MISSISSIPPI BREAKS 107 YEAR RECORD IN FLOODING MISSOURI

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., July 23 (UP)—The highest Mississippi River flood crest in 107 years past this unprotected city today and muddy water erupt unhandled over a two-mile waterfront section.

Fifty families whose dwellings were invaded by the Mississippi fled their homes.

The river stood at 42 feet at 5:30 a.m. CST. It was expected to remain at about that level during the next two days, then slowly recede.

About one-third of the business district was under water, but several stores remained open for business.

The first two streets paralleling the river were flooded.

The city with a population of 21,500 has no levees to keep the waters of the Mississippi at bay.

"There isn't much we can do," one resident said. "We know the crest is coming and we just let it come."

Two feet of water covered the first floor of the Montgomery Ward store, but the management kept the store open for business by directing customers up an improvised ramp to the second floor.

A miniature dike was built around the Woolworth store, to hold back some of the water. Planks were laid between counters to keep customers off the flooded floors.

The city was the last major population center in the path of the Mississippi crest as it swept toward the Gulf of Mexico.

To the north, Army Engineers said that 26,500 acres of farmland were in critical danger of flooding.

Recurring weak spots in the Chouteau Island levee on the Illinois side of the Mississippi opposite St. Louis were plugged by 400 volunteers who joined 300 soldiers fighting to bolster the dike.

The levee protects 3,000 acres of farmland.

The record crest swept past St. Louis yesterday at 4:28 p.m., the highest since 1844, leaving damage estimated at $15,000,000 including $3,000,000 to industry along the water front.

At Perry County, Mo., about 20 miles of here, a force of 900 workers fought to reinforce levees protecting 23,500 acres of farmland on the Missouri side of the river.

A 24-hour patrol was established along a 36-mile stretch of the river between Mitchell and Dupont, Ill.

Officials said the bottomland area would remain in a critical danger spot until the river level dropped to at least 37 feet.

The death toll in the Missouri-Kansas-Illinois area attributed to the floods rose to 40 when Capt. Girardeau police reported that Roy McCombs was missing and presumed drowned after he disappeared while swimming in the flood waters covering Williams Street.

For the most part, residents of Cape Girardeau said they were pretty resigned to the recurring floods which have plagued this city.

"We're getting used to it," one police officer said. "There's always talk about building a levee when the floods come, but after they're gone it all dies down again."

"But I think after this one, they'll do something about it. We're getting pretty fed up with it."

Transportation in the downtown area was provided by water taxis which customarily are put into service during times of flood.

Overall estimates of damage in the three-state flood were set at $1,000,000,000, with most of it caused by the rampaging Missouri River which later poured into the Mississippi swelling it to flood stage.

Most of metropolitan St. Louis escaped the murky flood waters, with damage confined for the most part to the river front area. However, 50,000 acres of land at the juncture of the Missouri and Mississippi were flooded.

River traffic was halted when water crept into operating machinery on the main river lock at Alton, Ill.

The twin cities of Kansas City, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo., which bore the brunt of the "Black Friday" the 13th overflow of the Missouri and Kansas Rivers, were hard at work cleaning up the muck left by the receding waters.

Oil and gasoline fires still burned where the flood had shattered storage tanks.

Fire Rages In Llano County

LLANO, July 23 (UP)—Wearry firefighters hoped to extinguish a rancid fire today which had already blackened an estimated 10,000 acres of brush, cedar and grass.

The fire, in its fourth day, raged in secluded canyons south of Llano. Scores of volunteers were unable to get Jeeps and their fighting equipment into the rugged country.

Deputy Sheriff Sid Smith said bulldozers and water trucks were controlling the blaze in open country. "But it looks like it'll just have to burn itself out in the draws," he said.

Smith estimated that 300 ranchers, cowboys and businessmen had fought the fire since it started Friday on the Hudson Fowler Ranch.

The flames quickly spread to adjoining ranches, feeding on tinder-dry vegetation. They moved within 12 miles of Llano but Smith said the town was protected by open land between it and the fire.

The area is sparsely settled. Smith said there were only six houses on 45,000 acres in south eastern portion of the county and none of them were threatened.

"What we need is water," he said. "We haven't had any rain to speak of since spring."

The area hit by fire is famed for its whitetail deer. Smith said many of the deer died to safety before the flames but "there's no doubt that a number didn't escape."

Reds Expected To Back Down

By ROBERT C. MILLER United Press Staff Correspondent UN ADVANCE BASE BELOW KAESONG, KOREA, July 23 (UP) United Nations cease-fire negotiators returned to this base today amid indications that the Reds may back down on their demand for immediate withdrawal of UN troops from Korea.

Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy and four other members of the UN negotiating team landed in five helicopters from Seoul to stand by for the ninth truce meeting with the Communists.

The conference was recessed Saturday until 11 a.m. Wednesday (9 p.m. Tuesday EDT) to give the Reds time to reconsider the Allies' flat refusal to make the withdrawal of UN troops from Korea a condition of an armistice.

Joy agreed to the recess, out said the UN team would be ready to resume the talks sooner if the Communists desired.

A giant crane today crashed through the steel girders of the Injin River Pontoon Bridge over which the UN Peace Party normally crosses on the way to Kaesong. It tore a 50-foot gap in the span, but engineers said that the bridge would be open again tomorrow.

Should a Communist call come in the meantime the negotiators could travel by helicopter.

Chief UN negotiator Joy and two other members of the Allied team, Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie and Rear Admiral Arleigh Burke, spent the week end in Tokyo conferring with Supreme UN Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodess and South Korean Maj. Gen. Paik Sun Yup, the other two allied negotiators, remained in Seoul.

The Chinese Communist mouth piece Ta Kung Pao, suggested that the Communists may withdraw their demand for withdrawal of "foreign" troops from Korea as part of an armistice.

Although Peiping and Peking, the Communist capitals, remained silent, Ta Kung Pao indicated the Reds do not intend to let the cease-fire talks break down over this key issue.

It said the troop withdrawal issue would not cause pessimism and predicted: "Better news will come after the three-day recess."

Moreover, the newspaper, said the Chinese and North Koreans are "using all their power to struggle for an armistice and are determined that an armistice should be accomplished."

Barn Burns At Dallas Zoo

DALLAS, July 23 (UP)—Zoo goers saw a red hot sideshow yesterday—a large barn stacked with hay for animals burned as hundreds looked on.

Ban On Use Of Natural Gas In New Homes

WASHINGTON, July 23 (UP)—A proposed petroleum administration for defense ban against using natural gas in new homes would "threaten the sovereignty of the state of Texas," Gov. Allan Shivers was told today.

In a telegram to the Texas governor, H. Leigh Whitlaw, Managing Director of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, said the order would "unnecessarily duplicate a function now capably performed by your own state regulatory body."

Whitlaw said the ban was unnecessary because "states have long demonstrated their ability to issue regulatory orders whenever necessary to the public interest."

Body Found In Dallas Creek

DALLAS, July 23 (UP)—The body of a man identified as Leonie A. Raney, 47, of Dallas, was found floating in White Rock Creek yesterday by two fishermen. Homicide officers believed Raney had been dead about five days. They said there apparently was no foul play connected with his death.

Waitress Kills Partner After "Doing Town"

HOUSTON, July 23 (UP)—A 24-year-old nightclub waitress, Mrs. Nelma Frederick, was free on a $750 bond today after the fatal shooting of 26-year-old Lee Andrew Sears with whom she had "made the town" a few hours before the killing.

Sears was shot with a .22 caliber rifle as he stood near a cab in a bar and they made a night of it before going to his cabin, where they drank beer. She said an argument broke out.

She said Sears accused her of taking some money from him and grabbed $80 from her purse. According to her statement, Sears struck her several times with his fist, then she went to her husband's home, got a .22 rifle and returned to Sears' cabin.

She said she went in and asked him to give her the money he had taken out of her purse and he refused.

Mrs. Frederick told police she walked to the taxi that had brought her to the cabin from her home and Sears followed her. She said she got the rifle and shot him when he got about three feet from the cab.

The taxi driver then drove Mrs. Frederick to the police station where she surrendered.

She was charged in justice of the peace D. F. Thompson's court with murder. Her bond was set at $750 and a few hours later she was released. One of the bondsmen was her husband.

Spain Will Send Students To US

WASHINGTON, July 23 (UP)—Spain will send 23 military students to the United States to study at Annapolis and West Point.

The Defense Department, confirming reports that such a plan was in the works, refused to reveal how many Spanish youths would study in this country or how they would be divided between the two service academies.

However, informed sources said the students probably would be part of a program now being set up under which students of various North Atlantic Pact Nations will train at the schools.

The action was viewed as one of the early results of talks held in Madrid between the late Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, Chief of Naval Operations and Gen. Francisco Franco.

ALL SET TO RETURN TO US AS SECOND HEART ATTACK HITS

By Daniel Gilmore United Press Staff Correspondent NAPLES, Italy, July 23 (UP)—A special plane was ordered today to fly the body of Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, Chief of Naval Operations, to the United States for a hero's burial.

The plane is expected to arrive in Washington sometime tomorrow.

Sherman, 54, died of coronary thrombosis in his wife's arms in their suite in the Excelsior Hotel here yesterday. He had suffered one heart attack earlier in the day and a second killed him.

The "Flying Admiral's" body, wrapped in an American flag, was taken immediately to the Mt. Olympus, command ship of Admiral Robert B. Carney, commander of the Atlantic Fleet Forces in South-eastern Europe.

A memorial service was scheduled to be held aboard the Mt. Olympus today. It was believed the body would be transferred to the waiting plane soon afterward for

SS Representative To Be In Ranger

Mr. Glen McNatt, Field Representative of the Aides' office of the Social Security Administration, will be at the Retail Merchants Association Office in Ranger at 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 25. Persons wishing assistance with retirement claims or death claims under the Social Security Act, or needing information about their social security accounts, should call at that time for necessary help and information.

Mr. McNatt called attention to the fact that the wife of a retired worker may receive social security benefits before she is age 65 provided she has in her care a child entitled to benefits based on her husband's social security account. The wife's benefit is one-half of the amount of her husband's benefit.

"Children" include adopted and step-children. For a child to qualify the wage earner must have been married to the child's mother three years before the day on which her application is filed. Also the wife must be "living with" her husband.

The benefit of a wife under 65 terminates if her marriage to the wage earner is ended by divorce or when the child arrives at age 18, marries or dies. At the time the claim is filed the wife must submit proof of marriage.

The Defense Department, confirming reports that such a plan was in the works, refused to reveal how many Spanish youths would study in this country or how they would be divided between the two service academies.

Man Injured On McCarthy Ranch

HOUSTON, July 23 (UP)—Douglas Raymond Beddingfield, 15-year-old son of an oil executive, was reported resting well at Hermann Hospital today after being accidentally shot during a hunting trip on oilman Glenn H. McCarthy's ranch near Uvalde.

Young Beddingfield was shot in the leg when a shotgun accidentally discharged as he picked it up. Glenn McCarthy, Jr., his hunting companion drove him back to the ranch house. He was taken to Uvalde and later brought to Houston.

The accident occurred Friday afternoon while the two boys were hunting.

Young Beddingfield is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Beddingfield. The father is division manager of the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company.

Boyce House Visits Here

Boyce House of Fort Worth was visiting in Ranger Saturday. Mr. House was here to attend the Jaycee Rodeo before leaving on an extended vacation and speaking tour.

Mr. House was recently honored in Ranger on Boyce House day when he released his latest book "Roaring Ranger".

the flight to Washington. Mrs. Sherman remained beside her husband's body aboard the Mt. Olympus for two hours yesterday, then took off for the United States in the plane that was to have taken them both back home. It is due in Washington at 11 a.m. EDT.

"He died just as he had lived—fortright and brave," Mrs. Sherman said during a brief stop in Madrid last night. "He died of overwork and exhaustion."

Death came just as Sherman finished his week-long mission to Europe, during which he laid the groundwork for a U. S. Spanish alliance against Communism.

Spanish Foreign Minister Alberto Martin Arzajo told newsmen in Madrid that the defense talks inaugurated by Sherman would "continue unchanged even though he has now gone."

In Washington, speculation on a probable successor to Sherman as Chief of Naval Operations centered on Carney and the only other three full Admirals in the U. S. Navy.

Admiral L. D. McCormick, vice-chief of Naval Operations and designated acting chief pending selection of a successor; Admiral Arthur W. Radford, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, and Admiral William M. Fechteler, commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet and U. S. Representative on the North Atlantic Ocean Regional Planning Group. All are 65.

Although the Pacific Command frequently is a stepping stone to the CNO post, Radford's prospects for stepping into Sherman's shoes may be dimmed somewhat by the fact he took part in the "Admiral's revolt" against armed forces unification and the Air Force's B-36 bomber program.

The revolt led to the removal of Admiral Louis Denfeld as CNO and Sherman's own appointment to the post in November 1949 over the heads of nine other admirals who sought to him in rank. Sherman smoothed the Navy's ruffled feelings and made it a cooperative member of the nation's unified armed services.

President Truman, in paying tribute to Sherman, recalled that the Admiral had become head of the Navy "at a critical moment."

"He deserves tremendous credit both for lifting the morale of the Navy and coordinating the operation of all the Armed Services," Mr. Truman said.

Sherman had arrived in Naples from London only Saturday to wind up his European tour. He had conferred with Generalissimo Francisco Franco in Spain, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Paris and with British and American officials in London.

Besides his wife, he leaves an only child, Elizabeth Ann, now the wife of Lt. Cmdr. Julian Fitzpatrick, former U. S. Naval Attaché in Madrid. Fitzpatrick boarded Mrs. Sherman's plane to console her during the plane's brief stopover in the Spanish capital.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

U. S. Steps Forward With New Middle East Foreign Policy

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A new American foreign policy with respect to the Middle East is now taking shape. It involves not only continued, but increased military and economic aid to Greece, Turkey and Iran. For the first time, it will include equal grants to Israel and the Arab states for military assistance, refugee relief and economic aid.

Military assistance for the Middle East is estimated at $415 million. No country-by-country breakdown of this arms aid has been made public. But an estimated 10 per cent or over $40 million is to be earmarked for the Israel-Arab area.

The new Mid-East policy has been developed out of the Council of Foreign Ministers' meeting in London in May, 1950. At that time the United States, Britain and France agreed on a resolution authorizing the Arab nations and Israel to procure arms for internal security and area defense, but not for an arms race nor for aggression against neighboring states.

There was no Korean war at that time. Plenty of arms were available for purchase. Today, under world-wide rearmament, there are shortages. The three-power policy has therefore been changed. Arms aid is to be allocated to these Middle East countries on condition they accept the terms under which the assistance is offered, with guarantees against aggression.

EMERGENCE of this new policy creates a different situation in an area where it has frequently been said that the United States has no policy. While American oil companies have concessions in Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Bahrain and Iraq, the U. S. government in the past kept its hands off. It was a British sphere of influence.

Gradually, the United States has become more and more involved. The steps can be easily traced. First it was through World War II supply lines to Russia. Then it was U. S. opposition to Russia's attempted grab of northern Iran. Then it was the Truman Doctrine of military assistance to Greece and Turkey—now in its third year.

The U. S. has tried to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil nationalization dispute. The United States has had police and military training missions in Iran.

Point Four technical assistance agreements have been made with most of the countries in the Middle East, though Syria has temporarily at least refused to accept this proffered aid. A UN economic survey mission, headed by Tennessee Valley Authority Chairman Gordon Clapp has made extensive recommendations for resettling the 800,000 Arab refugees and for building up the economy of the area.

All this effort has paid off only in part. Communist aggression and revolution have been put down in Greece, Turkey and Greece have contributed troops who have fought well in Korea. But in the Arab countries there is still much resentment against the United States. There is a strong feeling of neutralism in most Arab countries.

NO breakdown of the half-billion-dollar economic assistance proposed for this Middle Eastern area has been made, pending presentation of the estimates to Congress. A few items can, however, be revealed.

In addition to the $25 million U. S. Export-Import Bank loan authorized for Iran last October, another $25 million grant to Iran is proposed.

For the Arab-Israel area, $100 million in economic aid is proposed. Fifty million dollars of this will go towards resettlement of the 800,000 Arab refugees. This is to cover the building of roads, houses and irrigation projects to make the area self-sustaining.

A $25 million grant to Israel is proposed for the development of agricultural resources. Israel had asked for more assistance.

KILLER'S PACE

BY JULIUS LONG
COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Star Williams tracks a jury into acquitting Rose Bidault on a murder charge, but his stunt is exposed and now he faces dishonor. Rose had confided to me, Jim Marshall, Star's leg-man, after her acquittal, that her story of the accidental killing of her husband was false, but she had told it to protect Larry Stone, who she says is innocent. I go back to see Rose but find her murdered and I am forced to kill a burglar in her house.

XII
STAR WILLIAMS stared at me through gimlet eyes while I told of my experiences during the afternoon. "I think it would be a good idea to check on the Prater Hermetically Sealed Vault Company," he said.

"Got any idea why Larry Stone phoned you?"
"No. I phoned him back just now and he denied that he had made the call. Said somebody else must have used his name."

I grimaced. "McNamara, of course. McNamara stopped him from contacting you as he had planned. I wonder why he wanted to in the first place. I'm also wondering some other things about Stone. When he mentioned Rose Bidault this noon, he said: 'She got around.' And when I tried to scare him by saying she could tell her story, he came back with: 'Oh, can she?' I wonder if he knew Rose was already dead and how he knew."

Star shrugged. "I don't put much stock in mixed tenets. People are careless with their grammar. Stone's use of the past tense may not mean a thing. And, by the way, Max Feldstein just phoned that Tanner's filed the disbarment petition against me."

"Well, he didn't lose any time. He's out to get you, Star. You've made a monkey out of him too many times."

STAR smiled wryly. "He may nail me this time. With Rose Bidault living it would have been hard enough to prove her innocent. Now that she's dead it may be impossible. I wonder who could have made things so tough for me."

I studied. "Larry Stone is my bet. With Rose dead nobody can testify that he was with her the night of Barney's murder. I can't testify, because anything I could say would be hearsay. Right?"

"Right. Rose's death puts Stone in the clear. But I can't quite believe it's that simple. Now, I wonder why that prowl was there if he wasn't after money or jewelry."

"I'm sure I don't know, but I am sure he didn't murder her. I'd rather peg Dave Grafton." Star eyed me in puzzlement. I hadn't told him about Grafton following me, so I explained.

"Grafton will squawk to the police about your being there."

"That's all right—I told Merica I was."

"And he'll believe it's only because Grafton knew about it anyway. You may have some fast talking to do."

I shrugged. "You haven't said what you think about Dave Grafton for the job."

"Dave's not the type. I've known him for years. He'd steal the gold out of his clients' teeth, but he'd get a court order for it first. He'd never commit a crime of violence."

Star still shook his head. "No, Jim. Even if Dave pulled a few fast ones with the estate, he'd cover himself up. He's mighty shrewd, that boy. His brains made Barney Bidault the wealthy man he was. Barney made all his money by backing somebody else with an idea. If the idea flopped, Barney dropped it cold. If it turned out hot, Barney ran to Dave Grafton, who figured out some way to steal the idea from Barney's partner. Dave usually came through. He wouldn't miss on something like gutting Barney's estate. He would do it legally and with no cause for murder."

"Maybe so. I still think you ought to get an accounting in the estate."

Star eyed me wanly. "I don't know how I can—I'm not an interested party. But I'll put a bug in the probate judge's ear, though I think you're barking up the wrong tree."

The inter-office unit came alive, and Kitty Coyle announced: "Inspector Merica calling."

WHEN Merica came in he took a chair near my own and frowned across the desk at Star.

"The coroner did a quick post and established the time of Rose Bidault's death. Right about noon, maybe 15 minutes one way or another, but 12 o'clock noon is just about it. This leg-man of yours, admits being there at about that time."

"I didn't admit it, Inspector. I told it of my own free will. The girl was alive and well when I checked out. There's something else I forgot to mention. Dave Grafton drove up as I was leaving. He wanted to see Rose about something. I told him she'd knocked herself out and to come back some other time. Grafton followed me downtown a few blocks. I don't remember exactly how far."

"Eight blocks. I've had a call from Grafton. He told me you were higher than a kite when you left the Bidault house."

"Then Grafton's a liar. I had some drinks, but I wasn't that high. What's Grafton trying to gain by that kind of talk?"

"I wonder." Merica looked away from me. "You don't have to tell me, Mr. Williams? We can't hold Jim Marshall until we get more on him than that. Frankly, I don't think he skewed that girl with that pair of scissors. But there's something funny about the guy he cooled. The guy was Rod LaGrange, a tough boy."

Hurley Put Jacobs in Business; May Launch Another Promoter

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—In the fall of 1933, Jack Hurley refused to accept Baby Joe Gans as a substitute opponent for Billy Petrolle at Madison Square Garden.

James J. Johnston, 36th matchmaker, quibbled about $260, Petrolle's expense.

The result was the matching of Petrolle with Barney Ross for the Free Milk Fund for Babies at the Bronx Coliseum, Jan. 24, 1934.

The Fund put in Michael Strauss Jacobs as a front man. Ross and Petrolle turned them away, and Mike Jacobs, the old Broadway ticket scalper, was off on his spectacular career as a promoter.

Three years later, and with Joe Louis, Jacobs' 20th Century Sporting Club took over boxing at the Garden.

So Hurley, the only old-line handler left, put Jacobs in business, and he may launch another promoter with Harry Matthews.

Matthews, 28, the stylish knockerout, has been boxing 13 years, but has appeared in New York just once.

On that occasion, he decisively defeated Irish Bob Murphy last March 2, in the most savagely-fought engagement of the indoor season.

HURLEY wanted to know if that would lead to Ezzard Charles.

No, that one was set, too.

Hurley offered to have Matthews whack Murphy again by way of earning the right to a chance at Maxim.

Hurley suggested that Matthews be paired with the winner of the Rex Layne-Rocky Marciano engagement, but other plans had been consummated, the goal of that victor being, of course, the Charles-Louis survivor.

So Hurley gave up the International Boxing Club as a bad job, and decided to confine Matthews' activities to such places as Milwaukee, Boise, Portland and Seattle until next summer.

Matthews can keep himself and Hurley in ham and eggs and then some in the wild and woolly west. He grossed $27,335 with one Bill Peterson in Boise the other night. He would do more than $100,000 with Layne there.

Jack Hurley promises to show Harry Matthews in New York, or one of the more important eastern centers, next summer, even if he has to furnish his own promoter.

A promoter is no better than what he has to promote, and Harry Matthews is Grade A.

PLUG 'N TRIGGER

United Press Outdoors Consultant
Current indications point to a heavy outbreak of trichomoniasis in mourning doves this summer.

State conservation departments are co-operating with one another in the study and investigation of this dread disease among the South's second most important game bird.

The disease usually does not reach peak proportions until late summer, but in Alabama the doves have been dying in alarming numbers.

Current reports now being investigated by Alabama officials indicate that this year's die-off may be even greater than that which occurred last year when the disease took a disastrous toll of doves in 43 of that state's 67 counties.

The extent and full effect of this disease can be determined only if the public is alerted to its symptoms and its threat to one of the section's most important game birds.

Cause of the disease is a parasite known as trichomonas gallinae, which forms a large yellowish swelling in the upper part of the dove's throat, making it impossible for the birds to eat properly. A loss of weight ensues and eventual death from starvation follows.

Spokesmen and others who love the mourning dove and are interested in the preservation of this noble bird can help in the intensive study being made of this mortality.

If your activities take you afield, be on the alert for dead or sickly doves and report them immediately to the state Game and Fish Commission at Austin, or your nearest Game Warden.

The feeding habits, brooding characteristics and migratory nature of the dove are disadvantages of extreme seriousness in an outbreak of this kind.

The future of dove hunting in parts of the south, and especially in the southeast, appear dark if the full possible effect of this dread disease is realized.

Hot, dry summer weather is having its effect on fishing in north Texas. Early morning and late evening and night fishing are the most effective periods at this time of season, with deep trolling soon to come in for its share of the spotlight.

Deep running lures capable of attaining depths of 30 to 40 feet as well as the metal and leaded trolling lines will soon become popular in deep water lakes.

Petain Dies In Island Exile

ILE D'YEU, France, July 23 (UP) — Former Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, hero of Verdun in World War I and Vichy collaborator with the Nazis in World War II, died dishonored today on this windswept isle off the Atlantic coast.

He will be buried on the island, where he had lived a prisoner for his last six years under a life treason sentence.

Christian Lobut, Prefect of the Vendee Department on the mainland who is in charge for the government, said that the 95-year-old soldier's gravestone would be inscribed.

"Henri Philippe Petain, no profession,"

Petain's family are arranging a Roman Catholic funeral service for him in the little Notre Dame Church here before he is buried in the walled island cemetery.

Rita Returns To Her Studio

HOLLYWOOD, July 23 (UP) — While she waits for Aly Khan to decide what to do about her "condition" for postponing her divorce, Rita Hayworth has gone back to being a breadwinner for herself and two daughters.

The actress reported to Columbia Studio during the week end and posed for portraits in the studio's still-photograph salon.

"Welcome Home, Rita" signs decorated the salon when she showed up on the picture lot for the first time in three years.

Californian Has New Lucky Piece

BURBANK, Calif., July 23 (UP) — Tafton Spierling, 42, had a new kind of "lucky" piece today, a jagged fragment of steel surgeons removed from his heart.

The fragment was imbedded in Spierling's heart several weeks ago when it flew from a metal cutting machine in a Bakersfield, Calif., salvage yard where he was working.

The impact knocked him six feet and almost killed him. He was treated at a Bakersfield Hospital for six weeks before doctors felt it was safe to bring him to St. Joseph's Hospital here for surgery.

A Thoracic Surgeon probed the metal from his heart by working in rhythm with his beating. Hospital attendants said Spierling would be discharged from the hospital soon.

1063 Traffic Deaths In Texas

AUSTIN, July 23 (UP) — Traffic deaths on Texas Highways are occurring at virtually the same rate as last year, the Department of Public Safety reported today.

Fatalities for the first six months of 1951 totaled 1,063 compared to 1,070 in the same period last year.

However, the Department of Public Safety said this year's death total was incomplete and estimated that when final reports are received, 1951 will show a three per cent increase over last year.

During June, 148 persons lost their lives in Texas traffic accidents, compared to 169 in June, 1950.

"This is my Property—
... and I can prove it" was an announcement displayed on a signboard placed in front of a farm home which all motorists could see as they passed that way. As we read the words we wondered why it was necessary to have such a notice anyway. If this man really owned the place and could prove it, he had a good title, probably a title policy, both based on an abstract. No other proof or notice would be necessary.

First Baptist Church Will Install Central Heating and Cooling Unit

The First Baptist Church voted in a called conference Sunday morning to further improve their property by installing a central heating and cooling unit for their main building.

The church had already entered into a remodeling job in their large basement. The work was begun some five weeks ago. This remodeling will make available 14 class rooms, 2 large assembly rooms, a kitchen and the church offices.

The heating unit will be ready for the first cold spell of the winter, according to the building committee. Each area of the church will have approximately the same degree of heat. The same is true during the summer months in that the refrigerated air will be maintained without noise or draft in the auditorium. When the present work is completed, it will make the main building one of the best equipped buildings in this section of the state, reports one of the committee.

The main building consists of a beautiful auditorium that will accommodate a crowd of some 650 people. There will become 25 class rooms, church offices, library, kitchen, a fellowship hall, and three large assembly rooms.

The Sunday School and Training Union departments are at the present using the two annexes for their programs, and the Presbyterian church and manse. The church has a resident membership of some 900 members according to the church records.

Royal Ambassador Camp To Convene

Several hundred boys between the ages of 9 and 16 will assemble at Lueders Baptist Encampment on Tuesday evening at 6 for their supper and then the opening program of their encampment. Each year between 500 and 700 boys attend this Royal Ambassador Encampment.

W. C. Ribble, of Hardin-Simmons is District R. A. Counselor, and has for a number of years built a special program for these boys.

Each group of boys will have a sponsor from their own church and will participate in religious and athletic programs. Vesper services, campfire sing-song services, youth pastors and nice clean cabins to sleep in will be only a few of the attractions for these boys.

Larry Cunningham, assistant coach at Abilene will be in charge of athletics, swimming, etc.

Rev. Sterling Price of University Church, Abilene, will be camp pastor. Other pastors appearing on the program are: C. F. Powell, Sweetwater; Poe Allen, Merkel; Bob Harris, Abilene; Dr. J. D. Adair, returned missionary from Africa, and many others.

Each boy will need to take his linens, swim trunks, etc. The total cost for the week will be five dollars. Several boys are going from First Baptist Church and those interested should call the church office.
