Handfull Of Chinese Found Where Thousands Stood During Last Day

CHORWON, Korea, June 12 (UP) — Allied troops found only five Chinese soldiers in this "iron triangle" bastion — a massing area for thousands of Communists only weeks ago.

Except for a few hundred white-clad Koreans, the civilians had fled too from the rubble city as the first United Nations troops moved in during a downpour yesterday.

Four shots rang out at their entry. Sgt. 1st Class Laverne Klockmeyer of Ames, Ia., investigated. He reported a few minutes later that a die-hard Chinese had been "eliminated."

Thus ended the sole resistance from a city occupied by Communist forces since their drive from the Yalu river last November.

The reconnaissance patrol moved warily up the narrow road on the alert for mines and any shots in the back from enemy troops masquerading as civilians.

A terrified Chinese soldier, escorted by two civilians, walked down the road towards the advancing column, his hands in the air. He clenched his lower lip and his teeth to halt its wild trembling.

Administration Blast Testimony

WASHINGTON, June 12 (UP) — Administration backers contended Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer's testimony was filled with "inconsistencies," but Republicans said he had given a "positive program" for waging the Korean war.

The weight of his views were thrown behind Gen. Douglas MacArthur's proposals for bombing Red Chinese bases in Manchuria and putting a naval blockade along the China coast.

Wedemeyer went even further than MacArthur in some respects. He said the United States should pull its troops out of Korea, break relations with Russia and gear to take action at times and places "of our own choosing."

Wedemeyer, former commander of U. S. forces in China and now commander of the Sixth Army at San Francisco, was called back at 10 a. m. EDT before the Senate committee investigating eastern policy and MacArthur's removal.

The eighth witness to testify in the hearings, Wedemeyer was the first to give general support to the views expressed by MacArthur when the investigation started nearly six weeks ago.

Sen. Harry P. Cain, R., Wash., reflected the views of the MacArthur backers when he told a reporter that the committee has heard "two great Americans who have come forward with a positive program."

"Gen. Wedemeyer is cut of the same cloth as Gen. MacArthur," he said. "They do not believe the American nation should be scared to death."

But the viewpoint of administration backers was expressed by Sen. John J. Sparkman, D., Ala., who said he was "puzzled by his testimony because of the apparent inconsistencies in it."

Sparkman said a "Wedemeyer started yesterday as if he were in complete agreement with MacArthur and then disagreed on several points. He cited the decision to send ground forces into Korea — which MacArthur favored and Wedemeyer opposed — and the question of now pulling out of Korea — which Wedemeyer favored and MacArthur opposed."

Sparkman emphasized Wedemeyer's repeated advice to the committee to give careful heed to the joint chiefs of staff, who rejected MacArthur's views and particularly wanted no part of his proposal to bomb Communist bases in Manchuria. They feared enlarging the war would bring in Russia and set off a world war.

The conflict cited by Sparkman was underscored at the close of Wedemeyer's six-hour appearance yesterday when Sen. H. Alexander Smith, R., N. J., suggested:

"There may be some differences in detail but generally speaking you support the overall picture that Gen. MacArthur presents."

"I think I do, sir," Wedemeyer commented, "but I do it with some trepidation because I have confidence in the men over in the Pentagon and they have access to information that might change my views."

UN Forces Push North In Korea

By Earnest Hoherecht United Press Staff Correspondent TOKYO, June 12 (UP)—United Nations forces pressed north behind retreating Red Armies on a 70-mile front in Korea today.

A fifth Chinese was found lying in a littered home. He died a few minutes later from what appeared to be starvation. The ones taken prisoner looked well fed.

Chorwon, southwest peg of the iron triangle where Communists massed their two spring offensives in April and May, lay mostly in ruins.

The city suffered almost fatal damage from the terrific air and artillery bombardment of the past seven days.

Swallows darted about the rubble and skeletons of buildings. One perched upon a sign pointing to Seoul 55 miles to the south.

The civilians along the road showed mixed feelings. Some cheered, others smiled tiredly. A few wept. It was difficult to tell whether they cried from grief, happiness, or relief at being freed from the deadly bombardment.

A group of children raised their hands and shouted "mangel," the traditional Korean cheer.

Three men shook my hand as I passed. A woman bowed deeply and murmured "arrigato," Japanese for "thank you."

Get In Right Frame Of Mind

AUSTIN, June 12 (UP) — Protective measures in case of atomic attack are not "a guarantee against a hopeless situation (but) will enormously increase the individual's chances of escaping injury or death," a State Health Department official said yesterday.

V. M. Ehlers, Director of the Bureau of Sanitary Engineering, said the best preparation an individual can make for an atomic attack is to get himself in the right frame of mind. He spoke before civilian defense instructors holding a six-day radiological health course here.

Martin Wukach, head of the Department's industrial hygiene section, said that detection and measuring of radiation can be done with instruments as simple as taking pictures with a box camera.

GIVES UP—A Chinese Communist holds up a white cloth as he surrenders himself to an American GI. The Red soldier is one of many who ignored reports that they would be killed if they surrendered. Youth Who Was Feared Dead Is Found Alive In Bonham With Dad

BONHAM, June 12 (UP) — Elusive David McCarter, 15-year-old Ontario, Calif., youth, who last week-end had searchers combing a wide area for him, turned up in Bonham today.

He told newsmen that he had been in Bonham since Saturday. He was unaware of the three-day search for him in the desert of Arizona.

The youth said he wrecked his truck near Buckeye, Ariz., en route to Lawton, Okla., to see his father. He said he caught a bus to Lawton, where he thought his father was living, but found that he was in Bonham, and so caught another bus to Bonham.

He located his father, Clarence Ray McCarter, within an hour after his arrival. He was black and blue from bruises suffered in the wreck but otherwise was unharmed.

Young McCarter had arrived in Lawton Saturday to find that his father had moved to Texas. A neighbor to a distant relative told him that the father had moved to Vernon, Texas, but police there said they had not heard of the McCarters.

Young McCarter was feared dead when his companion on the trip from California, Eugene Abell, 14, was found in the Arizona desert. Abell said that McCarter had disappeared shortly after the wreck.

When Abell was found, he was suffering from hunger, thirst and shock and had lost 50 pounds during his three days in the desert.

The Maricopa County Sheriff's office called off the search for young McCarter when it learned that a youth fitting his description had been seen boarding a bus for Oklahoma City.

Garner said that there will be no change in prices to see this magnificent production but that people should come early as a packed house is expected. This show is one of the top-flight shows of 1951.

Eighty minutes of entertainment at a pace which doesn't slow down, will be in store for those attending this movie. Garner has done it again. He has brought you a real motion picture. See it!

Lyndon Johnson, D., Texas and Robert S. Kerr, D., Oklahoma, were the only two out of ninety-five senators who took up the offer to give blood for the Red Cross Korean War Blood Bank.

Johnson was busy with pressing work and several investigating committees but took time out to go to the Red Cross and give his blood that some American boy may live.

At Lafayette, Ind., Purdue University Poultry Expert Melvin L. Wilson said the beef situation has made chicken a much better buy than usual with prices reasonable and supplies ample.

He suggested that housewives buy chickens during the next few weeks for freezing. Commercial boilers will be in especially good supply, he said.

Indiana poultrymen reported that they sold a record total of 597,145 broilers and fryers last week and that they expected next week's total to hit 700,000.

In its bulletin on the "food outlook for June," the National Restaurant Association recommended broilers, fryers, turkeys (breeder stock), and fresh fish as plentiful this month and also reminded restaurant proprietors that "June is the top month for dairy products."

Supermarkets here generally reported that their supplies of beef were normal but housewives were unable to obtain the cuts they wanted at some neighborhood butcher shops. In those cases, retailers reported, the customers simply turned to pork or poultry for their dinners.

Fort Worth To Play Here Sunday

Fort Worth, a saga of a frontier town's struggle to exist during the pioneer period of Texas amid the constant maneuvering of big railroad interests, will be brought to Ranger just four days after the picture makes its World Premier in Fort Worth Wednesday (tomorrow).

Brann Garner, proprietor of the local opera house, said today that Randolph, Phyllis Thaxter, and David Brain, star of the show, will make a personal appearance at the Fort Worth premier. Said Garner, although we will not bring the stars here in person we will be one of the 500 movie houses in the country to play the show the first week that it is released.

Garner said that there will be no change in prices to see this magnificent production but that people should come early as a packed house is expected. This show is one of the top-flight shows of 1951.

RCA Affair Expected To Bring Top-Flight Cowboys To Ranger

The Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce discussed plans last night during their regular meeting at the Gholson Hotel for the 1951 annual Jaycee sponsored rodeo which will play Ranger July 18-21.

Jaycee President Allen Full said that most of the details have been worked out and that the Jaycees hope to make this a rodeo which people will remember for a long time. He said that the club is going to a lot of expense and trouble to ascertain the success of the rodeo.

The RCA affair is expected to bring top cowboys from all over the country to enter the numerous events. Ranger is beginning to shake the traces of rodeo lethargy and excitement is mounting every day.

Tickets are expected to go on sale soon and store sales of Western outfits are scheduled to increase. The Jaycees are making final arrangements for the bringing of out of town sheriff's posse to Ranger to take part in the Grand Entry riding. A large group of Jaycees riders, high school bands, and other groups will participate in the parade.

One of the outstanding attractions of the parade which is expected to start about 4 p. m. Monday, July 18, will be the top-flight horses which will be displayed. Certain to attract the eye of the visitors are the fine palominos of Dr. P. M. Kuykendall and the rare Appaloosa stallion of James Ratliff.

The Jaycee parade is expected to form in the intersection of Walnut and Marston and move down Main to the oil derrick on Commerce, cut to its right on Commerce and march up Pine street to disband at Marston. The parade is expected to be a colorful affair. As many as 250 top cowboys and cowgirls are expected to be in town for the rodeo. A full purse of prize money will be awarded to winners. Eastland's "Booger Red" Cooper is expected to be one of the top contenders in the bronco and bull riding.

Truman had asked Congress to act quickly enough to have the urgently needed wheat on its way by April 1. But caustic congressional criticism of India's frequent disagreements with U. S. Foreign Policy held up approval of the bill.

Congress, however, finally agreed to lend India the money on "easy" terms but asked that India repay part of the loan with "substantial quantities" of strategic materials. A Senate - House Conference Committee softened a demand in the Senate's original version of the bill for shipments of manganese and monazite.

Manganese is used to harden steel. Monazite, a mineral containing thorium which has potential use as an atomic energy material, is used in constructing jet engines.

The final version of the legislation did not name the raw materials to be sent in repayment. That was left up to negotiation between the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) and representatives of India. ECA will supply India with the loan money.

Murder charges were to be filed today against a 44-year-old ex-convict in the Saturday night ax slaying of Doyt Adron Lovelace, a Dallas cabinet maker.

Homicide officers solved the murder when they obtained an eye-witness account of the killing from a neighbor.

Jerry Williams, who lives next door to the Preston Hollow house where Lovelace was found slain, said he saw the ex-convict and Lovelace fighting.

He said the convict beat the cabinet maker with his fists and then went outside and got an ax. He then came back into the one-room house and hit Lovelace several times with the ax.

The suspect is in jail. Police records show he served terms in the Texas Prison for burglary and theft.

Police have uncovered no direct motive for the crime.

At Sioux Falls, S. D., the company said it will ask the state public utilities commission "immediately" to consider increased wages in deciding whether to grant a requested boost.

A company vice-president in Iowa said Iowa telephone rates may have to be raised if the workers get the raise and a Nebraska official said the rate boost looks "invariable."

However, a spokesman for the CIO communications workers in the five-state area, has rejected the company's offer.

At Washington, D. C., Telephone Company officials indicated they would ask for a rate boost to offset the 10 per cent wage boost granted to their employees Sunday.

The Wisconsin Telephone Co. joined the list of firms who have met the union's 10 per cent demand yesterday. The agreement gave $3 to $5 a week raises to 3,800 employees and averted a threatened strike.

George T. Nepil, Executive Secretary of the National Association of Retail Meat and Food Dealers, estimated that independent retailers have about 40 per cent of normal beef supplies on hand in the Chicago area.

Cattle shipments continued to decline at the big midwestern stockyards yesterday and the John Morrell Packing Plant at Sioux Falls, S. D., halted all beef slaughtering operations in the morning. The plant planned to resume killing, at least briefly, today. The South St. Paul, Minn., stockyards operated on the smallest number of cattle receipts in five years.

Operations were so limited at Chicago that the big stockyards temporarily took a back seat to the West Coast as the beef slaughtering center of the nation, agriculture department statistics showed.

Hedy Lamarr Is Married Again

HOLLYWOOD, June 12 (UP) — Sultry Screen Star Hedy Lamarr married wealthy nightclub owner Ernest (Ted) Stauffer last night in a surprise ceremony that rocked the Hollywood back on its heels.

The three-married, three-divorced actress and Stauffer sneaked off to the West Los Angeles home of superior Judge Stanley Mosk with only her attorney and a Santa Monica relator for witnesses.

Miss Lamarr met the former bandleader seven years ago in Mexico City.

They went to the home of Mrs. Zella Sergeant, head of the Santa Monica County Clerk's office, and persuaded her to open the office to issue them a license.

The Raven-haired actress, who rose to celluloid fame by swimming nude in the movie "Ecstasy," gave her age as 35. Stauffer, owner of the Swank La Perla Club in Acapulco, Mex., said he was 42.

The couple then went to Judge Mosk's home for a quick ceremony witnessed by her attorney, William I. Israel, and his wife, and real estate man William L. Hollingsworth and Mrs. Hollingsworth.

Miss Lamarr said they would take her three children, James Lamarr Loder, 12, Denise Hedwig Loder, 5, and Anthony John Loder, 4, to the picturesque art colony of Carmel, Calif., near Monterey and a honeymoon trip and then go to Acapulco.

Van Fleet Has A Rugged Job

By Harry Ferguson
United Press Foreign News Editor

Anybody who thinks he has it tough these days should consider the plight of Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the United Nations Army in Korea. Anything he does is bound to displease somebody.

If he starts an offensive designed to carry all the way to the Manchurian border, he will alarm nations such as Britain which are trying to bring about a negotiated peace on the basis of the present military situation.

If he doesn't drive for the Manchurian border, he will alarm the South Koreans who want the Communists cleared out of their entire country. They became so concerned about it yesterday that they called a closed session of their national assembly to discuss rumors that a settlement based on the 38th Parallel was imminent.

If he tries to dig in and hold a defensive position somewhere in Central Korea, he will be accused of leaving the war in a stalemate. There must be times when Van Fleet yearns for the good old days when he was fighting the Germans in France—an activity in which he was immensely successful—and had nothing to worry about except to keep his troops starting ahead. In Korea he has to be sensitive to political winds blowing from all directions.

Under the circumstances he can do only one thing—fight today's battle and see what tomorrow brings. Every time reporters ask Van Fleet about his intentions he delivers a rather vague reply. Part of the reason for that is that like any good general he has no intention of publishing his plans. Another part of it is that he can't plan too far ahead until he finds out how things are going on the diplomatic level. At the moment nothing concrete seems to be happening, and that makes Van Fleet's position all the more difficult.

The nearest you can come to defining the U. N.'s military objective in Korea at the moment is to say that it's a campaign to discourage the enemy. The idea is to defeat him often enough and badly enough to convince him there is no profit in this war. The quickest way to do that is to kill a lot of Chinese Communists, but in order to carry out that mission Van Fleet must keep chasing them. How far should he chase them?

The hard facts of military strategy will provide the answer to that question. The farther Van Fleet's army gets away from the port of Pusan the tougher the going will be. Every additional mile that is added to the Eighth

BRITISH INTELLIGENCE CHIEF IN US—Sir Percy Sillitoe, center, chief of British Military Intelligence, talks to reporters in New York after his arrival by plane from London. He is enroute to Washington for a conference with FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover on the mysterious disappearance in Europe of two British diplomats, Donald MacLean and Guy Burgess. (NEA Telephoto).

Justice Department's No 1 Trustbuster Talks To Congress

WASHINGTON, June 12 (UP)—The Justice Department's No. 1 Trustbuster told Congress today that many business advisory committees set up to aid the defense production program are misusing their authority to advance their private interests.

New Fashions In New York

NEW YORK, June 11 (UP)—The plunging neckline, for two years America's hottest non-political conversation piece, will be out of vogue by winter, a fashion expert said today.

Blanche Ravisse, director of Charm Institute and moderator of a television fashion show claimed "the excitement" of over-exposure "has passed."

She said they have fallen from favor because:
1. "Men don't really like them"
2. "They're not at all sexy," and
3. "The 'have nots' are tired of trying to wear them."

Miss Ravisse was of the opinion that too much southern exposure didn't add to a girl's sex appeal anyhow.

"The plunging neckline in itself is not sexy," she said. "Feminine charm comes from within. It is expressed in a girl's carriage, facial expression, voice and conduct."
Miss Ravisse said a number of low gowns would always be with us but that they probably would be limited to summer and evening wear and, of course "to the Jane Russells."

Metals—Rep. Clair Engle, D., Cal., blamed big American mining companies "with big foreign interests" for slowing down the government's program for procurement of strategic materials. But Rep. Wesley D'Ewart, R., Mont., said the State Department's foreign buying policies were partly to blame. They aired their views during a House Interior subcommittee hearing on the defense mineral administration's program for more domestic production of manganese.

Woman Charged With Murder

BROWNWOOD, June 12 (UP)—Brown County Sheriff Ray Masters today charged a 42-year-old woman with murdering her husband by putting arsenic in a sandwich.

The charge said Mrs. Mary Beth Cates "mingled" arsenic in a sandwich which she fed her husband, Hugh, 60, a Cedar Point community farmer, June 1.

Cates died at a Brownwood hospital the next day and an autopsy showed he died of arsenic poison. Mrs. Cates denied the charge.

Bond, which Mrs. Cates had not made, at noon today, was set at $5,000.

National Guard Fires On Range

CAMP POLK, La., June 12 (UP)—The National Guard 49th Armored Division from Texas took to the ranges today to sharpen up aims to open its two weeks of intensive summer training here.

"We don't believe in wasting time," Maj. Gen. Albert S. Johnson of Dallas, Division Commander, announced.

Oil And Gas Conserved

WASHINGTON, June 12 (UP)—The 16-year-old interstate oil compact commission has succeeded in conserving both oil and gas supplies, Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas told the House Interstate Commerce Committee here yesterday.

In urging that Congress extend the 20-state compact for another four years Shivers said that "all member states have enacted comprehensive oil and gas conservation laws or considerable improved their existing conservation statutes and regulations."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Ranger, Texas, June 11, 1951.
Ranger Daily Times:

Dear Editor

Dem. Senator J. William Fullbright of Arkansas in a recent speech to the U.S. Senate said: "A democracy can recover quickly from physical or economic disaster, but when its moral convictions weaken, it becomes easy prey for the demagogue. Tyranny and oppression become the order of the day."

These are picturesque words of wisdom coming from the great Senator of Arkansas. However, after the Senate investigation of the pork-barrel steal of the RFC funds it now appears that the Senator from Arkansas had been encouraging the very thing that he was commenting on in his senate speech.

The idea is, that it is wrong to make RFC loans from the Government's coffers to Florida and Nevada resorts, while on the other hand it was apparently alright for Mr. Fullbright to favor and encourage a certain Hot Springs, Ark. Resort with a loan from this same source.

It appears that the Senator from Ark. is evidently not practicing the precepts of what he is so industriously preaching. Oh! Disregard come out with your lantern, but steer clear of Washington, D. C. and avoid contact with Ananias.

Yours for better government,

Do You Know the Answer—
... to the little boy's question—"Daddy, what is an abstract and what kind of an abstract do we have to our place?" That's a searching question. If the answer is—"I don't know. All abstracts are about alike and one is as good as another"—it isn't a satisfactory reply. But if the answer is—"Son, we have a dependable abstract because I know the people who made it are dependable, and we won't worry about the rest", that's a good answer.

Rev. Bill Hogue brought the closing message of the evening. A number of testimonies by young people were given. The next youth rally will be July 9 in the East Cisco Baptist Church in Cisco.
