old year expired again in a few hours, dying a natural death. New Year came again. There was nothing much to it. But this is my birthday, and you can't keep an old man from talking.

... IT WILL BE COOKED WITH Gas, OF COURSE!

YES, GAS is the preferred fuel for cooking in this area—at Thanksgiving time and throughout the whole year.

GAS gets the nod from kitchen-wise cooks because only GAS combines instant heat, super-speed, cleanliness and flexibility of control.

GAS is your most economical fuel, too—one of the few things you can still buy at pre-war low cost.

That's something to be thankful for in these days of sky-high prices!

Mrs. Flavia C. Kaufman, 2436 70th Ave., Baton Rouge, Louisiana, says it is a full time job keeping tabs on her little granddaughter, Mildred Gore, but it is a job she thoroughly enjoys. Yes, everything in life for her these days is enjoyable—because she has at last found her secret of feeling better. She now takes HADACOL regularly because she was suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron.

Here is Mrs. Kaufman's statement: "I have been taking HADACOL for over a year. Before I started taking HADACOL I was terribly nervous and upset all the time. I was underweight and just couldn't eat at all. My appetite was so lax that I ate irregularly at all hours of the day. Then I started taking HADACOL. After the third bottle I felt 100 per cent better. I have gained weight, my appetite is tremendous and, best of all, I sleep well nights and my nerves are steady as can be. HADACOL is a very wonderful product. I just can't praise HADACOL enough."

HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation — promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals), as well as that general run-down condition, and nagging aches and pains, if due to a lack of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin, and Iron in your system.

HADACOL is so amazingly successful because if your system lacks Vitamins B-1, B-2, Iron and Niacin it acts directly to relieve this deficiency—the real cause of your trouble. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

Only One Genuine HADACOL. Don't go through life suffering those nagging aches and pains if caused by such deficiencies when relief may be as close at hand as the nearest drugstore for sufferers from these deficiencies. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes. There's only one true and genuine HADACOL. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.

Bowl Fever Becomes Epidemic; A&M Considered For President's Cup Game Against Maryland

NEW YORK, Nov. (UP)—Other developments on the bowl front:

1. Dr. R. B. Homan of the Sun Bowl's selection committee announced that Cincinnati and Miami of Ohio would be considered as possible opponents for West Texas State. State is expected to make a formal announcement that it will play in the Sun Bowl, pending the result of a poll among the players.

2. The Houston Chronicle said Texas A. & M. was considering playing Maryland in the President Cup's game. The newspaper said "reliable sources from the East are to the effect that A. & M. was contacted over the weekend."

3. About 2,500 students disrupted classes at Champaign, Ill., to create an impromptu rally to celebrate the Illini's 14-7 victory over Ohio State last Saturday. The students formed a human chain to prevent students from entering classes and paraded around the campus, shouting, "go Illini, beat Northwestern," and "no classes today."

4. Fullback Jeff Fleischmann, halfback Frank Miller and center John Peerik of Cornell agreed to play on Yale Coach Herman Hickman's north team in the Mahi Shrine Temple all-star game in the Orange Bowl on Dec. 25.

Lehigh's Dr. Whittaker said offers had been received from the Tangerine, Cigar and Sun Bowl committees but that the decision not to play a post-season game was reached "after consultation with representatives of the trustees faculty, alumni and student body."

Wyoming's director of athletics, Glenn J. Jacoby, said there were two reasons for the Cowboy's decision. He said there would not be adequate time for practice and that the squad would return from the game just in time for final examinations. The players felt that they could not afford to risk falling any classes, he said.

The Houston Chronicle said Texas A. & M. was first contacted by the selection committee of the President Cup's game a week ago but refused to take it up because the Aggies still were in the Southwest Conference race with a chance to play in the Cotton Bowl. Texas clinched the title and the Cotton Bowl bid by defeating Texas Christian last Saturday while the Aggies were upset by Rice.

Best Wishes For The Day

We are especially thankful to our many friends for their patronage and cooperation and we assure each one that we shall always strive to merit this splendid confidence by giving the best we have.

Farming Easier If Machines Are Winterized

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 23—Winter weather has arrived in Texas. The last "blue norther" settled that question. The rapid changes that can be expected in the weather during the next few months can be taken in stride and without disrupting the farm chores and operations if farm machinery is correctly winterized, says W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer of Texas A & M College.

The radiators on all motors that require liquid for cooling should be drained and filled with a good anti-freeze. A cracked block, cylinder head or radiator on the tractor, car, truck or pick-up is not only an expensive way to find out how cold it is on the outside, but delays caused from having the equipment laid-up in the garage may be even more expensive than the actual repair job, says Ulich.

Before filling radiators with anti-freeze, Ulich says they should be cleaned. All hose connections should be checked and if the hose is damaged, it should be replaced. Most anti-freeze will leak through holes that do not show up when water is used. Use enough of the anti-freeze to give the motor all of the protection it will need even in the coldest weather, says Ulich. The radiator should be checked regularly to make sure the solution is all right. Check the strength of the solution so unusually cold weather will not catch you with a weak solution in the radiators of your machines, says Ulich.

The thermostats should be checked in all engines to make sure they are working correctly.

If the thermostat remains closed, the motor becomes hot while the liquid in the radiator remains cold, and no liquid cooled engine, says Ulich, can perform properly unless it runs at the correct temperature. The radiator shutter should be used on the farm tractor when the weather is extremely cold, and should always be used when the engine is being warmed up out of doors. A word of warning comes from Ulich regarding carbon monoxide gas. He says never start a motor in a tight building unless you have opened a door or windows or have provided for ventilation. This gas can easily cause death.

He says the transmissions and differentials on farm machines should be drained, flushed and refilled with the correct weight lubricant. A lighter weight motor oil should be used in the motors because the heavier oils and lubricants do not flow freely during cold weather and bearings and gears may be damaged before the lubricants warm up enough to flow freely.

It is good, cheap insurance, says Ulich, to winterize all farm equipment that may be damaged from cold weather. Weather reports may give the warning that a cold snap is on the way, but it is up to each individual to see that his equipment is protected from the elements.

4400 FARMERS KILLED 300,000 INJURED

DON'T "CULTIVATE" ACCIDENTS ON YOUR FARM

A field half plowed—a furrow left unturned—work stopped by accident!

To the farmer, working against time and weather, delay can mean the difference between a crop and no crop, a good year or a lean one. So accidents have no place in his schedule; they cost money, delay production—and the growing season keeps rolling along.

Yet, farming ranks third most hazardous in eight major industries. Think of it, while the death rate for all industry is 29 per 100,000 workers, in agriculture it is 55 per 100,000! One farmer in every 15 is injured on the job! Total—4400 killed, 300,000 disabled by injury every year.

The wise farmer knows where his hazards are—and avoids them. Falls, machinery and animals account for most accidents down on the farm. Their annual cost—$75,000,000. Yet, they're so easy to prevent. Just a little caution is all it takes.

Don't "cultivate" accidents and losses! Instead, "cultivate" safety and success!
