MUSIC DEPARTMENT AT RJC PREPARES FOR BIG YEAR

The Music Department of Ranger Junior College, according to Dr. Grover C. Boswell, President of the Institution, has increased its staff by adding another teacher, and is preparing for the most extensive year in the twenty-six year history of the school.

Hardin-Simmons, with both bachelor and master degrees, and director of the local high school band, is teaching sophomore theory. A former member of the Cowboy band HSU, he is also prominent among the dance band groups in this area. He has, in the past, been associated with numerous of the name band units. It is hoped that a small combo unit can be formed so that those desiring this type of training can have the advantage of the vast experience Mr. Gans has had, both in performance and in arranging for these units.

Included in the faculty is Mr. Charles Kiker, prominent musician of the Southwest, and former concert artist who heads the piano and organ divisions of the department. The annual concert recital, with Mr. Kiker at the organ is one of the highlights of an active musical season, and one to which the students look forward. At concerts, in recitals, or in programs, the pupils of Charles Kiker never fail to rank with the best in their class. Ranger Junior College feels fortunate, indeed, to be able to offer their students the opportunity to study with as good a master teacher as is available in any school of music. A graduate of SMU, Mr. Kiker has studied with Van Katwig and Gotsdolsky, and others.

Music Program Intensified At Ranger Schools

All students in Ranger High School will have an opportunity to become members of a Choral Club this year. The choral group will meet from 11:30 to 12:00 four days a week. Mrs. Addie Harris will be choral director. An intensified music program will be given in both Young and Hodges Oak. Grades 4, 5 and 6 will be included in this program. Tonet Band, Sight Reading and choral work will be stressed in the grade schools. Mrs. Harris will also have charge of this program in both schools.

MOTORIST MUST DO THEIR PART TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS

With the opening of school just around the corner the people of this school district should be thinking about the precautions that they will use in the operation of their motor vehicles to insure the safety of these school children.

chancal devices to help improve vision in bad weather, the chances of accidents are greatly increased. The school buses that the schools operate to transport the children living in rural areas, present another problem for the motorist to be thinking about. These buses carry the most valuable property in the world to and from their places of education. All precaution must be taken to see that they get there safely.

REDS CLAIM VIOLATION—Chinese litter bearers carry a wounded comrade down a road in the Kaesong neutrality zone. The wounded man is one involved in an ambush. Red troops have accused UN forces of violating the neutrality zone, but no UN forces were in the area at the time. Partisans of either side are believed responsible for the attack. (NEA Telephoto.)

FLYING SAUCER? NO JUST FLYING FOOTBALLS AUG. 27

Just a note to you folks that will be around the football stadium August 27, those little oblong articles you will see floating around in the air are not flying saucers—just flying footballs.

When the fall training officially opens you will see such familiar faces on the field as Comacho, Barnes, Cantrell, Hargraves, Varner, Justice, Cois, Hagwell, Massagee, and Tane. All these boys are returning lettermen from last year's squad in addition to those who are returning from last year's "B" team. Among those boys will be Billy Moreland, back, 145; Hill Brazda, end, 160; Hill Browning, back, 140; Lee Hill, tackle, 195; John Kush, center, 145; and Jack Allen, back, 149. Browning, Hill, Kush and Allen are all former members of the undefeated, united, and unscathed Junior High team of last year.

New York, St. Louis Posts May Be Open to Hornsby

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

CHICAGO—(NEA)—Bill Veeck offered Rogers Hornsby the management of the Browns, but Emil Sick, the Seattle owner, wouldn't let the Rajah go.

Sources in Seattle say the greatest of all right-hand hitters will next spring again take over the St. Louis job he once held.

More interesting is a report from San Francisco that Hornsby will manage the Yankees next trip.

This comes from a close friend of Casey Stengel. Stengel can have the Yankee job as long as he cares to and doesn't finish out of first place too often.

But the inimitable Old Case is 62, a millionaire, and his health hasn't been too robust.

If the fusesee Bombers once more bounce down in front, it wouldn't surprise those close to the situation if Magician Stengel called it a career.

What better time to step out than after winning three straight in as many outings? He doesn't figure to do much better.

Those who knew the conservative Yankees of Ed Barrow's years might be shocked at the selection of Hornsby.

But the naming of Hornsby would be no more unusual than Del Webb choosing Stengel.

UNTIL Stengel put the Yankees back on their pins, the frustrated dentist was regarded as little more than a baseball comedian noted for laughing off bad clubs.

The fact was that until Old Case hit New York, he never had a good one in the majors.

Owner Webb is a far westerner, likes western ways and people. He watched Stengel in Kansas City and Oakland, knew right where to turn when it was time for a change. To date there hasn't been a flaw in the contractor's judgment.

What kept Hornsby out of organized baseball for some years had nothing to do with his ability. Hornsby's one glaring fault was the ponies and what they led to.

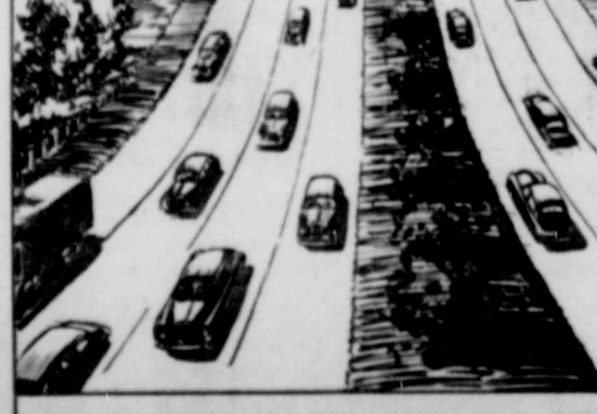

He had tremendous success with the Yankees' Beaumont farm last season, where he further developed Gil McDougald, the versatile freshman luminary of the parent club. Now he has Seattle out in front, and other youngsters ready for big time.

It would be a pleasure to see Rogers Hornsby back in the majors where there is room for his baseball brain.

KILLER'S PACE
BY JULIUS LONG

XXVIII
I KNEW that the phony drunk would be the driver of the car that had carried Ted Delaney, the man I shot on Fountain Parkway. There had been four in the bank holdup and the remaining half of the mob was here in person to settle accounts.

The cutie behind the bar screamed when she saw the blue-steeled revolver in the hand of the man behind me. I had seen it first. I wasn't meant to have a chance this time. I was to take a slug in the back while a phony drunk got me in a brawl. It was a tribute to my talent with a gun—but I wasn't taking any bows, I hoped.

I threw my empty beer bottle at the man's gun hand, and though the bottle crashed into the barrel, it did not break, and the man did not drop the gun. Then I hit the floor and hit hard, for the phony drunk had hit me with something too hard to be his fist. I rolled over so that I could get the 380 out of my pocket. It stuck. I yanked for dear life and rolled real quick, for the man with the revolver had it back in play.

It belched orange-yellow flame as I rolled. I saw the thing kick in his hand and come down for a second shot. I felt the 380 go off in my own hand, and that was the first time I really knew that I had it out of my pocket. Another gun, one with an entirely different sound, went off at close range, and I was shooting in the direction of the sound. Then I was aware that my gun was the only one going off, and then it wasn't shooting any longer, for there was a final, decisive click. I slept a little.

Somebody yelled: "Get a doctor! They're all dyin'!"

There were two lumps on the floor in front of the bar. I got to my feet and fell right down again.

Nanabarro. If he was going to snatch somebody, where would he hide him?"

Her brow furrowed. "He has a lodge at Willow Lake." That's all I got out of her except directions after we reached Willow Lake.

I cut the motor about 50 yards away from the Wee-Inn, Nanabarro's lodge. We parked. I reached over and took Sonya's handbag. The little .25 caliber automatic that had caused all the trouble was there and it was loaded too.

"I never thought I'd go gunning with one of these babies. Come on—you go first."

WE rounded the lodge to the lake side. When I saw Star's sedan parked beside another big car that must have been Nanabarro's, I knew I had guessed right. Nanabarro had picked up Star, all right.

"Walk right in!" I whispered to Sonya. She did this coolly enough. "Hello, everybody!"

I moved in right behind her. Nanabarro's man Friday, Lou, had started toward Sonya.

"Hold it!" I snapped. He held it. I moved on in. It was a big room with a dead fireplace. Two davenportes faced each other in front of the fireplace. Nanabarro sat alone on one of them. Star sat on the other, opposite him.

"Okay, Star!" I said. "We're going out of here!" To Nanabarro, I said: "I'll shoot you full of little holes if you try to stop me!"

Nanabarro put down his cigaret and regarded Star with bewilderment.

Star said quietly: "Put away that toy pistol, Jim. What do you think you're doing, anyway?"

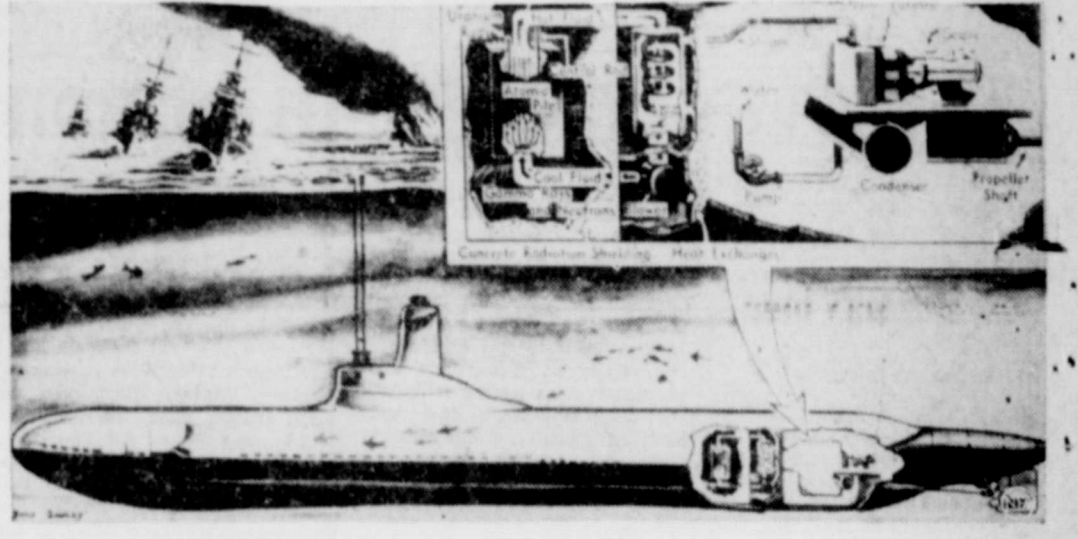

I stared. "Isn't Nanabarro holding you here?"

Star chuckled. "Of course not!" I couldn't believe he was there voluntarily. Maybe some unseen gunman had him covered. I looked around the room. There was a doorway to the second floor. I moved to the doorway. Nobbyly I up there. I went to a door. The kitchen was beyond, and it was empty. Another door opened to reveal a vacant bedroom. Sonya was giving me an amused smile.

Peace Talks Halted; Reds Excuse Called "Frame up"

From the Press Staff Correspondent
SEOUL, Aug. 23 (UP)—The Communists broke off the Korean armistice talks today, but there were signs they did not intend the break to be permanent.

A Red liaison officer summoned United Nations liaison officers to the neutral conference city of Kaesong and notified them at 2 a.m. (Wednesday noon EDT) that the cease-fire talks were "off from now on."

He said the Communists were breaking off the talks because a UN aircraft had bombed and strafed Kaesong 2 1/2 hours earlier. The UN command said there had been no raid and called the incident a "frameup, staged from first to last."

As the day wore on, evidence began to pile up that the Communists intended only to suspend, rather than terminate, the truce conference.

Developments included:
1. A broadcast by the official Chinese Communist radio at Peiping said the cease-fire talks had been "suspended for Aug. 23," and made no reference to a complete breakdown.

2. A United Nations truce delegation spokesman said he was in no position to say whether the interruption was "complete and final," nor could he say whether Kaesong is still considered a neutral city.

3. Radio communication was still open between the Communist truce delegation in Kaesong and the UN delegation's Advance Base at Munsan, 15 miles to the southeast, with normal half-hourly checks being made.

4. There apparently has been no formal communication from the Communists on interruption of the conference on a level above the liaison officers.

5. Chief UN negotiator Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy and the rest of the allied truce team remained at Munsan awaiting further orders, and a spokesman said he knew of no plans to break up the advance base.

6. An allied liaison officer met a Communist officer at Pan Mun Jom, just inside the Kaesong neutral zone, at 9 a.m.—seven hours after the Reds announced the break—and handed him without incident a lengthy allied rejection of all previous Communist complaints of Kaesong neutrality agreements.

Some UN sources believed the Reds may have broken off the talks temporarily just to test American reaction to the possible resumption of all-out warfare in Korea.

The Communists obviously hoped, these sources said, that pressure from Americans at home and from other members of the UN would force the allied delegation to yield to Red demands for a cease-fire line along the 38th parallel.

The talks have been deadlocked since July 27 on this issue, and even a four-man subcommittee has been unable to find a compromise solution. The UN has rejected the parallel as a cease-fire line grounds it would mean an allied retreat of 30 miles or more to indefensible positions.

Even if the Reds should propose a resumption of the cease-fire talks, the UN command's attitude remained in doubt.

The UN command flatly accused the Communists of faking evidence of an air raid on Kaesong so as to have pretext on which to break off the cease-fire talks.

UN Troops Get Set For Big Red Offensive

8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS
Korea, Friday, Aug. 24 (UP)—The fighting men of free nations manning the 135-mile Korean battlefield grided today to meet a ferocious Communist offensive in the event cease-fire talks are broken off for good.

It was indicated this morning that the talks would be resumed. But Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the 8th Army that has smashed Red attacks again and again took no chances.

In the line or in reserve were troops from 22 free nations of six continents. They were backed by an immense concentration of heavy weapons, massed mile by mile from reserve areas to the front lines.

The Reds had lost 9,000 men killed or wounded under a five-day UN attack.

Fighting raged yesterday in individual sectors of the entire front, mostly in the east and east-central sectors, in a blinding rainstorm. South Korean troops battled North Korea's rebuilt army in gossam battles for ridgelines north of Yanggu in the east.

Only a few hours before the Reds suspended armistice negotiations, the Communist Peiping radio warned that the Allies can look for "more and heavier blows" if cease-fire talks fail.

All available evidence indicated that the Reds completed their buildup of 600,000 or more reserves and front line troops before staging the fake raid on Kaesong off the armistice conference.

North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung last week threatened heavy blows against the Allies in the air as well as "annihilation" on the ground if the truce talks failed.

The threat indicated the Chinese Reds were prepared to throw their 1,000 first-line planes into the fray on a large scale for the first time.

However, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the 8th Army said last week that his forces are ready for any eventuality.

His South Korean forces gave the Reds a foretaste of what is in store for them in a "limited offensive" on the east-central front during the past week.

A special communique reported that the South Korean 1st Corps and South Korean elements of the 10th Corps killed or wounded an estimated 9,000 North Korean troops in the "most severe action on the UN front since early June."

Stomach Ulcer On The Upgrade

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23 (UP)—At least 10 per cent of all men in the United States have stomach and intestinal ulcers, according to Dr. Edwin M. Cohn of the University of Pennsylvania graduate hospital.

Cohn told delegates to the 56th Annual Medical Association Convention here yesterday that the number of such ailments has doubled in the past 35 years. "Man today seems to be a reflection of the environment in which he lives," he said.

Men's ties can be kept wrinkle-free while traveling if they are folded once and placed inside one of the popular "picture" magazines.

Hostess Suffers Concussion In Plane Landing

FORT WORTH, Aug. 23 (UP)—A Braniff Airways hostess was hospitalized today with a slight concussion received when rough air threw her against the top of a plane as it prepared to land here late yesterday.

Miss Cheryl Blair, 20, was knocked unconscious when the plane hit a downdraft in a rain cloud shortly before landing in Fort Worth. She was helping passengers fasten their safety belts at the time.

The plane had taken off from Amarillo, hometown of Miss Blair, a former University of Texas student and campus beauty queen in 1949.

Sun Gazers Get Timely Warning

A release from the Better Vision Institute says that many pairs of eyes will be damaged for life on September 1. The sun will rise that morning under a partial eclipse.

People will be sun-gazing at the day is clear, and, unless they have means of protection for their eyes, serious and permanent injury may result. The delicate interior membranes of the eyes are unable to withstand even the partially eclipsed glare of the sun without protection.

After a solar eclipse on November 12, 1947, one clinic for school children examined 34 cases of solar retinitis.

The damaging of the eye may be compared to the image left on a photographic film after it has been exposed. It loses its sensitivity and can never record another picture. The glaring sun burns the same type of image of sun spot on the eye and damages it for life.

About the only safe way that the eclipse can be viewed is through an over exposed photographic film or through a piece of glass smoked with a candle.

School Kids Want Wildlife Info

A report from the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission says that the kids returning to school this year will learn about wildlife, forests, and other outdoor topics in a big way.

The Commission has already received many requests for school packets that contain 6 different types of matter on these subjects.

Some request cards from children that are barely able to write their name and on up high school age children.

Texas Jersey cattle breeders last year ranked at the top or near there in eight different categories according to information released by the American Jersey Cattle Club.

Air Force C-47 Crashes; All 9 Aboard Dead

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA, Aug. 23 (UP)—An Air Force C-47—one wing missing and afire—roared out of the darkness of an Alaskan rainstorm and crashed within 100 yards of a Civil Aeronautics Administration tower, killing nine men, the CAA reported today.

The CAA said four bodies had been recovered and that the other five aboard could not possibly have survived.

The plane was in radio contact with the CAA only one minute before it burst out of the rainclouds and plowed into the emergency landing strip. The plane disintegrated on contact.

Richard M. Cross, the CAA radio operator who spoke with the plane, said the pilot reported he had been flying at 11,000 feet and asked for permission to change altitude.

"At 8:22 p.m. (2:22 a.m. EDT) I called the pilot back to okay the change in altitude," Cross said. "At that time he gave no indication whatsoever that he was in any kind of trouble." "Then at 8:23 p.m. the plane roared over the CAA quarters like a ball of fire. It was burning and had lost a wing. It was fluttering and turned over and over.

"There was not much of an explosion. Just sort of an instantaneous burst of flames. Wreckage was scattered all over the runway. It hit only 100 yards from the CAA station."

The station is 145 miles north of here at Summit, Alaska, in a pass between the rugged Takteeta and Alaska mountain ranges.

The plane was on a routine flight from Elmendorf Air Force Base at Anchorage to Eielson AF B near Fairbanks. Names of those aboard were withheld.

The crash brought to 68 the number of persons dead or missing in Alaskan air crashes since July 21, the worst in territorial aviation history.

Two Local Girls Have Wonderful Time Vacationing In Bermuda

Hundreds of miles from the nearest land, yet less than 40 miles from New York on the luxurious steamer "Queen of Bermuda" lies the pictureque group of some 365 islands which the world knows as Bermuda. This is the place where Billye Jean Crawley and Doris Parbitz spent their vacation visiting Frances Ruth Hagaman who is working as a reporter on the Mid-Ocean News in Hamilton, Bermuda.

The young ladies made the trip from New York on the Queen Bermuda which they report is one of the finest shipboard layouts that one can imagine with the night-club cafes, swimming pool, cocktail bars, sports facilities, dance deck, ship-to-shore phones and picture shows all provided.

On reaching Bermuda, they said that one of the most striking impressions is the atmosphere of calmness and beauty that one enjoys in the little ocean domain. Bermuda is the northernmost group of coral islands in the world. Its semitropical climate is produced by the Gulf Stream. The twenty square miles total area is made up of 150 islands, 149 of them very small. The main island is seventeen miles long, a half-mile to two miles wide, mostly rolling cedar covered hills. Although the cedars were struck by a mysterious blight five years ago, the island's beauty is unsurpassed.

Against a background of palm and banana trees grow the abundant pink and white oleander bushes, spectacular flame-colored poinciana trees, hibiscus, the waxy passion flower, morning glories that bloom all day, and a variety of other vivid foliage.

Since the war the motorized vehicles are taking the place of the horse-drawn carriage. The most popular form of transportation is the motor assisted bicycles and small motorcycles. Taxis and all other cars are the miniature English makes.

The girls reported that the beaches were perfect, always clean and the water clear and square marine color getting bluer and bluer away from the shore. They said that one tourist asked her taxi driver to stop and fill a bottle with the aqua blue colored water and one with the navy blue water.

Miss Hagaman is the reporter for the Supreme Court, so the group spent a day there. In the Supreme Court the judges wore wigs and long robes.

They had the privilege of touring the big perfume factory where exquisite perfume is made from the many varieties of flowers.

The girls returned to New York by plane where they spent three days. While there they attended two Broadway plays which Miss Crawley was very much interested. They were "The King and I" with Gertrude Lawrence and "Call Me Madam" with Ethel Merman.

They walked through Central Park, toured the Empire State building and many other places of interest before returning to their home Monday.

While in New York, Doris' cousin, Dr. Kurt Iselbacher of Boston came over on Sunday to visit with the girls.

Doris and Billye Jean said they had a most wonderful vacation and are enthusiastic in recommending Bermuda and New York as wonderful places for a grand vacation.

This is done for the purpose of making enlarged Sunday School and Training Union plans. The prospects will be reached with more ease and will also increase the possibility of reaching the lost people of the city. Much time and prayer has been put into the effective change by the newly elected Sunday School superintendent, Wilson Guest and the Training Union Director, Walter Arterburn. Other workers who have spent time on the changed organizational setup are the heads of the various departments and organizations of the church. The reorganization program carries all the way through the organization even to meet the Adult dept. which will have a number of new classes to meet the need of the organization.

Disgusted, he ran into the street and stopped a passing policeman.

"Give me your gun and let me do a good job. I don't want to live," he told the policeman.

He was taken to Hydwel Hospital yesterday, where he told attendants that he was having financial troubles.

District OPS Director Ellis H. Boyd said that the agency had amended its automobile pricing regulation to permit used car dealers to add the base period cost of refrigerated air conditioning equipment, special bodies or motors to used car prices. This is permitted, he said, under Amendment 5 to Supplementary Regulation 5 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, effective August 27, 1951.

Under the amendment, sellers may add to the used car ceiling price determined under the regulation, the price of refrigerated air-conditioning units as determined under the GCPR. In the case of a used car which has been substantially modified by the addition of a special body or engine the amendment makes it clear that the ceiling price is determined under the GCPR rather than SR 5, Boyd said.

Ceiling prices are determined under GCPR on the basis of prices seller had in effect during the

9 OF 10 AUTOS IN U.S. USED FOR COMMERCIAL PURPOSES

DETROIT, August 22—Nine out of ten passenger cars in the United States are used each week for purposes of earning a living, shopping or both.

This is one of the thousands of automotive facts listed in the 80 page 1951 edition of Automobile Facts and Figures, annual statistical handbook of the industry soon to be issued by the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

Featured in the 31st edition are highlights of a comprehensive survey of passenger car use in America, made early this year. These include:

1. During an average week 73 per cent of the nation's private automobiles are used for traveling to and from jobs, conducting business, or doing work on the farm.
2. Shopping during the week puts 53 per cent of the cars to work.
3. A total of 22,000,000 passenger cars are used each week for earning a living; 16,000,000 for shopping.
4. Some 27,500,000 persons in the United States use passenger cars daily in earning a living.
5. Forty-five per cent of all employed persons use a passenger car in connection with their work.
6. More than 28 per cent of adults living in households with outcars nevertheless ride in cars every day, and out of 9.4 million such persons, 3.7 million obtain a ride for shopping.

In reviewing facts and figures of the industry for 1950, the new yearbook points out several production records set during the year—in passenger car output, over-all motor vehicle registrations, gasoline consumption, vehicle mileage driven and in special taxes paid by motor vehicle users.

Total vehicle production for the year was 2,003,945 units, including 6,665,863 passenger cars, and 1,337,182 motor trucks and buses. This brought the 51-year production of the industry to a total of 116,000,000 vehicles.

Nearly 20,000 buses were produced by the industry during the year, 80 per cent of which were for school purposes.

The United States accounted for about 76 per cent of world motor vehicle output for the year which was estimated at 10,577,124 units.

In spite of the high rate of 19-30 production 55 per cent of the cars in use in 1950 were prewar models, the average age being nearly eight years compared with 5 1-2 years in 1941. One million trucks in use were 14 years old or more. Average truck age in 1950 was seven years, an increase of 1 1-2 years since 1941.

The life of motor vehicles has more than doubled in 25 years. Scrapped cars today average 14 years of age, compared with 10 in 1925 average of 6 1-2 years. Average lifetime mileage has increased from 25,750 to 120,500. Forty-five per cent of the nation's cars have been driven more than 40,000 miles.

U. S. motor vehicle registrations in 1950 reached a total of 49,176,796. Seven states registered more than two million passenger cars during the year. California topped the list with 3,955,351, more than all the cars in South and Central America, Africa and Oceania.

The yearbook shows that world motor vehicle registrations in 1950 totaled 70,100,000, with passenger cars gaining 46 per cent since 1940 and trucks showing a 100 per cent increase during the same period.

Population per motor vehicle in the United States is 3.1, compared with 75 in the U.S.S.R., 14 in the United Kingdom, 86 in Mexico, 1,234 in India and 8,745 in China.

Gasoline consumption was up 10 per cent in 1950 over 1949, the preliminary total for the year being about 35 1-2 billion gallons. This fuel was consumed as motor vehicles throughout the nation traveled a total of 465 billion miles.

Special motor vehicle tax paid in 1950 totaled $4,354,033, 900 an all-time record and a sharp increase over the previous high of $3,824,509,000 in 1949. Special truck taxes exceeded $1,200,000,000. It is estimated that axes take 29 cents out of each dollar spent for the purchase of a new automobile.

A high percentage of defense work assigned to automotive firms is being shared with other businesses through subcontracting.

In the case of a canon, for example, 98 per cent of the parts are being subcontracted and 1,800 out of 2,000 parts in an aircraft engine are being made by outside firms, most of them small businesses.

Employment, hours worked, and earnings in the automotive industry reached an all time high in 1950. Average weekly earnings of production workers was $73.25 and weekly hours averaged 41.2, compared with $65.97 and 38.9 hours in 1949. Total employment during the year was 439,400. The figure in 1949 was 769,000.

Among other facts contained in the booklet are the following: The typical car on a winter day makes 2.9 trips, averaging 8.2 miles per trip, or a total of 23 miles per day carrying 1.8 persons.

66.5 per cent of all households in the U.S. own cars, while 70.6 per cent of farm households own one or more cars.

80 per cent of households in the West, 76 per cent in North Central states, 60 per cent in North-eastern states and 57 per cent in Southern states own automobiles.

73 per cent of cars owned by unskilled workers are prewar models.

Average annual mileage per car decreases with age, from 12,200 in the first year to 5,890 for 1937 and earlier models. Annual mileage also tends to be higher as city size decreases.

Surveys by city traffic engineers in 35 cities ranging from less than 50,000 population to more than 250,000 show 74.1 per cent by public transportation facilities.

Woman Forecasts Her Own Death

REDWOOD CITY, CALIF., Aug. 23 (UP)—When Mrs. Edythe Hanson, 32, got out of the hospital a month ago, she made this prophecy:

"I shall die at 11:45 on August 21."

Her friends and neighbors laughed it off. Nevertheless, a number of callers dropped by her house last Tuesday noon "just to see how she was." Mrs. Hanson was still alive.

Easy now to KILL RATS

WARFARIN, new Dr. Hess rat killer, is made with warfarin, new rodenticide developed at the University of Wisconsin. Rat control specialists refer to warfarin as "the ideal poison", and report "marvelous results". Kills common brown rats, black or roof rats, also mice. They eat it and bleed to death internally—do not become bait shy.

Warfarin is a prepared bait. More attractive than a rat's usual diet of farm grains. Best way to use it is to establish rat feeding stations and keep it there until all rats are killed. Rats do not develop tolerance.

With Warfarin you can really get rid of rats and keep your farm clean. It is a relatively slow killer. Give it a thorough trial and you'll say it's the best yet.

News For Women Needing Hose

You'll be wearing Romance shades in stockings this fall! Seamprufe has just introduced seven new romantic colors to give the ultimate in leg lattery and to harmonize with the latest fall fashions: My Love, a light sunny beige; Desire, a light warm beige; Joy, a medium toasty tone; Romance, a luscious warm tan; Devotion, a misty neutral taupe; Enticing, a mauvy taupe, and Rapture, a harmonious light brown.

Since color makes fashion news to give the "pretty leg look," the Shado-Bak heel sets the style in brown, black and navy color heels in soft muted shades of Joy and Devotion. The color theme of the heel is repeated in the fine line back seam. Shado-Bak is also featured with self-colored heels and seams. Wear the stockings with the tempered town shoe, inspired by the popular shelled pump.

There's also eye-appealing and fashionable back-interest in the new 60-gauge stockings with black heel, foot and seam. Excellent for wear with soft suede and calfskin shoes. Dark seams are repeated in several styles with self-colored heels—important in this season's picturesque stocking story.

Flexo-twist, Seamprufe's trade mark for a higher twisted yarn, gives greater resilience, smoother wearing quality and an excellent fit. Flexo-twist has a miraculous resistance to snags, a finer knit for superb beauty, plus strength and long wear.

Continuing the "nude" look—the seamless stocking—a 15 denier, 400-needle leg-flattering darling in soft tones of Desire and Romance. It is exquisitely proportioned to permanently retain its contour, and the short heel and toe is amply reinforced for durability.

Today women realize that stockings in the correct gauges are a necessity for every type of costume; for morning the 51-gauge and for afternoon and evening the 54 and 60-gauge. Seamprufe stockings are available in sizes 8 1-2 to 11, at popular prices, and are designed to keep in complete accord with the dictates of fashion—to harmonize with an entire wardrobe.

When used properly machinery and home appliances save labor and human drudgery but when used carelessly they become agents of destruction.
