Reds Given Four Days To Reach Conclusion In Talks

By EARNEST HOBERECHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
UN ADVANCE BASE BELOW KAESONG, KOREA, July 21 (UP)—The United Nations gave a final "no" today to Communist demands for withdrawal of foreign troops as a price for peace in Korea and the Reds were granted a four day recess to study the ultimatum.

It seemed obvious the Reds would seek advice from Peiping and possibly Moscow before giving the answer that may break off cease-fire talks and plunge the Korean war into the bloody combat of offensives.

The UN agreed to the recess until Wednesday after Allied Chief Delegate Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy put the issue squarely to the Reds and told them "with an air of finality" that the agenda items already approved should be accepted so that the conference can get on with the job of ending the war.

United Press Vice President Frank H. Bartholomew reported from Kaesong:

"The correspondents were waging even money that there would be no cease-fire sessions in Kaesong."

Bartholomew said the feeling there was that the high command of both sides might handle matters directly "unless the Communists decided to recede from their stated positions." But, he reported, a Communist Chinese News Agency Representative said the Chinese negotiators were adamant in their demand for withdrawal of foreign troops as a condition for peace.

The showdown meeting ended after 1 hour and 11 minutes of talk which grew so loud the delegates could be heard by newsmen 5 feet away.

The Communist team, led by North Korean Gen. Nam Il, who showed strain and nervousness while Chinese delegates took a leading role in the talks for the first time, prepared to leave for Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

Joy told the Communists that he felt the items already agreed upon by both sides should be accepted as a complete agenda and that the conference should get on with the job of writing an end to the Korean war.

Joy had an "air of finality" in his manner as he said he saw no real need for the recess, a UN spokesman, Brig. Gen. William Nuckols said.

But there was "some" progress made today and Nuckols said that Nam Il used a "more reasonable" tone in the discussion. He warned, however, against being "too optimistic" about the Communist attitude because of its "very fine shading."

Admiral Joy, Nuckols said, spoke five minutes in opening today's crucial meeting. He proposed that the agenda items so far agreed upon be accepted as a complete program for formal armistice talks.

These have been announced previously as calling for a truce on an "as is, where is" basis. This would leave the UN holding its present front line, some places 20 miles north of the 38th parallel, and would rule out any debate on the Reds' desire for withdrawal of foreign troops.

Nam Il read his answer on this key point from a paper prepared in advance. He played with a packet of pencils, smoked more than usual and seemed under greater inner stress than before.

Nuckols said Joy was "patient and resigned" when he answered "He was not brusque but there seemed to be a certain air of finality in his general attitude, rather than in what he said."

Ranger Soldier Gets Bronze Star

WITH THE 1ST CAVALRY DIVISION, U.S. ARMY, Korea —A Ranger Army man in Korea has been awarded the second Bronze Star Medal for leading 30 comrades to safety through a Chinese encirclement.

The decoration was conferred on Master Sergeant Artice V. Watson, husband of Mrs. Edna E. Watson, Ranger, for his heroism in action near Unsan on Nov. 2 and 3.

The award's accompanying citation said M-Sgt. Watson's 8th Cavalry Regiment was overrun by huge Chinese forces.

Forming a light defensive perimeter around the battalion's headquarters, Watson and his men prepared to stave-off the Communist attack.

Chinese, however, ripped into the small defending group and overran the position.

Realizing it would be impossible for the battalion to be relieved, M-Sgt. Watson moved forward from his position to seek an escape route through the Chinese encirclement.

Having found a route, he returned to his men and began leading them to safety. For more than five hours, Watson led his exhausted group across rough and rugged terrain until safety was finally reached.

Said the citation: "Although he could have traveled faster alone, he chose to stay with the men and lead them to the safety of friendly lines."

Car Overtakes West Of Ranger

Mrs. Joy Simpson, Morton Valley, lost control of her 1946 Chevrolet on the farm highway between Ranger and Morton Valley on the loose gravel that has been spread on the road. The car overturned, injuring Mrs. Simpson and her small son riding in the car with her.

Both passengers in the car were taken to the Ranger General Hospital for treatment of injuries received.

The Ranger General Hospital staff reported this morning that the injuries are not as serious as first reported. Both Mrs. Simpson and the little boy are said to be recovering.

HIGHEST CREST SINCE 1884; LAST BRIDGE ENDANGERED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 21 (UP)—The Mississippi River flood crest battered through levees in Northern St. Louis County today and swept down on this metropolitan area of 1,700,000 persons.

Swollen by the flood waters of the Missouri, the crest was expected to reach 49.5 feet here late today—the highest since 1884.

Sewage covered streets in the waterfront section eight inches deep and Mayor Joseph M. Darst warned of possible contamination from drinking water.

The St. Louis Flood Association said that damage here may exceed the $9,000,000 mark in the floods of 1947. Damage already has passed $2,000,000, the Association said.

The flood has covered 2,000,000 acres of land and driven 518,000 persons from their homes in Kansas and Missouri, according to the Chief of Army Engineers, Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick.

Qua 5,000-acre tract at the triangular junction of the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers just north of here is completely under water.

"It looks like a muddy lake flowing along," a Red Cross worker said.

Water from the worst flood in a century poured over the Bradshaw Levee despite the efforts of men, women and children to bolster it, and swept 10 feet deep

ARAB LEGION ALERTED IN JORDAN TO PREVENT RIOTS

JERUSALEM, PALESTINE, July 21 (UP)—The crack British Arab Legion was alerted today for incidents within and outside Jordan, clamped under a state of emergency last night after the assassination of King Abdullah.

The 15,000-man force, commanded by British Maj. Gen. John Ghabash, patrolled all borders. Nobody could get in or out of the old city of Jerusalem and three foreign consuls were stranded there by the tight military control.

It was feared the assassination of the "Lion of Jordan" by a Jerusalem tailor in the Mosque of Omar yesterday may so weaken the Arab Legion that it would be unable to control the city.

Approximately 1,000,000 Arab refugees from Palestine within Jordan from a group which has been restive for two years. Without the strong hand of Abdullah, they could at any moment upset the country.

The state of emergency may last several weeks.

Patrols of Legionnaires with local and national guardsmen had been moving in the deserted passages of the old city.

The famous Mandel Baum gate which divides Jordan and Israeli territory in Jerusalem, was shut by the Arab Legion last night and not even diplomats could get through. The consuls of Holland, France and Turkey are stranded in the old city.

The American and Belgian consuls who wanted to enter Jordan territory to study the situation were kept out.

THREE BRAHMAN BULLS ARE RIDDEN IN FRIDAY NIGHT SHOW

Something new and different happens every night at the Jaycee Rodeo. Friday night the Jaycees put on a show of their own in riding the buffalo.

Charley Miliken, Earl LeBrado, W. K. Cooper, Beauford Anderson, Wes Poyner, James Ratliff, Beverly Dudley, Jr., and J. B. Houghton were the Jaycees that rode the buffalo. J. B. Houghton made the only ride of the night. Most of the Jaycees parted company with the animals after very few jumps. Earl LeBrado remained in the chute and his buffalo went on down the arena.

In the cowboy events at the show last night, good time was made in the steer wrestling and calf roping. More Brahman bulls were ridden in this one performance than had been ridden in the two previous performances.

The Bareback Bronc riding ended with Neal Gay of Houston first and Cotton Proctor, Belton, second, with the only qualified rides of the event.

In the Calf Roping, Joe Barnett, Gatesville, first with 13.8; Vic Montgomery, Ozona, second, 15.1; and James Russell, Merkel, 17.8.

Guy Weeks of Coleman and Neal Gay tied for first and second in the Saddle Bronc riding. Paul Gould of Sweetwater third, and Scotty Bagnell of Arlee, Montana was fourth.

A new winner in the Girls Barrel Race displaced Donna Faye Caster of Lampasas, second with a time of 18.7. June Harris flogged her mount around the barrels in 18.5. Jo Ann Bradley, Dublin, third with 19.1; and Rosa Lee Cravey of Breckenridge was fourth with a time of 19.3.

One dogging steer was thrown for time last night taking all honors; they went to Lawrence Carey of Mineral Wells with a mighty good time of 5 seconds flat.

Cutting horse honors went to Royal King ridden by Milt Benet, and owned by Earl Albin of Comanche, with 74 points. Shorty, owned and ridden by P. E. Thrash of Granbury, was second; Frances, ridden by Bill Kennard, owned by Jerry Christmas of Abilene, took third. Fourth went to Hollywood Snapper ridden by Jim Trammel and owned by Dr. and Mrs. D. G. Strode of Abilene.

The boys winning the pigs in the Jaycee Pig Scramble were Jimmy Nail, Lloyd Nail, Fred Harper, David Wesley, Jerry Stiffler of Ranger, and Eddie Morris of Strawn. The pigs that were awarded the boys were a cross between a Poland China and Hampshire. Four Barrows and two gilts were given away.

Three bulls were ridden last night for a new performance record for the rodeo this year; riding their bulls were Booger Red Cooper, of Ranger, Sonny Lavender, Holiday, and Henry Garvin of Mineral Wells. Henry Garvin and Tye Brown were injured in the bull riding; extent of their injuries is not known.

Attending the rodeo from Mineral Wells last night was Willena James, society editor of the Mineral Wells Index and former employee of the Times. This year is the first year that Willena had not attended every performance of the Jaycee Rodeo. Willena is a fan now due to back injuries received in the girls barrel race in this rodeo in 1947.

Looking behind the scenes at the rodeo you will see a very important person that receives little or no publicity; the rodeo secretary, Mary Keeney of Stephenville, is the secretary for the Triangle Bell Rodeo Ranch. Every contestant, the producer and the announcer depends on this girl to keep things in order and keep the facts and figures and the show moving in orderly fashion. Mary has a husband that is quite a cowboy, in fact he has the lowest time to date in the Steer Wrestling event with 4.5 seconds. When the announcer introduces the rodeo secretary remember the important role she plays in the show.

Melvin Spurline, LA youth accused of stealing a horse and saddle; "Yes, I took the saddle; but the horse, well, he just liked me and followed me because I gave him some sugar."

Alien Dies In Load Of Cotton

WESLACO, Tex., July 21 (UP)—Hidalgo County Judge Milton D. Richardson charged last night that Border Patrolmen were "over-eager" in their search for "wetbacks" a few hours after one of the Mexican aliens was found suffocated in a truck load of cotton.

Judge Richardson said that "men on the Border Patrol are over-eager in going after wetbacks. They go beyond their proper limits. I don't blame the service itself, but the men are over-anxious."

Deputy Sheriffs T. Avila and LeRoy Eastin were assigned to investigate the death of Erasmo Gomez of Santiago De Anaya, Ejido De Hidalgo, Mexico.

He and three other Mexicans dived into a truck load of cotton when patrolmen approached the field where they were picking. Twenty minutes later, after the Patrolmen had rounded up 137 other pickers for illegal entry, Gomez was dug out of the cotton. Artificial respiration failed to revive him.

Dewey's Far East Trip Might Get Political Tongues Wagging

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's trip to the Far East was made at the suggestion of Ambassador John Foster Dulles, who has been chief negotiator of the Japanese peace treaty.

Originally, Governor Dewey had planned to go to Europe. Ambassador Dulles, who was Dewey's principal foreign policy adviser in his races for the Presidency, reminded the governor that he had been to Europe two years ago, but had never visited the Pacific.

Since the Far East is to be an important area, Mr. Dulles thought Governor Dewey should become better acquainted with its problems, firsthand.

Ambassador Dulles arranged the trip and made appointments with many of the people of Governor Dewey is to see in Japan, Formosa, Hong Kong, Indo-China, Indonesia, Singapore, Australia, and New Zealand.

U. S. Air Force is having a tough time trying to figure why it needs so many men, and what they will do. When the Air Force had 48 groups, it had 411,000 men. Doubling the size of the Air Force was expected to call for only twice as many men. But the personnel estimates for the 95 group Air Force now being built up call for over 1,000,000 men.

The brass can't understand it. Orders have been given by Chief of Staff Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg to cut personnel and budget manpower on an inadequate basis, if necessary, to get the numbers down. The word passed down to all lower echelons of command is, "You just don't need that many people."

While the Hungarian Communist government continues kicking Americans around, Hungarian embassy officials in the United States are going right ahead with plans to re-open the New York and Chicago consulates. They were closed in retaliation for American businessman Robert Vogler's arrest and imprisonment on spy charges.

Hungarian government did have to get a new location in New York. Before the Vogler arrest, they had consular offices in Wall Street area. They decided that wasn't a good address for Communist country offices, so they changed.

The great Washington National Press Club clamor debate on the relative merits of Maine lobsters and Louisiana crayfish ended in something of a draw.

Republican Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine said the northern shell fish were firm, like Republicans. Southern species, on the other hand, were soft-shelled and flabby, like Democrats. Democratic Rep. F. Edward Hebert of Louisiana countered with a question. Which would you rather hold in your arms, Babe Didrikson or Dorothy Lamour?

Baukau, the radio commentator, who had to preside over the debate when Federal Mediator Cyrus Ching got tied up in Washington's transit strike negotiations, finally gave the award to—the red herring.

They Forgot to Tell Turpin He Couldn't Beat Robinson

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Randolph Turpin could fight and hit a bit, it said here 12 days before the fight.

Editor Nat Fleischer of The Ring, who had seen Randy Turpin, spread the alarm, gave the Leamington Lad considerably more than an outside chance against Sugar Ray Robinson.

Yet to the great bulk of ringworms the result of the 16-round match in London was the most startling fight news in a long, long time.

Fight writers and broadcasters who developed with Robinson, and the unskilled ring labor that accompanied him, had clothed Sugar Ray in a rich cloak of invincibility. The fact that Robinson had lost only once in 128 outings made his armor appear all the more imposing.

What the boys overlooked was that the Harlem Hot Shot's reputation largely was built on licking stubby Jake LaMotta five out of six times. Robinson's trouble at Earl's Court was that his handlers forgot to tell young Turpin that no one had a Chinaman's chance with Sugar Ray. The British-born Negro is half deaf, so might not have heard had anyone brought up Robinson's reputation. He trained in North Wales, so didn't have an opportunity to be awed by the black-long fuchsia-colored Cadillac in which the middleweight champion, his jester, personal barber and retinue of the yess-men gallivanted around Europe "spreading good will."

ROBINSON unquestionably was not at his best against Turpin, but the youngest of the three fighting brothers doesn't figure to fare any worse in a return engagement. He is eight years younger, and the title gives him the one thing he might have lacked previously—confidence.

From the middleweights down, the British Isles have had some pippins—the incomparable Jem Driscoll, Owen Morgan, Freddie Welsh, Ted Kid Lewis, Jimmy White, Bernandsey Billy Wells, Teddy Baldoek, Alf Mancini, Jack Hood, Roland Todd, Ted Moore, Frank Moody and Jack Kid Berg, to name those who come to mind offhand.

So, you see, there was no reason in the world why England could not develop its first middleweight champion in 57 years, and the British are abundantly entitled to have a fighter they can stand up and cheer about.

If Randy Turpin never does another thing, he deserves a vote of thanks for silencing all the "greatest-ever" gab about Robinson.

The Tudor-type house has 12 box stalls on the ground floor. Cane is best known for his presentation of the $80,000 Hambletonian Stake, to be renewed in the Orange County town, Aug. 8. White is its only four-time winner. (NEA)

KILLER'S PACE

BY JULIUS LONG

COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Star Williams got Rose Bidault acquitted on a charge of murdering her husband, Barney Bidault, by gnomicking a gun, advertised as foolproof against accident, so that it accidentally goes off in court. A candid camera in court exposed the trick and Star now faces dishonor. He sends Mrs. Jim Marshall, his legman, to interview Rose, because she must prove her innocence to save himself. Soon after her acquittal, Rose confided to me that her story about the accidental killing of her husband was false, but she had told it to protect a playboy named Larry Stone. When I go to interview Rose a second time, I find a man searching her since he has a gun and I have to shoot him in self-defense. Then I find that Rose has been murdered with a pair of scissors and that her body is in the next room. I plant Rose's money and jewelry on the dead burglar and call the police. They accept my self-defense story reluctantly.

I STUCK around till the coroner got there, then asked permission to leave which was granted. Sergeant Cost was still giving me the fish-eye, and he couldn't hold back a final dig as I started for the door.

"In case you have to have a lawyer, Marshall, I recommend J. J. McNamara. I hear your boss won't be in the law business after today."

I said nothing. It really hurt. I wondered what Star would say when he found out about Rose Bidault's murder. There was a fat chance to prove her innocent of Barney's death now—even if she had been, which I didn't think possible.

I wondered where I could find Star. He would surely be back in town by this time. I drove to the nearest drug store and phoned the office. Kitty Coyle answered.

"Jim! Where in the world have you been? Don't you know what's happened?"

"I've seen the papers. And I've seen Star. Have you?"

"No. I've been nearly crazy. I didn't hear about it till 1 o'clock when I came back to the office and when I phoned Star's cottage there was no answer. I thought about driving out but I was afraid to leave the office. He knows?"

"Yes, he knows. There's something else he's got to know. Rose Bidault's been murdered. Stabbed. Tell him if he comes in."

"Someone else's looking for him, too. Larry Stone. He phoned half an hour ago."

"Thanks." I hung up. I wondered why Stone would be phoning Star. One way to get the answer to that one would be to go around and ask him. Of course Stone might not consider himself to be an speaking terms with me, but at times I have a persuasive personality. So I drove over to the Brentwood Arms.

The man who came out of Brentwood Arms was J. J. McNamara. He pushed his fat stomach under the wheel of his car and drove off without noticing me. I drove right off after him. Of course I had really little reason to think that McNamara had been to see Larry Stone. Only a hunch.

I followed him for 11 blocks, and then parked about a block behind him. I couldn't see the name on the door and windows of the place he entered, but I marked it well by the street lamp in front. Then I sauntered casually by the place as if window-shopping. I wasn't really in the market for what was in the window. The sign on the door said: "PRATER HERMETICALLY SEALED BURIAL VAULT CO.," and in the window were three of the firm's samples.

I DROVE back downtown to the office. When I walked in, Kitty Coyle eyed me with fearsome awe.

"You didn't tell me! You didn't tell me you had killed that man!"

"No, I didn't. Star in?"

Kitty's pallor showed through her make-up as she got Star on the inter-office unit. She thought I wasn't bothered. The truth was that knocking down the unknown prowler at the Bidault place had disquieted me no little.

Star told me to come in. He looked weary. He was sitting behind his desk, the afternoon paper in front of him.

"Bad, huh?"

Star shook his head.

"Very good photography. Marvellous shots for that light. I must say that I entirely overlooked the possibility that Nick Ricardo could take such pictures."

"It does seem odd that he'd take shots at that particular time. The stuff shown in his pictures couldn't have been seen by the naked eye. You worked it so fast that neither the judge nor Andy Tanner saw you."

"What are you getting at, Jim?"

"Ricardo was tipped off." Star eyed me thoughtfully. "I must say that the possibility had already occurred to me. But why should Sonya work all night to teach me the stunt, send me off wishing me luck and then run to phone a reporter?"

"The ham in her, boss. Once she rates publicity in newspapers all over the country and page photographs in the picture magazines, she can write her own ticket. She'll be the biggest lady magician in captivity."

STAR'S thin lips curled. "I'm afraid you've got something, Jim. It looks like a double-cross."

Star sighed. "Well, the milk is spilt. With Rose Bidault dead, it looks as if we'll never be able to throw any different light on Barney's death. It's a shame she had to be murdered at a time like this. And over a few dollars and a watch, the radio newscast said."

"The cops say, too, I hope. I planted the money and the watch. The prowler never killed Rose. She got it around noon—shortly after I left her. She was too full of booze to wake up and surprise a burglar. She was stabbed while she slept. Somebody wanted to shut her up. Somebody wanted to make sure she never gave a different story about Barney's death."

Garden Souffle

Elegant Simplicity—A Garden Souffle

Vegetables are on parade. The colorful bounty of farm and garden is yours for the table. Plan to serve them often in many interesting ways while they are plentiful and inexpensive.

Garden Souffle is a top hat version on the vegetable theme that is bound to make a hit with both the family and the pocketbook. The ingredients are nutritious, colorful and thrifty. Fresh, sweet margarine, vegetable liquor and milk form the basis of the white sauce. Golden egg yolks that are beaten until thick are carefully added to the white sauce along with emerald green peas and bright yellow carrots. Chopped chives, lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce go into the mixture for flavor that sings. The whole is then carefully folded into a white cloud of stiffly beaten egg whites. The result—a puffy souffle that comes to the table holding its top hat high.

Round out the main course by serving crisp bacon, a dish of red-ripe tomato slices with onion rings marinated in French dressing, crisp-crusted rolls and plenty of thrifty margarine for spreading. For dessert, serve scoops of vanilla or New York ice cream between halves of chocolate pie cakes. The beverage—tipping glasses of iced tea or coffee.

GARDEN SOUFFLE

- 1 cup fatless margarine
- 1 cup crushed flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup vegetable liquor
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 cup carrot, sliced
- 1 cup cooked green peas
- 1/2 cup cream of tartar

Melt margarine in sauce pan over low heat. Add flour and salt and mix well. Add vegetable liquor and milk. Cook over medium heat until thick, stirring constantly. Add lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce and chopped chives. Beat egg yolks until light. Add some of the hot white sauce to the egg yolks and mix. Return egg yolk mixture to white sauce and stir well. Add carrots and peas. Beat egg whites until foamy, add cream of tartar and beat until stiff. Fold beaten whites into vegetable mixture. Pour into a margarine-dusted casserole. Bake 50 minutes in a 325 degree oven.

Yield: Serves 6.

Andrea Sendon, Francis McHenry Exchange Marriage Vows Saturday

Miss Andrea Sendon of Waco became the bride of Francis N. McHenry of Ranger Saturday, July 21 at 8 o'clock in the Saint Paul's Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Wm. Snyder Jr. reading the double ring ceremony from the bride's white satin covered prayer book.

Mrs. McHenry is the daughter of Professor and Mrs. A. K. Sendon of 1813 N. 13th Street, Waco and Mr. McHenry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McHenry of Ranger.

The marriage vows were exchanged before an altar flanked with tall containers of white gladioli and two large candelabra of seven tapers each. The altar candles were lighted by James W. Kilpatrick of Houston and Robert Stoltz of Greenville, Ohio.

Mrs. Tom Kee rendered music from the console and the choir with Bob Schmidt as Crucifer entered the church singing "Oh Perfect Love." The choir was under the direction of Miss Ruth Warner, and provided music during the ceremony and also rendered the seven-fold "Amen" at the close.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon net over taffeta with full gathered skirt and redingote of white Chantilly lace, fashioned with a light-fitted bodice, three quarter length sleeves and a stand up collar. The bodice was accented with a row of small white satin covered buttons, extending from the V-neck to the waist line. A veil of imported French illusion fell from a satin half-hat bordered with pearls. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, the gift of the groom.

She carried a white satin-covered prayer book topped with a white orchid and from which fell a cascade of satin streamers and stephanotis.

Mrs. Joe W. Robertson of Midland, sister of the groom was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length frock of dusty rose imported organza over taffeta, made with a full skirt, tight fitted bodice and stand-up pointed collar. Her opera pumps were of rose linen and she wore a wide-brimmed picture hat of the same color.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jerry Mangum of Conroe and Miss Joyce Copeland of Waco. They wore identical dresses and hats in darker shade of the same color as that of the matron. The attendants carried miniature parasols with clusters of pink rose buds.

The bride's mother wore a dress of ice-blue lace and crepe with matching hat and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a dusty pink lace and crepe with matching hat and accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

Morse, sister and brother-in-law of the bride extended the first greetings and the receiving line in the Drawing Room included the mothers of the bride and bridegroom and the wedding party.

The guests were registered by Mrs. Charles Waters of Lubbock. The bride's table was laid with an Italian cut-work cloth, centered with an arrangement of white asters and stephanotis, flanked by tall white tapers in silver candelabra. A three-tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride and groom. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles H. Collins, Mrs. King Bridges, Mrs. Waverly Johnson, Mrs. Roma King and Miss Maud Ellen Hawkins and Miss Waddel Haykel.

Sermon Topics For First Christian

Rev. A. Lynn Robbins, pastor of the local First Christian Church announces the following sermon topic for this Sunday morning worship hour at 11 a.m. "God's Plan for the Ages."

This sermon will be in the nature of explanation of the purpose and function of the New Testament church as designed by God for all ages. Much of the current division in Christendom has arisen because of man's efforts to fit the church to his interpretations of God's plan and it is the pastor's contention that we need to return to the original plan for the church. The entire service will be centered around the Lord's Supper so that each worshiper will be spiritually enriched by his participation in the service.

The Church School will meet prior to the morning service at 9:45 a.m. and there will be classes for all ages.

At the evening service at 8 p.m. the sermon topic will be: "The Meaning of Unanswered Prayer." This subject has always been one of concern to the Christian and non-Christian alike and an effort will be made to clear up the reasons why sometimes our prayers seemingly are not answered. The Christian Youth Fellowship with Mrs. B. G. Pirkle as sponsor, will meet at the church at 7 p.m.

The pastor states that you are extended a most cordial welcome to these and any services at the First Christian Church, where a friendly spirit prevails. The air conditioning keeps the church at a comfortable temperature these hot days and we urge that you come in informal summertime dress so as to fully enjoy the services together.

The First Christian Church is a small friendly church, where quality counts, serving Ranger with a genuine interest in the spiritual welfare of the town and its citizens.

Date For Revival September 2 - 9

The Fall Revival dates for the First Baptist Church has been set for Sept. 2 through the 9th. The pastor will do the preaching and the Educational Director, Mr. Bill Bullock, will have charge of the music and Young People's programs, being assisted by Ronald Pruet, Supt. of Young Peoples Sunday School Department and Bob Finley, Director of Young Peoples Training Union Department.

The city will be divided into zones and captains will be in charge of each zone. There will be 8 prayer meetings each night of the week preceding the revival.

All of the Christians of Ranger are asked to pray for this revival and to do everything possible to help make "our city" a city of Christian people. The committee on Evangelism composed of Lee Russell, Lloyd Bruce, G. B. Rush, Mrs. Lee Mitchell and Addie Williams will give guidance to the pre-revival program.

Church of Christ Sermon Subjects

We invite you to hear the following sermons at the Church of Christ:

Morning: "Well Doing." Evening: "Naaman the Leper."

We would also be very happy to have you attend our Bible classes which meet at 9:45 a.m. You will always find a welcome at the Church of Christ.

Rev. Jasper C. Masseege, pastor. The revival services will be held August 12 through the 19th with Rev. H. H. McBride, pastor of the First Baptist church of Breckenridge as preacher and H. O. Strother, Educational and Music director of the Breckenridge church as the song leader for the services.

"This is my Property—
... and I can prove it" was an announcement displayed on a signboard placed in front of a farm home which all motorists could see as they passed that way. As we read the words we wondered why it was necessary to have such a notice anyway. If this man really owned the place and could prove it, he had a good title, probably a title policy, both based on an abstract. No other proof or notice would be necessary.

Junior Choir To Sing Sunday Night

The morning services at the First Baptist Church will begin at 9:45 with Sunday School for each age group meeting by departments. Classes are arranged according to age grouping and teachers trained for the particular group in charge. There is a place in our Sunday School for each member of the family, according to Supt. C. B. Pruet.

The morning preaching hour will begin promptly at 10:50. There will be special reports from the building and finance committees. In the main the report will concern the heating and cooling units for the basement and main auditorium. The committee has gone as far as the church voted, and a Baptist Church being a "Democracy as well as a Theocracy" all business transacted must carry the approval of the "church body." The pastor will be in the pulpit at both services.

Training Union meeting at 7 in and organized into departments. There is a Union for each age group in the church. The Training Union is the training ground for Baptist work. All members are urged to attend regularly each program presented each Sunday evening.

The Junior Choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Clyde Harris, will present a special program at evening worship hour at 8. Jackie Ray Neely will sing, "A Way Far-ting Stranger," then a double duet composed of Ruth and Betty Miller, Linda Furgerson, and Jackie Ray Neely will sing, "Whispering Hope", and then the choir will have a special number. The public is always welcome at all services.

Visiting Minister At 1st Methodist

Rev. Frank Turner, director of the Wesley Foundation at John Tarleton College of Stephenville, will fill the local Methodist pulpit at both services on Sunday, July 22.

Rev. Turner is a popular preacher in this section of the country, and our people will have the opportunity of hearing two good messages. He will use for his subject at the morning service, "This Is Your Church." At the evening service, he will speak on the subject, "The Mission of the Master."

Church School will meet at the usual time with H. C. Henderson, general superintendent in charge. Our Church School attendance is holding up wonderfully well during the summer season, so we urge our people to keep our attendance record around the 200 mark during the season when loyalty to our church calls for our very best, states the superintendent.

In the absence of our regular organist, Miss Betty Reuser will play for the services of worship. She will use for her prelude, "A Rose-tree Hath Arisen," by Brahms. For the offertory Miss Reuser will play the old Irish Folk tune, "Londonderry Air." She has chosen for the postlude, "Arioso," by Handel. It is a pleasure to have Miss Reuser as organist for today's services.

The evening service will begin promptly at 7:45 with Arthur Deffebach in charge of the song service. The young people will be in their place in the choir to help out with the singing. After the service, the youth of the church will meet in the basement for recreation, refreshment, and the closing "Friendship Circle."

The pastor, who has been preaching in a revival in the Green's Creek Community near Dublin for the past ten days, will return home after the closing service there on Sunday evening.

Brownies Meet Tues. On Methodist Lawn

The Brownie Troops 6 and 7 will meet on the Methodist Church lawn Tuesday afternoon at 3 p.m. All members and prospective members are urged to come to this meeting and visitors are always welcome.

Double Trouble Still No Fire

READING, Pa., July 20 (UP)—Somebody should have asked the boys at Washington Fire Co., "where's the fire?"

When the alarm sounded yesterday, the crew dropped their cards and slid down the pole.

But the electrically operated doors wouldn't open because of a power failure. Somebody pulled a rope used to open the overhead lock. The rope broke.

Frantically a ladder was taken off the truck and someone climbed to the lock and chiseled it open.

House Defeats Farm Proposal

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)

The House shouted down a proposal to freeze farm prices where they are.

The action was on an amendment by Rep. Jacob J. Javits, R., N.Y.

A Republican-Southern Democrat coalition has rammed through several amendments to the controls bills which the administration says would force farm price ceilings up and maybe wreck price controls altogether.

But even administration leaders resentful as they are of the coalition's successes, argued against the Javits proposal. They said it would be unfair to the farmers.

So the amendment was shouted down with a thunderous chorus of "noes."

The House also defeated, 103 to 50, a proposal to ban price ceilings on tobacco while federal marketing and acreage quotas are in effect.

Other developments: Peg-Leg—Samuel D. Mason, who once carried $68,000 in his wooden leg, told Senate investigators that a mysterious pal named "Eungart" got most of the thousands he is accused of mulcting from gullible victims of an "influence" racket. Mason was not sure of the spelling of his pal's name, said he contacted him in Eungart went to Australia several months ago. Mason said he never tried to get leases on government buildings from officials in fulfillment of promises to two Greek Catholic priests and three other persons. When asked if he knew a government official, he replied that he knew "some jockeys." Mason also said he hadn't filed an income tax return since 1929. Senators said his testimony would be turned over to the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Crime—Francis L. Smith, who operated a concession on the Atlantic City Board Walk, told the Senate Crime Committee that he paid $250 to New Jersey State Sen. Frank S. Farley and $1,000 to Farley's aide, Joe McBeth, when he got his license. Smith said he was testifying despite a threat that he would be "rubbed out."

Committee Counsel Richard G. Moser said the threat was made indirectly by Joe Ryan, Atlantic City jewelry salesman, to a clerk in Smith's shop.

Flood Control—Sen. Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., D., Mo., said President Truman will ask Congress for money to build holding basins along the upper Missouri River. They would be designed to prevent another disastrous flood. Hennings said after a White House visit that he and the president agreed on trying to get the money immediately.

Air Bases—Assistant Air Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatrick said additional bases for the long-range bombers of the Strategic Air Command will be at Portsmouth, N. H.; Youngstown, O.; Friendship, Md.; Knoxville, Tenn.; Grandview, Mo., and Lancaster, Pa.

Politics—Democratic Congressmen who jump the party traces face a possible attempt by President Truman to whip them back into line.

Do Church People Live Here?

When we view this beautiful house with its elegant architectural lines, we are compelled to wonder... "whose house is that? Who was the builder? Do church people live there?" Perhaps it is a home?

It has been well said, "It takes a heap of living in a house to make it home." God is only interested in the kind of living it shelters... wholesome living, if you please. The Almighty wants all homes to be shelter in the time of storm; a haven of happiness and peace where His will is supreme; a place where love abounds and greedy selfishness is unknown.

Architects design houses. Builders put them together. But only the Lord of all the earth builds homes. Through teachings embodied in the church she challenges humanity to "drink of the waters of life and live"... live the wholesome kind of living which only is pleasing in His sight.

The church pictures to humanity the world's greatest designer of living... Jesus Christ, the Son of God. "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it," Psalms 127:1. Home implies mutual affection, gentleness, meekness, refinement, and a genuine forbearance. Who lives in the house you occupy? Are its occupants Christian or non-Christian? Have you asked the Lord to help build you a home? Attend your church regularly.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

Life is eternal without beginning or end is the theme of the Lesson-Sermon titled "Life" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, July 22. The Golden Text brings out that eternal life is the gift of God in these words: "The wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Romans 6:23).

To reap the benefits of eternal life, humanity must make a choice between good and evil, as seen in this verse from Deuteronomy: "I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing; therefore choose life, that both thou and they seed may live: That thou mayest love the Lord thy God, and that thou mayest obey his voice, and that thou mayest cleave unto him: for he is thy life, and the length of thy days." (The Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states, "God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality" (page 487).

Yul Brynner, who shaved his head with dog clippers to be Broadway's charm king: "I use them daily or I get 5 o'clock shadow on top."

Dizzy Dean Has Own Language

PLEASANTVILLE, N. Y. — One afternoon when Dizzy Dean was pitching for the St. Louis Cardinals, he ambled over to the Boston Braves' dugout before a game and drawled lazily to the hometown players: "Don't you fellas worry non about no curves this afternoon. Of Diz is throw'n just fast balls." Diz kept his word and pitched a three-hit, 1-0 victory.

Such anecdotes about this gifted athlete, who almost turned the national pastime into Disorganized Baseball, run through Ted Shane's story, "He's Dizziness—Jerome Herman Dean," condensed for August Reader's Digest from The American Mercury.

For six noisy, electric years, Diz crowned and bragged across the national scene, winning as many as 30 ball games in one season for the Cards. And all the while he managed to keep things in an uproar. In Cincinnati he put a cake of ice on home plate to cool it off from his fireball. Once he lit a fire in front of the dugout and warmed up before it in a blanket, pausing to utter loud warwhoops.

The Reader's Digest article tells how baseball washed Dean up at 27—stilled his mighty arm, but not his tongue. Diz became a radio broadcaster, and Dean grammar started tainting midwestern schoolbells. Millions had been sent to take "ain't" out of the national vocabulary, and Diz was putting it back. Moppets began conjugating the verb "stid, stid, stid," and "throw, throw, throw." Schoolteachers rose in wrath.

At first Diz reacted carelessly: "A lot of folks that ain't sayin' ain't ain't eatin'." But later, he said, "It was agreed them teachers would learn them kids English and I would learn them which is a ball and which is a strike, and vice versa."

Military Courts Deemed Unjust

PLEASANTVILLE, N. Y. — U. S. Military courts have meted out savage and unjust punishment in hundreds of cases, charges Prof. Arthur John Keeffe of Cornell University's Law School, in the current issue of The Reader's Digest.

"When a man is inducted into the armed forces he leaves behind almost all of the Constitutional safeguards which ordinarily protect him from a capricious police, or from a hasty or biased judge or jury," he declares.

"The Cornell professor of law states that in almost half or more than 2,000 cases brought before the board during his tenure as president, "we found flagrant miscarriages of justice and recommended radical reductions in sentence. The Army's clemency board likewise changed many thousands of punishments. Had such unnecessary misery had been caused, and many lives wrecked, before the review boards could do their work."

Professor Keeffe says the new Uniform Code of Military Justice passed by Congress last year is "a step in the right direction, but an unfortunately short one." He argues that "the appointment of courts, except in combat areas, and the initial review of trials in any case, should be taken out of the hands of commanding officers and turned over to an impartial authority." He also recommends the establishment of a Defense Counsel General to provide "proper representation for the young service men who want to make an appeal from his first trial and so often has no one to turn to. This country's tradition of law—designed to protect all our citizens—should not be withheld from the men who fight their country's battles."
