Rites in Dallas Scheduled For R. S. Glenn

Funeral rites for R. S. Glenn, architect, will be held this week.

Glenn died in an Eastland clinic Wednesday morning after neighbors found him slumped in a lawn chair in the front yard of his Eastland home with a gunshot wound in his right temple.

A .41 Colt revolver was at his side. A message found on Glenn's clothing instructed officials to take his body to a funeral home before notifying his daughter, Miss Elsie Glenn, a worker with the Welfare Department. Another note was found on a typewriter in the home, addressed to his daughter. Glenn had been in ill health for several years.

The body was taken to Dallas for cremation by a Hamner Funeral Home ambulance. The ashes will be taken to Cisco for burial. County Judge John Hart made the coroner's inquest. The verdict was not revealed.

Cotton Classing Service Made Available To County Producers

The cotton producers of Eastland County and other producers who gin their cotton in the county now have a free cotton grading and classing service available to them, according to J. M. Cooper, county agent, and C. V. Whitaker, assistant county agent.

This service will be provided by the PMA Cotton Classing Service under the Smith-Doxey Cotton Classing Act. All that farmers need to do in order to receive this service free is to inform the ginners that he wishes to have his cotton graded.

There will be a cotton sampler at the gin who will cut the sample and send it to Dallas. In a few days the card will return giving the Government Grade and Staple length of the bale of cotton. The farmer will then be able to sell his cotton for just what it is worth.

It is desired that all farmers who want the service notify the gin that they want their cotton graded. If possible, the gin should be notified before July 15, and if not they should be notified at the time the cotton is ginned.

Chinks Are Preparing To Fight Indefinitely On Korean Soil

By Harry Ferguson

United Press Foreign News Editor

"There doesn't seem to be much doubt that the Chinese Communists are preparing to fight indefinitely in Korea. A disastrous defeat might change their minds, but at the moment they show no signs of accepting truce offers or pulling quietly out of Korea and leaving the North Korean Reds to their fate.

The grapevine from the China mainland carried the news yesterday that top Chinese military leaders had a meeting about 10 days ago in Manchuria. Among those present, according to the Chinese Nationalist intelligence service, were Gen. Nie Hyung-Chen, acting chief of staff of the Chinese Red Army; Gen. Lin Piao, field commander in Korea; and Kao Kang, top Chinese leader in Manchuria.

Their meeting was held against the background of two severe defeats in the spring offensive. After the decision to stay in the war despite their heavy losses the question of how to improve their fortunes in the Korean adventure seemed to be an increasing tendency on the part of the Red troops to surrender at the first opportunity. The intelligence reports said it was decided to send anti-surrender supervisors to the front with orders to shoot troops who tried to surrender. Any division commanders whose men participate in mass surrenders will be court-martialed.

If these reports are only half true, a rather obscure organization in the American Defense Department can take a bow—the psychological warfare section. It

H. L. Geyer, vocational agricultural teacher, was chairman of a similar meeting in Rising Star Monday night.

A third meeting was held in Gorman, Tuesday, with E. C. Brantlett as chairman. In all three gin areas the necessary organization was established and a representative elected. The ginners promised their fullest cooperation with the farmers and the Cotton Classing Office.

JOHNSON TO TALK TODAY

WASHINGTON, June 14 (UP)—Former Defense Secretary Louis Johnson, who like Gen. Douglas MacArthur lost his job in a stormy policy row, was prepared to tell Congress for the first time today the arguments leading to his ouster.

Johnson went before the Senate MacArthur Investigating Committee (at 10 a.m. EDT), ready to drop the self-imposed silence ban which has sealed his lips for nine months.

Republicans were determined to press Johnson on his differences with Secretary of State Dean Acheson last December when he backed the Chiefs of Staff on sending more arms and a military mission to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek on Formosa.

Acheson told the committee last week that he opposed the move, and President Truman sided with him. Since then American policy has shifted, largely as a result of the Korean War, and new arms aid plus an advisory mission have been dispatched to the Nationalist Forces on Formosa.

Sen. Styles Bridges, R., N. H., a ranking investigating committee member, said Johnson was "fired" because he "bucked the policies of the Acheson crowd."

Sen. H. Alexander Smith, R., N. J., urged that Johnson detail the White House discussions last June which led to American intervention in the Korean War. Smith particularly wanted details on the position taken by Johnson and the military chiefs at those meetings.

As Johnson went before the committee, it was learned he was willing to relate the circumstances of his Sept. 12, ouster which the time Truman termed "terribly regrettable." Johnson said it stemmed from the fact that in 18 months of Pentagon duty he made "more enemies than friends."

It was known that Johnson came to the Senate Witness Stand somewhat reluctantly, but determined for the first time to answer all questions so long as they did not involve violations of official confidences held with Truman. This determination included willingness to discuss the differences with Acheson on China policy, particularly the Formosa issue, however, it was understood that Johnson was determined to avoid engaging in personalities.

Meanwhile, the "all out or get out" Korean War policy recommendation of Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer and the fiery speech by MacArthur in Texas yesterday apparently increased Republican determination to press the inquiry which today rounds out six full weeks of testimony.

Cleburne Woman Accused Of The Murder Of Ford

CLEBURNE, June 14 (UP)—Mrs. Maybelle Rhodes, 52, today was charged with murder and released on $2,000 bond in the "family quarrel" shooting of her son-in-law.

Mrs. Rhodes was accused in the pistol slaying of Edmond Ford, 26-year-old machinist, on the porch of her home here yesterday.

Police chief Oran Smith said Ford and his wife Bessie, Mrs. Rhodes daughter, had obtained a divorce only hours before the shooting.

Mrs. Rhodes, who surrendered to police, was quoted by officers as saying Ford had "made trouble" on previous visits to her home.

Basketball Star Drowns in Creek

GREENWOOD (Wise County) June 14 (UP)—Joe Enis, 16-year-old basketball star on the Slidell High School team, drowned late yesterday in Denton Creek near here.

A brother, Bud, said Joel started swimming across the creek and suddenly disappeared in the water. The brother believed the high school junior apparently was stricken with a cramp.

Movement Grows For Making Mac Next President

DALLAS, June 14 (UP)—A MacArthur-for-president movement picked up momentum in Texas today as the five-star General toured the state on a four-day speech-making junket.

Even as MacArthur arrived in Austin to deliver his main address yesterday, an organizer of the movement from Washington arrived here to select a state chairman.

Ervin Hohensee said among other things he hoped to help select candidates in connection with the state primary convention who would be committed to Gen. MacArthur's nomination for president.

In answer to a story in the Houston Press yesterday quoting the General as saying he had "no intention of running for president," Hohensee said he felt if the demands of the people are made known the General will allow his name to be placed in nomination.

MacArthur told a press reporter that "what I said when I landed at San Francisco on my return still goes. I have not changed my mind."

Hohensee said letters urging the General to run for president have been increasing in recent weeks.

MILTON SAUL PASSES AWAY IN BIG "D"

DALLAS, June 14 (UP)—Milton H. Saul, onetime newspaperman, postmaster, oil well driller and public relations man, died at a hospital here yesterday after an illness of two weeks.

Saul, 79, served as postmaster of Ponce, Puerto Rico, after the Spanish-American War.

He later became a newspaper correspondent for the Atlanta, Ga., Journal, an also served with the Dallas Times Herald and Dallas Morning News.

In 1929 he became Public Relations Director for the Dallas Power and Light Company, later holding similar position for American Airlines.

Prior to his newspaper days he supervised oil well drilling in the Burk Burnett Field of West Texas and later in the Corsicana Shallow field.

This well has been called "a most important test" for the entire oil area.

Smith Ships Wood Product

Jimmy Smith, local businessman, announced today that on June 12th, he shipped completed articles made of wood to the U.S. Government as specified in his contract. Smith recently again secured a Government contract calling for the production of various types of wood products which are used by the Corps of Engineers.

Smith said that secrecy measures and Government regulations prohibit the revealing of specific figures and information on these products. He said that material has already been received for the fourth contract and work will begin on another product later this week.

The Ranger businessman under bid other contractors and was chosen from a group of over 200 bidders who were scattered over the entire United States. He employs approximately 15 men in his Ranger plant to work as much as 54 hours a week.

His contract was secured from the Chicago Quartermasters Depot in Chicago. He did similar work for the Government during World War II. Smith also owns and operates the L&J Supply Store here.

Rogers Home Badly Burned

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers, 309 South Marsden, Ranger, was burned last night with damage extent reaching approximately $7000, according to Fire Chief C. B. Isabell.

Isabell said he was sitting at the fire station around 11:45 p.m. last night when he observed smoke coming from the second story window of the home which is situated near the fire station. He said that closer observation revealed that the room was in flames.

He sounded the alarm and volunteer firemen aided the regulars in putting out the fire. Isabell said that George Rogers said that he had left the house about an hour or an hour and a half before he heard anything about the fire. No one was at home when the fire occurred.

Isabell said that he watched the house until 5 a.m. this morning to be certain that the fire would not break out again.

Navy Discloses Number of Dead

WASHINGTON, June 14 (UP)—The Navy today said 26 men were killed and seven wounded aboard the Destroyer Waika as a result of an underwater explosion, presumably a floating mine, off the East Coast of Korea June 12.

The hull of the Waika was damaged on one side but the vessel was proceeding to a Japanese port under its own power.

The Navy said no further details were available. It did not preclude the possibility of a torpedo hit, but reported the explosion was presumably the result of the vessel hitting a floating mine.

TERMS OUR POLICY AS BEING ONE OF APEASEMENT, FEAR

By H. D. Quigg
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOUSTON, June 14 (UP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur readied new attacks today on the men he charges "plunged us into war which they now seem afraid to win."

The eyes of Texas were on MacArthur as he prepared to speak tonight in the Houston Stadium of Rice Institute in the second of his five Texas speeches. He was expected to continue his personal war on the Truman administration's policy of fighting a limited war in Korea.

MacArthur came here late yesterday after a fiery address before a special joint session of the Texas Legislature in Austin. He blasted the Truman Administration as one motivated by fear in its diplomatic conduct and dictated to from abroad on its political and military policies.

The five-star general told the legislators and a crowd of 25,000 gathered in the state capitol grounds: "In Korea today, we have reached that degree of moral trepidation that we pay tribute in the blood of our sons to the doubtful belief that the hand of a blustering potential enemy may in some way be thus stayed."

Accusing the administration of "appeasement on the battlefield" MacArthur said that "never before have we geared national policy to timidity and fear."

Asserting that "our country has the inherent strength to face and defeat any who may attack," MacArthur said that if Soviet Russia "does strike" it will be because of the weakness America is now displaying.

After his Austin speech, MacArthur flew here in the Eastern Airlines Constellation which has been chartered to take him on a tour of six Texas cities.

An estimated 500,000 persons lined the route of his motorcade from the Houston airport to the downtown district and then to the swank Shamrock Hotel, where he spent the night as the guest of the owner, oilman Glen McCarthy.

Today MacArthur was to receive a Cadillac as a gift of the Houston Elk's Club. This afternoon he will motor to Galveston for a parade and to place wreaths on monuments to World War I and II heroes. He did not plan a speech at Galveston.

MacArthur left no doubt in his Austin speech that he had criticized and get tough with his critics who have said that the measures he advocated and which led to his being fired from the Far Eastern Command—bombing of Red bases in Manchuria, blockading of the

Cemetery Has Been Cleaned

The Ranger Pioneer Cemetery is clean despite weather after having been moved for the second time this season. The green looks more like a lawn than a cemetery.

V. V. Cooper, Jr., has supervised and helped with the cleaning. He asks that families who have members of their family buried there to go by and inspect the grounds. He stated that it will soon be moving again and every one who is in any way connected with it should help out.

There are no funds from which to draw to maintain the resting place and the grounds are kept up entirely through contribution. He said that he believes every family represented would be glad to make a contribution. Some persons have already done so. Checks can be given to Mr. Cooper or left at the City Hall.

MacArthur's Talk Brings Out Reactions

WASHINGTON, June 14 (UP)—A cross section of congressional reaction to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's address to the Texas Legislature at Austin: House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, Mass.—The speech was "political in nature" and "clearly indicates MacArthur now is in the political arena." Senate Republican Leader Kenneth S. Wherry, Neb.—MacArthur warned of a policy "being dictated by our Secretary of State, who is being influenced by leaders abroad who are pro-Communists, Pinkos, Leftwingers and Socialists." Sen. Theodore F. Green, D., R. I.—The address "looks as though he'd like to be a presidential nominee... not a very good example of 'an old soldier fading away'." Rep. Leslie C. Arends, R., Ill.—"The speech will help clarify the whole international question of where we are, where we are going, and how we are to achieve our objectives... I am glad Gen. MacArthur is an American Citizen, and not as a politician, is going to the people (th his story." House Democratic Leader J. Percy Priest, Tenn.—"MacArthur made no concrete suggestion on how to end the Korean war rapidly and decisively as he demanded." Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R., Wis.—"He laid it on the line—all his public statements have a lot of value in clarifying the picture."

WEATHERFORD, June 14 (UP)— Investigation continued today into the head-on automobile collision west of here yesterday which killed a 73-year-old Monahan man, critically injured three others and seriously hurt a fifth motorist. was identified as a hitchhiker from Monahan, was killed instantly.

Critically hurt were Miss Dorothy Jean Parsons of Graham, Pvt. Leo D. Mangrum, also of Graham, and an unidentified Carswell Air Force Base Sergeant. Injured seriously was Darrell Wayne Shumate, 26, of Gilmer, in whose care Wallace was riding. Miss Parsons and the Sergeant were believed to have been passengers in a car driven by Mangrum. The unnamed Air Force Sergeant was taken directly to Carswell Air Force Base Hospital.

Abilene Sox Slow Down

The Abilene Blue Sox seldom operate with less than a five-game margin over their nearest contender in the West Texas New Mexico League.

So with the Albuquerque Dukes breathing hot on their trail, only three games behind, the Blue Sox last night used a doubleheader to strengthen their firm stand in the league lead.

They took both ends of a twin bill from Clovis, 6 to 3 and 2 to 1, while the Dukes had to content themselves with a lone victory over Lamesa 9 to 8 in 11 innings.

Elsewhere around the loop, Pampa took both ends of a twin-bill from Amarillo 6 to 2 and 19 to 5, while Lubbock's game at Borger was postponed because of rain.

The Dukes pulled their game from the fire twice. In the last of the ninth they shoved two runs across the plate to knock the count and send it into extra innings. They scored their game winner in the last of the 11th.

The Oilers slammed out 12 hits in the abbreviated seven-inning opener with Amarillo, eight more than the Gold Sox could muster. In the nightcap, it was even worse with the Oilers collecting 15 hits, to four for the Gold Sox. Four Amarillo errors gave Pampa added encouragement in the last game.

Tonight's schedules are the same.

Governor Shivers Introduces Doug

AUSTIN, June 14 (UP)—The text of Gov. Allan Shivers' prepared remarks for the introduction of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to a joint session of the Texas Legislature today:

"This is indeed a day for Texas to remember. A rare opportunity has come to us, and no words of mine would enhance the occasion. We are privileged to see and hear today one of the great Americans of our time, one of the great soldiers of all time. We mark his visit to our capital city with pride and warm appreciation.

"Throughout the history of these United States, it has been considered not only desirable, but essential that the average citizen be interested in his government and its policies. We are paying tribute here, today to a man who not only has aroused the average citizen's interest in the Foreign Policies of his country, but has brought a sharp awareness of the potential effect of those policies on him as a citizen and as a human being.

"No man can render a greater public service. Texas is honored to have him and his family as guests. I am pleased to present to you now General of the Armies Douglas MacArthur."

Jack-In-Box Will Help The Doctors

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 14 (UP)—The American Medical Association was told yesterday of a new electronic "jack-in-the-box" that will help doctors in finding out whether a young child is hard of hearing.

Testing of a two or three-year-old boy and girl for the ability to hear correctly always has been a difficult task.

Perhaps, Drs. Frederick R. Guilford, of Houston, and C. Olaf Haug, Galveston, has the ideal gadget to diagnose deafness in the very young child.

They call their new machine a pediacoumeter, described as a portable device with attention-holding appeal to the child. It is used in conjunction with the conventional audiometer, a hearing testing device.

To the child having his hearing tested, use of the new machine is like playing a game.

Guilford and Haug said that two types of tests are made. One is used when the child is sufficiently matured and when there are no indications of total hearing loss. The other test is used when the child is too young to understand instructions of the doctor.

In the test for the matured child perhaps those over three years old the child is told that he or she is to play a game with the operator.

The instructions to the young patient go something like this:

"Now, Lana, we are going to play a game with these little houses. (They are part of the jack-in-the-box machine). In these little houses there are some little people locked up. They can't get out unless you help them. Now, when they holler to get out, I want you to let them out by pressing this button."

Meanwhile, the doctor has placed the button in the child's hand. Headsets are placed on the child's ears.

The "jack-in-the-box" with its "little people" goes into action, with the artificial yells and shouts being made by electronic means.

As the shouts and yells are heard the child pushes the button. It is a way to determine the hearing range of the child.

The procedure is so arranged, the doctors pointed out, that it is easy for the operator to determine when the child fails to follow the rules of the game.

In the other test, the machine determines quickly whether the child can hear at all and generally what degree the impairment may be.

General States His Ideas Today

WASHINGTON, June 14 (UP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer credited Congress today with producing all the "constructive" ideas for dealing with China since the war and accused the State Department of trying to block those ideas.

Wedemeyer made that declaration as he testified for the third day before the Senate Committee Investigating Far Eastern Policy and the removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R., Ia., asked Wedemeyer, wartime commander of U.S. forces in China, if the United States had followed a policy of giving shrinking support to the Chinese Nationalist government while the Chinese Communists were getting increasing help from Russia.

Wedemeyer said he thought Hickenlooper had made a "fair statement." He said there had been "uncertainty" about American China Policy in the postwar period when the Communists were displacing the Nationalists from the Chinese mainland.

Wedemeyer disclosed in other testimony that he recommended in early 1945 that Russia be brought into the war against Japan to shorten the hostilities. That recommendation was, he said, "a mistake, an error in judgment, strategic judgment there."

Wedemeyer told Sen. Estes Kefauver, D., Tenn., however, that he was "not at all involved" in the controversial 1945 Yalta agreement which spelled out the terms for Russia's entry into the war in the Far East.

Chapter Six (Final)
Jim Roberto was questioning the prisoner. Craig shone a bright light in the thugs eyes while the thug spoke.

"But I was just taking it over to smoke tonight," roared Roberto. "You shoot that stuff in your arms not smoke it. Who in hell do you think you are kidding?" "But," the hoodlum pled, "I'd be killed if I talked."

"You will go to the pen a long time if you don't," Craig broke in. "It's okay Roberto," the officer who rushed into the room cut in. "His buddy just confessed on how this punk here was running it across and didn't tell him until the officers gave chase."

"Good deal," Roberto said. "Well you can take this rat back to his hole."

"Wait a second," the thug stated. "I will tell a lot if that punk wants to be that way. He did it all. He hired me and said that if we were caught that he would stick by me. Now he pulls this. I'm not going to take the rap alone. What deal will you make with me?"

"We don't need a deal now. We have what we want," said Jim. "But he didn't give you straight facts. I can blow the whole deal wide open."

"Okay tell us enough to crack the case immediately and we will let you go with three years."

"You can't do any better than that?"

"Not a bit, Okay . . . talk." "Well this ring is a pretty big thing. We run all of the stuff into San Antonio and they run it to Chicago from there. The staff is cut several time and several dozen runners cut it several dozen times again. Then it goes all over the country. I can give you the names, addresses and the whole works."

"Okay," Roberto said. "Here's a pencil. Start working. Write all that stuff down and we will try and let you off with a year. Roberto's trick had worked from this only both men had been told the other had turned states evidence. One man failed to take the bait. The other had swallowed it hook-line and sinker.

In a matter of hours, the entire gang was rounded up. They were tried, convicted, and the officers were sent to another assignment. It's often a rough life in the custom service.

It had taken a lot of men and several breaks to crack this case. It was the river rider on the horse who had given them their first clue. Then it had been investigators and more investigators. Then one break, then another. A few informers thrown in and a darn good arrest which finally led to the breaking of the case. So it goes. Luck, hard work, good officers, and an undying spirit. That broke this case. . . .

Ranger Boys Pass In Review

CAMP POLK, La., June 14 (UP)—The 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard polished its boots and brass today for distinguished visitors and a huge review.

Maj. Gen. Holbert Gay, deputy Commander of the Fourth Army at San Antonio, and members of his staff were scheduled to arrive tomorrow.

He will be met by Maj. Gen. Albert S. Johnson, Commander of the 49th, and latter review an honor guard commanded by Lt. Col. S. B. Lyons of Fort Worth. An Infantry company from Atlanta, a company of engineers from Brenham and the headquarters company of combat command B of Dallas will make up the guard.

Other visitors expected today included six representatives of the chief army field forces office and three representatives from the Department of the Army at Washington.

Seventeen Staff members of the 36th Infantry Division, Texas National Guard, were expected here late tomorrow or early Friday. Among them will be the 36th Commander, Maj. Gen. H. Miller Ainsworth of Juling and Brig. Gen. Carl Phinney of Dallas, Assistant Division Commander.

The 49th will take over all of Camp Polk, not just a parade ground, for a true Texas-style review Saturday.

Some 1,500 division vehicles, ranging from jeeps to medium tanks and self-propelled guns, will parade through streets of the camp past a reviewing stand for two hours.

Taking the review will be Major Generals Johnston, K. L. Berry, Texas Adjutant General, and Gay.

Waco Pirates In Second Spot

The Waco Pirates were clinging to their second spot in Big State League standings today by something less than the skin of their teeth.

The Pirates dropped an important doubleheader to Sherman-Denison last night and it left them with only a two percentage point margin over Temple which lost one game, to Wichita Falls, 12 to 6.

But the tightest battle of the night was that staged at Austin where the Pioneers went for 14 innings before they finally lowered the boom on the front-running Gainsville Owls 5 to 4.

The other encounter saw Texas take Tyler 7 to 4.

The twins broke up a 5-5 deadlock in the last frame of their seven inning opener to edge by the Pirates 6 to 5. They came back to build up a two-run lead in the fifth inning of the nightcap then scooped a Waco uprising one run short of a tie in the last of the ninth. The score was 5 to 4.

Austin and Gainsville had to cancel the second game of their non-scheduled doubleheader, when the long-winded opener ran them far into the night. Though losing, the Owls outdid Austin 7 to 6.

The Spudlers scored easily, in six of their eight time at bat, to crush the high-riding Eagles behind a 15-hit attack. The Eagles hindered their own cause with three errors in the field.

Four Tyler errors was the principal difference in its game with Texas where the Bears showing only two hits more than the east Texans.

Picnic For VBS Scheduled Today

Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist Church has been an even greater success than Rev. Ralph Perkins and the faculty had expected according to an official of the church.

Wednesday the enrollment had reached 252 with an average attendance of 200. Thirty-two children in the Primary Department have been present every day. A picnic was scheduled for Thursday morning following the regular morning session.

Commencement for the school will be held at 8 o'clock Friday evening. Parents and friends are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Rains and daughter, Glenda, who have been in Odessa for the past week on business, have returned to their home in Ranger.

1st Baptist To Remodel Soon

The Wednesday evening services of the First Baptist Church were well attended according to Mrs. Millie Williams. She also reported the following phases of activities in the church:

The church in conference set the date for the fall revival to be Sept. 2-9 with the pastor Rev. Ralph Perkins doing the preaching and Mr. Bill Bullock directing the music.

Mr. Bill Bullock has been called as Educational Director and will assume his duties August 1. The church also voted to accept the plans submitted by the building committee for the remodeling of the church basement. Contracts will be let in the near future for the work. This will include class rooms and departmental assembly rooms for the Young People and Junior Departments; also installation of pastor's study, church offices and church library in the basement.

The building committee consists of W. A. Lewis, Allen Smith, Hugh Smith, Odardell Kirk and Carl Page.

The Freedom Bell Series

FIRST ROUND IS CRUCIAL

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., June 14 (UP)—The first round was crucial as 162 tense titans trudged the treacherous Oakland Hills course today to launch the 51st National Open Golf Tournament.

The big-name professionals and the obscure small-timers were unanimous in their moans at the fiendish layout tailored especially for this competition by golf course architect Robert Trent Jones. That's what will lunge to a whopping head start in the chase for the $4,000 first prize and the glory that goes with it.

The tee-off favorites differed greatly in temperaments and style of play—but they were veteran big leaguers. There was ice-water Ben Hogan, the little perfectionist who has won two of the last three opens; wry Sam Snead, the long-driving hill billy who has come close many times but always failed; and horse trader Bobby Locke, a shrewd sharpshooter who mangled the par 70 course with 78 and 80 practice rounds, yet intently mapped strategy that could make him winner.

It rained most of yesterday, so the greens were not lightning fast for today's first round.

Do You Know the Answer—

... to the little boy's question—"Daddy, what is an abstract and what kind of an abstract do we have to our place?" That's a searching question. If the answer is—"I don't know. All abstracts are about alike and one is as good as another"—it isn't a satisfactory reply. But if the answer is—"Son, we have a dependable abstract because I know the people who made it are dependable, and we won't worry about the rest", that's a good answer.

TEXAN DOESN'T WANT HIS DAUGHTER BROUGHT UP IN THAT "DAMYANKEELAND"

PLYMOUTH, Mass., June 14 (UP)—The trial of Louis B. Conley of Amarillo, Tex., charged with kidnaping his daughter from Massachusetts because he didn't want her to grow up "in this damyankeeland," was postponed today to next Thursday.

Prosecutors and Superior Court officials agreed to delay the trial a week to enable Conley to obtain counsel.

Conley, a 30-year-old former Army lieutenant who has been in jail two days short of a year on contempt of court citations stemming from the case, also is charged with assaulting his divorced wife and her mother during the 1947 abduction.

The six-foot defendant allegedly kidnaped his daughter, Lynette from her mother's home in Brockton, Mass., four years ago and fled to Texas with the girl, then 2.

Conley was arrested by the FBI in Texas last year and returned here. Authorities postponed with assaulting his divorced wife and her mother during the 1947 abduction.

The Texas refused and was sentenced to nine months in jail on a contempt citation.

When Lynette was not brought back to Massachusetts by last January, Conley was sentenced to another year in jail for contempt.

"I'd rather stay in jail than have the girl brought up in this damyankeeland," he said.
