RAIN MAKES ROADS UNUSEABLE DELAY PEACE TALKS 24 HOURS

By Earnest Hoherecht
United Press Staff Correspondent
UN ADVANCE BASE BELOW KAESONG, Korea, July 20 (UP)—Korea's fateful war-or-peace showdown armistice meeting was delayed 24 hours by storms today as the Reds massed their biggest forces since spring along the war front.

The talks will resume at 10 a.m. Saturday (8 p.m. Friday EDT). The choice is up to the Communists whether cease-fire negotiations go on or break off over their insistence that the withdrawal of foreign troops be included in the armistice agenda.

United Nations delegates said there would be "no selling out" to the Reds on that issue, labeled "political" and therefore outside the range of the present cease-fire talks. They were backed to the limit by UN Secretary of State Dean Acheson last night who said the U. S. and its UN allies were willing to risk a break in truce talks rather than pull their troops out of Korea immediately.

Amphibious trucks were rushed here late today to make sure the UN team gets to Kaesong across the rain-flooded streams and fields tomorrow morning.

While the Red Army could use the bad weather to complete their front-line buildup, Peiping radio charged that U. S. airplanes were bombing Chinese territory "in spite of truce negotiations."

The Peiping broadcast said 10 U. S. planes made single sorties over the Korean border between July 11 and 16 and "reconnoitered, machinegunned and bombed" several areas. The Chinese radio said 17 other flights over Chinese territory occurred from July 1 to 9.

Torrential rains made the 20 miles from the UN camp to Kaesong impassable today. A party of UN aides and 20 newsmen who preceded the UN team on the morning trip to Kaesong was cut off and marooned in Communist territory for several hours. The UN team got half way to Kaesong, then turned back just before the return route was blocked.

The crisis in the cease-fire negotiations came at the seventh meeting Thursday. The Reds again demanded acceptance of the troop withdrawal item. UN Senior Delegate Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy refused curtly and the meeting broke up after the shortest session yet.

UN officials said later that the eighth meeting would decide whether the talks go on. Briefing Officer Lt. Col. W. J. Preston put the issue as plainly as possible for the Reds by stating:

"We will come an agreement or there will be an air of finality about the disagreement."

Withdrawal of foreign troops was the only item holding up agreement on the agenda and blocking start of the formal armistice writing. The agenda otherwise is complete and includes details of a cease-fire agreement, definition of a demilitarized zone between the UN and Communist armies and guarantees against renewed fighting through an armistice control commission.

A UN communique said the flood waters rose one foot between the passage of the advance party and the cease-fire negotiations. Bad weather prevented helicopter flights to Kaesong.

The Communist liaison officer at Pan-Mun-Jom was notified of the conditions and told to inform North Korean Gen. Nam Il, Chief Red negotiator, of Joy's regrets that the UN team could not get to Kaesong.

Army engineers slogged through the water and mud to repair stream crossings for tomorrow's trip. Three amphibious "ducks" were used.

Explosion Rocks Downtown Baird

BAIRD, July 20 (UP)—A heavily-loaded propane transport truck exploded and burned in downtown Baird late yesterday, knocking out all but five of the town's telephones and setting off a short-lived panic.

Flames shot 200 feet into the air and sent scores of citizens scurrying for cover. The truck driver, Claude Hallmark, 50, of Clyde, was blown from the cab. He escaped with only minor burns of his face and arms.

The explosion shook buildings over a four-block area. Flames from the 806 gallons of propane, a highly volatile petroleum fuel, burned through overhead telephone cables and knocked out the local telephone system. The blaze lasted 30 minutes.

Highway Patrolman George Clark said the truck had been parked and Hallmark "had just started to roll when she caught."

He said summer heat of almost 100 degrees might have caused the blast.

"It looked like one of the pop-off valves started spewing from too high pressure," he said. "The extra pressure probably was from heat expansion."

The truck, operated by a Baird Butane and Propane Distributing firm, was destroyed in the fire.

Frank Bearden, manager of the telephone office, said the almost 400 telephones in the city were knocked out.

Early today, only two business houses and three residences had service. Long distance lines were not affected.

Farouk Vows He Will Not Return

LUGANO, Switzerland, July 20 (UP)—Egypt's camera-shy King Farouk stormed out of Switzerland today in a royal huff over Swiss police action and vowed never to return.

The portly monarch and his beautiful young bride Narriman broke off a scheduled 12-day honeymoon visit in its second day and departed shortly before midnight for Lake Como, Italy.

"I will never return to Switzerland again," Farouk declared to hotel officials upon stepping into his car.

The King's fury was aroused Wednesday when a photographer took his picture in front of the swank, Lakeside Hotel Splendide in violation of his order for "no photos."

A member of his entourage seized the film. Swiss police ordered the film returned to the photographer.

It was the second brush of his honeymoon with photographers. Farouk himself seized a film on the Isle of Capri last month and handed the offending photographer a fresh roll in its place.

Girl Bitten By Copperhead

HOUSTON, July 20 (UP)—Ten-year-old Jo Jean Nabors was in a serious condition today as the result of being bitten by a Copperhead snake on the right foot. She had crawled under the garage to see her cat's three new kittens when the snake struck her.

The father, A. J. Nabors, killed the snake.

Church Fleeced Of $150,000

By James F. Donovan
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—Witnesses told Senate investigators today that a "professional confidence man" fleeced a New York church out of $150,000 on the promise to help build a new church and summer camp for "poor children."

Father Peter Heskwo of the Greek Catholic Church of St. Basil the great named the agent as Samuel D. Mason of New York. Mason, a florid-faced heavy set man who heard the testimony about himself, allegedly represented his work as lobbying and influence peddling with the government. Chairman Clyde K. Hoey, D., N. C., of the Senate's permanent investigating committee, said Mason actually was a professional "confidence man" who swindled a long list of victims out of some $350,000 in fantastic schemes.

The head of the church, father Maxim Markiw, said he figured he gave Mason from $150,000 to $200,000, all in cash, but did not keep records.

Heskwo said that Mason said he had to use some of the money to pay off 14 "army people" in Washington who would help get leases on government buildings.

The story told by the priests of the Greek church was only part of a vivid picture of operations by Mason, who is a one-legged man. The priests said they did not know whether Mason—as has been hinted—kept any of his money in his wooden leg.

Three previous witnesses testified Mason got $52,000 from them and never fulfilled promises of aid in getting government contracts and leases on federal buildings. One said Mason claimed to know president Truman and secretary of Defense George C. Marshall "very well."

Heskwo said that their first payment to Mason was made in May or June, 1949, and that the largest payment—$25,000 was made Aug. 30 of that year. They said Mason always wanted the money in bills of $100 or less.

The priests said Mason had convinced them that they could make large profits by leasing unused government buildings and then subleasing office space. They said they wanted the extra money to build a new church, a school and a summer camp for the children of their parish.

Texan Withdraws From Objection

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 20 (UP)—Douglas C. Fonda, Liberty, Tex., manufacturer, agreed today to withdraw his objection to a divorce decree granted his wife, but he still held hands with her in the courtroom.

The agreement was reached yesterday during a retrial of the suit granted at the request of the wealthy industrialist who said illness prevented him from testifying at the first trial last May.

Fonda had denied his wife's charges of misconduct as he opposed the court's order calling for $200,000 alimony. But yesterday a settlement was announced, details of which were not disclosed.

After the court adjourned, Mrs. Fonda held hands with her husband as she dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief.

Civil Marriages Denounced By Catholic League

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, July 20 (UP)—Civil marriages were condemned here last night by the Roman Catholic League of Christian Mothers and Wives as "concubinage or legal adultery."

The league, which has the approval of the Bishop of San Juan, James Peter Davis, and the Bishop of Ponce, James E. McManus, also opened a campaign against the "intense propaganda on behalf of birth control."

OPS To Hold Price Clinic For Merchants

Ranger merchants will have the opportunity to have their OPS price problems clarified when Price Clinic Day is held here Thursday, July 26, beginning at 9:00 a.m.

The clinic which is for all types of business will be conducted by a representative of the Fort Worth OPS, and will be held in the Retail Merchants Association Building.

In announcing the clinic, Ellis H. Boyd, district OPS director, said the clinics are scheduled throughout the 50-county Fort Worth district to give individual attention to businessmen's pricing problems.

"Price Clinics make business trips, telephone calls, and letters to the Fort Worth office unnecessary," Boyd said, "we like to think of our price representatives as 'traveling salesmen' out to do their best to aid everyone in complying with price regulations."

Cottingham Rites Observed Here Thursday

Interment was in the Eastland cemetery.

Born in Cuero, Cottingham was married in 1916 to Miss May Barnhill. He came to Eastland in 1920 where he was associated with the States Oil Corporation. He was with the company until last year when he opened his own public accounting office.

Flood Crest Move Into New Area Breaking All Levees

ST. LOUIS, July 20 (UP)—Surging waters of the biggest flood in a century broke through several levees north of this city today. The Coast Guard predicted that every dike holding back the waters at the junction of the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers would be swept away within 24 hours.

The Missouri topped the Harrison Levee in St. Louis County and the Coast Guard rushed emergency crews to the Creve Coeur Memorial Park area to help 400 persons escape their homes.

The Missouri smashed through a 25-foot section of the Farmers' Levee at St. Charles, Mo., about 15 miles north of here and the water surged across Kratz Airport. Most of the planes had been removed and only slight damage was reported.

At West Alton, Mo., the Missouri poured over the Hunn Levee which men, women and children had sandbagged after Air Force workers had abandoned it as hopeless. However, most of the 300 residents of the town joined in setting up a new line of defense at the Bradshaw Levee less than a mile from the town and the last barrier protecting their homes.

Army Engineers warned that 25,000 acres of Mississippi bottomland were in critical danger of flooding on either side of the

Price Survey Starts Soon

FORT WORTH, July 20 — A survey of wholesale and retail grocery costs and prices which will start soon was announced Saturday by the Fort Worth District OPS. Purpose of the survey will be to determine a basis for posted dollars and cents grocery prices, under a community pricing system.

"Mechanics for the survey which is scheduled to begin for wholesale, prices on July 30 and retail stores on August 2 are being readied in the district office," said Ellis H. Boyd, district director.

District OPS Foods Branch Chief Herbert E. Terrell and District Economist James B. Ashby and Donald Burrus are to attend a meeting in Dallas beginning Monday to learn more about the price survey.

"The survey findings of what grocers pay for products and their selling prices will be compared with existing ceiling prices. Then, sample community prices for further comparisons will be compiled," Boyd said.

He emphasizes that information obtained on the survey will be held in strictest confidence and will be sent to Washington for tabulation and analysis.

The survey will require several weeks, with its main purpose to determine if there is enough stability in the prices of a number of standard grocery items to make the community pricing program possible, said the OPS official.

"Community pricing which takes into consideration cost factors for relatively small market areas was considered the most successful of techniques used during World War II to maintain ceilings on food prices," Boyd stated.

Russia Waters Down Propaganda

MOSCOW, July 20 (UP)—The new English-language magazine "News" said today, six days after its first appearance, that the rush began after Moscow newspapers republished articles from the magazine. These featured a milder propaganda tone concerning the U.S. and urged for a renewal of Anglo-Russian friendship.

FIVE RANGER FFA BOYS GET REGISTERED JERSEY HEIFERS

Thursday night completed the first go-round of most of the major events on the program with the stock winning most of them.

Tony, the Steuans Pony was given to A. R. Jennings of Ranger, holder of ticket number 6290. The Jaycees calf scramble ended with five Ranger boys and one from Eastland getting Registered Jersey Heifers as their prize for catching a greased pig. An added attraction to the Buffalo riding was little Mickey Bagnell, 3 1/2 year-old son of the rodeo clown, coming out for a short ride on one of L. R. Pearson's Buffalos.

In the first go-round of the Barrel Race riding, Harold Watson of Belton and Guy Weeks of Coleman tied for 1st and 2nd. Red Nixon of Breckenridge placed third. There were only three qualified riders in the first go-round so the fourth money was split eight ways.

Saddle Bronc winners are: Paul Gould, Sweetwater, 1st; Cotton Proctor, Belton, 2nd; Harold Watson, Belton and Neal Gay of Houston, 3rd.

Marines Open Recruiting In Ranger Monday

Staff Sergeant David Wims, Marine Recruiting Sergeant, started today that he will be in Ranger each Monday from 11:00 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. at the Ranger Chamber of Commerce office on Main Street.

Any young men interested in enlisting in the United States Marine Corps is invited to drop around to see Sergeant Wims on Monday at the Chamber of Commerce or in Breckenridge any time. The Recruiting office is at the Post Office in Breckenridge.

Russia Waters Down Propaganda

MOSCOW, July 20 (UP)—The new English-language magazine "News" said today, six days after its first appearance, that the rush began after Moscow newspapers republished articles from the magazine. These featured a milder propaganda tone concerning the U.S. and urged for a renewal of Anglo-Russian friendship.

ton tied for third and fourth. First go-round money in the Bull Riding was taken by Harold Watson with the only qualified ride. In the first of the second go-round, Cotton Proctor of Belton made the only ride of eight tries.

The Barrel Race was climaxed by two girls tying for first and three for second. In first were Donna Faye Caster, Lampasas; June Harris, Ft. Worth, time 18.8; Helen Bradford, Ranger, Jo Ann Bradley, Dublin and Maxine Harbin of Eastland tied for second with times of 19.5.

Whit Keeney of Stephenville won the first money in the Steer Wrestling with a time of 4.6 seconds. Neal Gay, Houston, 2nd, 6 flat; Jack Pendleton, Waxahachie, 3rd, 6.6; and James McElreath, Coleman was fourth with 10.2 seconds.

The first round of the Cutting horse event went to Skeeter, owned and ridden by Phillip Williams of Tokyo; Second, Jesse James, ridden by Matlock Rose, owned by R. D. Fussell, Columbus. Poco Tvin, owned and ridden by Dan Dodge, Sacramento, Calif., and Hollywood Shapper, ridden by Jim Trammel, and owned by Dr. and Mrs. D. G. Strole of Abilene tied for third and fourth.

The lucky boys in the Calf Scramble were: Tommy Harper, Billy Ferguson, Billy Herrington, Jack Wesley, Donald Wells, all of Ranger, and Jerry Simms of Eastland.

The Cowboy that was thrown from the horse and did not bound up after falling on his head and dust the seat of his pants is said to be all right, no injuries.

A little added excitement not called for in the program took place when Champ Pearson of Ranger went into the bucking chutes with the Buffalo and was trapped and could not get out. Champ was pulled out by some of the cowboys and later rode one of the buffalos.

Something not witnessed by most of the spectators at the rodeos is the sportsmanship shown by the contestants to one another. They give each other advice about the animals that they are riding that night, help him mount, join each other their horses, haze for their opponents in the competition for the prize money; all the boys work together and everything is done in a happy go lucky manner not common in many sports.

Tonight the Jaycees are slated to do the honors on the buffalo. Don't Miss that.

Houston Suffers Record Heat

HOUSTON, July 20 (UP)—Houston will continue to swelter in the near 100-degree heat wave for at least two more days.

Forecasters T. R. Swain said no relief was expected for at least a couple of more days.

"Then if a low pressure area develops in the West as we think it might, it will not only drop temperatures but will also bring a break in the drought conditions which have been worrying farmers," he said.

The temperature reached the 100-degree mark at the Weather Bureau's Station at the Municipal Airport yesterday, and 99.3 degrees at the downtown site.

The 100-degrees at the airport tied the highest ever recorded on July 18, which was in 1934.

KILLER'S PACE

THE STORY: Star Williams gets Rose Bidault acquitted of murder by atomizing a gun, advertised as foolproof against accident, so that it is accidentally discharged in court. But a candid camera in court exposes the trick and now Star faces disbarment. Star now must prove Rose innocent to save himself. I knew he was very dead. I had never seen the man before in my life. He was probably 35, I guessed, middle-sized except for a huskiness of the shoulders. His hair was sandy and cut close, and his nose veered slightly to one side. It looked as if it had been broken. I thought it was possible that the man had been a pug. I wondered if the shooting had awakened Rose Bidault. I walked across her sitting room and peered into her boudoir. I snapped on the light and approached her bed. The shooting hadn't awakened her. Nothing would ever awaken her again. She was as dead as the party out on her sitting room floor. IT had been done with scissors. They had been rammed through her throat. I don't think she had really known what had hit her. Her eyes were closed; her face was very pale. I felt her wrist. The body had lost some of its warmth. I went back into the sitting room and looked at the ransacked desk. Rose's handbag lay on the floor. Its contents had been dumped upon the desk. There were the usual cosmetic accoutrements and about $50 in small bills. I picked up the bills and went back into Rose's boudoir. There was a jewelry box on her dressing table and I left the contents intact, for there was nothing in it but costume jewelry. I supposed Rose had put all her good stuff in storage. There was a watch on her wrist, a pretty good one with diamonds. I removed the watch. I carried it with the bills back to the dead man and stuffed them into his trouser pocket. I went through his pockets. Aside from a few bills and change in another pocket and a set of keys very similar to my own, there wasn't a sign of identification. I didn't expect to find any initials inside the coat, and I didn't. It took the homicide squad about 20 minutes to get there after I called and they came en masse. Inspector Merica was in charge, which didn't suit me so well, for they never made cops any smarter. There was a sergeant with him, Lew Cost, and it was Cost who answered most of my questions while the fingerprint and photography boys began in a great big way. I knew they would find my fingerprints, for I had left them on the glassware. "All right," said Merica, when I had finished. "You can drop in at headquarters and sign a statement. So far it sounds pretty good. Except for one thing. You admit you got in here with a skeleton key and that Rose Bidault didn't know you were coming back. That makes you guilty of breaking and entering." I was only checking back to see if Rose was getting along all right. Like I said, we did quite a bit of celebrating. You know what a strain she had been under. Merica nodded. "I know. I worked on the Bidault case. I can understand what a relief it was for her to beat the rap. But you still walked in here without her consent."

MERICA hadn't been very serious about the breaking and entering phase, and he dropped the subject by regarding the body of the dead man. "Ever see him before?" "No. My guess is he's a stranger in town. But he must have been around long enough to know about the Bidault house being deserted. He probably figured to clean out the place. You'll probably find proof in his pockets." Merica eyed me shrewdly. Cost said: "You seem a little sure about what's in his pockets. You look!" "No, Cost. I phoned you people right away." Cost made a face to show that he was no fool. Cost said: "Funny his gun hasn't been fired. Yet the guy had all the advantage. It don't look like self-defense to me." (To Be Continued)

Reds Mass 300 Near Kaesong

8th ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA, July 20 (UP) — The Reds massed an estimated 300 tanks north of Kaesong today and front-line officers said the Communists all along the line were "ready to go" in a new assault at any time. The tanks were hidden in the Koksan sector 55 miles due north of the conference city, in a position to swoop south through Kaesong on Seoul, in the same way they launched their invasion one year and one month ago. The Reds were massed along the 135-mile front in their greatest strength since their spring offensive but UN troops were ready to meet anything they might throw should cease-fire talks fail. Bad weather limited air activity today as the Red buildup continued after being held up for days by artillery and air bombardment of enemy airfields, supply lines and troop positions. UN patrols kept pressing into Red defenses Thursday to feel out enemy strength. On the western front near Yonchon, north east of Kaesong, they ranged four miles ahead of their lines against only light to moderate resistance. More enemy troops were seen in the Kaesong region and south of the conference city the Reds drove a UN patrol back with mortar fire.

Communist Boss Well Protected

MILAN, Italy, July 20 (UP) — Italy's Communist boss Palmiro Togliatti, a would-be assassin's target in July of 1948, has been presented a 2-ton armored automobile by the Russian government, local newspapers reported last night. The car arrived yesterday in Rome by train from Czechoslovakia. The Communists are in their best military position since their abortive may offensive. They have these things on their side: 1. An estimated 72 divisions—720,000 men if at full strength— at the front. At least 300,000 are actually on the battle line. 2. About 300 tanks hidden in gorges and valleys in the Koksan sector north of Kaesong. 3. The rainy and cloudy weather UN air activity. ther they like because it thwarts

Will Japanese Peace Treaty Help End Aggression in Asia?

BY PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Completion of a cease-fire arrangement in Korea will have no effect whatever on conclusion of the peace treaty with Japan. On the contrary, the fact that there is an armistice in Korea may in part be due to American determination to go ahead with the Japanese peace treaty. Reasons for this belief are simple. Russia's ultimate goal in Asia is to have a Communist Japan. Russia is believed to have planned, started and supported the Chinese aggression in Korea as the first step towards domination of Japan. Now that the Russians realize that Japan will be allied with the anti-Communist powers in the Pacific, through peace treaties, the Korean adventure may have been called off, at least temporarily, as not worth the cost in men and material. If the treaty is signed by September, it may not be ratified for another six months. The Senate, with a calendar already crowded by domestic affairs, may not be able to take up the treaty this year. If Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings are postponed till the next session of Congress, ratification by the United States may not come before early 1952. TEXTS of the treaty agreements will not be made public until they are signed. While the United States has not surrendered any of its objectives in the negotiations with Japan and the allied powers, the form of the treaty has been altered in preparation. Present indications are there will be several basic agreements. First, the peace treaty with Japan, signed by all the World War II powers except Russia and the Communist satellites, Jacob Malik, Soviet delegate to the United Nations, has declared that Russia will not accede to the American-Japanese treaty. Russia has proposed that the treaty be negotiated by Russia, Red China and the United States. The United States has rejected this proposal. The second part of the Japanese treaty will consist of an American-Japanese security agreement. The United States will be given the right to station troops in Japan. But there will be no obligation for the United States to protect Japan. The United States has already given guarantees for defense of the Philippines. Other, similar agreements are expected to be made with other Pacific powers. Japan and Nationalist China, for instance, will be expected to conclude a treaty of their own. Ultimately, however, it is hoped to draw all these separate agreements together into a Pacific alliance. NEGOTIATION of the Japanese peace treaties has done a great deal to strengthen the ties between the United States, Britain and France. At one stage of the proceedings, it was feared that this issue might lead to a serious breach. The French were at first opposed to making any peace treaty with Japan for fear it would antagonize Russia. The French were told that no precedent for the treaty with Germany would be set by the treaty with Japan. "If France didn't wish to go along on the Japanese treaty, the United States would break with France on this issue. France came along. The British, fearing Japanese trade rivalry, wanted Japan kept economically weak. It was pointed out that the United States had poured $2 billion into Japan to keep the country from going Communist, while the British had contributed relatively nothing. From this position of power and strength, the United States was able to convince the British that cooperation would be better than rivalry in insuring future peace in the Far East.

Fund Chairman For Texas Named

DALLAS, July 20—Ben Wooten, Dallas banker, today was named campaign chairman of the forthcoming $700,000 fund appeal for the USO in Texas.

Selection of Wooten to head the state-wide campaign was announced by Attorney General Price Daniel, chairman of the Texas United Defense Fund Committee.

"Each country has a vital interest in maintaining home-ties with its young men and women in military service," Wooten said, "and each will be asked to assume its proportionate share of the USO budget to assure that morale in the Armed Forces is maintained on a high level."

"Regardless of what happens in Korea, as long as Russia continues the cold war and millions of our youths are engaged in the defense of our freedom, there will be a need for the familiar home-away-from-home services of the USO," Wooten said.

Betty Wilcox To Attend TCU On Opera Scholarship Award

Miss Betty Wilcox, student in the Ranger Junior College and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wilcox, Jr., of Cisco has been awarded one of the coveted Opera Scholarships which is sponsored by the Fort Worth Opera Association, affiliated with the Texas Christian University.

Miss Wilcox, a graduate of Ranger Junior College, will enter Texas Christian University as a member of the Junior Class beginning with the new semester this fall. While there she will study in the Opera Workshop, under the direction of Mr. Karl Kritz, nationally known musical figure. She will also take part in the productions of opera sponsored by the Fort Worth Opera Association. The competition for these scholarships is keen, because some three hundred dollars is allowed per semester and also affords the student an opportunity for National recognition.

A student of Fred B. Baumgardner, Head of the music Department of Ranger Junior College, Miss Wilcox has appeared in numerous concerts and programs in this area. Her musical background has been thorough and her experience varied.

Miss Wilcox is happy over passing the audition and is looking forward to her matriculation at TCU and the workshop, she says and she hates to leave the college here and the people.

Attorney General Price Daniels

Price Daniel Is To Chairmanship Of United Fund

AUSTIN, July 20 — Attorney General Price Daniel today was named chairman of the Texas United Defense Fund Committee.

Daniel accepted the appointment at the request of the Community Chest leaders of the state who are sponsoring the organization to raise funds for the USO in Texas.

"Thousands and thousands of our Texas young men and women are in uniform defending our freedom around the globe," Attorney General Daniel said in accepting the assignment. "The job lies in our hands to give them the reassuring certainty that—at home or overseas—people of their home towns are vitally concerned with their well-being."

The USO and its familiar services have been called back into action to provide a home-tie with the American Armed Forces which now are on duty in every hemisphere. Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall has called the USO "an integral part of the defense effort." The program of civilian aid to the men and women in uniform has the firm backing of top government leaders, and its efforts will be closely coordinated with the national defense program.

The national goal this year is $18,624,854. Texans will be called on to subscribe their proportionate share of the national goal.

Mexico And US Seek Agreement

MEXICO CITY, July 20 (UP)—Mexican and American negotiators sought to solve a disagreement on "wetback" hiring penalties today that stalemated efforts to write a new migrant labor treaty.

A foreign ministry spokesman said members of a working group had "failed to reach full understanding" on legal sanctions to be imposed on American farmers contracting illegal laborers who wade or swim across the border in search of jobs in the United States.

Mexican delegates insisted on "penal measures against employers systematically hiring illegal workers," but U. S. Representatives rejected their demand because the labor recruiting law signed last week by President Truman does not contain any provision to that effect.

The official said another committee also hit a snarl on its study of creation of an International Commission on farm labor, its functions, validity and means of executing resolutions. He said the two delegations were unable to reach agreement "on some points."

"Mexican delegates, however, expressed hope that all differences of opinion would be overcome during today's sessions," the foreign ministry spokesman declared.

Other two groups discussing guarantees, salaries, transportation, hiring procedures of workers, reconstructions, transfer and termination of contracts were said to coordinating their task "without any fundamental differences," and near finishing their work.

Today's talks will be interrupted briefly to enable delegates to attend a banquet offered by the Mexican Senate in honor of Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D., La., attending the negotiations as advisor to the U.S. delegation. Ellender has been called "a good friend of Mexico."

Info On Russian Atom

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—President Truman said today this government has no evidence that Soviet Russia has set off an atomic explosion since his announcement of the first one in September, 1949.

The question was raised at the president's news conference in connection with reports by the Chinese Communist news agency that there had been a volcanic eruption May 27 in Sinkiang, the westernmost province of China.

Since Sinkiang is not a volcanic region, according to geologists, the suggestion had been made that the Communist announcement was intended to cover up or plant the idea of—an atomic ex-

Crown Prince At Hechingen Ger.

HECHINGEN, GERMANY, July 20 (UP)—Crown Prince Wilhelm Von Hohenzollern, 69, heir to the former German Imperial Throne, died today.

Von Hohenzollern died of heart disease at 2 p.m. today after a long illness.

The prince was born and trained to become Kaiser of Germany. He lived through the days of his country's greatest glory and to see it defeated in one war and almost completely crushed in another.

He was the eldest son of Kaiser Wilhelm II, Emperor of the Greater German Reich.

His mother was Auguste Victoria, Princess of Schleswig Holstein.

One of his favorite daughters—he had four sons and two daughters—married a Texan, a member of the enemy forces which occupied Wilhelm's once proud country.

A son, Louis Ferdinand went to the United States and for several years worked as a mechanic on the Ford assembly lines in Detroit. During the war Louis worked in a plot to assassinate Hitler in July 1944. Today he is a Ford representative in Cologne.

The Crown Prince became a prisoner. According to Chinese Nationalist sources, the Reds have an atomic project in Sinkiang. The Russians are said to be mining uranium in the province.

"This is my Property— . . . and I can prove it" was an announcement displayed on a signboard placed in front of a farm home which all motorists could see as they passed that way. As we read the words we wondered why it was necessary to have such a notice anyway. If this man really owned the place and could prove it, he had a good title, probably a title policy, both based on an abstract. No other proof or notice would be necessary.
