

OH, THE WEST AIN'T WHAT?—Yep, it's still wild and woolly in the Golden West, as this fast-moving scene that took place in Denver proves. It took two policemen and three stockyard employees two hours to run down and capture this stubborn critter—a mama buffalo that broke loose from its stockyard pen.

Rio Grande Sets Plans For Rain Making Project

LAREDO, Tex., March 2 (UP)—The Horner Livestock Association pushed plans today for promoting artificial rainfall in the middle Rio Grande Valley—a project popular with almost everybody but officials of the border olympics. Officials of the olympics feared their track and field meet set for March 9-10 might be rained out. Tentatively, the rain attempt will be made from now until June or July in an area including Eagle Pass, Laredo, Carrizo Springs, Artesia Wells, Fort Ewell and the Lykes Brook Ranch in Duval County. A representative of the Water Resources Development Corp., which has contracted to produce the rain, announced that ground generators already were in Laredo.

BYE-BYE BIKINI?—Passing from the beach scene, say Paris fashion forecasters, is the famous bare bikini. In its place comes "cover-up" beachwear such as the black jersey sheath above. Teamed with a long-sleeved jacket and a black ruffia wig, the outfit is designed to bring back the milk-and-roses complexion of Gay Nineties. (NEA-Acme Staff Photographer Rene Henry.)

Marty Marion Already Looking For S.S. to Replace Himself

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(NEA)—There is no question but that Fred Saigh made Marty Marion superintendent of the Cardinals in hope of getting another good year out of him. A shortstop like the old Slats Marion easily could be the difference. But Manager Marion, 33 and held together by wire and string for years, already is looking for a replacement. The trouble is there is no one in sight. Marion rules out Al Schoendienst for two reasons: He can't make the long throw. And if the switch-hitting home-run winner of the All-Star Game could, just who would play second base? Charley Gehringer, a stylist at the position for years with the Tigers, argued that the second baseman had more difficult things to do than the shortstop, and Red Schoendienst is a superior second sacker any way you look at him. There would be no percentage in Marion leaving one key door unlocked to close fast another. At a time when the St. Louis Nationals are searching diligently for an understudy for Mr. Shortstop Marion, they have had a run on third basemen—Eddie Kazak, Tommy Glaviano and now Don Richmond.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUERS tell you Richmond could make it, especially in so far as left-hand smiting is concerned. The good-sized resident of Wyalusing, Pa., led that Triple A circuit in batting with 333 hits, total bases and runs. Richmond's major-league arrival was retarded by no less than 54 months in the South Pacific, which is not the least reason why all hands wish the 31-year-old the best of luck. Red Bird problems have become perennial, too—a right-hand hitting outfielder, a first baseman and someone to spell the now fragile Marion. The Cards are old, too. At 32, Red Munger practically is a kid among the pitchers. Harry Brecheen is 36. Lanier, Brazie, Martin and Wilks are 35. Country Slaughter, who next to Stanley Musial has contributed most to a club that until last season was not worse than second in line, is 35. Others, within the age limit, are old in baseball. Marion's case is not hopeless. Larry Ciaffone, Brooklyn high school product who spent three years in the armed forces, could be the right-hand hitting outfielder. He patted the long ball batting .324 in Rochester. A converted catcher, he is exceptionally fast.

2,000 ARMY DENTISTS WITH BEST EQUIPMENT MEET WAR'S DEMANDS

The U. S. Army Dental Corps will celebrate its 40th anniversary on March 3, 1951, observing the authorization by Congress in 1911 of the Corps as a part of the Medical Department of the Army. Ten years earlier, however, Congress authorized the Army to appoint 20 contract dental surgeons, but as early as 1904 dentists were conscripted for service in the Confederate forces. Of the 20 original contract dental surgeons appointed by the Army in 1901, seven are living. These men were accorded the privileges of officers and wore the Army uniform, but held no rank until 1911, when the establishment of the Dental Corps created for them the rank of first lieutenant. Shortly after the start of the first World War, officers of the Corps were granted all rights and privileges as well as commensurate rank with that of the Medical Corps. Chief of the Corps is Major General Walter D. Love, who was appointed to the post April 20, 1950. Approximately 2,000 dentists are administering dental care in over 200 dental clinics in the United States and overseas theaters. The largest number of dental officers on duty at any time during World War I was 4,620, November 30, 1918. The peak strength reached during World War II was in November, 1944, when 15,292 officers were on duty. The development of dental equipment for use in the field has always been a responsibility of the military services, since this type of equipment is not required in civilian practice. Facilities for performing dental work with mobile tactical units in a combat area have recently been developed to where, with three field dental chests, an officer can put in fillings, make dentures, perform oral surgery—in fact, anything he would be called upon to do in private practice. This equipment permits dental casualties to be treated within a division area or combat zone.

Ghosts Included In Abbey Sale

NOTTINGHAM, England (UP)—The Nottinghamshire council is wondering what to do about the three new "members" that have been added to the county's staff. They are "ghosts." The council, after months of debate, voted to buy rambling Nottinghamshire Abbey in the heart of Sherwood Forest, where Robin Hood robbed the wealthy in his day. With the purchase of the abbey however, came the abbey's legendary inhabitants: the old monk, the cuddling baby and the white lady. The monk is the abbey's "most frequent" inhabitant and was reported by an official forestry commission to be living in huts in the abbey grounds. The cuddling baby—a ghost felt but not seen—has been reported by abbey visitors to have snuggled up to them for protection. It is said to be the spirit of a child murdered in the grounds. The white lady has been reported seen in abbey mirrors. There are 2,500,000 trucks on farms now, nearly twice as many as in 1941.

Texas Farmers In 226 Counties Are Expected To Plant Cotton This Year

COLLEGE STATION, March 2—Cotton will be planted in 226 counties in Texas this year. Indications are that the acreage planted will be stepped up greatly because of reductions in flax, sorghum, vegetable and small grain acreages. These reductions are due largely to adverse weather during last fall and winter says F. C. Elliott.

Elliott, who is cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says farmers have shown a big interest in varieties of cotton adapted to the use of machine strippers and pickers.

Our records show that definite progress is being made in the 7-Step Cotton Program, Elliott states.

He lists the seven steps in the program as (1) fit cotton into balanced farming, (2) take care of your soil, (3) act together on the best variety, (4) make your labor count, (5) control cotton insects and diseases, (6) pick and sort for higher grade, and (7) sell for grade, staple and variety value.

In 1948, the program assisted in fitting cotton into balanced farming on 28,943 farms in Texas. This number was increased to 31,115 in 1949, and to 48,181 last year.

Although little increase in soil improvement practices occurred during the past two years, over the 1948 figures, Elliott says farmers have indicated that they will fertilize about 20 percent of the cotton acreage in 1951. Eleven percent is the most that has ever been fertilized in the past.

The number of spindle type cotton picking machines increased from 92 in 1948 to 335 in 1949. Due to reduced cotton acreage, there was a reduction of machine pickers in 1950. However, Elliott says farmers have indicated that they want to buy 586 new pickers this year.

From a total of 4,732 in 1948, the number of stripper type harvesting machines increased to 7,003 in 1949. Little increase occurred in 1950. This year, farmers want to buy 7,491 new strippers—if they are available. If these new ones are bought, there will be more than 14,000 strippers on farms in Texas in 1951.

Elliott reports that machine strippers were used in 84 counties last year, while machine pickers were used in 63 counties. He says that machine harvesting is bringing about an increase in the

Romans Influence Latest Fashion Trend in US

BY ELIZABETH TOONEY
NEW YORK, March 2 (UP)—Nero and his fellow Romans of a couple of thousand years ago are responsible for a new fashion trend.

By next fall women's wardrobes will be sprinkled with prints harking back to things like Roman slave chains and praetorian guards, in colors such as "torchlight," "Bacchus wine" and "Roman gold."

All this, according to the textile company which just previewed 250 Roman-inspired fabric designs, came, again, because they discovered that Nero's day "so closely paralleled our own."

"They even had a gladiator fix scandal similar to our basketball scandal," said Seymour Burn, style director of Knickerbocker Textiles.

The fabric company can't control the styles that dress manufacturers create for the Roman prints but they're frankly hopeful there'll be adaptations of short togas, long tunics and sport jerseys bound with leather thongs.

"The Roman trend will take up where Hawaiian prints leave off," Burn explained. "Hawaiian prints will be in the mass market by summer. Roman prints will start in higher-priced clothes."

One of the new prints, with a torchlight (orange) background, has bright green "triumph chains" of Norman since 1852, stopped the rumors.

"Shucks, I've always known those were there," he said. "They've been there for 40 years. Those bodies were taken there when the medical students finished with them. They were buried 10 or 12 feet deep."

Andrews forecast that more bodies would be found before the excavation is completed.

William F. Grimes, chemistry instructor, said enough chemicals had been pumped into the bodies to keep them perfectly preserved.

Fisher admitted he was startled when one of the bodies turned up in his scoop.

"I was never so surprised in my life," he said.

winding through a design of Roman imperial eagles and standards of the praetorian guards. Another pattern is a combination of broken columns and gladiator belts. The patterns, according to the company, will be put on cotton, rayons and orlons.

Just by coincidence, the movie "Quo Vadis" was being filmed in Rome when the textile researchers started diggin' back into Roman history.

"It was just one of those things—saved us about a million dollars worth of research," Burn said. MGM turned its costume research over to the textile company.

"We're releasing a display of the fabrics in connection with the movie. Every fashion depends on some vehicle," Burn said. "The flapper fashion can thank John Held, Jr., the Gibson Girl was created by Charles Dana Gibson.

Esther Williams and those swimming movies made Hawaiian prints popular."

Associational Meet At Second Baptist Church

The Associational Royal Ambassadors' Recognition Service was held Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Second Baptist Church. The church was beautifully decorated in keeping with the theme of the organization.

The colors are royal blue, gold and white. The flower arrangements carried out this color scheme.

Rev. Harry Grant, associational leader, acted as master of ceremonies.

There were thirty-two boys taking part on the program from the following churches: East Cisco, First Cisco, First Eastland, First Breckenridge, First Albany and Second Baptist Church of Ranger.

About sixty boys in all attended with a large congregation of parents and friends.

A film, "In His Name," was shown at the conclusion of the program by Charles Messinger showing the need for a community to provide adequate places of recreation for boys.

Faith Class Holds Covered Dish Lunch

The Faith Class of the First Baptist church met in the home of Mrs. J. L. Clem Tuesday evening for a covered dish luncheon, consisting of fried chicken and all the trimmings, served buffet style. After the luncheon, Mrs. Florence Bundick, president of the class, presided over a business meeting.

All of the class officers gave reports as to their accomplishments and plans. Mrs. L. L. Bruce gave the devotional based on the topic, "How does your garden grow." The closing prayer was given by Mrs. E. P. Robinson.

Mrs. L. H. Taylor led the group in some games. Those attending were: Mmes. D. C. Singleton, E. P. Robinson, E. R. Gafner, G. W. Dillard, Frank Penn, Tom Williams, E. T. Eubank, Lon Tankersley, Isetta Smith, Florence Bundick, L. H. Taylor and co-hostesses Gorman Morton, L. L. Bruce and Jimmie Jones.

Mrs. Brown Hosts Dorcas Class Meet Thursday

The Dorcas Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Amy Brown Thursday afternoon for a business and social meeting. Mrs. Jennie Merrick presided at the meeting. The group sang "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" and Mrs. Lula Powell gave the opening prayer.

All officers gave reports of the work they accomplished the past month. The devotional was given by Mrs. F. E. Langston and was built around the following women from the Bible, "The Woman with an Issue of Blood, Mary Magdalene and Mary, the mother of the apostle."

Mrs. R. E. Barker gave a talk on Sunday school work. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Frank Arrendale.

Refreshments of fruit salad, cake and tea were served to the following: Mmes. A. A. Dinel, W. W. Mitchell, Hugh Dawley, Lula Fowell, Minnie Shirley, T. J. Fuller, O. L. Robinson, R. E. Barker, F. E. Langston, Frank Arrendale, J. F. Byas, and hostess, Amy Brown.

Pope Pius XII Observes 75th Birthday Today

VATICAN CITY, March 2 (UP)—Pope Pius XII today observed his 75th birthday and the 12th anniversary of his election to the papal throne with a normal schedule of work and prayer.

The 262nd pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church requested that there be no official celebrations. White and yellow flags flew from all buildings in the mile-square Vatican State but its 1,000 citizens worked as usual.

The double event will be commemorated, however, on March 12—anniversary of his coronation as pope in 1959.

For the Pope it was another work-day beginning at 1:30 a.m. and probably continuing until 1 a.m. Saturday. The pontiff is in good health and spirits, despite the strain placed on him by the activities of the 1950 holy year.

Congratulatory messages from all over the world pour into the Vatican. Diplomats accredited to the Vatican called throughout the day to sign a special register placed every year in the antechamber to the papal apartment.

Born Eugenio Maria Giuseppe Giovanni Pacelli into a Roman patrician family, Pope Pius made "peace" his byword the day he became a priest 52 years ago, on April 2.

We Like To Talk About Abstracts—

... because making abstracts has been our business for many years. And it is an interesting subject. Every day people come to us with their title problems. Some cases are tragic. Take the example of the couple who have spent their all for a home to find out later they have no title. Most title problems are simple and the abstracts helps to make them simple. So before buying real estate of any kind have the title examined.

DON'T BE CAUGHT SHORT!

HAVE HOT WATER GALORE

Choose a gas water heater that's BIG ENOUGH!

Come in and see the new Ruud and Rex water heaters now on display.

When you choose a hot water heater, consider the size of your family, the number of baths and hot water outlets in your home, the type of laundry equipment you use and the amount of laundering done. Choose a gas water heater big enough to take care of all your normal needs, plus a reserve for peak demands. And buy only a top-quality heater for long life and trouble-free service. The best is the cheapest in the long run.

USE THIS WATER HEATER SIZING CHART

20 gal.	Families of 2 or 3 with average general demands, one bathroom, and below average laundering demands.
30 gal.	Families of 3 or 4 with average general demands, one bathroom, and normal automatic clothes washer demands (3 successive loads); or with two bathrooms and below average laundry demands.
40-45 gal.	Families of 4 to 6 with average general demands, above average laundering demands, one bathroom; or two bathrooms with average laundering demands. Will supply hot water for continuous operation of nearly all automatic washers.
